GERMANS PUT OFF THEIR FLIGHT HERE; FACED BAD WIND

May Start Tomorrow if They Receive at Dublin Favorable Weather Report.

SOUTHERN ROUTE CHOSEN

Chance of Rescue Is Better in Steamer Track and the Cold Is Not So Severe.

PLANE TO BE PARAFFINED

This Coating, Kochl Believes, Will Reduce the Great Danger of Ice Forming on the Wings.

By ALLEN RAYMOND.

DUBLIN, March 27.—The three German airmen who propose to fly across the Atlantic from Dublin to New York are waiting at Baldonnel airdrome for favorable weather. They will not start tomorrow morning, because bad weather is reported in the West Atlantic by the Air Ministry. They may take off Thursday, but everything depends upon a favorable Air Ministry report.

Baron von Huenefeld says they will not take the northern route across the Atlantic, but the southern, or steamship track, which will provide a greater chance of their being picked up by a vessel should a mishap bring them down at sea. Moreover, by taking the colder northern route, there would be more risk of ice forming on the wings of the machine, which the pilot, Captain Hermann Koehl, believes to be the greatest danger of Atlantic flights.

In order to obviate that risk so far as possible, the whole machine will be covered with paraffine before the start.

The Bremen, the Junkers airplane that is being used, with an engine developing 280 horsepower, will carry 600 gallons of petrol, sufficient to last against head winds, it is estimated, for forty-six hours, and if the wind is favorable, for fifty-three hours, but Baron von Huenefeld hopes to reach New York within thirty-six hours. The Bremen will be piloted by Captain Koehl and Herr Spindler, who will sit side by side, where the dual controls will enable them to easily relieve each other. Baron von Huenefeld will sit in the tail of the machine, keeping the log and bringing food to the pilots at intervals.

Can Pump Fuel Supply.

Every precaution is being taken to insure success, and the airmen express the utmost confidence that they will make New York. One important detail they have not overlooked. Should the automatic petrol feed fail, an emergency hand pump will insure continuation of their fuel supply. Similar care has been taken over the possibility of other parts of the mechanism breaking down and thereby bringing about a mishap.

The Bremen was thoroughly overhauled today and everything now is in readiness. Fresh oil was placed in the engine, although the machine only flew nine hours yesterday. Captain Koehl is personally supervising the work of the two mechanics of the Junkers firm to see that no single item is overlooked.

In order to keep the machine as light as possible, no wireless will be carried. Thermos flasks filled with coffee and tea will provide liquid refreshment during the flight, and solid food will consist chiefly of chocolate and sandwiches.

Explains Choice of Route.

Giving his reasons for following the steamship route, Captain Koehl said:

"Apart from the formation of ice on our machine, our petrol might freeze. In my opinion, the former flights failed either because the pilots had no real experience in night flying or because their machines became icebound to such an extent that they became unmanageable.

"Our average speed is 105 to 110 miles an hour," he added. "Assuming we start soon after 5 o'clock Thursday morning, we will get seventeen hours of daylight. I propose going at full speed, flying low during the daylight. We will go higher when darkness falls, and if it is very cold we will change our course to get the warmth of the Gulf Stream, returning to the main course when morning comes."

According to tonight's weather report, conditions are worse than when Captain Hinchliffe started. Flying from Berlin to Dublin yesterday, the airmen encountered a heavy fog which prevented them from carrying out their plan of dropping a bunch of flowers on the former Kaiser's residence at Doorn.

The airmen have undertaken to deliver a letter in New York from J. J. Wale, director of the Tailteann games in Dublin, to Dr. Slattery of the United States Lines, chief organizer of the Tailteann games in the United States. The letter ex-

Man Is Trampled in Subway When B.M.T. Crowd Stampedes

A stampede of passengers to enter an empty Sea Beach express train at the Times Square station of the B. M. T. about 7 o'clock last night resulted in severe injuries to Jacob Ludewsky, 42 years old, of 2,821 West Thirty-second Street, Coney Island, who was in the front of the crowd.

When the doors of the empty train opened the crowd surged forward. Ludewsky tripped and fell into the car head first and the pressure of the crowd threw several persons on top of him. When the others had arisen, Ludewsky was unconscious.

Patrolman McIvor carried the unconscious man out of the crowd and summoned an ambulance. Dr. Logan of New York Hospital found that Ludewsky's right arm was hurt and it was feared that he had internal injuries. He was taken to Bellevue Hospital.

LINDBERGH AVERTS CRASH BY HIS SKILL

Stops His Plane in Mud Hole Close to Road Embankment at Washington.

NEW YORKERS WERE ABOARD

Flier's Long Talks With Shipstead and Acting Secretary of State Stir Speculation.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 27.—Skill and courage, as well as a pair of brakes, saved Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh and a party of five passengers, including two New York Representatives, from a smash against the roadway that skirts Bolling Field when they were landing this afternoon from a sightseeing trip over Washington.

Colonel Lindbergh was giving a surprise party for some Representatives who were out of town last week while he was conducting his "aviation school," and also for members of the family of Frank W. Stearns, a close friend of the President, and diplomatic guests. He made three trips, carrying twenty-seven persons in all.

It was while returning in a Fairchild from the first of the trips that the difficult landing was made. With Colonel Lindbergh were Representatives Jacobstein and O'Connor of New York; John J. Daniels of New York; Robert Chase and James F. Dulligan, secretaries.

A strong west wind was blowing and Colonel Lindbergh, on approaching the ground, headed into it. The wheels touched the ground lightly and the plane leveled off to a run which did not slacken as it was evidently intended it should.

Had to Avoid Water Hole.

To avoid a large hole of water the plane had to be guided in the direction of Anacostia Flying Field, the naval air base on the opposite side of Bolling Field. All the time Colonel Lindbergh had his foot on the brake recently installed, but the plane did not stop until it was close to the embankment of the road to the national air station.

"I'm sorry I'll have to ask you to get out," said Colonel Lindbergh to his passengers. The monoplane was stuck in the mud. The party got out in the mud and helped push the aircraft clear, when they were invited to get in again and were taxied back to the place of loading.

It was the second time while taking members of Congress flying that Colonel Lindbergh got stuck in a mudhole, but on the first occasion he was not landing at high speed but rolling down the field to a place of take-off and had stopped to let other planes by.

Representative Jacobstein declared the air was full of "pockets" this afternoon and that he felt seasick just as on the Caribbean, which he crossed a few days ago.

Colonel Changes Plane.

"I feel more comfortable on earth," said Mr. Jacobstein. He added that the manner in which Colonel Lindbergh conducted himself in the air was inspiring. Mr. Jacobstein declared he was hypnotized "by the unconcern of the fellow at the wheel."

The next two trips Colonel Lind-

CITY SURVEY 'STRIKE' LOOMS AS LEADERS BALK AT 'REPORTS'

Many on Committees Reported Asked to Sign Program Draft Without Consultation.

FEW MEETINGS IN 2 YEARS

BREAK-UP NOW PREDICTED

Chairman O'Brien, Defending Work, Says Full Data Will Be Out in a Month.

Many of the 472 prominent men and women who are members of the Mayor's Committee on City Planning and Survey, appointed in 1926 to make an exhaustive study of the city government and its needs are on "strike" and are refusing to sign sub-committee reports drawn up without the sanction of the committee members and submitted to them for signature, it has been learned.

Little noticed by the public in the twenty months of its existence, only one of the eight subcommittees has met in nearly a year and none of the members of the committees knew anything of reports being prepared until last week when they received for signature ready-made reports. These, it is charged, are slipshod makeshifts for real studies of conditions in New York City. Many on the committees are reported to believe that eventually former Supreme Court Justice Morgan J. O'Brien, who is Chairman of the main committee, will inform Mayor Walker that it has been impossible to gather efficient data with a committee so large and unwieldy and he will recommend the appointment of a paid group of experts to replace the volunteer body.

Judge O'Brien's Comment.

Judge O'Brien said at his home, 720 Park Avenue, last night that the matter of how the subcommittee reports were arrived at and the deliberations of the committees "are not of public interest."

"The reports will be out in a matter of a month or so," he said, "and the public will then know what work has been done. The work has been prosecuted as rapidly as possible and the findings of the committees cannot be made public until the proper time."

When told of the reports that members of the subcommittees were balking at signing the reports Mr. O'Brien would make no comment. Likewise he would neither confirm nor deny the report that a committee of paid experts would be suggested to replace the volunteers. "That is a matter to be decided by the findings in the reports," he said.

Mayor's Call to Serve.

In June, 1926, when Mayor Walker wrote to 472 representative citizens asking them to serve on the committee they were warned "not to accept unless you are prepared to give the necessary time and attention to the important matters which will face the committee." Since that time the subcommittee on finance, budget and revenues alone has met frequently and prepared an exhaustive report and recommendations. Herbert H. Lehman, banker, is Chairman of this committee and his report was published several months ago.

The subcommittee on housing, zoning and distribution of population has not met for almost a year and the subcommittee on departmental reorganization, of which N. Taylor Phillips is Chairman, has its second meeting in a year and a half scheduled for 4 P. M. today at City Hall. It held its first meeting in that time last week. Several members then balked at signing a report which was characterized by one as being "merely a list of the city departments, completely ignoring such matters as the reorganization of hospital control and the question of county and borough government."

Clubwomen Plan Action.

Tomorrow at the Women's City Club, 22 Park Avenue, members of the club who also serve on one or another of the subcommittees will meet at luncheon to discuss what action they will take on the reports, the

Treasury Decrees Dry Party Conventions; Will Start Hunt for Early Liquor Caches

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 27.—The edict of the Treasury Department is that the national conventions this year shall be dry. As the result of dry protests and a program decided upon by high Treasury officials, an extraordinary effort will be made at once to dry up sources of drinkable liquor long in advance of the assembling of the conventions.

Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Lowman, in charge of prohibition enforcement, today ordered Alf Oftedal, Deputy Commissioner of Prohibition, to proceed at once to Kansas City and Houston to set in motion there and elsewhere the department's program to throw a dry zone around these convention cities.

The efforts of the Government four years ago to enforce the Volstead law during the national convention were thwarted by bootlegging syndicates. The syndicates received their supply from overseas and through border smuggling from Mexico and Canada long in advance of the activities set in motion by the Government to stop this traffic. This year, therefore, it was decided by Government officials to throw a ring around the country in the next week in an effort to prevent importations.

This enforcement plan, Mr. Lowman said, would bring into play the Coast Guard, as well as the regular forces engaged in maintaining the Eighteenth Amendment.

It appears, according to prohibition officers, that syndicates started accumulating convention liquor supplies three months before the 1924 conventions and secreted them in warehouses in the convention towns, or in nearby caches.

Under the present plan, it is believed, if sources of "good liquor" are shut off there will be little demand for "white mule" and "moonshine."

Assistant Commissioner Oftedal, in cooperation with other officials, has worked out a plan to stop importation and stimulate enforcement in the convention cities. In brief, he will ask the municipal authorities in Kansas City and Houston to stop the traffic locally since the most effective work the Federal agents can do is to halt the importations. The Federal enforcement officers in these cities will also be instructed to be active.

CITY PLANS NEW SUIT TO SEIZE I. R. T. LINES

ACCEPTS U. S. JURISDICTION

Judge Bondy Reserves Action on Plea to Curtail Road's Fare Complaints.

Former Controller Charles L. Craig, the city's special counsel in the 7-cent fare suit, began yesterday the preparation of a counterclaim in which he will ask the Federal courts to rescind the contracts between the Interborough Rapid Transit Company and the city, on the ground of non-performance by the company, and to turn back the subway lines to the city.

The former Controller has informally received the endorsement of the Walker administration for this action and the Board of Estimate is scheduled to give his program official sanction at its meeting tomorrow. Mr. Craig is to confer with the members of the administration before the board meeting. A formal resolution will then be presented by Mayor Walker, if the Mayor is back or, if not, by Acting Mayor McKee.

Takes Independent Position.

The city's latest plan of defense against the I. R. T. attempt to raise subway and elevated fares represents a bold step to throw all the transit issues before the Federal court, the jurisdiction of which Samuel Untermyer, as special counsel for the Transit Commission and who has acted for the city in the 7-cent fare litigation until Mr. Craig's appointment, has strenuously contested. In effect, Mr. Craig taking an independent position, plans to accept the Federal court as the tribunal in which the whole controversy with the Interborough, now many years old, may be settled. It is understood that this plan has been decided upon without consulting Mr. Untermyer.

Mr. Craig made known his intention of filing a counterclaim during an argument yesterday before Federal Judge William Bondy, but he did not disclose the nature of the cross-suit. He asked Judge Bondy to strike from the Interborough's bill of complaint about 85 per cent. of the matter contained in 123 printed pages, as irrelevant and improper.

Judge Bondy conceded the complaint was "verbose and cumbersome" and "of a style which should not be encouraged," but reserved decision on the representation of William L. Ransom, the Interborough's attorney, that the special statutory court of three judges, of which Judge Bondy is one, now considering the company's application for a temporary fare increase pending the trial of the suit, alone should entertain Mr. Craig's application.

Bases Action on Contract.

It is understood that Mr. Craig's counterclaim will be based upon the authority given to the city in Chapter 7 of Contract 3 between the Interborough and the city. Section 5 of this chapter provides:

"The city may by the Commission (the Transit Commission) or otherwise also bring any suit or proceeding for injunction or for specific performance or to recover damages or to obtain any relief or for any purpose proper under this contract."

The Interborough, in its suit to void the five-cent-fare provision of the contract, also asks the Federal court to construe the contract generally. Mr. Craig, taking a different view of the legal remedies than Mr. Untermyer, proposes to ask the court to hold that the Interborough has broken the contract and that the city is therefore entitled to get back its property. The cross-bill, it is understood, will ask the court to decide how much the city owes the company in the event the city's contention is upheld.

Mr. Untermyer, representing the city's agent, the Transit Commission, brought an action for specific performance in the State courts, but this suit was blocked by the action of the Federal courts in holding jurisdiction under the Interborough's suit. Mr. Craig, acting under the term "or otherwise," now seeks to obtain affirmative relief in the Federal court directly in the name of the city. Under Mr. Untermyer's plan of campaign, if the city wins the seven-cent-

ALL LEADERS' HOMES IN CHICAGO GUARDED

Police Act on Blasts at Residences of Deneen and Judge —Beer Pump Shop Bombed.

$65,000 REWARDS OFFERED

Countering Charges by Political Factions Overtop Plans for City or State Inquiry.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, March 27.—The home of every political leader in the city is being guarded tonight as a result of the bombing of the homes of Senator Charles S. Deneen and his politicaly ally, Judge John A. Swanson. Coming at the height of a bitter primary campaign in the Republican Party and as the climax to a long series of bomb outrages, the attacks last night on the leaders of one of the opposing factions have stirred Chicago deeply.

The day was rife with accusations and counter-accusations, with the adherents of Senator Deneen charging the opposing side with responsibility for the bombs and Mayor William Hale Thompson and his supporter, State's Attorney Robert E. Crowe, declaring that members of the Deneen faction themselves set off the bombs in order to throw discredit on the opposition.

A new bomb explosion occurred tonight. This was of a minor nature and only smashed the windows of the beer pump manufacturing establishment of Emil Leiter on the south side.

Also Has Political Tinge.

Even this explosion was linked up to politics following the declaration of Leiter that a political worker had engaged in a quarrel with him a few days ago, after he refused to allow the man to put up a political poster in his place. He said he did not remember to which faction the man belonged.

Offers reaching a total of $65,000 in rewards, with complete immunity from arrest and prosecution, had been posted by night by twelve leaders for information leading to the conviction of the persons responsible for the bombings. State's Attorney Crowe said he would give $10,000 and Chief of Police Hughes offered $5,000, as did Mayor Thompson.

There were numerous reports of projected action. One was that Attorney General Carlstrom, adherent of Senator Deneen, had already laid plans to conduct a rigorous investigation. Rumors of a Federal inquiry also gained sway during the day, despite the announcement of Federal District Attorney George Johnson that he was without jurisdiction.

Senator Deneen is returning to Chicago either tomorrow or the next day, and his leaders have already conferred on a campaign to meet the situation. Senator Deneen was quoted from Washington as blaming the explosions on "the organized and protected criminal classes in Chicago."

While Chief of Police Hughes, a Thompson appointee, was making known that the homes of all political leaders were being guarded, a threat of further bombing in a minor ward fight was brought to light and numerous members of both factions were said to be moving to hotels until after the primary election on April 10.

Ministers See "Near Anarchy."

In the midst of packing for the removal of his family to a hotel until the primary campaign is concluded, Municipal Judge Daniel F. Trude, of the Deneen faction, called the bombing the result of a plot to win the primary by terrorism.

Leaders in the civic, business and religious life of the city were forthright in their comment. The Union Ministers Association of Chicago adopted a resolution asserting that the "growing power of criminal groups" revealed a serious breakdown in law-enforcement. It declared that the efforts of State's Attorney Crowe to thrust the responsibility on his opponents was "repudiated with scorn."

"We pledge ourselves to do all in our power to arouse the citizens of Chicago to register their indignation at the primary election, and further we call upon the Attorney General of Illinois and the Attorney General of the United States to assert their constitutional and statutory powers to abolish near-anarchy in this community," the ministers' declaration reads.

STOCK PRICES BREAK, THEN RISE AS SALES MOUNT TO 4,790,270

Fortunes Are Quickly Made and Lost in Biggest Market in Exchange's History.

GENERAL MOTORS DROPS 18

TICKER LAGS 33 MINUTES

Trading Posts Thronged With Confused Dealers as Sudden Selling Wave Rocks the Market.

Yesterday's spectacular stock market, the biggest in Wall Street's history, which swept up toward the 5,000,000-share mark, was divided into two unequal parts. The first, in order of appearance, was a violent smash which rocked the market from centre to circumference when a tremendous volume of selling appeared; the second was a sharp recovery, under the lash of organized speculative support, which culminated in swift advances, the recovery of much lost ground and the thrusting forward of a new set of market leaders, replacing General Motors, du Pont and Steel common, which had borne the brunt of the morning attack.

It was a day of spectacular market changes, a real battle of the dollar, in which the Wall Street machinery calculated to handle a normal market was driven to its highest speed, and even then fell behind the fast-moving procession as the speculative giants of the country battled and fought for advantage with stock certificates as weapons. It would be idle to attempt to calculate the tremendous sums of money won and lost in yesterday's feverish market. Price swings, even within the bare space of ten minutes, made differences of millions of dollars in the open market value of the leading securities. Some tremendous losses were taken; many fortunes won.

Biggest Day in History.

It was the biggest day's trading in Wall Street history. A total of 4,790,270 shares changed hands on the Stock Exchange, smashing all previous records by more than 500,000 shares. It was the second consecutive day in which the sales have aggregated more than 4,000,000, and the thirteenth consecutive day in which they have aggregated 3,000,000 shares or more. It is a reflection of speculation running wild. The effects of this market are reaching into every section of the country. It is one which has inflamed the public mind as has no development in Wall Street in this or any other generation. The market of "war brides," was small in comparison with it.

The hours before the market opened brought no news developments of sufficient importance to cause a sudden change in market sentiment or in trading judgment. From the market viewpoint the overnight news was colorless. Most people expected a big day on the upside. Nearly all the leaders had closed on their "highs" the previous night. First prices were encouraging. Overland, Hupp, Chrysler, Packard, Hudson and Studebaker, the cohorts of the motors group, opened briskly. There was delay in the opening of General Motors. To the astonishment of the financial district and those who watched the tape this stock opened 5,000 shares at 198 to 196, as compared with 199 at previous close.

Market Halts, Storm Breaks.

There was a momentary halt when this quotation came out. The market sagged a trifle as in a mood of hesitation. Then, as from a cloudless sky, it was struck by such a storm of selling orders as thoroughly and utterly to demoralize it. In shear off fortunes for traders from the tops of many popular securities and to bring losses of from five to as many as eighteen points

MEXICO ENDS OIL DISPUTE WITH NEW REGULATIONS, ACCEPTED BY WASHINGTON

State Department Sees Virtual End of Dispute

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 27.—Upon being informed by Ambassador Morrow of the issuance of the new Mexican petroleum regulations, the State Department today made this statement:

"The petroleum regulations just promulgated by President Calles constitute executive action which completes the process beginning with the decision made by the judicial branch of the Mexican Government on Nov. 17, 1927, and followed by the enactment of the new petroleum law by the legislative branch on Dec. 26 last.

"Together, these steps, voluntarily taken by the Mexican Government, would appear to bring to a practical conclusion the discussions which began ten years ago with reference to the effect of the Mexican Constitution and laws upon foreign oil companies.

"The department feels, as does Ambassador Morrow, that such questions, if any, as may hereafter arise can be settled through the due operation of the Mexican administrative departments and the Mexican courts."

NICARAGUA CANAL URGED BY M'KELLAR

He Introduces Bill in Senate to Vote $200,000,000 to Build Sea Level Waterway.

HOLDS PANAMA OUTGROWN

Opposing Sending of Marines, He Declares Waterway Would Pacify Nicaragua.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 27.—Immediate construction of Nicaraguan canal, financed by a $200,000,000 issue of thirty-year 3 per cent. Government bonds, was urged upon Congress in a bill introduced today by Senator McKellar of Tennessee. Mr. McKellar said that while the cost of the canal would be "problematical," it would not be "nearly as much" as for the Panama waterway, which, he declared, cost $270,000,000, exclusive of fortifications.

Declaring that ship transits through the Panama Canal had increased from 1,075 to 5,475 in twelve years, the Senator predicted that with the same rate of increase in a dozen years ships could not be adequately handled by that waterway and therefore another canal would be necessary.

An opponent of intervention in Nicaragua and of retaining the marines there, Senator McKellar declared that building the canal would divert the Nicaraguan mind from war and politics, turn bandits into laborers and restore American prestige. Payment for canal rights would help the precarious Nicaraguan financial situation, he said.

Negotiations Empowered.

Reciting the 1916 agreement for a perpetual lease for the Nicaraguan canal, the McKellar bill would authorize the President to notify Nicaragua that the waterway will be constructed and to negotiate with Costa Rica, Salvador and Honduras over their interests.

The President would then be empowered to direct the "Nicaraguan Canal Commission" to build a canal "from a point on the shore of the Caribbean Sea, near Greytown, by

MORROW VICTORY HAILED

TITLES TO STAND FOREVER

Rights Acquired Before 1917 Constitution Will Be Confirmed Without Limit.

MORROW PRAISES MEXICO

Copyright, 1928, by The New York Times Company. Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

MEXICO CITY, March 27.—President Calles signed today new regulations governing the Mexican oil law, designed to remove any retroactive or confiscatory application to American oil rights acquired before May 1, 1917, the effective date of the new Constitution, and declaring in effect that such titles stand in perpetuity.

Confirmation of the titles is still required, but the new regulations specify that the confirmations, which must be applied for before Jan. 31, 1929, shall be "issued without time limitation (as against the previous fifty-year restriction) and shall operate as recognition of rights acquired, which shall continue in force."

Ambassador Dwight W. Morrow, to whose efforts is credited the virtual settlement of the ten-year controversy between the two Governments, said tonight that "these changes in the Mexican laws and regulations have been made by the voluntary act of the Republic of Mexico."

The new regulations, which were issued from the Ministry of Industry and Commerce this morning and will go on formal record tomorrow, were the result of a long series of conferences between Ambassador Morrow and Minister of Industry Luis Morones. Local representatives of all the important foreign companies operating in Mexico and legal experts of both sides assisted. That the regulations will be accepted by the United States State Department is taken here for granted.

Court Decision Laid Basis.

Article 27 of the Mexican Constitution of 1917, which governs the oil holdings by foreigners, and the consequent first regulations caused diplomatic exchanges between Washing and Mexico City totally close to 40,000 words. The situation became most acute when Washington closed down the correspondence and an absolute deadlock appeared to have been reached.

The attitude of the Mexican Government was that if the oil legislation as it stood on the publication of the original regulations under Article 27 could be proved retroactive and confiscatory or detrimental to foreign property rights, then the Calles Administration would see that suitable remedies were applied after recourse to the Mexican Supreme Court. In other words, "Squeal after you are hurt, but not before."

Nov. 17, 1927, was hailed as a red letter day by the foreign oil companies. On that day the Mexican Supreme Court rendered its decision favoring the Mexican Petroleum Company against the Government. This decision declared unconstitutional Article 14 of the regulating law regarding new concessions of rights acquired prior to 1917, and Article 15 regarding the manner of the confirmation of previous rights. Thereupon President Calles, acting upon the Supreme Court's finding, issued further regulations from which undoubtedly the basis of today's official publication was able to take root.

Morrow Hails Good Faith Shown.

Regarding the new oil regulations, Ambassador Morrow issued the following statement:

"The petroleum regulations issued today by the Mexican Government give evidence of the determination of the Mexican Government to recognize the rights held by foreigners in oil properties prior to the adoption of the Constitution of 1917.

"These regulations, when taken with the decision handed down Nov. 17, 1927, the legislation passed by the Mexican Congress Dec. 26, 1927, and the letter Minister of Industry, Commerce and Labor Louis Morones issued Jan. 10, 1928, show that the judicial, executive, legislative and administrative departments of the Mexican Government recognize these rights.

"The Supreme Court decision declared that the cutting down of the oil companies' rights to a fifty-year period was unconstitutional. In that connection the decision of the Court said that the confirmation of a right is an express recognition of the same; to limit it is to modify that right instead of confirming it.

"Following that decision, President Calles asked Congress to modify the law of 1925 to conform with the Con-

Spring Weather to Return to the City Today Ending Cold Wave After Drop of 22 Degrees

The warm weather of the past week-end, banished by the stiff March wind which blew over the city yesterday, will begin to make its return today. Fair weather and a rising temperature today will be followed by still warmer weather and possible showers tomorrow, the weather bureau predicted last night.

Meanwhile the storm, coming from the Middle West, which drove the temperature down 22 degrees in twelve hours here yesterday, continued eastward, centring over the upper St. Lawrence Valley last night.

The storm, which brought snow to Chicago, began to make itself felt here early yesterday. The temperature fell steadily from 8 o'clock in the morning, when it registered 56 degrees, until 10 o'clock last night when it was down to 34 degrees. The drop in temperature was accompanied by a strong northwesterly wind which attained a velocity of 48 miles an hour in the afternoon, filling the streets with dust and hats.

During the night the wind died down, the storm moved eastward and today residents of Eastern New York and New Jersey are promised a steadily rising temperature which will last, according to the Weather Bureau, for several days at least.

Rothermere Calls Mussolini Greatest Man; Says After Interview Regime Is Unshakable

Copyright, 1928, by The New York Times Company. By Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, March 27.—"As you can see yourself, the Fascist regime is unshakable," are words Premier Mussolini is quoted as having spoken during an interview with Viscount Rothermere, who, in The Daily Mail this morning, endorses this as a plain statement of fact vouched for by five years of solid steady achievement.

He is the greatest figure of our age, Lord Rothermere adds, and probably will dominate the history of the twentieth century as Napoleon dominated the early nineteenth.

"Each time I return to Italy I see fresh signs of persistent, patient improvement," the publisher writes. "He is one of the hardest working men in the world. He sits in a carved chair before a broad oak table in a corner of a vast room in the historic Palazzo Chigi, which has something of the air of a sacristy, with nothing before him but a long list of the day's appointments, giving decisions on manifold complex questions with extraordinary powers of memory and judgment.

"Without a good memory it is impossible to govern," says Il Duce, and he seldom requires research for any State document which he has seen once. He takes no part in social life and sleeps eight hours nightly. He has been a teetotaler and non-smoker for a decade.

"Even after five years of firm and peaceful government Mussolini is still much misunderstood abroad. The war that Mussolini seeks to win is not military but economic and industrial.

"'I need peace,' said Il Duce. 'I have concluded and ratified a treaty of friendship with Yugoslavia, Italy's former rival. I hope to obtain her ratification in July.'

"Mussolini reiterated his denial of forcible Italianization of Austrian Tyrol and said the colonization of Tripoli and Cyrenaica was intended to restore their fertility, making them one of the world's granaries as in Roman times.

"The rapid growth of the population is a problem engaging Mussolini's attention. So much of the country's surface is mountainous that the average density is now as great as in England, though it lacks mineral resources, and more than half the people are engaged in agriculture."

stitution as interpreted by the Court. A committee of the Congress, reporting upon this law, said:

"'To confirm a right is to recognize it expressly in its whole extent and with all conditions inherent therein in such way that no restriction whatever can be established with regard to the extent or the conditions of the right confirmed.'

Progress Since Legislation.

"After the legislation had been passed, certain oil companies still had doubt as to whether those who took confirmatory concessions under the new law would get new grants or have their old rights confirmed. Because of those doubts, Minister Morones, head of the Department of Industry, Commerce and Labor, wrote a letter answering an inquiry from an oil company stating that such confirmatory concessions would operate 'as the recognition of rights which will continue in force subject only to police regulations.'

"President Calles, on the advice of Minister Morones, has now issued new regulations modifying the old regulations in accordance with the decision of the Supreme Court and the new act of Congress. The new regulations make clear what Minister Morones had already made clear in his letter—that those taking confirmatory concessions under the amended law get confirmation of their old rights rather than a grant of new rights. The form of the confirmatory concession, as set out in the new regulations, expressly declares that it is to operate as a recognition of acquired rights which continue in force.

"There remains, of course, the determination of what rights the oil companies held on May 1, 1917 [the date the Constitution became effective]. While there may well be honest differences on this point, there is no reason why any such differences cannot be satisfactorily settled through due operations of the Mexican governmental departments and the Mexican courts.

"These changes in the Mexican laws and regulations have been made by the voluntary act of the Republic of Mexico. In the informal conversations which have taken place, Minister Morones and his official staff have approached the whole matter with the disposition to frame the regulations in such a way as to meet essential points that are susceptible of adjustment by general provisions.'

"Exploitation Works" Defined.

A detailed study of the new regulations of Article 27 of the 1917 Constitution discloses the divergence from the original regulations, an important paragraph of which was as follows:

"The following rights will be confirmed without any cost whatsoever and by means of concessions granted in conformity with this law: Those arising from lands on which works of petroleum exploitation were begun prior to May 1, 1917; those arising from contracts made before May 1, 1917, by a superficiary or his successor in title for the express purpose of the exploitation of petroleum. Confirmation of such rights may not be granted for more than fifty years from the time when the exploitation work was begun or, in the second case, from the date when the contracts were made."

It is understood that one of the greatest difficulties in arriving at an agreement in framing the new regulations was over the definition of "works of petroleum exploitation." What a large operating foreign oil company might wish to construe as coming within the term "exploitation works" might well be different from the construction made by some small lease-holder.

That point was settled by the inclusion of the following definition of "exploitation works" in the new regulations:

"The performance, prior to May 1, 1917, of some positive act which would manifest the intention of the surface-owner, or of persons entitled to exercise his rights to the oil under the surface, to make use of or obtain oil under the surface, such as drilling, leasing, entering any contract relative to subsoil, making capital investments in land for the purpose of obtaining oil in the subsoil, carrying out works of exploitation and exploration in the subsoil, and in cases where from a contract relative to subsoil it appears that the grantors fixed and received a price higher than would have been paid for the surface of the land because it was purchased for the purpose of seeking oil and exploiting the same if found; and in general performing or doing any other positive act or manifesting an intention of a similar character to those heretofore described."

Elimination of Time Limit.

The elimination of the fifty-year restriction upon confirmatory concessions of title is contained in Article 155 of the new regulations, as follows:

"Confirmatory concessions shall be issued in conformity with Article 14 'without limitation of time' when issued in favor of surface owners and for the term stipulated in the contracts when issued in favor of lessees of concessionaires."

Though no statements for publication have been made in behalf of the foreign oil interests regarding the new regulations, it is known that some of their representatives here have expressed satisfaction.

To suggest that selfish motives have been apparent in the negotiations leading to the adjustment would be unjust, according to those well informed, but in this connection it must be remembered that there are more than fifteen large foreign companies operating in the Mexican Republic and each one must necessarily have held its own views toward the proposed legislative reforms.

The general opinion here now is that any objection to the new regulations from such individual angles will have to go first to the Mexican Supreme Court and if then a cause is proved may be taken to the State Department at Washington.

Whatever may be the future of foreign oil operations in Mexico, observers here generally hold the view that the Mexican Government has made a sincere effort to meet the situation equitably and to the fullest possible extent along the lines which the foreign interests desired. The solution is regarded as definitely ending any cause for controversy between the two Governments.

WASHINGTON RECEIVES NEWS WITH PLEASURE

Action by Mexico Is Held to Be Virtual Settlement of Long Dispute.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 27.—The long and bitter diplomatic controversy between the United States and Mexico over the alleged confiscatory oil laws has been terminated, the State Department announced late today, by voluntary steps taken by the Calles Government in issuing new oil regulations.

The department's announcement was made after it had been informed by Ambassador Dwight W. Morrow over the telephone from Mexico City of the action of the Mexican Government.

The State Department contented itself with a brief statement announcing the promulgation of the regulations in Mexico City and accepting them as bringing "to a practical conclusion" the ten-year controversy over the effect of the Mexican Constitution and laws upon foreign oil companies.

Satisfaction in Washington.

Officials declined to amplify this statement, but Robert E. Olds, Acting Secretary of State, in talking with Mr. Morrow, congratulated him heartily on the success of his efforts and there was no disguising the intense gratification of high officials here over the successful outcome of Mr. Morrow's tactful diplomacy.

The adjustment was regarded as the greatest forward step in improving relations between the two governments in years, as a vindication of the inflexible stand of the Coolidge Government against the confiscation of property of Americans acquired in Mexico prior to the adoption of the Constitution of 1917 and as a notable achievement on the part of Mr. Morrow, who was untried in the field of diplomacy when he was appointed to the Mexico City post.

Mr. Morrow informed the State Department in his telephone conversation today that the text of the Mexican Government's regulations was being made public in Mexico City.

While it is recognized that in some individual cases adjustments may have to be made under the new regulations, there was no disposition to question the sweeping character of the petroleum law reform put into force by the Calles Government.

The attitude of the Mexican Government as represented in today's action is considered of a character to make the promise bright for adjustment of all other major pending issues, including problems raised by land, mineral and agrarian laws that affect American property rights.

Credit to Morrow and Lindbergh.

That Ambassador Morrow, who went to Mexico City only last December, was enabled to achieve so notable a diplomatic success in such a short time was declared today to be an outstanding record in the history of American foreign relations. He attacked the problem from the day of his arrival at the Mexican capital, and at the same time gave attention to manifold other aspects of American-Mexican relations that his friends believe will yield fruit in the next few months.

His success is accepted as a complete vindication of the selection by President Coolidge of one of his type for the post.

The compliment to Mexico implied in his appointment was recognized from the first by that Government and no small aid to him in his task were the cordial personal relations immediately established between him and President Calles.

One of the conspicuous contributions to the improvement of relations was the flight to Mexico City of Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, who was received with greatest acclaim and took President Calles on a flight over the capital.

The plan of Colonel Lindbergh to visit Mexico City in the course of his flight to Central America was approved enthusiastically by Ambassador Morrow as a service that would be likely to contribute to the good understanding that he was seeking to accomplish.

Final Stages of the Settlement.

The new spirit in evidence in the relations between the two countries consequent upon Mr. Morrow's mission was in deep contrast to that which existed previously when the chasm between the two countries reached its lowest point in the virtual warning by Secretary Kellogg, through a note on Oct. 30, 1926, that further discussions were useless and that a critical situation would be precipitated if Mexico committed an overt act of confiscation of American property.

The overt act was not committed, but for a year relations showed no improvement.

The first ray of hope for a satisfactory adjustment came in a decision of the Mexican Supreme Court last Fall in injunction suits brought by American oil companies in connection with drilling permits that Article 27 of the Mexican Constitution in the matter of petroleum was not retroactive "in spirit or in letter."

This was followed by a decision of a Federal District Court in an American oil case that Articles 2, 4, 14 and 15 of the petroleum law were unconstitutional.

The Calles Government recognized the force of these decisions by having the Mexican Congress amend the Mexican petroleum law, modifying its strict character and bringing it into line with the judicial decisions.

All these were accepted by the United States as hopeful signs, but officials manifested reserve in discussing them. With the issuance of the regulations today, this reserve was considered no longer necessary.

Controversy Began in 1916.

The long controversy, now looked upon as virtually ended as to oil rights, is one that had persisted through several Administrations with successive officials taking essentially the same position.

Early in 1916 the diplomatic dispute began when reports reached the United States that President Carranza was planning to nationalize the oil industry. He denied it, but soon the Constitution of May 1, 1917, was adopted with a provision that ownership of the subsoil was vested in the nation.

The Wilson Administration protested without success, and on Feb. 19, 1918, Carranza issued a decree designed to deprive surface owners of subsoil rights. President Wilson protested again April 2, 1918, without result.

Carranza was overthrown and succeeded by Adolfo de la Huerta as Provisional President, who was not recognized by the United States because it felt that he did not give sufficient guarantees for the protection of American rights.

After President Obregon assumed office on Dec. 1, 1920, and Mr. Hughes became Secretary of State, the question was again taken up by the State Department. In defining the American position in a statement on June 7, 1921, Mr. Hughes said:

"The fundamental question which confronts the Government of the United States in considering its relations with Mexico is the safeguarding of property rights against confiscation."

Mr. Hughes was unsuccessful at the time in obtaining definite guarantees that American rights and property would be respected, and the Obregon Government remained unrecognized.

Warren-Payne Agreement of 1923.

On May 2, 1923, however, Charles Beecher Warren and Judge John Barton Payne were appointed Commissioners by President Harding to meet with Commissioners of Mexico in Mexico City. Out of their deliberations came an agreement and understanding, approved by both Presidents, relating to subsoil rights of American citizens acquired prior to May 1, 1917, and to the agrarian questions, while also providing two conventions for liquidation of claims.

This was accepted here as a sufficient guarantee of American rights, and on Sept. 3, 1923, the Government of President Obregon was recognized.

President Obregon kept the terms of the agreement and received his reward when, in 1924, the de la Huerta revolution broke out and was put down only after the United States permitted ample war supplies to reach Obregon.

When General Calles succeeded to the Presidency on Nov. 30, 1924, as a result of regular elections, the recognition accorded to President Obregon was continued, despite attacks on American properties.

Invasion of American ranches by so-called agrarians produced a situation which led Secretary Kellogg, on June 12, 1925, to declare the Calles Government on trial before the world.

Alien Land and Oil Laws Protested.

Soon after that the alien land and petroleum laws affecting every form of real property held by foreigners in Mexico were enacted by the Mexican Congress late in December, 1926. Diplomatic correspondence between the United States and Mexico concerning them was conducted from Nov. 17, 1925, until Nov. 17, 1926.

The American notes protested that the laws were obectionable in their alleged retroactive and confiscatory effects on vested rights of American citizens.

The correspondence was concluded by Secretary Kellogg with the words that his Government expected Mexico "to respect in their entirety the acquired property rights of American citizens * * * and * * * not to take any action under the laws in question and the regulations issued in pursuance thereto, which would operate, either directly or indirectly, to deprive American citizens of the full ownership, use and enjoyment of their said properties and property rights."

COOLIDGE STILL HOPES FOR $225,000,000 CUT

But President Will Back Mellon on Revised Tax Estimates for Smaller Reduction.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 27.—President Coolidge has not been advised of the extent of tax reduction Secretary Mellon will propose in his revised estimates to be submitted to the Senate Finance Committee on April 9. The President is hopeful that the country's finances may warrant a reduction of $225,000,000, but is aware that heavy unexpected expenditures may remove that possibility.

The Treasury has been so accurate in its estimates, the President let it be known, that he feels that he will approve any recommendation Mr. Mellon may make. He has the utmost confidence in the estimates that Mr. Mellon has made and intends to support the Secretary in the revised recommendations.

The President feels that the Treasury is best informed as to the demands upon it and that it should be safeguarded against any possible deficit.

The Treasury's funds were increased today by the payment of $4,000,000 by Brazil for battleship repairs. The income tax payments continue to increase. Deposits in Federal Reserve banks of March 24 amounted to $481,874,675, as against $474,712,265.91 to the same date last year.

Customs receipts to that date were $36,226,948.30, as against $41,145,229.23 for the same period last year. Miscellaneous receipts to that date were $39,911,473.15, compared with $38,283,174.72 last year.

BERLIN 'HUMAN FLY' AGAIN ESCAPES ASYLUM

Scales Wall Imprisoning Him—Had Climbed Into Flat and Called Himself "Hohenzollern."

BERLIN, March 27.—After performing a series of seemingly impossible wall-scaling feats to the amusement and chagrin of the police and the annoyance of ladies yesterday, Germany's human fly, Joachim Richter, baffled the public again today by a spectacular escape from an insane asylum where he had been placed for safe keeping. Up to a late hour this evening, no trace of the man had been found.

Yesterday he scaled a smooth wall to the fifth floor of a west end apartment house and entered a window, scaring the sole woman occupant into hysteria. Announcing that he was a member of the Hohenzollern family and none other than the former Kaiser himself, he asked the lady not to be afraid, saying that he merely wanted to wash his hands, after which he ate the cake of soap. He evaded the police for more than an hour with his climbing antics and, when he finally was taken to the station, he demonstrated his skill at climbing a smooth wall.

Here he was uncertain which one of the Hohenzollerns he was, but mentioned several, one of whom he might be. Today's feat consisted of climbing a smooth wall surrounding the asylum, after tripping up the guard and leaving by way of a window, with the agility of a cat. Richter escaped from two asylums near Berlin within the past fortnight by the same method.

Haldeman and Stinson Seek Record.

JACKSONVILLE BEACH, Fla., March 27 (AP).—George Haldeman, copilot with Ruth Elder on their transatlantic flight attempt, and Eddie Stinson of Detroit tonight set dawn tomorrow as the time for a take-off on an attempt to break the world flight endurance record. The plane is ready on a runway at the beach. Weather prospects were good, the fliers said.

BYRD PLANE TO FLY FOR CANADA TODAY

South Pole Craft Will Leave Detroit, Mich., for Trial of Skis in Snow.

TO REMAIN AWAY 2 WEEKS

New Parts Are Patterned After Those of Army Machines, but Stronger for Heavier Load.

DETROIT, March 27 (AP).—After Making successful test flights here today, Floyd Bennett and Bert Balchen, members of the Byrd South Pole expedition, planned to hop off tomorrow, for the Pas, Manitobe, for further tests of the new Ford all-metal tri-motor monoplane to be used in the polar explorations.

They planned to make the 1,250-mile flight by way of St. Paul and Winnipeg, stopping only at Winnipeg, a distance of 940 miles from Detroit, if weather conditions are favorable. The test flights in Canada are expected to be under conditions similar to those anticipated in the polar regions.

The plane is the largest of several to be used in the South Pole expedition, which is scheduled to start from New York about Sept 10.

Bennett said the Canadian tests probably would require ten or fifteen days, after which the plane is to be returned here.

Skis Made for Heavy Load.

The Byrd plane will be tested on skis in the snow. The skis which will be used on these tests have been made at the Stout Metal Airplane Plant. They are patterned after the skis used by the army planes at Selfridge Field, with some alterations for heavier loads.

Commander Byrd gave a lecture last night before the Men's Class of the Park Avenue Baptist Church. Discussing his trip to the Antarctic, he said his party would have to combat temperatures as low as 80 degrees below.

Workshops would be constructed below the surface of the ice, he said.

The flier was introduced by John D. Rockefeller Jr., a member of the church and a backer of Commander Byrd. The Commander said Mr. Rockefeller had "done more for the practical progress of this country than any one else I know."

THREE AMERICANS DIE IN MEXICAN AIR TRIP

Plane Crashes at Toluca While Flying From Mazatlan to Mexico City.

MEXICO CITY, March 27.—Three Americans were killed today while flying from the port of Mazatlan to Mexico City. They were Sterling Rohlfs, pilot of a Fairchild plane, and Wallace Springer and William King, passengers.

The plane, according to Mazatlan telegrams, arrived there last night. The party was studying aerial postal possibilities. The original starting point of the trip was Nogales, Ariz.

Apparently the party left Mazatlan early this morning, intending to stop en route to this city at Guadalajara. Something went wrong and the plane crashed near the main avenue of the city of Toluca. Rohlfs and Wallace were killed instantly. King was taken to a hospital and died an hour later.

The Governor of the State is sending the bodies to Mexico City.

DOUGLAS, Ariz., March 27 (AP).—Sterling Rohlfs, wealthy New Mexican cattle man, piloting his monoplane, and accompanied by Wallace Springer, a cattle man from Cimarron, N. M., and W. E. King, attorney, with offices in Douglas and Mexico City, left here late the afternoon of March 22 by way of Nogales for Mexico City.

The three men were the only persons in the ship, which had been flown from New York to Douglas by Rohlfs.

Rohlfs was manager of the Bartlett ranch in Northern New Mexico, understood to be the property of Harry Chandler of Los Angeles.

King, before leaving, said the trip had been arranged merely as a pleasure jaunt and that it was planned to fly back by way of Chihuahua City to Douglas.

BUFFALO, N. Y., March 27 (AP).—Sterling Rohlfs, one of the three airmen killed in Toluca, Mexico, today, is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Rohlfs of Buffalo. Mrs. Rohlfs is a writer under the pen name of Anna Katharine Green.

Crashes to Earth When Parachute Fails to Open After Collision.

PARIS, March 27.—In a mid-air collision of two French military airplanes near Metz today one pilot escaped by the use of a parachute. The other was instantly killed. The crash took place at an altitude of 1,000 meters during manoeuvres of a bombing squadron. Sergeant Hervé leaped clear and his parachute brought him to the ground without injury. Sergeant Lefèvre, piloting the other plane, also attempted to jump, but his parachute failed to open and he was killed.

The planes fell in fields almost a mile apart.

MARINE FLIERS IN COLLISION

One Pilot Jumps to Safety at Pensacola, Other Flies Down.

PENSACOLA, Fla., March 27 (AP).—One student aviator took to his parachute and the other stuck to his craft when two naval training planes were in collision in the air above the local flying field today and neither man was hurt.

Ensign M. Carson, pilot of one of them, jumped with his parachute and landed safely on the field. The other flier, Lieutenant L. L. Kimes, United States Marine Corps, remained at the controls and guided his crippled machine down, landing unhurt. Both planes were badly damaged.

This morning Colonel Lindbergh called on Senator Shipstead, of Minnesota, and for the greater part of two hours was closeted with him.

He went next to the State Department and was closeted for another long period with Under-Secretary Olds who is acting as Secretary of State in the absence of Secretary Kellogg.

Neither Colonel Lindbergh nor Mr. Olds would discuss what they had discussed. This gave rise to much speculation as to possible plans of Colonel Lindbergh to try another endurance flight, perhaps across the Pacific. Some even guessed at a trip around the world. To all queries Colonel Lindbergh persisted that he had no comment to make.

GERMANS PUT OFF THEIR FLIGHT HERE

presses the wish of the council in Dublin that America will be fully represented at the games next August.

Cosgrave Receives Fliers.

DUBLIN, March 27 (AP).—Baron von Huennefeld and Captain Koehl called on President Cosgrave of the Irish Free State today. The President wished them "bon voyage" and the airmen expressed to him their great appreciation of the courtesy they had met here and of the manner in which the facilities of the Free State air force had been placed at their disposal.

Herr von Dehn, the German Consul General, was host at a party given today in honor of the fliers and their advance guard of helpers who came to Dublin late last week. The airmen themselves were entertained at the officers' mess at the Baldonnell Airdrome tonight.

The man who displayed least disappointment over the weather conditions was Baron von Huenefeld, through whose efforts the flight has been made possible. He nonchalantly remarked:

"With a little patience we expect to get an easterly breeze, which we hope will waft us to a firm landing place on Mitchel Field, Long Island. The moment we get weather that appeals to us, we will start off."

FRAU KOEHL IS OPTIMISTIC.

But Few Germans Share Her Belief in Flight's Chances.

By LINCOLN EYRE.

Copyright, 1928, by The New York Times Company.
By Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BERLIN, March 27.—German feelings about the chances the German fliers have of accomplishing their proposed hop from Ireland to New York are frankly pessimistic. Gloom pervades the Berlin newspapers and the prognostications of aviation and barometrical experts.

The only person voicing complete confidence in Pilot Koehl's ability to reach his goal is his wife. Replying to reporters' questions today that unperturbed young matron, known as "Germany's prettiest flying wife," exclaimed: "Excited? Not a bit! I am absolutely sure my husband will start across the Atlantic only when all the circumstances are most favorable to his success. He is far too thorough in method and too good an airman to overlook a single feature mitigating against his plans.

"And his courage is such that he would not hesitate to turn back once more if the conditions were not satisfactory in the air. He's no hothead, but a technician who knows just what he can do. That is why I am so certain he will succeed."

Frau Koehl declared her husband has been obsessed with the resolve to pilot the first plane from Europe to America ever since Lindbergh landed in Paris, and every flight since has contributed to his profound knowledge of transatlantic aviation.

"Even the traffic feature," she added.

Lufthansa Condemns Flight.

Officials of the Lufthansa, Germany's commercial air trust, by which Captain Koehl has been employed as chief of its night service, are far from sharing his wife's optimism. In fact, while they declined to be quoted for publication, these authorities sternly condemn Koehl's enterprise, and, incidentally, alleged a violation of his Lufthansa contract, which he committed in setting out without their permission.

"No attempt to cross the Atlantic in a single motor land machine can be approved by our company" one of the Lufthansa officers stated.

In governmental quarters, similar sentiments were expressed. Wilhelmstrasse spokesmen, however, withheld official comment on what they termed "a purely private undertaking." The press also deprecates the proposed flight in sparse editorial references, interlaced in long news reports.

The Achtuhr Abendblatt declares ocean flying to be "sheer suicide at present, according to all aeronautical and meteorological experts." The Vossische Zeitung, regretting the reported dropping of a wreath at Doorn for the exiled Kaiser by the fliers, hopes, "this faux pas won't prove an evil omen for the further progress of the flight."

Nevertheless Captain Koehl's cool nerve has impressed his compatriots, and all Germany is moved by his daring, if not by his reasoning. If he wins out he is certain to become a national hero, the German Lindbergh. Only, today nobody thinks he will.

London reports to the effect that Baron von Huenefeld may not be aboard the Bremen when it wings westward over the waves are rejected here. The Baron's friends picture him as even more eager than Captain Koehl to essay the hop, and say that he produced the necessary funds only on the condition that he be taken along. Whether Arthur Spindler, the mechanic, will start overseas, however, is not known here.

Weather Reports Unfavorable.

Copyright, 1928, by The New York Times Company.
Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BREMEN, Germany, March 27.—Weather conditions are decidedly unfavorable for the transatlantic flight of Captain Koehl and Baron von Huenefeld, the local Government Meterological Observatory stated tonight. Reports from ships on the Atlantic and stations along the American coast show that near Newfoundland the aviators would have to combat an adverse wind with a velocity of ten to fourteen kilometers a second.

Taking a more northerly course the flyers might strike a favorable wind from the east, but rain and snow are reported from the region west of Iceland and the visibility there is poor. Further south as far as the Azores there is a high pressure area, with southwesterly winds almost resembling a gale. This means that the shortest route offers poor prospects.

The question of who is really backing the flight is still shrouded in mystery, but it is generally suspected here that certain large corporations are again behind the venture. Baron von Huenefeld, who bought the plane from the Junkers company, states he obtained part of the money from private parties, but it is believed that the contributors were directors or stockholders of the North German Lloyd, although the big shipping company is not directly interested.

Spindler's Wife Breaks Down.

DRESDEN, Germany, March 27 (AP).—Mrs. Arthur Spindler, wife of Captain Koehl's team-mate on the Bremen, completely lost composure today when informed that her husband was about to venture forth across the Atlantic by airplane. She said she had had no idea of her husband's intentions.

Spindler, who in the World War piloted Koehl's plane at the head of a flying squadron, wrote a letter to friends here, received today, in which he pointed out that he was the oldest active flier in Dresden and considered it his duty to accompany Captain Koehl in the interests of the advancement of aviation.

"Do not think we are tempting God," he wrote. "We merely wish to be pioneers in the service of humanity."

Spindler says that no money had been offered for the flight and that it was not a sporting proposition. A three-motored plane, he asserted, was no better than a single-motored machine, as it would be impossible to rise again in any case.

TWO KOEHL RELATIVES HERE.

Uncle and Cousin Plan to Be on Reception Committee.

Captain Hermann Koehl, pilot of the Junkers plane Bremen will find two of his relatives waiting for him if he succeeds in bringing the monoplane from Baldonnell in Ireland to Mitchel Field, it was learned in Newark yesterday.

Eugene Zimmerer of 35 Treacy Avenue, Newark, automobile editor of The Newark Evening News, is a cousin of Captain Koehl. He announced yesterday that he and Joseph Koehl of 476 East 156th Street New York, a music instructor, uncle of the aviator, will ask to be put on the reception committee as soon as they receive word that the Bremen has left on its flight to the United States.

Zimmerer has not seen Captain Koehl for thirty years, but has been kept in touch with Koehl's career through his mother, Mrs. Katherine Zimmerer, who lives in Bavaria. At the outbreak of the World War Zimmerer received from her a letter stating that Koehl, on the way to the front with a regiment of German heavy artillery, had been billeted for a time with her.

The next letter containing information on Koehl came last December. It told the plans for Koehl's first attempt at transatlantic flight which he was compelled to abandon off the Irish coast because of fierce headwinds.

Captain Koehl, Zimmerer said, is descended from a family which has a record of a century of unbroken service in the German Army and Navy. He is a graduate of the Military School of Stuttgart. He served with the heavy artillery through the first years of the conflict and later, when Allied fliers had decreased the numbers of the German Flying Corps, was trained for service in the heavy bombing planes. He continued in this service until the Armistice was signed and after he was mustered out went in for commercial flying.

WANTS $25,000 FOR FLIGHT.

Stultz Names Price to Cross Ocean With Miss Boll.

Special to The New York Times.

CURTIS FIELD, L. I., March 27.—While awaiting favorable weather conditions for his attempt to break the endurance flying record, Wilmer Stultz, pilot for Charles A. Levine, said today that he was negotiating for a larger plane in which to cross the Atlantic if Miss Mabel Boll agrees to his terms for the venture. He said no contract had been made as yet, but that there was an understanding that he would be her pilot if she wished to make the trip. He added that he would not accept less than $25,000. Miss Boll said yesterday that she was negotiating for the purchase of a Fokker from Commander Byrd.

Referring to his preparations for the endurance test, Stultz said an unfavorable weather report prevented any attempt today, but warmer weather had been predicted for tomorrow and he would be ready to make an early start.

BALBOA, March 27.—F. Trubee Davison, Assistant Secretary of War for Aviation, and General James Fechet, Chief of the Air Corps, left France Field at 6:45 o'clock this morning in two Loening amphibians bound for Washington.

Captain Ira Eaker and Lieutenant Muir, both Pan-American fliers, are piloting the planes, which have been stripped of all extra weight possible in order to make the flight in the best possible time.

The planes arrived at David Flying Field, 225 Miles from France Field, at 9 o'clock, completed fueling and left at 10:45 for Salvador.

The All-America Cables announced last night, said The Associated Press, that Assistant Secretary Davison and General Fechet had arrived at Ilopango Air Field, San Salvador, on their flight home.

SMITH CERTIFIES DAKOTA CANDIDACY

Qualifies for the Presidency in Formal Notice Sent for Filing in Pierre.

ALSO ACCEPTS PLATFORM

It Calls for Aid to the Farmers, Revision of Tariff, and Is Against Religious Bias.

Governor Smith, who previously certified to the correctness of the spelling of his name in the primary ballot in Michigan and granted consent to candidates for national convention delegates in Massachusetts to pledge themselves to him, has gone further toward a formal avowal of his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for President, it was learned yesterday, by sending to South Dakota a signed certificate that he will qualify for the Presidency if nominated and elected. This certificate, which is required by the South Dakota election law, will be filed at Pierre, in that State, on Friday.

The Governor, by signing this certificate, also agreed to support the platform adopted by the recent Democratic State nominating convention, which stresses relief for agriculture as the leading issue. The platform also declares for tariff revision and against religious discrimination in American public life. It approaches the prohibition issue from all angles, declaring for law enforcement, but calling for an end of encroachment by the Federal Government of the rights of States and of individuals.

The certificate signed by the Governor follows:

> I do hereby declare that, if nominated and elected, I will qualify and will adhere to the principles herewith.
> ALFRED E. SMITH.

The declaration of principles or platform, which was appended to the certificate and which the Governor accepted, follows:

A united, militant Democratic Party should wage battle in 1928 for things that are fundamental, including above all the rights of man as against the rights of wealth, and should be explicitly pledged without qualification, evasion or equivocation to the following:

First—Agriculture must be placed on a parity with industry, and immediate adjustments made in our economic system whereby the American farmer receives a fair return for his investment and his labor.

Second—Relief from the burden of an excessively high tariff.

Third—No religious discrimination whatsoever in American public life.

Fourth—An end of the encroachment of the Federal Government on the rights of States, with restoration so far as possible of local self-government to the States.

Fifth, termination of the present tendency of the governmental power to infringe on the rights of the individual.

Sixth, recognition in our dealings with small nations of the right of self determination, and no future imperialistic ventures.

Seventh, honest and effective enforcement of all laws.

Eighth, cooperation with other nations in good faith efforts to prevent future wars.

Ninth, a fair deal to American labor.

Tenth, honesty in conducting the public affairs of the United States.

Eleventh, a national policy of practical idealism in the place of gross materialism.

Twelfth, conservation of national resources, particularly water power, and a policy of watchful vigilance with reference to the program of the power trust.

We enunciate as the paramount national issue our demand for a national policy designed to promote the welfare, happiness and prosperity of the people as a whole, with the immediate and most urgent requirement being justice to agriculture. We prescribe as our motto the following eight words: "Return to fundamental democratic principles, justice agriculture."

Governor Smith received word yesterday from Holton Davenport of Sioux Falls, S. D., one of the leaders of the Smith movement in that State, that there was no indication that Senator Thomas J. Walsh of Montana, who was defeated by the Governor in the proposal convention, would file as an independent preferential candidate for President in the Democratic primary on May 22. The time for filing independent petitions will expire next Monday and Mr. Davenport said that it was virtually certain that Governor Smith would be unopposed in South Dakota.

CALLS DEMOCRATS DISHONEST AS WETS

Pisciotta Tells Republicans They Are Actually Enforcing the Prohibition Law Here.

Governor Smith, Mayor Walker and the Democratic organization in New York State were assailed last night by Alex Pisciotta, Assistant United States Attorney, as dishonestly creating an impression in the minds of the voters that they are against prohibition and not enforcing the law when, he said, 75 to 90 per cent. of all the cases that come up in his office are arrests made by city policemen.

"They give the impression that they are wet," said Mr. Pisciotta, who spoke at the Seventeenth Assembly Young People's Republican Club of Kings County at 78 Herkimer Street. "They refuse to pass a State enforcement act, when as a matter of fact they are not honest with the people, as they really are enforcing the law.

"If it weren't for the police of New York there would be practically no enforcement at all. We have a strong Federal prohibition force now, but a year ago there were only seven to ten agents in the entire Eastern district, comprising Richmond, Kings, Queens, Nassau and Suffolk counties, the first three of these being in New York City."

The speaker said that his experience shows that a majority of the people are not taking the law very seriously and that this is primarily the fault of high public officials who set a bad example.

Mr. Pisciotta complained of the situation by which the man who is caught with a pint of liquor in his private high-priced car loses the car and gets the same $500 fine that is the maximum that can be imposed on the man who is caught with 200 cases on a dilapidated old motor boat.

Mr. Pisciotta declined to express his views on what should ultimately be done about prohibition. He wanted to present a picture, he said, of conditions as they are, and would not attempt to suggest a remedy.

SEES SOUTH PRO-HOOVER.

State Senator Jones Says He Will Draw Heavily Among Democrats.

The prediction that Secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover would have all the delegates from the South to the Republican National Convention and that he would carry some of the Southern States if Governor Smith should be the Democratic nominee for President was made yesterday by former State Senator Samuel A. Jones of Norwich, N. Y., in a statement made public by the Hoover-for-President New York Committee.

"There are many reasons for this pro-Hoover sentiment in the South, and his handling of the Mississippi flood situation is one of them," said Mr. Jones, who has just returned from a trip through the Southern States. "The people talked with are confident that with Secretary Hoover at the nation's helm all Southern interests, including agriculture, will be in safe and friendly hands. There are just two Americans whose names are household words in the South and who are regarded as the greatest of all present-day Americans—Hoover and Lindbergh.

"Mr. Hoover will have all the Republican vote because his vigorous leadership is obviously exactly what the party needs. He will poll more of the independent vote than any candidate in recent years and he will draw an enormous number of ballots from inside the Democratic Party, particularly in the South."

REED ATTACKS COOLIDGE.

Missourian at Chapel Hill, N. C., Demands "House Cleaning."

Special to The New York Times.

CHAPEL HILL, N. C., March 27.—Assailing the Administrations of Harding and Coolidge, Senator Reed of Missouri, who is on a speaking tour in the interest of his candidacy for the Presidency, declared in an address here today that "the best way to cut this cancer out of the life of the country is for the Republicans to help the Democrats turn out the entire crowd."

Senator Reed spoke before about two thousand University of North Carolina students, Faculty members and townspeople.

"Senator Borah and the insurgents are all that are left of the soul of the Republican Party in Washington," said Mr. Reed. "Have you ever heard from Coolidge or from any member of the Cabinet any protest against the present iniquities? The entire crowd is tainted. It is up to the Republicans to join with the Democrats in cleaning house."

WASHINGTON, March 27 (AP).—Senator Reed of Missouri intends to carry his fight for the Democratic Presidential nomination into ten Southern and Middle Western States on his present tour. He will deliver more than twenty addresses.

CONVICTS IN TERROR REFUSE TO TESTIFY

AGED INMATE TALKS FREELY

Special to The New York Times.

TRENTON, N. J., March 27.—Terror of death if they "squealed" on two of their prison mates, Harry Baxter, alias Bitzberg, and Frank Wunkowski, convicts in State prison whose trial for the murder of a keeper in an attempted jail break on Feb. 4, began here today, sealed the lips of two "lifers" on the witness stand. But a third convict, Antonio Frederici, emboldened by his seventy-one years already spent, braved the mysterious threat behind the prison walls and spoke freely.

"I saw this Bitzberg shoot," said Frederici. He described how the keeper fell after Baxter ordered him to put up his hands.

The prosecution is trying both men for killing Joseph H. Tinney. Another guard, John R. Casey, testified that Tinney before he died named Wunkowsky as the man who killed him.

The trial in Mercer County Court began today before Supreme Court Justice Trenchard assisted by Judge Erwin Marshall. The prosecutor is Charles English.

The fear of death which lurks behind the State Prison walls even in the minds of "lifers" was evidenced when both Louis Alvino and Harold Stack, 20 years old, declined to testify.

"I'd be in fear that some one would stick a knife in my heart when I walked through the yard," Alvino said. He was reminded that he already had made a statement to the prosecutor.

"I'm under oath now," Alvino replied, "and I won't take any chances. I won't testify." He was excused.

Stack, pleading danger, also declined to aid the State. He finally took the oath, and admitted he had known Baxter. But he could not identify either Baxter or Wunkowski today, he said.

Several other convicts took the stand, and one of them, Vincent Murray, corroborated Frederici's story of the shooting. Frederici's identification of Wunkowski came in for attack by defense counsel, and the aged convict admitted he had seen him only "that day" and today.

The two prisoners were captured after they had pried loose the door of a corridor leading to the prison yard and tried to scale the wall. Guards' bullets struck Baxter, paralyzing his legs. He was wheeled into court in a chair. The trial continues tomorrow.

LABORITES FOR SHIPSTEAD.

St. Paul Convention Also Approves Norris for President.

ST. PAUL, March 27 (AP).—Over stubborn opposition of anti-conservatives, the Minnesota Farmer-Labor Convention late today indorsed United States Senator Henrik Shipstead for re-election.

During a fiery-two hour debate, the senior Senator from Minnesota was attacked as "a betrayer of the party that electetd him" and refended as "the champion of the working class."

The final vote was taken by acclamation, but an official check showed that approximately one-fourth of the 300 delegates registered disapproval.

C. R. Hedlund of Minneapolis presented a minority report of the Nominating Committee for the endorsement of W. F. Watkins, representing the Minneapolis Switchmen's Union.

Conditional endorsement of Senator George W. Norris of Nebraska for President was voted after the committee altered the resolution to include the clause: "Providing he gives his consent to become a candidate on our ticket."

Johns Hopkins Men Favor Hoover.

Special to The New York Times.

BALTIMORE, March 27.—Herbert Hoover is the choice of a majority of the students of Johns Hopkins University for President of the United States, according to a straw vote just completed and recorded in the Hopkins News Letter. He polled 222 of the 473 votes cast and had a majority of 95 over Governor Smith of New York, who stood second, with 127 votes. Governor Ritchie was favored by 90 of the students.

Denies Plan to Name Ford Senator.

Special to The New York Times.

GRAND RAPIDS, March 27.—Governor Green, here over night on his way to Big Rapids, characterized as ridiculous today reports that he might appoint Henry Ford as United States Senator and reiterated his statement, there "isn't a chance for the appointment of a Democrat."

MAN KILLED AS AUTO CRASHES INTO TREE

Car Runs Off Straightaway on Bronx River Parkway—Pedestrian Hit by Taxi Dies.

Thomas A. Allen of 30 East Forty-second Street, New York, died in the Lawrence Hospital at Bronxville at 9:55 o'clock yesterday morning after driving his car off a straightaway on the Bronx River Parkway, just south of Bronxville, three hours before.

He was traveling south in a heavy sedan at a high rate of speed at the time of the accident and left the road to crash head-on into a tree, completely demolishing the car. He was pinned under the wreckage and was extricated by George Lorz of 1,753 Third Avenue, New York, who came upon the scene of the accident only a moment after the crash occurred.

Lorz forced open the door of the car and pulled Allen from beneath the steering wheel, where he lay unconscious. He picked the man up, placed him in his own automobile and rushed him to the hospital, where it was found that Allen was suffering from severe internal injuries and several broken ribs.

He was 38 years old and married. His wife and two children are in Europe.

Theodore Kudla, 40 years old, of 1,762 First Avenue, was struck by a taxicab in Third Avenue near Ninety-second Street early yesterday and died in Mount Sinai Hospital a few hours after.

Kudla was crossing from the east to the west side of Third Avenue when the cab, owned by Charles Lowry, 1,611 Nelson Avenue, the Bronx, and operated by Thesper Kugliski, 312 East Ninety-first Street, struck him and knocked him down, the police said. Kugliski was not arrested at the time.

Josephine Caggiano, 6 years old, of 116 Sherman Street, Long Island City, was run down and seriously injured yesterday afternoon while playing near her home. She was removed to St. John's Hospital. The wheel of the truck severed her right arm, and her right leg is so badly mangled it may have to be amputated. George H. Schmidt of 2,111 Forty-eighth Street, Long Island City, driver of the truck, was not arrested.

James Keegan, 5 years old, of 173 West 102d Street, suffered a compound fracture of the skull last night when struck by a hit-and-run driver. Taken to Reconstruction Hospital, it was found his condition was critical. The license number of the automobile was noted by a witness and a detective of the West 100th Street Station was assigned to the case.

FISH STRIKES AT SMITH.

Voices Belief That Sinclair Gave Heavily to Elect Governor.

Belief that Harry F. Sinclair contributed heavily to help elect Governor Smith in 1924, when he defeated Theodore Roosevelt, was expressed last night by Representative Hamilton Fish Jr. in a speech at the Men's Club of Temple Emanuel, Forty-ninth Street and Fourteenth Avenue Brooklyn.

Governor Smith has denied that Mr. Sinclair made any contribution to his campaign committee, and no contributions to Democratic campaign funds by Mr. Sinclair have been disclosed by the reports on file in the Secretary of State's office, except two contributions to Tammany Hall, one of $250 and one of $1,000.

"That part of the attack made upon Governor Smith by Senator Robinson of Indiana, that Sinclair had contributed in 1918 to his campaign, is most unfair, as the Teapot Dome lease was not put through until April, 1922," said Mr. Fish. "On the other hand, Governor Smith has some explaining to do as to why he appointed Sinclair as one of the Racing Commissioners to fill an unexpired term and then reappointed him to a full term after the Senate committee had exposed the fraudulent oil leases and the loans to Former Secretary Fall.

"The statement of Governor Smith that he had denounced the Teapot Dome scandals in the 1924 campaign is the rankest kind of hypocrisy, as at that very time Harry F. Sinclair was holding an appointive office at the hands of the Chief Executive of New York State."

ROBINSON NOT A CANDIDATE.

Arkansas Senator Declines Offer of Women's Club to Back Him.

McCRORY, Ark., March 27 (AP).—Senator Robinson of Arkansas is "in no sense a candidate for the Presidential nomination" and is therefore "not in a position to invite or request endorsement for this high honor," said a telegram received from him by the Civic League of Augusta and made public today.

The league, composed of sixty women, recently wrote Senator Robinson, advising him they were endorsing him for President and asking his stand on prohibition. In regard to the latter, his telegram said:

"My attitude is clearly shown in my record. I have uniformly supported prohibition measures and advocated their good faith enforcement."

ADMITS LOCK-OUT OF 2,500 STEEL MEN

Counsel to Employers Explains Action Taken Friday—Tie-Up Considered Unlikely.

BRICKLAYERS ARE BLAMED

Refusal to Work With Non-Union Men Given as Reason for Step, Though Most of Them Are Back.

Although the Structural Steel Board of Trade, through its counsel, R. B. Thomas, announced yesterday a lock-out of its 2,500 employes as a result of a strike of bricklayers on certain jobs, there seemed little likelihood last night of a general tie-up of building.

The bricklayers, who struck, according to John Gill, Chairman of the New York Executive Committee of the Bricklayers Union, because they objected to conditions in isolated cases, have returned to work on all except four jobs.

The jobs on which the men are still out are apartment houses at Park Avenue and Ninety-sixth Street, Park Avenue and Eighty-eighth Street, Fifty-seventh Street near Sutton Place, and Prospect Park West at Montgomery Place, Brooklyn.

Mr. Thomas, in a statement yesterday, charged the bricklayers with trying to upset a condition of harmony which had prevailed for twenty-four years. Mr. Gill in reply said:

"If Mr. Thomas's non-union erectors of steel hope to upset the conditions operating in New York for over forty years that have worked out with such harmony both to employes, employers and the general public, he is barking up the wrong tree. The bricklayers of the city of New York are not going to be bludgeoned into open-shop conditions."

The following notice was given to all non-union steel workers in their pay envelopes last Friday, according to Mr. Gill:

"The members of the bricklayers' union have struck on several jobs in this city, giving as their reason that they refuse to work on buildings where the steel has been put up by non-union men working for the steel erectors on the open-shop basis.

"If this issue is not faced now and the condition continues, it will mean that it will be impossible for you to secure work at your trade. Therefore, in order to protect you, this company finds it necessary to cease all steel erection in Greater New York on March 26, 1928, until such time as the members of the bricklayers' union proceed to work."

Both sides agree that not more than 200 bricklayers are now out.

THREE TOWNS IN PERIL IN CALIFORNIA FLOODS

Hundreds Reinforce Levees While High Waters Recede in Most Parts of State.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 27 (AP).—Flooded rivers in California were gradually receding tonight while hundreds of men worked to reinforce levees on three fronts in a battle against the waning thrusts of the swollen streams, fed by a week of steady rain and melting snows in the high Sierras.

The three fronts still regarded as "danger spots" were at Alicia on the Feather River, Marysville on the Tuba and at Durham Land Colony on Butte Creek, all in the northern part of the State. Bags of sand were thrown up against the strained levees by large groups of workers.

Improved conditions were reported elsewhere except in the far northeastern part of the State, where the Pit River broke over its banks and flooded Alturas, a town of 1,000. No loss of life is reported, but damage was heavy.

The Weather Bureau sent out an assurance that "the storm is over" and efforts were largely concentrated tonight in checking up the damage and making repairs where possible.

In Reno, Nev., on the Truckee River, the situation was reported better, although still potentially serious should heavy rains again occur. North Sacramento still was flooded but the water was receding.

By tomorrow, officials in charge of restoration work said, the water should be back to normal in most of the streams.

DR. PAREANT CONVICTED.

Former Brooklyn Physician Sold Stolen Car to Elizabeth Policeman.

Special to The New York Times.

Elizabeth, N. J., March 27.—After deliberating sixteen minutes, a jury in Quarter Sessions Court here this afternoon found Dr. Raoul Pareant, alias Dr. Tomaso Armonia, a former Brooklyn physician, guilty of false pretenses involving the sale of a stolen automobile to an Elizabeth policeman. He will be sentenced next week.

Three other indictments, charging similar offenses, are pending against him. It is doubtful whether any of these will be moved as the Federal authorities have a detainer against the prisoner for the alleged transportation of stolen cars from one State into another.

LONDON, March 27.—The Duke of York today took out a life insurance policy for himself at the extravagant premium of one penny a week, and as a result his heirs at his death will benefit to the extent of about $35.

He was visiting the head offices in London of the Prudential Assurance Company and when the golden opportunity was explained to him he seized it. Unfortunately for him, he thought the premium was a penny a year.

This new PARTITION uses only rich walnut or mahogany

YET ANY OFFICE CAN AFFORD IT

NO development in 20 years has done as much to bring beauty to offices as the recent introduction of New Telesco Partition.

In New Telesco only rich walnut or mahogany woods are used. This has never before been practical . . . it was far too expensive. So almost all offices have had to be content with imitation materials, stained or painted to look something like the real thing.

Yet so reasonable is the cost of New Telesco that it makes the matchless beauty of rich walnut or mahogany available to any office. This one factor is so momentous that even by itself it is an achievement. Yet it is only one of many advantages of New Telesco.

New Telesco achieves new beauty not only through using rich woods, but by employing these woods in a new, more beautiful design. This design is modern. It is essentially simple. Meaningless ornamentation and superfluous members are done away with. In every detail it is architecturally correct. It brings office partition for the first time abreast of the trend towards more handsome and more beautiful offices.

The practical advantages of New Telesco equally distinguish it. There is the specially treated, mop-proof base; the protective special lacquer finish; its narrow-width, easy-to-move units; its telescoping posts that reach any ceiling height; its portability; . . . such advantages at a reasonable price make NEW TELESCO the most important development in all our years of experience making office partitions.

Call and examine New Telesco or if that is inconvenient you will find it described in detail in this illustrated booklet. Shall we send you a copy?

Move to Get Back All Lines.

Since the city's new special counsel contends the contract has been broken by the company and will ask the Court to declare the agreement rescinded, the provisions under which the city might otherwise exercise its right of recapture will not be enforced. Under the recapture provisions the city could take back part of the Interborough system upon one year's notice and the repayment of the company's investment plus 15 per cent.

Under Mr. Craig's plan, the city, it is understood, will ask the Court to return all the Interborough subway lines. The original subways were not recapturable and would continue on lease until 1962.

Should the Court decide against the Interborough and uphold Mr. Craig's contentions, the Interborough would be left with only the elevated lines owned by the Manhattan Company, which are now being operated at a deficit.

Mr. Untermyer was not present in Judge Bondy's court yesterday, but he was represented by C. D. Williams, an assistant. Mr. Untermyer has been ill for several days, but expects to be able to conclude his argument before the statutory court tomorrow.

Mr. Williams told the Court Mr. Untermyer considered Mr. Craig's motion of little importance except as it affected the answer which the former Controller plans to file on behalf of the city. The Transit Commission answer to the suit has not yet been filed, Mr. Untermyer contending the Federal court has no jurisdiction.

Attacks the Complaint.

Mr. Craig referred to the Interborough complaint as a "monstrosity." Judge Bondy agreed that the paragraph headings, quotations of law, hypotheses, conclusions and argumentative matter, all of which Mr. Craig objected to, had no place in a complaint of that sort.

Mr. Craig asked that references to a statement made by Mr. Untermyer should not remain in the complaint, but Mr. Ransom insisted they remain.

"Judge Ransom merely wants to put me in a controversy with Mr. Untermyer," Mr. Craig said.

Judge Bondy said he did not consider the Transit Commission bound by statements of its counsel and observed:

"Judge Ransom has alleged a great many things more than he had to allege." The Court further conceded that the complaint was "not a model of fine pleading."

"I admire the man who knows what is sufficient and who doesn't waste any more paper and ink than is necessary," Judge Bondy said at another point. Mr. Craig has filed the shortest brief of any of those submitted in the present litigation.

Mr. Ransom argued that the statutory court should hear the argument, but Mr. Craig contended it was not a matter for the special court.

MORE SUBWAYS REQUESTED.

East and North Bronx and Staten Island Make Pleas to Board.

Delegations representing East Bronx, North Bronx and Staten Island crowded the hearing chamber of the Board of Transportation yesterday and asked the transportation Commissioners to provide subway lines for their districts, although Chairman Delaney said recently that all available facilities were employed in the construction of subways already authorized and that no new lines can be undertaken for at least four years.

The East Bronx delegation asked for a subway along Randall Avenue, through Eastchester Bay to Clason Point and to Westchester. Nathan Spector represented groups from the Hunts Point Property Owners' Association, the Throgs Neck Taxpayers' Association, Clason Point Association and Unionport Association.

Alderman Thomas J. McDonald asked for a line through Boston Post Road diagonally through the northeast part of the Bronx.

Elias Bernstein, President of the Tompkinsville Board of Trade, headed the Staten Island delegation, which came to urge that the board prepare plans for the tunnel across the Narrows proposed during the Hylan Administration.

Friendly Policy Toward French Democracy Contrasts With Attitude Toward Italian State.

PARIS, March 27.—The speech of Pope Pius to the Diocesan Committee in Rome in which he plainly made known his disapproval of the attitude of the Italian Catholic National Centre Party's attitude toward fascism has aroused the keenest interest in France where it is interpreted as the first open evidence of conflict between the Vatican and the Fascista régime in Italy.

For some time past it has been evident that such a struggle was imminent. A few days ago in the official Vatican organ, The Osservatore Romano, a declaration obviously dictated by Cardinal Gasparri, Papal Secretary of State, warned all Italian Bishops that they must observe the strictest neutrality and avoid either supporting or opposing the Fascista régime.

To that declaration the newspaper Tevere replied, accusing Cardinal Gasparri of having given secret instructions to the Bishops to avoid all association with Fascista organizations and accusing him also of having directly inspired the speech of Mgr. Seipel, Chancellor of Austria, on the subject of the Austro-German population of South Tyrol. These polemics have not been kept outside the Vatican. The Holy College itself is known to be divided into pro and anti-Fascisti camps. In the Pope's speech he has taken a perfectly definite stand on the side of the latter and as the French see it there must result a very sustained struggle between Premier Mussolini and the Vatican.

An interesting comparison is being made between the attitude of the Vatican in France and in Italy. Here the Vatican has sought to dissociate Catholics from the royalist movement and to encourage them to rally to the support of the republican régime and the present Government. In Italy, the interference of the State under Fascista direction in domains which the Vatican regards as appertaining to the Church has caused a contrary attitude. The Pope's protest against the Fascista plan of "creating a practical monopoly of the education of youth not only physically but morally and spiritually" is in marked contrast to his support of the democratic régime here, where religious instruction is banned from the schools.

Roman Press Silent on Speech.

ROME, March 27 (AP).—The address of Pope Pius criticizing the National Catholic Centre Party for its alleged slighting of the church in favor of the Mussolini Administration, was published only tonight by the Roman secular newspapers. The newspapers brought it out without comment. But there is still plenty of comment in political and Church circles.

Ecclesiastics declare that the Pope is the sole arbiter and that they will submit to his decision, but some of them add that the Pontiff may have allowed to escape a uniquely favorable opportunity for solution of the "Roman question."

The Pope made his address on Sunday before the diocesan board of Rome. In it he emphasized the doctrine that the Church alone is entrusted with the mission of Christian education and formation of youthful character. This was taken by commentators as an adverse criticism of the Fascista system of training boy and youths in the especial tenets of the "Black Shirts."

VIRGINIANS' PORTRAITS SOUGHT IN BRITAIN

Richmond Publisher Tries to Borrow Pictures of Colonial Governors for Exhibition.

LONDON, March 27.—An attempt is being made here to borrow from the British owners portraits of Virginia's Colonial Governors and other historic figures to exhibit them in a special collection at Richmond, Va., next Autumn. Difficulties in the way are numerous, however, since all except one o fthe Governors' portraits are scattered in private homes in England and Scotland.

John Stewart Bryan, newspaper publisher of Richmond, is here with a letter of introduction from Sir Esme Howard, the British Ambassador at Washington, endeavoring to round up the Virginians' portraits for the exhibition. He has met with little success so far.

Of only one of the Virginia Governors is there a picture in the National Portrait Gallery—that of the first Earl of Granville. But even with this one it was pointed out at the gallery today, it is extremely unlikely that it would ever be lent to the United States. There is only one case on record of a portrait being lent abroad. That was the picture of Lord Byron, sent to France for the Paris exhibition, but even then the French and British Governments had to move heaven and earth to obtain the release of the picture.

Mr. Bryan said today that he is making inquiries and trying to obtain the pictures from private owners. He is especially anxious to get a rare portrait of Pocahontas, the Indian Princess, from a private collection in Scotland. Already Mr. Bryan has obtained a portrait of Lord Howard of Effingham for the Governors' collection.

No application whatsoever has been made to the National Portrait Gallery for a loan of pictures. Stories that portraits would be lent wholesale by the gallery and a warship for transporting them was called "absurd" by the Portrait Gallery authorities today.

WASHINGTON, March 27.—Czechoslovakia was today included among the countries with which the United States desires to conclude arbitration and conciliation treaties when Robert E. Olds, Acting Secretary of State, submitted to its legation draft proposals for conventions as a basis of negotiations.

The provisions were identical in effect with the arbitration compact signed with France last month and the Bryan conciliation treaties of 1914.

MARSHALL URGES LAW TO ADMIT ALIENS' KIN

Asks House Committee to Favor Entry of Relatives of Foreign-Born Citizens.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 27.—Louis Marshall, spokesman for the American Jewish Committee, appeared before the House Immigration Committee today and urged action on a bill admitting families and relatives of citizens without regard to the quota provisions of the Act of 1924. Mr. Marshall said that if the committee could not see its way clear to report such a measure his organization would favor the bill introduced by Representative MacGregor of New York, allocating 50 per cent. of the quotas to members of the families of foreign-born citizens.

A suggestion made by Representative Golden, Republican, of Pennsylvania, that the committee adopt a plan assigning all the quota to the relatives of foreign-born citizens was approved by Mr. Marshall.

Mr. Marshall told the committee that he was chiefly interested at this time in some provision of law that would enable heads of families to bring children and other relatives to this country rather than any general modification of the immigration law of 1924.

Miss Ethel Smith, speaking for the Woman's Trade Union Leagu., told the committee that the admission of wives and children as proposed would not accentuate the unemployment situation.

Others who endorsed the MacGregor bill were Mrs. Alexander Wolf, Vice President of the National Council of Jewish Women; Mrs. Harry M. Bremer of the National Board of the Young Women's Christian Association, Reed Lewis of the Foreign Language Information Service, Edward P. McGradey of the American Federation of Labor, Miss Agnes G. Regan, secretary of the National Council of Catholic Women; Bruce M. Mohler of the National Catholic Welfare Council, Charles F. Dolle, executive secretary of the National Council of Catholic Men, and Bernard G. Richards of the American Jewish Congress.

Austrian Chancellor Will Unveil Tablet to Charles's Memory.

VIENNA, March 27.—Mgr. Seipel, Chancellor of the Republic, will take a prominent part in unveiling a tablet to the memory of Emperor Charles of Austria on April 1, the seventh anniversary of his death.

Socialist party leaders attacked the Chancellor for participation in a monarchist festival while holding high republican office, but Dr. Seipel replied that the unveiling was only an act of pious remembrance, not one of politics, and that he would not change his plans to be present. The Chancellor, with Cardinal Piffl, headed a committee which erected a tablet in the Michaeler Church, across from the former imperial palace.

Dr. Seipel was a Minister in the last Cabinet of Charles and one of those who aided his abdication and flight.

The Government has given the Archduchess Maria Joseph, mother of Charles, permission to attend the unveiling, although she is exiled under the law refusing asylum to Hapsburgs who have not given up their titles. The tablet, which will be placed among many elaborate ones in the imperial church, will be a simple cross surmounted by a crown of thorns and bearing the inscription.

"He sought for peace and found it with God."

Government's Naval Program for Baltic Is Called Both Futile and Dangerous.

BERLIN, March 27.—In face of the Opposition parties' charges that the German Government is engaged in uselessly increasing instead of diminishing naval armaments in the Baltic, the Reichstag today approved in the second reading the construction of a 10,000-ton cruiser at an estimated cost of 80,000,000 marks. Final adoption of the naval authorities' proposition is thereby insured.

Democratic and Socialist speakers united in denouncing the governmental program as both futile and dangerous.

"The German people want to see disarmament, not a new race for naval supremacy in the Baltic," Baron Richthofen declared on the Democrats' behalf, adding that not merely 80,000,000 but 400,000,000 marks expenditure in the next few years was contemplated by the Ministry of Defense.

Pointing out that the proposed cruiser functioning without the aid of submarines or aircraft would be helpless against the fleet of a big sea power, the Socialist spokesman condemned the project as "suicidal, since there are already fifty-six foreign U-boats in the Baltic and eleven more will be operating there this year."

Grand Admiral Tirpitz, who as a Nationalist member of the Reichstag continues to be the foremost advocate of a big German navy, was not even present during the debate.

To the extent of voting 7,000,000 marks to cover losses incurred through the subsidy granted to the Phoebus Film Company by the Defense Ministry the Reichstag also sanctioned the Government's use of secret funds for the development of numerous dubious enterprises conducted by Captain Lohmann, former imperial naval officer. The inquiry into other phases of the Lohmann scandal, which has cost the German taxpayers 25,000,000 marks, will be continued.

British Postal Officials Have Been Criticized for Wire Service.

LONDON, March 27.—British post office officials are to visit the United States to study telegraph methods, it was announced in the House of Commons this afternoon. The British Government telegraph service was recently severely criticised by a committee of business men and shows a loss of about fourteen cents on every telegram dispatched.

The Assistant Postmaster General, Viscount Wolmer, a few weeks ago raised a storm by publicly suggesting that certain departments of the post office could better be managed by private enterprise. He was subsequently rebuked by Premier Baldwin in Parliament, but there are indications that Viscount Wolmer's view is gaining influential support.

SAYS MARIE WILL SEE CAROL IN CYPRUS VISIT

Lady in Waiting Tells of Meeting Arranged for 'Health' Trip—Queen Visits Stamboul.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BUCHAREST, Rumania, March 27.—Queen Marie, who is journeying for a month's visit to the island of Cyprus, will meet former Crown Prince Carol there, it is said by a lady in waiting to the Queen.

Prince Carol, according to her story, will make a trip from the French Riviera in a yacht a few days after the Queen arrives and remain some time with his mother.

No confirmation of the lady in waiting's report is available in other quarters.

BUCHAREST, March 27 (AP).—Queen Marie, who has just left for the Mediterranean on an ostensible health trip with Princess Ileana, is credited by the local press with having arranged a recent conference between Vintila Bratianu, the Premier, and Juliu Maniu, leader of the National Peasant Party, which is hot after M. Bratianu's official scalp.

Recently the political situation became acute when Dr. Maniu's followers started nation-wide demonstrations demanding resignation of the Cabinet and the calling of new parliamentary elections. This demand was refused by the Administration.

Although the newspaper organs of both the Liberal and National-Peasant parties deny that the conference took place, assurance of its occurrence has been given to The Associated Press.

It is understood that the two men talked for three hours, but without result; that Dr. Maniu insisted upon the resignation of the Government and declined to be responsible for any eventualities that might result if this demand were again rejected.

Premier Bratianu has persistently refused to be moved from his post and assumed entire responsibility for the situation.

CONSTANTINOPLE, March 27 (AP).—Queen Marie of Rumania and Princess Ileana, who are en route to the island of Cyprus, left Stamboul today in the Rumanian vessel, Regele Carol I.

Rumors are current that the trip is being taken for political purposes and that former Crown Prince Carol is also going to Cyprus.

They were welcomed here by the Governor of Constantinople and other Turkish officials. During their stay they visited the city incognito, entering the the mosques and viewing the Byzantine antiquities.

Queen Marie was particularly enthusiastic about the cemetery at Eyoub, overlooking the Golden Horn, which was glorified by Pierre Loti. She and the Princess also visited Robert College, the American institution on the Bosphorus, where many Rumanians are students.

SECULARISM HELD A PERIL

Bishop McConnell Calls America Partly Pagan, Accepting Militarism and Pursuing Gold.

Copyright, 1928, by The New York Times Company.
Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

JERUSALEM, March 27.—Although the major theme of the opening discussions of yesterday's sessions of the International Missionary Council was form and content of the Christian message in relation to non-Christian systems, after the leading address by the Rev. Dr. Robert Speer, Moderator of the Presbyterian General Assembly of the United States, vigorous challenges to purely theological considerations were made at a section meeting during the afternoon by R. H. Tawney, Professor of Economics at London University, and Harold Grimshaw, chief of the native labor section of the International Labor Office at Geneva.

During the afternoon the council divided into five section meetings, considering Mohammedanism, Hinduism, Buddhism, Confucianism and secularism, and the Christian message in relation to each of these non-Christian systems.

The largest group was that considering secularism, and here the theological presentations of the morning were challenged. Dr. Speer in his address had said that the greatest danger to Christianity today was the secular conception. The missionary task, he said, was to disentangle Christ from all that obscured Him in the minds of perplexed mankind. The person of Christ must be the centre and rallying point of the missionary movement.

Chinese Sees Real Peril.

Professor Chao of China, author of a philosophy of Christianity, declared that secularization of all civilization was a real peril all over the world. Dr. Watson, President of the American University at Cairo, said that Egyptian Moslems were deeply affected by the secularist movement. The chimney of a cotton mill went up alongside a minaret, so cotton was becoming the real centre of the life of the people instead of the thought of Allah.

Bishop McConnell, of the Methodist Episcopal Church in the United States, voiced a similar opinion.

"I come from a nation which is in some respects pagan. We subscribe to the doctrine of militarism and to the god of materialism, and we have given ourselves over to the pursuit of wealth. We should not be complacent regarding paganism wherever we see it, but let this meeting become a challenge to it."

As a challenge to the morning addresses, Professor Tawney, in the afternoon, replied:

"I cannot share the complacency of those who talk about all the good things we have to offer to backward peoples when we cannot point out a single country in Europe where there is a real Christian civilization operative throughout its society.

"We are trying the impossible in offering to save the individual, yet leaving the social structure pagan. The common man, the miner, the steel worker, the boilermaker, wants to know what organized Christianity is going to do to better the world he inhabits. If the Christian Church is to lead the way into the future it must enter the field of human society."

Exploitation Alleged.

Mr. Grimshaw likewise challenged, saying:

"What self-called Christian civilizations have most largely exported to Africa and the East is economic exploitation, inspired by no higher motive than the desire for immediate gain, holding as of no account the social welfare of exploited peoples, and resulting often in depopulation, devastation and death.

"What had European Christianity to say of the recent case in which a European Parliament admitted that 94 per cent. of an African contingent of forced laborers had died? Not a word, so far.

"Missionaries must have known of this and similar cases. I have not heard their outcry. We know what Christ offers to the oppressed. What does Christianity offer to those helpless before compulsion to an industrialism they do not understand, are not fitted for and frequently do not survive?"

The entire evening session was devoted to a talk by David Yui, Chairman of the National Christian Council of China. In his discussion of China's problems he brought up the question of communism there, saying:

"Communism is nothing new in China. Centuries ago the people tried it and it failed. The Chinese have neither accepted nor rejected communism; rather their attitude is one of indifference.

Reds Taught "Terrorism."

"The emissaries of Soviet Russia this time did not try to introduce communism, which as a system they declared too high for our people to try at present. What they actually taught the Chinese was a system of effective propaganda and the power of terrorism. It was not communism that led us to enter into diplomatic relations with the Soviets, but we were persuaded by their offer of apparently disinterested friendship.

"With Soviet aid, remarkable victories in warfare, as well as in diplomacy, were achieved. The sense of appreciation of this should not be mistaken for acceptance of communism.

"Let me point out emphatically that the majority of Chinese do not want foreign help or interference in their national affairs, but prefer working out their own salvation. Our students have been taught that the aggressions and exploitations of the foreign powers in China are such as to make it impossible for us to revive ourselves until the death grip of foreign imperialism upon the throat of the nation is removed. Concrete instances can be given in abundance.

"As long as economic and social problems remain unsolved they will lend themselves to an increase in the appealing power of communistic propaganda. To that extent the influence of the Soviets will continue to exert itself in China. The remedy lies, not in keeping out that influence, but in providing no food on which its germ may feed and ferment from within."

Plead Against Closing Consulate.

NOTTINGHAM, England, March 27 (AP).—The Nottingham Chamber of Commerce has decided to petition the American State Department to reconsider its decision to close the American Consulate here and divide the area between the Sheffield and Birmingham Consulates. The Secretary of the body pointed out that a similar appeal failed when it was decided to close the Leicester Consulate. The President, Sir Ernest Jardine, said the Nottingham Consulate had paid its way whereas the Sheffield one had not.

LONDON, March 27.—King Amanullah of Afghanistan gave away £100 and a halfpenny today.

The recipient of the note was former Sergeant Harper, who has lain in a spinal chair since 1918, when his spine was fractured by a shrapnel bullet. He held out his autograph book as King Amanullah entered the Sheffield Town Hall and the monarch, after a puzzled glance, signed it. Then he grasped Sergeant Harper's hand, leaving in it a crumpled piece of paper. At first the Sergeant thought it was a one pound note and was overcome with astonishment when he untwisted it and found its real value was nearer $500.

The halfpenny was given to the great steel manufacturer, Sir Robert Hadfield, in exchange for a gold penknife. This, according with old custom, was to pay for the knife so that it could not sever their friendship.

MINISTRY SETTLES FISH POND PROBLEM

Fate of Fontainebleau's Swans and Carp Threatened Issue With America.

SWANS WILL GO ELSEWHERE

Offspring of Birds Brought From United States Were Eating France's Aristocratic Fish.

Copyright, 1928, by The New York Times Company.
Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, March 27.—A fishpond issue which threatened for a time to cause international complications has finally been settled, but only through the intervention of the French Ministry of Public Instruction and Fine Arts and the directors of the National Museum.

The carp of Fontainebleau are famous. They are known all the world over. Tradition has it that the first carp were placed in the fishpond there by Henry IV, who received them as a gift from the Duke of Lorraine in 1605.

There is another story of Francois I, surrounded by his magnificent court, decorating the gills of all the carp with gold rings; but that is regarded as a fable. Historians verify the story of Henry IV.

Until 1914, the swans of Fontainebleau, which lived in the same fishpond, also traced their ancestry to the time of Henry IV. Accounts of King Henry show that in 1608 he spent £90 for the maintenance of four swans.

Recently the Syndicate Initiative de Fontainebleau, which is an information bureau for tourists, complained that the swans were warring against the carp and recommended that the swans should be done away with. But when an investigation was started, complications developed.

It was learned that, in 1914, all the old swans disappeared. Students at the American School of Music, who loved the famous old town and wished to perpetuate one of its charming traditions, imported two new swans from the United States.

These swans were named Francois and Diane. Last Summer, it was noted for a time that they did not appear together as usual upon the fishpond. When they next were seen, Diane was surrounded by five little swans. It is the latter who caused all the trouble.

Fontainebleau was deeply appreciative to Francois and Diane, but when the young swans started warring against the carp, there was a question as to what should be done.

"What will America say?" demanded the townspeople when it was proposed to rid the fishpond of Diane's offspring.

Someone proposed appealing to Ambassador Herrick. But it was desired that the incident should not attract international attention, lest Fontainebleau and its inhabitants be accused of ingratitude.

Finally the matter was referred to the Ministry of Public Instruction, the officials of which consulted the directors of the National Museum.

These dignitaries have decided to send three of the young swans to Malmaison and the other two to the Jardin des Plantes. Fontainebleau has hailed the decision with delight, declaring that Solomon could not have judged better.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, March 27.—Tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock public telephonic communication will be opened between Paris and New York. The Minister of Commerce, Maurice Bokanowski, and General Pershing will make the first calls.

Already a considerable number of other calls have been booked though Frenchmen find the price of $11 rather high.

The calls will be limited to twelve minutes. The same system will be used as between Berlin and New York, land wires being used to London and conversations thence being transmitted by wireless to the receiving station in New York.

Five conversations will open transatlantic telephone service tomorrow, at 10 A. M., between America and Paris, according to American Telephone and Telegraph Company officials here. The president of the company, W. S. Gifford, will talk with Minister Bokanowski, and will then exchange greetings with General J. Pershing, who is in Paris.

The next two messages from America to France will be from General J. J. Carty who, as Chief Engineer of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, directed the radio experiments of the telephone engineers in 1915, in cooperation with the French Government, that resulted in the first transmission of speech across the Atlantic.

General Carty will talk first with M. H. Milon, Chief Engineer and Director of Telephones for the Ministry of Posts and Telegraph, and also with Colonel H. E. Shreeve, the telephone engineer who heard the first transatlantic speech, and now technical representative of the company in Europe.

The fifth conversation will be between Colonel Shreeve and Mr. B. B. Webb, whose message, sent from Arlington, Va., during the 1915 experiments, was heard by the listening telephone engineers in the Eiffel Tower.

French Veterans Will Discuss General Congress of Ex-Soldiers.

PARIS, March 27.—Plans for a general convention of war veterans representing fourteen nations of the Allied and former enemy countries, which will be held probably in Paris next June, will be discussed Saturday when the Federation Interalliée des Anciens Combattants meets in Paris.

The object of the June convention will be threefold—to study the condition of war veterans in each of the countries represented, to compare the different laws relating to the victims of the war and war widows and orphans and to discuss means of promoting world peace.

Eight million Allied veterans and 7,000,000 former enemies of Germany, Austria, Hungary and Bulgaria will be represented.

FRENCH LINE PLANS SHIP-PLANE SERVICE

Will Experiment With Launching Machines From Ile de France by Catapault.

PURPOSE IS TO SAVE TIME

Flying-Boats Would Start a Few Hundred Miles From Coast With Mail and Passengers.

PARIS, March 27.—Experiments for the utilization of seaplanes in expediting the handling of transatlantic mails, and possibly also for the convenience of passengers desiring to save time, will be commenced soon by the French Line. A special platform on which it is planned to install a catapault similar to those used in launching planes from war vessels has just been erected on the stern of the liner Isle de France, and the first experiment will be made from this ship.

Officials of the French Line declined today to discuss their plans in detail, although they admitted that arrangements were complete except for the installation of the catapault, which is a matter of twenty-four hours. But they made clear that their plans in no way resembled the seaplane services which some German lines started for the convenience of passengers during Winter cruises.

These German services, they pointed out, were largely dependent on weather conditions, since planes launched from a boat by means of a crane could only be launched when the water was calm. But with the catapult system it will be possible to launch planes from a ship several hundred miles off shore in nearly any kind of weather.

The first experiments probably will be made carrying mail, particularly important financial mail, in which a saving of twenty-four hours may mean the saving of a considerable sum of money. The service probably will be operated in both directions. When a ship bound for New York is a few hundred miles off the American coast a plane will be released to fly ahead to port. In the same way in the other direction, when a ship is a few hundred miles off the French coast a plane will be released and should reach the French shore far ahead of the steamer, which on its eastbound voyage usually touches Plymouth before making a French port.

Last Summer, about the time that Clarence Chamberlin took off in an airplane from a special platform which was constructed on the top deck of the United States liner Leviathan, officials of that line considered the feasibility of opening a seaplane service by use of catapults, but Commander Byrd and his companions of the flight to France, MM. Acosta, Noville and Balchen, as well as Mr. Chamberlin, all advised against it.

While the French Line officials will not say when they plan to begin the experiments, it is considered unlikely that they will commence before the latter part of April, since weather conditions in the North Atlantic have been extremely bad recently, with heavy seas and northwesterly gales.

If the experiments from the Ile de France are successful other ships probably will be equipped with catapults and planes.

Student Flies With Mail Pilot.

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., March 27.—Wilbert E. Steinkamp of 89 Hyatt Street, Yonkers, accompanied Earl Ward on the pilot's air mail trip to Chicago this afternoon. Steinkamp, a senior at the Daniel Guggenheim School of Aeronautics of New York, is the first to accept the offer of the National Air Transport to take students on air mail trips to gain flying experience. Walter Hartung of Westwood, N. J., another student, will make the trip Friday.

Quick Action Saves British Flier.

WOLDINGHAM, England, March 27 (AP).—Quick thinking and action today probably saved the life of Pilot Officer W. T. Walton of the Royal Air Force. The officer was making a flight in a heavy rainstorm when his plane went into a sudden nose dive over a district covered with trees. It steadied just as it reached the treetops, and in that flash of time Walton leaped to safety.

Lady Mary Bailey Hops Off at Cairo

CAIRO, Egypt, March 27 (AP).—Lady Mary Bailey resumed her London to Cape Town flight at 7 A. M. today, hopping off for Khartum. She will be joined there by Lieutenant R. R. Bentley, who agreed to accompany her over the Sudan danger zone. The authorities refused Lady Mary permission to continue her flight over this region unless she accepted an escort.

SOVIET OPENS WAR ON BUREAUCRATISM

Regards It as Deadlier Foe of Communism Than Counter-Revolution.

DON CITY IS CHIEF CENTRE

Workers There Are Asked to Make Reform Suggestions Direct to Moscow Authorities.

By WALTER DURANTY.

By Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

MOSCOW, March 27.—Artemovsk, centre of the Don coal and metallurgic area, is the keypoint of Russian life today. It is also the key to the mystery that hitherto has enveloped Communist Party internal policy.

It happened thus:

A few months ago there was an unsavory scandal in the higher administrative circles of Artemovsk arising from the suicide of the wife of the Vice Police Chief, owing to the misbehavior of the Police Chief. An inquiry revealed an unsatisfactory state of affairs in other directions, and Communist Party attention was concentrated upon the region. The "technicans' plot" at the neighboring town of Shakhta and a whole series of regrettable incidents of mismanagement and culpable negligence was discovered throughout the Don Basin.

Important Officials Investigate.

There was a great furor over the Shakhta plot, which involved the arrest of five Germans, and the Kremlin rushed important executives to the spot with full powers to probe the abscess to the bottom. The President of the Miners' Federations, Schwartz; the chief of the political section of the Red Army, Bubnef; the veteran Communist Yaroslavski; Stalin's foremost henchman and Vice Secretary of the Communist Party, Molotof, and Tomski, President of the Union Labor Federations and a member of the Politburo, radiated from Artemovsk to scores of meetings of investigation committees throughout the region, dismissing where necessary incompetent local organization officials and galvanising the Communist Party into activity.

Why? Were the forces of counter-revolution so powerful and pervasive? It does not seem so, but the Communist leaders discovered the existence of a yet deadlier foe—bureaucratism.

Many observers of the Russian experiment have agreed with the thesis put forward in Max Eastman's book on Marx and Lenin, that the greatest danger to a successful revolutionary party which claims with a minority of 1 per cent. to represent the proletarian mass of 120,000,000 people is the tendency toward caste distinction, separation from the masses, doctrinaire rigidity and subservience to formulas—in a word, bureaucratism.

If Communists become bureaucrats, it means that their chief purpose henceforth is to avoid trouble and to transmit orders from above or information from below as far as possible without comment or action that may involve personal responsibility.

Trotsky and his Opposition associates realize this danger to the full. They launched a vigorous campaign for "democratization" of the Communist Party. Unfortunately, their methods were tactless and often harmful. There arose the question of personal animosities, and the Opposition found itself attacking the party machine as a whole instead of simply bureaucratism. The Opposition disappeared.

Democratic Appeal to Workers.

This may seem irrelevant to American readers. But it is not. Because paradoxical as it may sound, the Opposition ideas were generally correct though its methods generally were erroneous. What, for instance, could be more "democratic" than the appeal recently issued by Yaroslavski at Artemovsk to the Don workers on behalf of himself, Molotof and Tomski, "freely to address to the central authorities of the Communist Party without formal embarrassment their opinions and suggestions on the important question of local methods of administration and organization?"

Here is "mass control" indeed—that workers, Communist or not, should speak straight to the Kremlin. It shows how dangerous bureaucratism has become, how every element hostile to the Soviet Union, whether a disgruntled engineer or a deliberate counter-revolutionary conspirator, has been able to take advantage of bureaucratic lethargy.

The trial of these conspirators and arrested Germans is now announced to take place in the middle of April instead of a fortnight later. As previously stated, it will delimit the exact extent of the plot as such. But the campaign against bureaucratism has begun already. It is unfair to regard it as "leftward policy" or an attempt to abolish the Nep. It aims rather at vivifying the relations between the Communist Party and the proletarian masses.

IRISH PLOTTERS SENTENCED

Three Are Sent to Prison in London for Concealing Arms.

By Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, March 27.—Three men giving their names and ages as Michael Burke, 30, Michael O'Flanagan, 29, and Laurence Godfrey, 24, were sentenced to three months' imprisonment today as a sequel to the discovery of caches of unlicensed automatics in London.

Detective Clancy, belonging to Scotland Yard's special squad, gave evidence that Burke, a native of Queenstown, had since the establishment of the Irish Free State organized several ambushes, been arrested, escaped and rearrested and after being released under the 1924 amnesty had taken a leading part in the organization of an Irish Republican army in Cork.

PLANS UNDER WAY FOR NEW ORCHESTRA

Head of Musicians Union Says Philharmonic-Symphony Merger Makes It Possible.

SPONSORS ARE NOT NAMED

New Salary Agreements Fixing Minimum Pay at $87 for 1929 and $90 for 1930 Revealed.

Another symphony orchestra will almost certainly be formed to take the place of the one eliminated by the Philharmonic-Symphony merger, according to a statement yesterday by Edward Canavan, Chairman of Musicians' Union 802, to which the members of the Philharmonic and Symphony orchestras belong.

Wealthy music lovers have been considering the plan for the past year and have become very active since the announcement of the consolidation of the two leading symphony orchestras, according to Mr. Canavan.

"People representing the interests which are planning a new symphony orchestra telephoned me today to discuss the matter," he said. "They wanted to know particularly the agreement for the pay of musicians in the future. This was settled between Clarence H. Mackay and myself on Monday.

"The present minimum is $75 a week for five rehearsals and four concerts. The new agreement makes the minimum $87 for 1929 and $90 for 1930. This, of course, is the minimum. The first-chair players, the oboes, bassoons and some of the others get much more, some of them as high as $250 and $300 a week. But for those receiving more than the minimum the rate of pay is agreed on inidvidually between them and the society.

"I am not at liberty to name those who have been considering plans for organizing another symphony orchestra. They have been deterred heretofore by the doubt whether New York would support three symphony orchestras. However, with one of the two existing orchestras eliminated, I think it is certain that we will have a new musical organization next season."

LIQUOR LAW LIFER WINS COURT REVIEW

Michigan Tribunal Grants Right of Appeal on Letter Palm Sent From Prison Cell.

Special to The New York Times.

LANSING, Mich., March 27.—Fred Palm, serving a life sentence in Jackson Prison for illegal possession of a pint of gin, won with a letter from his prison cell to the Michigan Supreme Court today the right of appeal and the granting of his petition for a writ of error.

Palm, a Lansing man, is Michigan's first lifer under the habitual offender clause of the criminal code patterned after the Baumes law of New York and adopted by the 1927 Michigan Legislature. Although his last three felonies were liquor law violations, he was sentenced to life.

Action of the court brings before the Supreme Bench the validity of the Michigan law, as well as a review of the circumstances of Palm's extreme sentence for possessing a pint of gin. The order opening the case was issued in response to a letter from Palm written in his cell in Jackson Prison and an accompanying petition drawn up in legal form by H. Stanley Copeland of Buffalo, N. Y., who is described by Palm as "a friend who is an expert on Constitutional matters, though he never has been admitted to the bar."

Mr. Copeland is understood to be New York State Secretary of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment. That organization interested itself several months ago in the Palm case, and Louis Cuvillier of New York City, counsel for the association, came to Michigan to work in Palm's behalf. Mr. Copeland opened Detroit offices for the solicitation of funds to be used in Palm's defense.

In his letter to the Supreme Court, Palm said he had no money to obtain a lawyer or carry his case through the customary legal channels to the court. In his petition he contends that the habitual criminal law is unconstitutional in that it violates the State and Federal constitutional provisions against "cruel and unusual punishment." He points out that three of his felonies were "petty" violations of the liquor law in which no moral turpitude was involved. He also contends that arresting officers had no right to seize the pint of gin without a search warrant and that he should not have been asked to plead to the habitual criminal charge without the evidence first having been submitted to a Grand Jury. He asked that there be no oral arguments on the appeal, so that all he need do would be to file a brief which is being prepared by Mr. Copeland.

Hispano-Suiza Executive Explains Company's Stand.

Clarke D. Pease, President of the Hispano-Suiza Company of America, said yesterday in a communication to THE NEW YORK TIMES that neither the Hispano-Suiza Company in Europe nor its American branch was interested in the twenty-four-hour stock car race arranged between F. E. Moskovics, President of the Stutz Motor Car Company, and Charles T. Weymann of Paris.

As was stated in THE TIMES on Tuesday, Mr. Weymann has merely chosen a Hispano-Suiza car to drive against the Stutz Black Hawk, the race having been arranged independently between him and Mr. Moskovics. Mr. Pease added that the Hispano-Suiza Company was "not interested in competitive racing."

THEATRE TICKET LAW SIGNED BY GOVERNOR

It Regulates Licensed Brokers, Eliminates Scalpers and Sidewalk Sales.

TUTTLE RECOMMENDED ACT

His Committee Will Continue Work With Managers and Brokers to Supplement Measure.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, March 27.—New York State, under a bill signed today by Governor Smith, will make another attempt to prevent gouging in theatre tickets in New York City. During the administration of former Governor Nathan L. Miller an attempt was made to check this evil by prohibiting the resale of theatre tickets for more than 50 cents above the box office price, but that law was declared unconstitutional by the United States Supreme Court.

The measure which became law today through the approval of the Governor was sponsored by Assemblyman Maurice Bloch, Democratic leader of the Assembly. One of its drastic provisions is that theatre tickets cannot be sold in any place except a licensed broker's office.

This provision was included, according to Mr. Bloch, to eliminate the "scalper" who "has his office in his hat." It will prevent selling theatre tickets in drug and cigar stores and other places where there is no licensed ticket broker.

The Bloch measure carries out the suggestions made by a special committee, headed by District Attorney Charles H. Tuttle, which investigated theatre ticket speculation in New York City.

Tax on Agencies Doubled.

It increases the State tax on main ticket agencies from $100 to $200, places a tax of $50 on sub-agencies and regulates the issuing and operation of licenses.

The new statute also provides that the broker must post in a conspicuous place the original price charged by the theatre for the ticket and the price for which it is being resold. If the purchaser of the ticket demands it, the broker must supply a receipt containing the same information.

An attempt is made in the law to prevent collusion between ticket brokers and theatre employes. It prohibits a broker from paying to any employe of a theatre any gratuity or bonus in connection with the resale of tickets.

Because this new statute will impose additional work upon the Department of State, Governor Smith sent a special message to the Legislature during the closing days of the session suggesting an appropriation of $20,000 for extra help in the office of Secretary of State. The Legislature carried out the Governor's suggestion and that measure already has been approved.

Tuttle Sees Value in New Law.

Charles H. Tuttle, United States District Attorney here, said yesterday of the new law regulating theatre ticket brokers:

"The effect of the law will be to eliminate some of the worst abuses in the theatre ticket business and to confine the business to established and responsible agencies which can be held accountable by both the Federal and State authorities. While the law of supply and demand cannot be repealed by legislation, this new law, by eliminating some of the worst evils in the ticket business, will tend to protect the public from extortionate charges.

"Furthermore, the provisions of this State law tend to supplement and strengthen the effect of the Federal law imposing a tax of 50 per cent. on charges of more than 50 cents over the box office price; and this Federal tax law, the constitutionality of which was determined through my prosecutions of last Summer, also tends to keep down the prices of the ticket brokers by levying a 50 per cent. tax on high charges. The Federal law requires the ticket broker to write or stamp on the back of the part of the ticket taken up by the management his name and the price charged by him."

The committee appointed by Mr. Tuttle to study the theatre ticket business as operated by agents, and to recommend legislation to correct its abuses, consists of Dr. S. Parkes Cadman, President of the Church and Drama Association; Rabbi Stephen S. Wise, Dr. Elmer Ellsworth Brown, Chancellor of New York University; Martin Conboy, former President of the Catholic Club; Lucius R. Eastman, President of the Merchants' Association, and of the American Arbitration Association; George Reid Andrews, Executive Director of the Church and Drama Association, and Raymond Fiero.

This committee, Mr. Tuttle said, would continue negotiations with the committees of the managers and brokers for the establishment of "certain principles by agreement" which cannot be effectively covered by legislation.

Persons having evidence of any violation of the new law are invited to notify the proper authorities.

PILSUDSKI EJECTS 5 SEJM RADICALS

Acts Against Disturbers Before New Polish House Session Opens Officially.

BUT HE FINALLY RELENTS

Dictator's Candidate for President of Chamber Is Then Defeated by 208 Votes to 135.

By Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

WARSAW, March 27.—Premier Pilsudski had five Radical members of the new Sejm ejected this afternoon before he officially opened the session, by way of introducing the promised parliamentary system and abolition of dictatorial methods.

Though he seemingly held the recently elected body in the hollow of his hand, his wonted power failed when his candidate for President of the Sejm, Vice Premier Bartel, was defeated by the Socialists' candidate, M. Daszyniki. The second ballot gave Daszyniki 206 votes to Bartel's 135.

Premier Pilsudski appeared on the Ministers' bench wearing a new Marshal's uniform and accompanied by the Minister of the Interior and a General. He was greeted by catcalls and hoots from the Radical benches and the Communists, whose party was again recognized as leading the tumult. Pilsudski shouted to the disturbers: "How much is Moscow paying you for this?" and then issued three warnings for silence.

The Radicals failing to heed him, he sent the Minister of the Interior and the General to their benches and five were summarily marched to the corridor. However, in a few minutes they returned and repeated their performance. This time the Premier called the police and the same five were taken to the police station, where they were held for two hours. Charges of disturbing the Sejm session were then dropped, since that body had not been officially opened and the Deputies had not taken the oath of office.

After Pilsudski had made a short speech on Government policies the house adjourned until 8 o'clock, when the election of the Sejm President was held. Apparently, Pilsudski's calling of the police injured his candidate's chances and is believed to be responsible for his defeat.

That the Premier will soon return to dictatorial methods is expected, since even with a strong Government bloc he must look to either the Radicals or Conservatives for support of his minority bloc of Government party Deputies. This neither seemingly are willing to give him.

After the election the Government bloc left the floor as a protest against their defeat.

'BEAVERBROOK" IN PRISON.

Brings Along Silk Underwear, Hoping to Wear It in Sing Sing.

Still maintaining his innocence of charges of swindling women for which he was sentenced to ten years in Sing Sing, Robert Whitman, alias "Lord Beaverbrook," was brought to Police Headquarters yesterday morning for fingerprinting and rogue's gallery photographing before beginning his journey to prison.

Handcuffed to two convicted hold-up men and in the company of six other prisoners, Whitman was dressed neatly and expensively in a blue serge double-breasted suit, overcoat and derby hat. The other prisoners aided him in carrying eight bundles of clothing, which he said included silk underwear and pajamas. Whitman expressed confidence that Warden Lawes would permit him to wear these clothes because he feared he could not become used to prison clothing.

Whitman gave his age as 50 years, his address as 11 South La Salle Street, Chicago and his occupation as a moving picture actor.

Ask for Residential Restriction.

The Zoning Committee of the First Avenue Association is obtaining signatures to a petition requesting the Board of Estimate and Apportionment, to restrict for residential purposes the property on both sides of Fifty-seventh Street from a point 100 feet east of Second Avenue to a point 100 feet west of First Avenue.

Owners of more than 50 per cent. of the affected frontages already have signed the petition.

CITY SURVEY HEADS BALK ON 'REPORTS'

These women include Mrs. John Blair, Chairman of the Women's Democratic Union; Miss Virginia Gildersleeve, Dean of Barnard College; Mrs. Edward Dreier, President of the Women's City Club, and Mrs. Henry Moskowitz, a member of the club's Board of Directors. They have asked an official of the Sub-committee on Housing, Zoning and Distribution of Population to either come to the meeting himself or send some one to explain on what basis the report was drawn up.

Explains Failure to Meet.

Members of at least one subcommittee have received a form letter with copies of the reports explaining the failure of the committees to meet. This letter follows in part:

"We are advised by Judge O'Brien, the Chairman of the Committee on Plan and Survey, that Mayor Walker has expressed his desire that the committee should render its report at the earliest possible date.

"Consequently a draft report has been prepared dealing with the work of this sub-committee on housing, zoning and distribution of population for inclusion in the general report of the whole Committee on Plan and Survey. I am sending you herewith, in galley proof form, this draft.

"Were it not for the fact that the Mayor is anxious to have the complete report submitted to him so soon, and were it not also for the fact that the committee is so large, I would be loath to adopt any other course than to ask the committee to come together and discuss the draft report in all its details.

"Unfortunately, that would take much time, probably more time than the busy members of our committee could afford to spare, and would prolong consideration of the report interminably. I fear also that with a committee so large as ours, composed as it is of 105 members, only a portion of the members would attend the meeting of the committee, and not necessarily the same group at each successive meeting. The result would be that the members of the committee would find themselves compelled to go over the same ground a number of times, and it would be difficult to make progress.

Tells Reason for Draft Report.

"In view of these considerations, after weighing the matter most carefully, it has seemed to me and the Chairmen of the divisions of our committee, which constitute an executive committee, that the practical thing to do at this stage of the proceeding is to send this draft report to each of the 105 members of our subcommittee with the request that each member give the report his personal consideration and communicate directly with the Chairman.

"If there should be agreement on the part of a substantial majority of the committee on the draft report as written, then it would not be necessary to burden the members of the committee with attempting to get together in a large committee meeting and discuss the details of the document.

Seeks to End Waste of Time.

"I am, therefore, going to ask each member of the committee, in considering the report, to bear in mind that probably every member of the committee would have written the report differently if he had been writing it and would have expressed it differently. In other words, we cannot spend time upon verbal changes or attempt to bring agreement upon methods of expression.

"If, however, there are serious questions of policy or serious statements of fact about which members of the committee differ, that is a totally different question, and we naturally would wish such statements at once called to our attention. Will you also kindly observe in particular that it has seemed advisable to your Chairman and the Chairmen of the divisions of our committee to make this report largely in the form of recommendations?

"As the most practical and simplest method of getting a consensus judgment on the draft report, I am asking each one of the 105 members of the committee to fill out the enclosed form and return it to me just as soon as possible so that we may turn in the report, if that can be accomplished, by the middle of next week to Judge O'Brien for consideration by his Executive Committee and by the whole Mayor's Committee on Plan and Survey.

Very truly yours,

"Chairman of Sub-Committee."

Accompanying this letter and the copy of the report was a blank, reading:

"I approve in general the draft report on——"

Answer.....

"I do not approve the draft report on——"

Answer.....

This was to be filled in and signed by the member and was to constitute his final decision on the report leaving him no opportunity to express his views on changes before other members of the sub-committee.

The personnel of the Mayor's Committee on Plan and Survey was announced on June 14, 1926, with the statement by Mayor Walker that he had included in the membership "none but men and women who are not only willing, but who are in a position to work and to cooperate energetically for the public welfare." Subcommittees on Housing, Port and Terminal Facilities, Traffic Regulation and Street Uses, Sanitation and Harbor Pollution, Highways and Bridges, Parks and Recreational Facilities, Finance, and Departmental Organization were appointed, with their memberships ranging from 20 members to 105.

The membership of the committee includes Elisabeth Marbury, George Gordon Battle, Vincent Astor, Nicholas Murray Butler, Dr. John H. Finley, Dr. Simon Flexner, James J. Hoey and Raymond V. Ingersoll.

Joseph A. Warren, then Commissioner of Accounts, was appointed Secretary of the committee, and upon his shift to the Police Commissionership, his successor, James A. Higgins, assumed the post. Yesterday, at Mr. Higgins's office in the Municipal Building, Mr. Higgins was said to have been out "attending a hearing" all day. A secretary said she could not give out a complete list of members of the committee without the Secretary's sanction, adding that the list was not considered a public document. Likewise, she said, any letters received from committee members protesting against ready-made reports could not be published.

COUNTRY CLUB FIGHTS FIRE

Westchester Biltmore Guests and Employes Quench Blaze.

How guests of the Westchester Biltmore Country Club aided bellboys and other employes to battle a fire in a storeroom above the main dining room last Monday night, became known yesterday when the Harrison (N. Y.) police reported that $10,000 damage had been done, principally by water. The blaze was discovered by a bellboy, who notified the telephone operator. The club's fire-fighting force of employes was summoned by alarm bells.

The telephone operator also sent in a call to Police Headquarters in Harrison, which brought the Harrison Fire Department. Guests of the club joined the hotel employes in directing streams of water on the blaze.

Before the fire was subdued, water had seeped through the ceiling of the main dining room underneath, ruining a considerable part of it.

The Latest, Most Beautiful Example of a Beautiful, Modern Idea

You owe this to yourself ....and to them!

IN all human affairs there is no important transaction that is, as a rule, closed so hurriedly, so improvidently and under such distressing conditions as a burial arrangement.

When death is in the house, there is neither time nor desire—nor, usually, ability—for quiet, thoughtful, leisurely planning and figuring.

Wise, foresighted men and women do not place this added stress and sorrow on their loved ones. They provide in advance for the disposition of their bodies just as for the disposition of their estates. They regard it in the same light exactly as the making of a will or the buying of life insurance—as their duty to themselves and to their families.

Get Information Now Regarding FERNCLIFF MAUSOLEUM

FERNCLIFF MAUSOLEUM gives the perfect solution to this tender, serious problem. It is the latest, the noblest and most scientific example of the modern Community Mausoleum idea—an idea that is very rapidly making ground-burial a gruesome tradition of a savage past.

It is now building on a sunny slope in a 63-acre park near Hartsdale, Westchester County.

It is imperishable as it is lovely. It has impressive grandeur with no hint of sombreness or terror. It is designed and built for a last home—a home serene, quiet, peaceful and beautiful beyond words.

Its upkeep is perpetual. There can never be any sign of neglect or forgetfulness here. It can be visited at any hour of the day—at any season of the year.

Besides being scientifically and healthfully right, it has an economic advantage. The first cost is little, if anything, more than that of a "first class" ground burial, and the first cost is the only cost. Moreover, it can be spread over a term of years, if desired.

The construction is under the direct personal supervision of James Baird who supervised the building of the Lincoln Memorial and the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier at Washington, D. C.

THIRD SLANDER TRIAL ON

Secaucus School Head Denies Teacher's Charges in $50,000 Suit.

The third trial of the $50,000 slander suit brought by Miss Helen Clark of Secaucus, N. J., against the Superintendent of Schools there, Matthew L. Pechtel, began yesterday in Hudson County Court of Common Pleas at Jersey City.

Miss Clark accuses Mr. Pechtel of telling various people that she had given birth to a baby in Philadelphia and failed to pay for its board. At the first trial last June the defendant won, but Judge A. J. Gallagher set the verdict aside as against the weight of evidence. At the second trial in December the jury disagreed.

At both trials Mr. Pechtel and Austin H. Updyke, County Superintendent of Schools, testified that they made investigations in Philadelphia and found that the Secaucus teacher was not the mother of a child born to a woman of the same name. Mr. Pechtel denied making the statement.

Several teachers offered testimony for the plaintiff yesterday, reporting the alleged slanderous remarks of Mr. Pechtel. The jury will get the case tomorrow, it is expected.

MRS. SALMOND WINS SUIT.

Wife of English 'Cellist Gets a Separation Here.

Mrs. Lillian Salmond of 56 West Fifty-fifth Street got a separation in the Supreme Court yesterday from her husband, Felix Salmond, English 'cellist, on the ground of desertion. Mr. Salmond is now living at the Hotel New Weston. Justice Mitchell, who heard the trial without a jury, reserved decision on alimony.

Mrs. Salmond charged her husband with abandoning her in London last Summer, and announced her readiness to return to him. Mr. Salmond informed the Court that he had not wished a separation in the beginning, but that he did now.

When the separation had been granted, the argument of counsel was devoted to the alimony to be paid. Mrs. Salmond gave her husband's income as $40,000 a year, but he put at $25,000. She is now receiving $850 a month temporary alimony and the expenses of their two children, Jean, 14 years old, and Muriel, 7.

NAVY BILL PASSED AMID HOUSE SNIPING

Flare-Up Over Nicaragua Marks Authorizing of $369,190,737 for Fiscal Year 1928-29.

COST OF MARINES IN DOUBT

LaGuardia Puts It at $50,000 to $100,000 a Day—Bidding on Dirigibles Reopened.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 27.—The Naval Supply bill, carrying total appropriations of $369,190,737 for the maintenance of the service in the fiscal year 1929, beginning July 1 next, was passed by the House today to the accompaniment of sharp attacks on the Coolidge policy of using marines to restore and maintain order in Nicaragua.

Items in the measure include $48,000,000 to continue the work of construction on cruisers and other warships heretofore authorized, $31,458,560 for the Naval Bureau of Aeronautics, and $6,575,000 to modernize battleships, including elevation of guns to give them longer range.

Today's debate was marked by a desperate effort on the part of Representative Black, Democrat, of New York, to force the adoption of an amendment providing funds to begin work on three fleet submarines and nine destroyer leaders. The amendment was rejected.

Dirigible Contract Plan Rejected.

An unsuccessful fight was made by the Ohio delegation, led by Representative Begg, to obtain the adoption of an amendment requiring the Navy Department to enter into contracts forthwith for two 6,000,000-cubic-feet dirigibles. The House voted 78 to 23 not to restrict the Department in the handling of this authorized construction.

As a result of the defeat of the Begg amendment, which was designed to require the navy to make a contract with the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company of Akron, Ohio, for two dirigibles at a cost of $8,000,000 the whole matter is to be reopened in order that the American Brown Boveri Company of Camden, N. J., and possibly some other Eastern firms may have an opportunity to bid for this work.

Representative French explained to the House that his attention had first been directed to the Brown Boveri Company as a probable bidder by Representative Bacon of New York.

The bill as passed carries an appropriation of $1,800,000 to begin work on the two dirigibles.

Representative French of Idaho, who had charge of the bill, said that the navy would call for new designs and bids for new dirigibles.

One change was made in the bill on motion of Representative LaGuardia, Republican, of New York. He moved and had eliminated a paragraph empowering the Secretary of the Navy to assign any "public quarters in Washington for the use of Chief of Naval Operations."

Mr. LaGuardia said that this authorization would have led to the assignment to Admiral Hughes, Chief of Operations, of quarters at the Naval Observatory, which Mr. LaGuardia described "as one of the show places of Washington."

"This Government reservation is for the use of astronomers," Mr. LaGuardia continued. "If turned over, as this provides, it will be used for tea parties."

No Light on Nicaragua Costs.

Efforts of Representative Moore, Democrat, of Virginia, to ascertain today the cost of maintaining marines in Nicaragua were unsuccessful.

Mr. Moore said he had written to Secretary Wilbur a year ago asking what the cost of American intervention would be, and that the Secretary had replied that there would be no added monetary expense. He added that he had found an appropriation of $1,818,000 in the deficiency bill passed in December for the expenses of expeditionary forces in China and Nicaragua, but he had not been able to ascertain the expenses incurred in the latter country.

Representative French, Chairman of the Naval subcommittee, replied that the committee itself did not know what the expenses were "because the situation touching expenditures was so uncertain that we could not have indicated to us approximately what these expenditures would be." He cited testimony of marine corps officials to the effect that another appropriation of $2,750,000 to $3,000,000 will be recommended for the next deficiency bill.

Marines Expected to Stay On.

"You can juggle figures all you want to by putting them in the regular supply bill or the deficiency bill, but this expeditionary force in Nicaragua is costing the United States $50,000, $75,000 or $100,000 a day," said Representative LaGuardia.

"It does not take an expert to tell that it costs more to keep marines there than it does to keep them at home."

Mr. LaGuardia asserted that no matter how the approaching Presidential election in Nicaragua turned out, the United States would be expected to maintain marines there to keep the winner in office.

"If all factions are agreed, as we have been told here in the last few days," he added, "I ask why in the name of common sense we keep 3,500 troops there. Why take 3,500 men to chase Sandino and not be able to catch him when a reporter went there and succeeded in interviewing him?"

"Will Sandino be permitted to vote in this election?" asked Representative Abernethy, Democrat, of North Carolina.

"He will have about as much chance as a colored man in the gentleman's own State," replied Mr. LaGuardia.

"Colored men can vote in my State if they are educated," Mr. Abernethy retorted.

"They can vote in my district, and we need them," said Mr. LaGuardia.

"Well, you are welcome to all mine," responded Mr. Abernethy.

Representative Moore explained that he was not opposed to protecting American lives and property, but declared that he had never been able to ascertain that any lives or property were in peril. The only Americans who have been in danger, he said, were the marines who were carrying on warfare.

Hunt for Two Missing Girls.

The search for Jennie Walker, 15 years old, of 7 South Fulton Avenue, Mount Vernon, missing since March 1, continued today, with New York and Mount Vernon police cooperating in an effort to locate her and also Millie Martensen, 16 years old, of Wakefield, a friend, who disappeared at the same time.

NEW QUESTIONS FOR HAYS

Senator Nye Is Said to Regard the Smith Incident as Entirely Closed.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 27.—The Senate committee investigating the Continental Trading Company angle of the Teapot Dome scandal is marking time pending the return of Senator Walsh of Montana, who went to Michigan to attend the funeral of the late Senator Woodbridge N. Ferris of that State. Senator Walsh is due back tomorrow night. An executive meeting of the committee, scheduled for tomorrow, was for this reason postponed until Thursday.

The next public session will probably be Friday morning. The report of the committee agents, who have been in Chicago checking up the 1921, 1922 and 1923 bank accounts of the late Fred W. Upham, Treasurer of the Republican National Committee in the so-called "Continental" years, may have a preliminary report ready for the committee by that time.

Senator Nye, Chairman of the committee, said this afternoon that a new slate of witnesses will be discussed probably Thursday morning. He was not ready, however, to indicate who the witnesses to be summoned to Washington in the next week or ten days may be. Nothing definite, he added, has been decided.

Will H. Hays will probably be recalled on his return from Europe and asked if he listed the $260,000 contributed by Sinclair to the Republican Party in the list of contributions as required by law.

It is also said that Joseph R. Grundy, President of the Pennsylvania Manufacturers' Association, may be called to answer whether he played a part in obtaining funds to wipe out the 1920 deficits.

Governor Smith's reply to Senator Nye's letter, which was published today, had not been received when Senator Nye's office closed this afternoon. The opinion is general that Senator Nye will take the position that his controversy with Governor Smith is a closed incident, and this being so that there will be no reply to the Governor's letter.

Wagner, Assailing Davis Estimate, Sticks to That Figure, Others Say Nearly 5,000,000.

He Is Persistently Heckled, Democratic Senators Declaring Republicans Seek to Play Politics.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 27.—The report on unemployment presented yesterday by James J. Davis, Secretary of Labor, today develo- in the Senate a debate in which Senator Smoot of Utah championed the Administration's figures, while Democratic Senators persistently heckled Mr. Smoot and charged the Republicans with trying to play politics in the unemployment situation.

Although Secretary Davis's report estimated unemployment throughout the country at 1,674,000 on Jan. 1, 1928, Senator Wagner of New York asserted absolute confidence that at least 4,000,000 persons were out of work. Senator Wagner made the same statement about two weeks ago in introducing the resolution that produced the Davis report.

Senator Simmons of North Carolina characterized Mr. Smoot as "the mouthpiece of the agencies which want to refute the statements that unemployment is so large" and said he desired facts not gathered by people interested in trying to uphold the prosperity slogan.

Mr. Smoot asserted that, while this country led "not only in high wages and excellent working conditions, but in commercial prosperity," unemployment resulted because of seasonal conditions, as well as the use of labor-saving machinery. In this connection, he predicted that automatic dial telephones would throw 20,000 persons out of employment in New York City.

Senator Smith of South Carolina declared that nearer 5,000,000 persons were out of employment.

Senator Simmons quoted the North Carolina Labor Commissioner as estimating 75,000 out of work on March 7, "even in that remarkably prosperous State." The number of unemployed in the country was estimated by Senator Simmons at between 4,000,000 and 5,000,000.

"I do not think it possible to exaggerate the extent of unemployment," asserted Senator Walsh of Massachusetts, adding that there were more persons out of work in February and March than in "any recent time." Mr. Walsh declared that although Republicans pointed to bank deposits and a rising stock market as evidence of prosperity, unemployment was grave.

"Big business, stock speculators and gamblers and great wealth are prosperous, but there was never a time since the war when small business was so depressed, and no time when more men and women were out of work," Mr. Walsh said. "There is not a small merchant who is not passing through the most grave period in his business career."

"I am perfectly confident," Senator Wagner said, "that in a speech next week I shall show the absolute incompleteness of the Davis report and sustain my contention that 4,000,000 are unemployed. There is no economic disease so serious as the question of unemployment," he added.

LONDON, March 27.—A remarkable collection of books by and relating to Daniel Defoe was purchased by Dr. A. S. W. Rosenbach for $15,000 at a sale of the Holford Library at Sotheby's today. The collection consists of eighty-six lots, nearly every one of which is composed of one or more volumes of many tracts or booklets.

A notable rarity in the collection was a set of copies of the "original London Post" of 1719, in which "Robinson Crusoe" appeared as a serial. Only two other sets of The London Post containing Defoe's story are known—an imperfect one in the British Museum and one in the library at Newton, Philadelphia.

CANAL DEFENSES WAIT WAR GAME ATTACK

'Enemy' Hovers in Panama Bay Ready to Strike at Daylight in War Game.

Copyright, 1928, by The New York Times Company.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BALBOA, March 27.—An attack on the Panama Canal, the crucial battle of the annual war games being held here, is expected at daylight tomorrow. Troops, air forces and field and coast artillery, assisted by two submarine divisions are ready to repulse the "enemy."

The attacking "force" consists of two cruiser divisions and five submarine divisions, with the support of troops and airplanes. They are somewhere in Panama Bay awaiting an opportunity to surprise the defenders. Their hope is to land troops and "destroy or damage" the Pacific locks from the air. The cruiser divisions have ten airplanes, which will be used in discovering the "defense" forces, and will attempt to bomb the locks and other vial parts of the canal plant.

Due to the concentration in the Pacific, the Atlantic end of the canal is practically unprotected, and if the "enemy" planes can elude the "defense" air forces serious damage may be established. The defense force has 4,000 troops in the coast and field artillery, infantry and air contingents, with two divisions of submarines, but no cruisers or other naval auxilitries. The air force consists of eleven navy and fifteen army planes, now concentrated at Albrook Field, between the entrance to the canal and the Pacific locks.

The major movement of the war game is to end tomorrow. Thursday the Board of Officers will hold a critique to render their decision on the outcome of the battle.

CROWS BATTLE SEA GULLS.

Birds Stage Aerial Warfare Over Clams Along New Jersey Beach.

Special to The New York Times.

NORTH WILDWOOD, N. J., March 27.—For three minutes today aerial warfare between squadrons of crows and sea gulls, with a feast of surf clams as the prize, was waged above the North Wildwood Beach.

The air was thick with rusty black feathers as crows were crippled by powerful curved beaks and then driven downward into the sea. Stragglers made their escape but the bodies of more than fifty badly battered crows were later washed in by the surf.

The gulls discovered the clams first. They were busily grabbing them, flying to high altitudes and dropping them to the beach to crush the shells, when the flock of gaunt crows appeared. Immediately the gulls forgot the business of devouring clams and soared aloft to meet the invaders in fan formation. They broke the crow ranks and then made individual attacks as a crowd on the boardwalk watched.

WALL ST. WORKERS BENEFIT BY MARKET

MANY TOIL INTO THE NIGHT

Some Are Promised Trips to Europe —Heaviest Duties Fall on Shoulders of Floor Members.

Special bonuses, assurances of long holidays later in the year and in some instances immediate increases in pay are among the considerations that are helping to compensate the army of workers in Wall Street for the extra work that has been loaded upon them by the heavy expansion in trading on the Stock Exchange.

One firm, for instance, is said to have given its employes ten weeks' extra pay as a reward for their loyalty in this most trying period in stock market history.

Among the houses that have given their employes special compensation are Hornblower & Weeks, E. F. Hutton & Co., J. S. Bache & Co., Thomson & McKinnon and A. A. Housman-Gwathmey & Co.

Many firms declined to say what they had done for their employes. Such bonuses as are being paid at this time are in addition to the disbursements which the firms usually make at stated times during the year. Last year it was estimated that more than $50,000,000 was paid out in the Wall Street district in the form of bonuses.

Most of the Stock Exchange firms have had to enlarge their organizations to take care of the greatly increased business. In some instances employes have not been required to do extra work. The rule, however, is late hours for the rank and file of workers during big markets. Some have had to say on duty all night in the last three weeks, straightening out the records of the day's operations and putting the books in shape for the following day.

Some firms have been furnishing their employes all of their meals, others have made regular allowances of luncheon and dinner money. Certain workers whose homes are far away from the financial district have been living in hotels at the expense of their firms while the rush was on. Instances were cited yesterday of firms showing their appreciation of their employes' work by taking them to theatres on those nights when they could be spared.

If there is a lull in the market in the Summer hundreds of Wall Street workers will get extended vacations. There have been a few promises of trips to Europe, with all expenses paid.

All of the burden of carrying on the present big stock market has not fallen upon the workers in the ranks, however. Partners in all of the busy houses have remained at their desks long after the usual quitting time. Many are now to be found in Wall Street often until midnight or later.

The floor members have had the hardest jobs of all. Between 10 o'clock in the morning and 3 o'clock in the afternoon, when trading is in progress, they make up a tugging, tussling throng on the floor of the Exchange, carrying under the greatest difficulty imaginable a routine of buying and selling which is taxing at best to brain and body. It is a business in which an error of word or gesture may cost thousands of dollars. The number of active floor members, about 700, is never enlarged. No matter how large the business, there is always about the same number of men to handle it. Within the last ten days a number of them have given way under the strain.

In the cases of floor members who are heads of firms they have been known during the present market to leave the Exchange and spend several hours at their offices, then snatching a few hours of sleep and returning to the floor at 10 o'clock the next morning.

STOCK PRICES BREAK THEN RISE IN BIG DAY

from the opening in a long list of representative securities.

It was an hour of market hysteria. No one knew what had happened, every one sought for an answer that was not forthcoming, and thousands, sheeplike, sold "at the market," to save further loss or such profits as might be. It was a question of "everybody selling at once" and it so overwhelmed the prospective buyers, as to carry quotations lower and lower. Just what did happen, no one semed to know, even at the end of the day, when Wall Street was sweeping up the débris of the tremendous trading. Probably the market worked itself into an unhealthy technical position in which momentary correction became imperative. There were stories that Westerners, that is, big speculative interests in Detroit, Chicago and St. Louis, had taken sudden fright overnight and decided to liquidate. None of these stories was proved; probably all were untrue. About all that watchers knew was that the market had dropped, that stop-loss orders were caught in great numbers, adding to the confusion, and that for an hour and more, the market was in a state of complete demoralization and chaos.

General Motors, about which much of the speculative excitement has been built, was the centre of attack and it retreated down the ladder of fluctuations in five-point, breath-taking jumps. Fractions were disregarded. At the height of the excitement it came out on the tape in a string: 50 85 (5,000 at $185), 20.80, 50.82, 14.83, 30.85, 20.86, 25.87, 40.88, 30.87. In other words, from its high of $198 in the morning it had slid within a scant thirty minutes to $180 a share, only to recover 7 points of that loss on the same "run" of tape.

Other Stocks Fare Badly.

Meanwhile, many other stocks were faring badly. Chrysler, General Electric, Westinghouse, Sears Roebuck, Montgomery Ward, Hudson and a dozen other issues which have carried the hopes and fears of the speculating populace of the country for the last month or so, smashed downward as big blocks of stock were thrown into the market. Probably it will be said that a "bear attack" was responsible. Actually, the bears had little to do with this sudden and dramatic decline. They have been well chastened during the month of March. Of course, short selling was a factor, as in every market, but the real cause was far removed. It was just an exhibition of too many persons all trying to sell out at the same time. Pools merely stood aside for the wind to blow itself out.

The recovery was almost as dramatic as the decline, and it was hailed with jubilation by those who believe this big market is destined to run on and on until after election. Out of the welter of declines it was noted by observers that a few issues not only resisted the selling pressure against them, but gained as the debâcle was going on in the motor group, the hardest hit of all. These included the railroad group, Sinclair Oil, now the subject of merger talk; Radio, whose recent wild advances piled fresh fuel on the speculative flames and General Electric, which today issues a good annual report.

These stocks brought the market to its senses. When the heavy wave of selling had spent its force, and trading became quiet, soon after mid-day, the cautious came out of their storm cellars, pools began to push their favorites up, and Radio, Sinclair and General Electric were whirled upward as fast as they had declined. Meanwhile, the friends of the railroad shares had been getting busy and under the leadership of New York Central (which incidentally sold at its best price for all time) the market was not only steadied, but encouraged higher. Shorts were inclined to cover; many of those who sold out in sheep-like panic in the morning bought back their securities and at higher prices.

Radio Leads Recovery.

Radio really led the recovery and it was jockeyed along to higher levels in skillful manner. It diffused confidence through the whole list. After selling down to 140¾ in the morning, it climbed back to 180—a dizzy swing of 23¾ points. Summing up, it might be said that the leading issues regained about half of their morning losses in the recoveries.

THE NEW YORK TIMES averages, as measured by fifty representative stocks, were off .52 for the day. A high of 122.61 for these averages was touched—the highest for all time—in early trading. They closed at 120.99. General Motors, quite naturally, held the banner for the number of shares traded in during the day, the total being 928,000. Sinclair Oil, not unlikely very prominent from the merger standpoint, was second with a total turnover of 801,900 shares.

Although the reverses were rapid, there was apparently a great deal of confusion in the speculative mind after the close of the market as to what will happen next. The day had demonstrated that stocks do not go straight up, and that smashes are possible. It threw what Wall Street calls "market fear" into hosts of the amateur speculators in all parts of the country who have been attracted by the possibilities of quick and easy money and who had never experienced "market fear" before. Old traders say that it is something like "buck ague" experienced by the hunter who has shot his first deer.

Day's Losses and Gains.

At the close of the day the gains and losses in leading speculative issues just about balanced. The largest of these, on both sides of the ledger, were as follows:

Declines.

From the physical side the market day was one of the most trying in Wall Street history and almost every brokerage house worked its staffs far into the night trying to straighten out the tangle resulting from such tremendous activity. The Exchange's machinery stumbled and stuttered far behind the market, falling behind at one time a full thirty-three minutes of the actual trading on the floor. This only heightened the confusion.

By hours of the day the ticker's lateness was thus recorded:

Time.	Minutes Late.
10:30 A. M.	12
11:00 A. M.	24

Crowd Watches Trading.

Extra clerks were put on in every brokerage house, and the Exchange itself has greatly augmented its staff of telephone operators, clerks, messengers and other employes having to do with the actual market. An incident of the day, and one which reflects the tremendous public interest in the market at present, was the number of persons who flocked to Wall Street yesterday to "watch the trading." Not all could crash through the stringent regulations, which provide that each visitor to the gallery must be properly introduced and must be accompanied to the gallery by an attaché of the Exchange. Nevertheless, the visitors' galleries were crowded all day long, with just about as many persons as they would hold. Many were turned away, unable to comply with the regulations.

To the observer, however, there was not a great deal to see, so accustomed have become the traders on the Exchange floor to the big markets and handling "million dollar" trades. Big and confused crowds were at the active posts, pulling and hauling at fellow members to get attention, but in consideration of the outside excitement it might be said that business progressed in orderly fashion.

In brokerage offices in New York and throughout the country was to be observed more concentrated excitement than was to be observed on the Exchange floor. They were literally packed to the point of suffocation all day, big traders rubbing elbows with little ones, all intent on the next quotation of a favorite trading vehicle.

STATE REAPS $80,000 A DAY.

Stock Tax in Active Market Is Adding to State's Surplus.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, March 27.—If the volume of trading continues on the New York Stock Exchange at the rate it has for the past two weeks the revenues of the State are expected to take a decided jump, and it is believed the estimates will be surpassed by from $750,000 to $1,000,000. State officials view with pleasure the lively trading, for every time a share is sold it means two cents to the State. In the days with sales running beyond 4,000,000 shares, the State is reaping a harvest of around $80,000 a day.

The State Controller's office estimated the revenue from the transfer tax for the fiscal year ending June 30 at $18,000,000. Reports for the record-breaking month of March and the next three months are still to come. The revenue thus far is $12,-682,682.60. If this rate is maintained it is expected that the revenue will amount to at least $780,000 or $1,000,-000 over estimates by the end of the fiscal year.

The Stock Exchange reports to the State Controller monthly. Officials of the Controller's office are hopeful that the estimates may be exceeded by at least $1,000,000.

RECORD AT CITY COLLEGE.

4,604 Students Attend Day Classes, Registrar Reveals.

A record number of 4,604 students attend the day sessions of City College, Dr. Morton Gottschall, Registrar, announced yesterday. Of these more than 38 per cent. matriculated in the freshman class, 949 new students having been admitted last February. The Brooklyn Centre in the Willoughby Building accommodates 1,187 lower classmen, he said.

The records also reveal that the majority of the undergraduates are taking courses leading to the degree of Bachelor of Science. The Arts curriculum follows close behind in popularity, while the Social Science courses find the least patronage. A very small percentage of the students pursue studies in the School of Business of Technology.

Three Children of Broker Share Equally in His Estate.

The estate of John Herbert Ware, a member of the Stock Exchange firm of Ware & Co., 150 Broadway, who died on April 29, 1926, was appraised yesterday by Deputy Tax Commissioner Stephenson at $1,399,-429 gross and $1,127,703 net. The bulk of the estate went to his three children, Ruth T. Von Colditz, Mrs. Louise W. Lynch and John H. Ware Jr., who receive $373,861 each.

Mr. Ware owned securities valued at $1,043,634, which included 3,947 shares of the Columbia Mills, manufacturer of lace curtains, valued at $414,435. Other assets of the estate were a yacht, the Idlewild, worth $12,-000. His interest in Ware & Co. was appraised at $305,577. He had property at his Summer home, Vineyard Haven, Mass., worth $24,517.

The appraisal did not include trust funds of $174,964 executed by Mr. Ware some years before his death for his children, one of which was $75,000 for his son, made in 1919 to enable him to buy a seat on the Stock Exchange.

KARLIN LOSES PLEA AND IS JAILED AGAIN

Justice Dowling Declines to Extend Stay to Witness in the Ambulance Chasing Inquiry.

ARGUMENT SET FOR FRIDAY

Court Agrees to Speed the Case So Final Decision on Appeal Can Be Reached Soon.

Alexander Karlin, lawyer, who refused to answer questions in the ambulance-chasing investigation before Supreme Court Justice Wasservogel and was committed to the County Jail in West Thirty-seventh Street for contempt of court, was taken back to the jail yesterday afternoon when Presiding Justice Dowling of the Appellate Division refused to continue a temporary stay of execution granted last Wednesday by Supreme Court Justice May in Brooklyn.

Mr. Karlin was released on Wednesday on habeas corpus proceedings, but while the hearing was pending before Justice May the Appellate Division in Brooklyn ordered an inquiry similar to that being conducted in Manhattan, and Justice May sent the case back to Manhattan to be heard by Justice Mahoney. The writ was dismissed by Justice Mahoney on Monday. However, the stay of the jail sentence was continued until yesterday noon to permit Abraham Tulin, counsel for Mr. Karlin, to ask the Appellate Division for a temporary stay until the appeal has been decided by the Court of Appeals.

While Justice Dowling refused to continue the stay he agreed with Isidor J. Kresel, counsel for the investigation, and Mr. Tulin that the argument on the appeal may be had on Friday so the case can be heard by the Court of Appeals at the earliest possible time. Mr. Tulin declined last night to discuss any other moves he may contemplate to have his client freed pending the appeal to the highest court.

Husband Divorces Josephine Dunn.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, March 27.—Josephine Dunn, a motion picture actress who recently was reported engaged to Charlie Chaplin, was divorced here today by William P. Cameron, a contracting engineer, who charged desertion. Their married life was of only two days' duration. They eloped in 1926 while she was appearing in a musical comedy here. She returned to the home of her mother in New York. Subsequently she lived with Cameron one day at a hotel here. Miss Dunn went to Hollywood and entered the movies. She did not contest the divorce suit.

WARREN WON'T HURRY IN NAMING CAPTAINS

Lieutenants on List Which Will Expire Saturday Will Advance Only in Event of Deaths.

Police Commissioner Warren announced yesterday that none of the 128 lieutenants on the eligible list for promotion to captaincies, which will expire at midnight next Saturday, would be promoted in rank unless the death of a captain causes a vacancy. The date for the new examination has not been set.

"I will not make any appointments of captains until after April except in case of death," said the Commissioner. "I will not be under suspicion."

The list about to expire was created four years ago following a civil service examination. It then contained the names of 197 lieutenants, sixty-eight of whom have since been promoted.

Heading the expiring list is Lieutenant John L. Largarenna, who commands the detectives of the West Thirtieth Street Station. All those on the present list must take another examination for future promotion.

In past years when the list was about to expire it had been customary for the ten or fifteen lieutenants heading the list to approach elderly police captains, eligible for retirement, and offer them varying sums if they would retire and create vacancies. Four years ago offers and counter-proposals were said to have been made by lieutenants and captains in the corridors of Police Headquarters. It was to avoid such dickering it was thought, that Commissioner Warren took his present stand.

SLEEPING CAR PORTERS CAST STRIKE BALLOTS

Organizer Here Says Hundreds Are Voting to Prove Union Deserves Recognition.

Less than twenty-four hours after 10,000 strike ballots had been issued throughout the country by the Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters hundreds of local members were appearing at their headquarters, 2,311 Seventh Avenue, yesterday to vote, according to A. Philip Randolph, general organizer for the union. The immediate purpose of the vote is to meet the contention of the Pullman Company that the brotherhood does not represent the majority of the porters, and therefore does not deserve recognition.

At present Pullman porters receive $72.50 a month, on a mileage basis, and are expected to add substantially to their wages through tips. The brotherhood wants a wage of $150 a month on a time basis without tips, and recognition of the union. According to Mr. Randolph, the employe representation plan as put into effect by the Pullman Company has resulted in a "company union" which is not effective in giving the porters redress for their grievances.

BOY PRISONER CAUGHT IN EAST RIVER SWIM

Escape From Randall's Island Is Discovered, So Police Await Him on Bronx Shore.

Walter Messersmith, 15 years old, swam a half mile in the swift, icy water of the East River between Randall's Island and the shore yesterday morning only to land in the waiting arms of detectives. He was returned to the House of Refuge on the island yesterday afternoon by a police officer.

Messersmith, who lived at 290 West Ninety-second Street, was sentenced for burglary seven months ago and had thirteen months of his sentence to serve. He undressed yesterday morning in a washroom and jumped from an unbarred window opening on the river. A guard discovered his clothes shortly thereafter and notified detectives of the Alexander Avenue Station, who went to the foot of 132d Street and caught Messersmith as he crawled out of the water. He was blue with cold, but after being warmed at the station house he did not appear to have suffered from his swim.

SANDINO REPORTED ILL, MEN DESERTING

Natives Say Nicaraguan Rebel Chief Is Admitting Defeat—Marines Press Drive.

MANAGUA CABINET RETIRING

Diaz Demands Resignations, Effective April 1, on Indicated Plan to Replace Oppositionists.

BY HAROLD N. DENNY.

Copyright, 1928, by The New York Times Company. By Tropical Radio.

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, March 27.—The forces of General Augustino Sandino have been weakened by desertions and Sandino himself is sick and realizes he is beaten, according to reports brought in by natives to Jinotega.

Their reports add that Sandino is resting along side the Coco River, awaiting an opportunity to slip down the river toward the Atlantic. Marine headquarters here admit today receivig such reports, but did not intimate how much credence, if any, is being placed in them.

There have been persistent rumors lately that Sandino was ill with malaria. Today word reached here that this illness has been so serious that in recent movements his men carried him in a hammock.

The lack of food and munitions, due largely to the fact that marines now hold the villages, is discouraging Sandino's men, it was added, so that they are returning home in small groups. The Hondurans in his force are remaining steadfast, it was said. These however, are reported to be some distance from him and he is accompanied only by a small band.

It is also reliably reported that the large force of rebels bombarded from the air near Murra recently were going to Jalapa to attempt to capture a Fokker transport plane when it landed at the marine flying field in the valley there. The force was sufficient greatly to outnumber the marine garrison then at Jalapa.

The marine fighting planes came on the rebels unexpectedly and scattered them with bombs and machine gun fire. Precautions are now being taken to forestal the possibility of attack on the transport planes.

Diaz Asks Cabinet to Resign.

The entire Nicaraguan Cabinet prepared to resign today in response to a request by President Diaz. This request was transmitted to the Ministers this morning after the Cabinet had assembled at the Presidential Palace on the call of the President.

The resignations will take effect April 1. Some Ministers handed in their resignations today and the rest will be forthcoming by the end of the week.

Members of the Cabinet appeared to be in confusion this afternoon as to the reason why they are being ousted. There have been rumors for several days that President Diaz would clear out the adherents of General Emiliano Chamorro who formed the majority of the Cabinet and replace them with Conservatives of the Moderate wing.

The resignation of Dr. Carlos Cuadra Pasos, the Foreign Minister, preceded those of the others. Dr. Cuadra Pasos's resignation is in a different category, however, as he is retiring in order to devote all his time to his candidacy for the Presidential nomination of the Conservative Party.

In well-informed circles it was asserted that the President's action was brought about by Dr. Cuadra Pasos, who unsuccessfully tried to force the McCoy electoral supervision law through Congress over General Chamorro's opposition.

Friends of General Chamorro professed to see the hand of the American State Department in the affair, but it was emphatically stated at the United States Legation that there had not been even a hint of such a thing. Furthermore, it was declared, the construction of the Cabinet was solely Nicaragua's affair, in which the United States would on no account interfere.

No reliable information as to the make-up of the next Cabinet was obtainable this evening.

The Conservative press prints derisive comments on the Liberal demonstration Sunday in favor of United States supervision of the elections. One newspaper accused the Liberals of staging an insincere farce and of toadying to the Americans in the hope of winning favor in the election.

Dr. Cuadra Pasos, seeking the Nicaraguan Presidential nomination, has long played a prominent rôle in Nicaraguan political life, The Associated Press states. He refused the Presidential nomination in 1916 to become Nicaraguan Minister to the United States. He first became Foreign Minister in 1922 and represented his country at various conferences. He served as Nicaraguan delegate at the recent Pan-American Conference at Havana.

way of Lake Nicaragua, to a point near Brito, on the Pacific Ocean."

The commission would include five members, appointed by the President with Senate's approval, three of them skilled engineers, one an active or retired army officer and the fifth an active or retired naval officer. As soon as the details of the canal are agreed upon between the United States and Nicaragua, the commission would make surveys, for which $10,000,000 is asked at once under the McKellar plan. The $200,000,000 in bonds would be issued periodically, when necessary.

"It will not take long for the Panama Canal to pay for itself and furnish a very substantial income," Senator McKellar said. "It is safe to say that the Nicaraguan Canal can be made to do the same, with a normal increase in world shipping."

He said about $134,000,000 was owed on bonds for Panama construction, and that the canal's net income for the next ten years would probably more than retire them.

Sees Saving in Sea Level Route.

"The Nicaragua route being sea level, I am in doubt whether it would cost $200,000,000," he added, "but whatever its cost, I'm sure it would pay and be a good investment."

Mr. McKellar argued that the Hay-Pauncefote treaty of 1901 concerned only the Panama Canal and the United States would be under no obligation to Great Britain in building the Nicaraguan waterway. Recommending that the canal be retained wholly under American control, but free and open to all nations, he opposed entering any agreements for fortifications or the war-time use of the waterway.

"The canal would be built with American money on American soil, bought and paid for," he said, "and we would be under no obligation to take dictation from any other nation on how to manage and control it."

Because for forty or fifty miles the San Juan River, between Nicaragua and Costa Rica, is part of the route, there should be a treaty with the latter country and a strip of land five to ten miles wide should be bought from her, Senator McKellar suggested.

The bill was referred to the Committee on Interoceanic Canals.

DAY, BACK, FOUND ITALY BUSTLING

Realty Man Says Nation's Energy Reminded Him of That Expended in New York.

DISAPPOINTED BY SPAIN

He Does Not Yearn to Buy a Castle There—He Foresees Growth of Chelsea District Here.

Joseph P. Day, who has auctioned off more than a billion dollars worth of real estate during his career, arrived yesterday on the White Star liner Majestic from a vacation in Europe. He was accompanied by Mrs. Day. He said that he had enjoyed himself immensely, but that he had dispelled at least one illusion. "Castles in Spain," it was his opinion, were all very well in poetry, but they were not very good as real estate propositions.

"While Napoleon said of Spain that it was a land in which every man might want to build a castle to spend his later years," he declared, "I could not see anything that would make me want to build my castle there instead of in these United States."

Mr. Day said that he left New York on the Homeric for a cruise of the Mediterranean. Among his fellow passengers were H. E. Mansville of Johns-Mansville, Inc., W. R. Timken of the Timken Roller Bearing Company and Bowman Gray of the R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company. When they reached the island of Madeira they were so impressed by its beauty that they jokingly discussed the idea of purchasing the island to "develop" it. They finally abandoned the idea as the proposition "lacked volume." There was not area enough, Mr. Day said, to make the undertaking worth while.

Impressed With Italy.

Mr. Day was particularly impressed with Italy. He found that Naples had the same bustling atmosphere as New York and that Italy was the only country abroad where there was the same amount of energy expended as in New York.

"I am almost inclined to believe," he said, "that if she continues to progress she may even evolve a species of real estate man."

"An American business man abroad," he said, referring particularly to the attempt made to dispose of "second rate" jewelry and other matter of doubtful value to cruise passengers, "should have a manager."

"In America he is so busy that when he gets abroad he does not know what to do with his time, and in consequence can be easily buncoed. Mrs. Day was my manager, and she must have saved me at least $50,000 by keeping me from buying what I wanted to buy."

The most remarkable thing, according to Mr. Day, which he saw during his trip was the famous temple at Karnak.

"The architect and designer of this mammoth undertaking is not even known," he asserted, "and yet if any man ever deserved a medal he did. It is the biggest and finest thing I ever saw."

Foresees Growth of Chelsea.

Commenting on New York real estate, Mr. Day declared he was about to dispose of two tracts of land which he characterized as about the last left to exploit in the city. One is a tract at Locust Point in what is known as Throg's Neck, and the other is the Crawford estate in the middle of the Bronx. He predicted that the next real estate development would be in the Chelsea district. It would follow Greenwich Village, he thought, in being converted to an apartment district.

The Majestic was five hours behind schedule in docking owing to heavy gales from the west, which delayed her arrival at Quarantine, and also to the fact that she had 9,000 sacks of mail to discharge before proceeding upstream. So strong was the wind even in the Hudson River that she was not tied up until an hour after she reached the pier.

MRS. COOLIDGE FINDS MOTHER UNCHANGED

President's Wife Visits Hospital in Northampton Three Times in Course of Day.

NORTHAMPTON, Mass., March 27 (AP).—The condition of Mrs. Lemira Goodhue, mother of Mrs. Calvin Coolidge, critically ill at the Dickinson Hospital, is unchanged, her personal physician, Dr. J. E. Hayes, announced tonight. The mind of the aged patient remained clear and she was able to converse with Mrs. Coolidge, who reached her bedside early today.

The wife of the President visited the hospital three times in the course of the day, the first time soon after her arrival from the capital. She returned at 11:15 o'clock in the forenoon for an hour and a half. A third visit was made early tonight.

Dr. Hayes let it be known today that Mrs. Goodhue had been delirious most of the time since Sunday night, the physician giving the probable cause as faulty kidney functioning. She had been notified of the arrival of Mrs. Coolidge and recognized and chatted with her. During the day she remained mentally alert and appeared quite bright, Dr. Hayes said. The physician said that she was suffering no discomfort and that her heart action was fair.

Shortly after 8 o'clock tonight Dr. Hayes gave out this bulletin:

"Mrs. Goodhue is unchanged since this morning. The patient has slept the greater part of the afternoon and is resting quietly tonight."

After her third visit to the hospital, which lasted an hour and a half, Mrs. Coolidge spent the evening quietly at her Massasoit Street home. Mrs. R. B. Hills of Northampton, who made the trip from Washington with her, remained with Mrs. Coolidge tonight.

General MacArthur Fights a Fire.

Special to The New York Times.

BALTIMORE, March 27.—General Douglas MacArthur early today led his forces of servants and other employes on his estate near Eccleston, Md., in a battle with flames. A northwest gale fanned the fire, which was in the keeper's house. Difficulty in getting water, which was pumped for almost a mile, hampered the firemen. The wind, which was away from the General's home, prevented the fire from spreading in that direction, but the keeper's house was destroyed.

TRACES COAL ILLS TO LOGAN COUNTY

Witness Tells Senators West Virginia District's Policy Made Others Cut Wages.

SAYS 50,000 WERE EVICTED

Union Leader Denounces the 'Abuse' of Injunctions and the Company-Store System.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 27. — The ills of the bituminous coal industry of the Central and Northeastern United States were traced today to the celebrated, or "notorious," Logan County of Southern West Virginia by Captain Percy Tetlow, head of the West Virginia organization of the United Mine Workers of America. Captain Tetlow was the only witness called today by the Senate committee investigating the strike situation in the bituminous fields of Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Ohio.

Logan County, according to Captain Tetlow, has always been closed to the miners' union. Because of this, he said, operators in that section were able to pay lower wages and undersell their rivals in other West Virginia counties.

Other Southern West Virginia counties he pictured as following this example between 1922 and 1925. He declared the stream of labor troubles crept North through the Kanawha district of West Virginia, until now the States of Pennsylvania, Ohio, Illinois, the so-called central competitive field, are faced with the necessity of abandoning union wage rates and entering a cut-throat industrial war that would eventually ruin the very State which started the troubles.

West Virginia will be its own hangman, Captain Tetlow said, simply because without regulated wages it would find itself in competition with States much closer to the great coal markets.

Although Captain Tetlow admitted he knew of no specific for the sickness of the coal industry, he did suggest, at intervals, various means for improving the situation.

He asked for changes in existing laws to enable labor to act with freedom in necessary and constitutionally "legal" matters. In particular he attacked abuses of the injunction. He upheld the rights of labor to maintain a country-wide union for maintenance of collective bargaining, without which, he said, operators could go on "depressing labor, reducing standards, engendering bitterness, bringing back long hours, low wages and company stores."

Captain Tetlow brought up the ever-recurring question of evictions.

"Fifty thousand were evicted in the Kanawha Fields between 1922 and 1925," he said.

One of the first "wholesale evictions" had been carried out, he said, by mine guards, hired by operators, with a detective named Howard Smith at their head. He asserted this group tried to "forcibly evict" a group of miners' families at Coalburg, on the Kanawha River, "with high-powered rifles and bloodhounds."

"The deputies and sheriffs, paid by the companies, rule in Logan County," Captain Tetlow said, "and they supervise law enforcement. Practically all trading done in this county is in the company stores. The men are prohibited from dealing outside of the company stores, and that's where the company scrip system comes in with its startling consequences."

"But," Senator Goff interrupted, "has any one been discharged who bought outside company stores?"

"Almost certainly," replied Captain Tetlow.

"Theoretically," Senator Goff put in, "the company stores are justifiable."

"Yes," said Captain Tetlow, "but they establish a condition that leads to imposition on the workers—to abuses."

Captain Tetlow declared Logan County operators gave their workers far less than their nominal wages by using a system of deductions for many things. He told of one miner whose wages for six months amounted to $675, but who got but $50 in cash.

Senator Watson denied published reports that Henry Ford, who operates mines in Kentucky at a wage rate of $8 a day, or 50 cents more than the union rate, had been asked to testify. John L. Lewis, head of the International Union of the Miners, said he had not asked for Mr. Ford's testimony.

LIVED NEAR BROADWAY FOR HALF A CENTURY

Mrs. Eva S. Warden, Widow of Secretary to President Johnson, Dies at 90 Years.

The horse cars were the principal distractions in Longacre Square when Mrs. Eva Sprague Warden, widow of the secretary of President Andrew Johnson, moved into the house she owned at 212 West Forty-third Street late in the last century. Despite the changes which took place in the region since that time, Mrs. Warden didn't move away until last week, when she was taken to Broad Street Hospital suffering from pneumonia.

She died there yesterday morning in her ninetieth year.

The narrow, four-story brick structure which Mrs. Warden owned and refused for years to even consider selling or renting, is sandwiched in between a theatre and a restaurant. Across the street is another theatre. Fifty steps eastward, Broadway at Times Square roars its night and day message of commotion. Mrs. Warden's memory took her back to the days when Abraham Lincoln was assassinated, and her husband was a President's secretary, also a lawyer and a prominent journalist.

He was William Wallace Warden, confidential secretary to President Johnson in the stormy days of Reconstruction, afterward journalist and noted Washington correspondent. He died in 1890, and Mrs. aWrden, who had bought the Forty-third Street house twelve years earlier, left Washington and moved to New York.

She lived here continuously, with her foster daughter, Mrs. Eva K. Davlin, since that time. Mrs. Warden's mother died in the house. All the treasures of memory, including several scrapbooks which contained the signature of President Lincoln, President Johnson and President Grant were there. Mrs. Warden, who spoke four and read four languages, played the piano, and of late years confined her daily promenade to her second floor bedroom. She refused many offers of real estate men for her property. A few months ago she was offered $150,000 for the house.

Mrs. Warden was born in Troy, New York. She is survived by her foster daughter and by a grandson, William Davlin, and a granddaughter, Mrs. William A. Battista. The funeral will take place tomorrow at 2 o'clock at the All Soul's Unitarian Church, 104 East Twentieth Street.

FOOD ADVERTISERS SPEND 56% MORE MONEY IN THE TRIBUNE THAN IN ANY OTHER CHICAGO NEWSPAPER

IN 1927 The Tribune received more money by far from national advertisers of grocery products than any other newspaper in America. During this period these same manufacturers invested 56% more money in The Tribune than in any other Chicago newspaper, morning or evening.

These leaders have learned that The Tribune upsets the unsound tradition that evening newspapers have the strongest hold upon housewives. They have found Chicago is an exception to any such rule of rote. They continue to spend most money in The Chicago Tribune because they have proved the impelling influence of this favorite newspaper of Chicago women.

In 1927 all of the first rank grocery advertisers listed at the left depended on the dominance of The Tribune in the Chicago market. Of the 64 grocery accounts using 5000 lines or more in any Chicago paper, 35 spent more money in The Tribune than in any other newspaper—to have an advocate at the breakfast table where market lists are made with The Tribune as guide. Fifteen companies spent more with the second paper and 8 with the third—both evening papers.

In 1927 The Tribune's gain in local grocery lineage exceeded the gain of all other Chicago newspapers combined. The Daily Tribune alone gained 190% more than the two leading evening papers combined.

Read below the running story of significant Tribune successes—then decide how to get the most out of Chicago for your product!

ONE PAPER NECESSARY TO CLEAN UP IN CHICAGO

TOILET soaps are not listed under grocery lineage, but their sale is largely through grocery stores—and The Tribune's lead in this classification is unchallenged.

James S. Kirk Company, producers of popular American Family and Jap Rose soaps, confirmed the judgment of grocery advertisers in Chicago by allotting more of their advertising appropriations to The Tribune in 1927 than to any other Chicago newspaper. During the same period the Palmolive-Peet Company ran 13,726 lines on "keeping that school girl complexion" in The Tribune.

Procter & Gamble placed 28,350 lines of advertising on Ivory Soap in the Sunday Tribune Rotogravure Section—more than 99 44-100 of its schedule—because Chicago evening newspapers did not carry a line. The Babbitt Company, makers of Bab-O, used The Tribune to the extent of over 6,000 lines in 1927 and has placed a $25,000 non-cancellable contract for both color and black and white advertising during 1928. The leading advertisers of soaps and cleansers have found from experience that if you want to clean up in Chicago you can count on one newspaper—The Tribune—to do the job!

Beverages

BELL-WETHER BEVERAGES BELIEVE IN THE TRIBUNE

IN its second largest market, Canada Dry Ginger Ale has proved the persuasion of The Chicago Tribune beyond dispute. In 1927 Canada Dry sustained earlier resultful expenditures in The Tribune with an investment of approximately $100,000—more money by far than in all other Chicago newspapers combined.

Anheuser-Busch advertised its Pale Dry Ginger Ale in The Tribune to the extent of $65,000—and to the practical exclusion of other Chicago newspapers. In 1927 Hinckley and Schmitt, long established leader in Chicago in the sale of table waters, used 20,604 lines in The Daily Tribune—much more than in all other papers combined. White Rock used 7,797 lines in a nearly exclusive campaign. These bell-wethers believe in The Tribune to reach Chicago housewives because they have reaped results.

Sausages

BRINGS HOME THE BACON —AND SELLS THE SAUSAGE

THE sponsors of good sausage in Chicago have been unanimous in their selection of The Tribune to receive the major portion of their appropriations. In the fall of 1927 Mickelberry, makers of popular Farm Sausage, gave The Daily Tribune a $30,000 schedule—more money by far than appropriated for any other Chicago paper, morning, evening or Sunday. Oscar Mayer, equal contender for this breakfast business, used many more lines in The Daily Tribune during the past year than in any competitor. The listing of sausage lineage in Chicago news papers is best evidence of The Tribune's ability, when it comes to reaching women, to bring home the bacon.

Butter

BLUE VALLEY CONCENTRATES IN ONE CHICAGO PAPER

THE Blue Valley Company made no spread of its advertising to induce Chicago women to buy its brand of butter. They knew one newspaper could do the job if they chose the right one, so they gave The Daily Tribune an exclusive contract for $35,000 of which over $15,000 appeared in its columns during 1927. In 1928 the Blue Valley advertising continues to appear in The Daily Tribune to reach the largest and most responsive audience of women offered by any newspaper in this rich market.

Baking Powder

CALUMET HAS FOUND THAT MORE WOMEN READ TRIBUNE

THE Calumet Baking Powder Company has built a great business in Chicago and its territory—and The Tribune has been its outstanding advertising aid. In 1927 Calumet used both black and white space and rotogravure in The Tribune to continue its contact with Chicago housewives—an expenditure equivalent to its total appropriation for all other Chicago newspapers combined. Year after year this conspicuous merchandiser has found that more women read The Tribune than any other Chicago newspaper.

Coffee

MORNING COFFEE LINKED WITH MORNING TRIBUNE

WHAT better combination than one's morning coffee and the morning Tribune! And coffee advertisers have proved the strength of this combination to their entire satisfaction. Maxwell House have found their advertising dollars pay biggest dividends in The Tribune and spent more money by far in 1927 in The Tribune than in any other Chicago newspaper. Thomas J. Webb, enterprising, entrenched in this fertile market, used 16,526 lines in The Daily Tribune exclusively, and renewed his investment with a non-cancellable contract for 1928. Chase & Sanborn, listed among the leaders, used more than $20,000 worth of Tribune space exclusively in 1928.

Cereals

TWO ESSENTIALS AT MOST CHICAGO BREAKFAST TABLES

CEREALS reach Chicago's breakfast tables and so does The Tribune. More than one-fifth of the entire sales of the Kellogg Company are made in Chicago and its territory—and The Tribune has played an important part in producing this volume. In 1927 Kellogg ran 29,949 lines in The Daily Tribune, making it the mainspring of its merchandising in Chicagoland.

To maintain the popularity of its puffed cereals and establish Muffets, a newcomer, the Quaker Oats Company spent more money in The Tribune during 1927 than in any evening newspaper—and Postum Cereal used 40% more space in The Tribune than in the next newspaper. In the verdict of these veteran advertisers is found the proof of The Tribune's favor among Chicago women.

You'll learn further facts about selling the Chicago territory more economically by talking to a Tribune man. He can show you how to concentrate in The Tribune and win more Chicago women at lower cost for any worth-while product. A matter of minutes may save you thousands—send for a Tribune man today!

CATHOLICS GAIN 205,753 IN YEAR

1,273,291 IN NEW YORK

2,281,837 Students and Pupils Are Recorded in Church's Colleges and Schools.

The total number of Catholics in the United States, not counting the Philippine Islands, is 19,689,049, according to the Official Catholic Directory for 1928, published by P. J. Kenedy & Sons, 44 Barclay Street, which was issued yesterday. Despite the restricted immigration, this is an increase of 205,753 over the total number of Catholics listed in the Kenedy directory for 1927.

The total number of students and pupils in Catholic colleges and day schools is given as 2,281,837. There are 18,293 Catholic churches and 25,773 Catholic priests. Of these, four are Cardinal-Archbishops, thirteen Archbishops and ninety-nine Bishops.

The directory lists 136 theological seminaries in which 14,432 young men are studying for the priesthood. The number of converts to the Catholic faith in the year was 33,991.

The book reports 615 Catholic hospitals, 147 Catholic homes for the aged and 351 Catholic orphan asylums, caring for 51,961 children.

It reports that the archdiocese of New York is virtually the largest Archdiocese in every particular. The New York Catholic population is given as 1,273,291, with 124,445 boys and girls in Catholic schols. New York has 1,314 priests, of whoom 830 are parish clergy and 484 are members of religious orders.

There are three theological seminaries here, in which 732 young men are training for the priesthood, besides three boys' colleges, fifty girls' academies and 198 parishes that have day schools. New York has twenty-four orphan asylums caring for 3,147 children. There are twenty-nine hospitals and six homes for the aged.

The only other Archdiocese that the directory credits with more than a million Catholics is Chicago, where the Catholic population is given as 1,250,000. Chicago has 1,241 priests, and 381 churches. Boston Arch-diocese is credited with 990,000 Catholics, 1,021 priests and 343 churches.

The Catholic population in Philadelphia is said to be 785,585, with 979 priests and 374 churches.

NEW LOREE PLANS FOR MERGER FILED

His Associates Believe Citations Against His Southwestern Roads Will Be Withdrawn.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 27.—Leonor F. Loree's new scheme for the unification of the Kansas City Southern, Katy and Cotton Belt railroads, w : presented to the Interstate Commerce Commission late this afternoon, supplanting the first Loree application which made the Kansas City Southern the focus, and was rejected by the commission about a year ago.

The first Loree application made the Kansas City Southern the base of the merger. The new plan provides for the acquisition, through stock exchanges, of all of the Kansas City Southern's outstanding 210,000 shares of preferred and 299,599 of common stock. It would also acquire 135,000 shares of Cotton Belt preferred and 20,000 common held by Kansas City Southern, as well as 63,936 half shares of Cotton Belt preferred and 143,561 held elsewhere.

In the event the Commission does not authorize the Katy to acquire control of both the other roads the application asks that it be permitted to acquire control of either. The application points out that of the larger independent carriers in the Southwestern region, the only ones remaining which are not incorporated or proposed to be incorporated in one of the major systems, are the three lines which now are to be brought into one system.

The terms of Mr. Loree's second plan for uniting the Kansas City Southern, Missouri-Kansas-Texas and St. Louis Southwestern in a $600,000,000 merger represent an attempt to meet the objections raised by the Interstate Commerce Commission to the first plan. Mr. Loree's first plan met with disapproval not only because it made the Kansas City Southern the controlling company, but because it was found defective in its treatment of minority interests. The second plan seeks to placate these interests by giving them an opportunity to exchange their holdings for stock in the controlling company.

It was learned yesterday that citations issued under the Clayton Anti-Trust act by the Interstate Commerce Commission against two of the roads in the merger served to hasten the filing of the new plan. The commission based its citations on the fact that stock in the St. Louis Southwestern was owned or optioned to the Kansas City Southern and the Katy. Mr. Loree's interests have accepted this action by the commission as an intimation that the stocks acquired for the purpose of the merger must be used for that purpose without further delay.

It was asserted in railroad circles yesterday that the commissioner's citations did not mean that the holding of stock in one railroad by another was a violation of the Clayton act, because the purchase of these stocks is the one means by which unified trunk systems may be assembled under the terms of the Transportation act. The Loree interests have taken the view that the commission issued its citations because nearly a year has elapsed without further action by Mr. Loree since the rejection of the first plan. These interests believe the citations will be dismissed as a result of filing new merger plans.

neen leaders. He would not say whether he contemplated calling a Grand Jury to investigate, but it is believed definite action is being planned.

Chicago was becoming self-conscious about its reputation as a city of crime, and with these bombings added to the recent killing of "Diamond Joe" Esposito, a Deneen leader, the feeling has become acute. Dispatches telling of discussion of the outrages in the Cabinet and the Senate at Washington were featured by the newspapers.

Countering Accusations Made.

The countering accusations of the opposing political factions were bitter. On the one side are arrayed Mayor Thompson, State's Attorney Crowe and Governor Len Small. On the other side are Senator Deneen, Judge Swanson, who is opposing Mr. Crowe in the primaries; Attorney General Carlstrom and Louis L. Emmerson, present Secretary of State, who is running against Governor Small.

State's Attorney Crowe led the forces of the anti-Deneen faction with several pronunciamentos blaming the Senator's adherents. In a political speech this afternoon he made the charge, in effect, that Senator Deneen had bombed his own home.

"It is a sorry thing that a United States Senator and his discredited, defeated, disgruntled crowd must resort to bombing their own homes in order to arouse enmity against Mayor Thompson and myself, the constituted authorities," Mr. Crowe told a startled audience.

Earlier he had issued a statement reiterating his declaration of last night that the Deneen faction should be held responsible, and Mayor Thompson issued this in support of it:

"I think Bob Crowe has the right slant on what is going on. He has had over seven years' experience in the State's Attorney's office, giving him an unusual opportunity to study the footprints of one of his predecessors, Charles S. Deneen, and how they led in the political advancement of Charles S. Deneen through the indictment and intimidation route."

Swanson Renews His Charges.

From the other side came denunciations both of the bombing and the efforts of the Thompson-Crowe group to thrust the responsibility on the victims.

"The bomb was aimed at me by crooks and thieves whose political machinations are creating the present crime situation," said Judge Swanson. "There is no doubt that the bomb was thrown by those whose criminal interests are opposing the election of an enemy to their political alliances.

"I am more determined than ever to carry on the fight. Apparently the bomb was meant for me and is a deliberate attempt at intimidation, to force me out of the fight. I propose to conduct an investigation so far as I am individually able.

"I can blame this on no one but my political enemies. Certainly the bomb was not sent to me by friends. If it had exploded three seconds earlier it would have been within six feet of me.

"It is inconceivable that any man would bomb his own home to make headway in politics."

GARDEN PAYS $2,138,498 IN GOVERNMENT TAXES

Federal and State Treasuries in 2 Years Received More Than Net of the Corporation Itself.

The profits of Federal and State Governments in the activities of the Madison Square Garden Corporation in the past two years were more than those of the corporation itself, according to the annual report of George L. Rickard, President. The corporation collected $1,661,871 in admission taxes. It paid from its profits $476,626 in Federal income, State franchise, real estate and other taxes. It thus collected or paid a total of $2,138,498 of taxes in a period in which its own net income was only $1,798,838.

The corporation and subsidiaries for 1927 show a net profit of $1,014,199 after depreciation, amortization and reserve for Federal income taxes, equivalent to $3.12 a share earned on 324,860 no par shares of stock. This compares with $784,639 or $2.43 a share on 323,560 shares in 1926.

Total income for the year ended Dec. 31 was $7,650,518, compared with $5,684,846 the year previous. Surplus amounted to $648,745 as against $703,613 in 1926. Profit and loss surplus was shown as $1,394,086, while for the year prior it was $722,000. Cash on hand amounted to $647,367 compared with $353,649 a year ago. Inventories were carried at $7,560 against $5,665 the previous year.

In the consolidated balance sheet, temporary investments are shown amounting to $228,890; special deposits, $78,711, and investment in subsidiary companies, $100,506. These items were not shown in the balance sheet for 1926. Debentures which were carried in 1926 at $14,200, were called March 5, 1927 and cashed at $1,777,000.

BREMEN, Ohio, March 27 (AP).—Faithful to the horse at whose heels he ran for years, a Boston bulldog today refused to leave a burning barn in which his "pal" was trapped. Both fell victims of the fire, which caused $10,000 damage.

A good use for that $3 you save

Why not make Junior a present of a nice wrist watch? Or give Dad a tie? Or Mother some perfume or nice handkerchiefs? Any of them can be had for three dollars, which is the average amount you save yearly by the use of Listerine Tooth Paste at 25c, instead of costlier dentifrices which accomplish no more.

The dentifrice that became a leader in 4 years

From "scratch" to a position among the leaders in four years! Certainly there is no better evidence of the merit of Listerine Tooth Paste than this remarkable record.

If you have not tried this delightful dentifrice at 25c, do so now. Compare its results to those of any dentifrice at any price. You will find that it accomplishes more than dentifrices that cost sometimes twice as much.

Note particularly how quickly it cleans the teeth. The speediest dentifrice known! This is due to the presence of a remarkable new polishing agent of the gentlest character. Observe how thoroughly it cleans your teeth and heightens their lustre. Note too, that wonderful refreshed feeling of the mouth and gums after the brushing is over. Nothing like it.

Only the most modern methods of manufacture permit such a splendid paste at such a price. Isn't it worth trying? Lambert Pharmacal Company, St. Louis, Mo., U. S. A.

Tunney Gets New Ultimatum From Commission; Must Name Opponent by Tuesday

ULTIMATUM ISSUED TO TUNNEY BY BOARD

DEMPSEY BOUT BARRED

7 CHALLENGERS LISTED

Heeney, Risko, Sharkey, Paulino, Delaney, Scott, Godfrey Seek Title —Rickard Opposes Board.

By JAMES P. DAWSON.

The State Athletic Commission has issued what apparently is its last ultimatum to Champion Gene Tunney. At its meeting yesterday the solons made another effort, by means of an ultimatum, to force Tunney to observe the law which says that a champion must defend his title at least once every six months. The board ordered that unless the world's heavyweight champion accepted one of the seven challenges on file against him at the commission office by next Tuesday he would be placed on the ineligible list.

At the same time the board ruled that Jack Dempsey will not be tolerated here as an opponent for Tunney in a championship match, thereby blasting whatever hopes may have existed for a third meeting between Gene and Jack.

Chairman James A. Farley and Commissioner William Muldoon were agreed that the reply of Tunney to the commission message of March 19 was evasive and not the answer that had been expected. The board notified Tunney on that occasion that challenges from Jack Sharkey, Tom Heeney and Johnny Risko were on file against him, and that Tunney's six months' period of grace expired on March 22, in the expectation that the champion would reply with an acceptance of one of the challenges. Subsequently challenges were filed by Paulino, Jack Delaney, George Godfrey and Phil Scott, making seven in all, keeping of the commission and awaiting the disposition of the champion.

Tuesday Last Day of Grace.

Tunney's reply was a notification that he had signed to defend his title under the direction of Promoter Tex Rickard and that the selection of an opponent was Rickard's responsibility. No supplementary message has come from Tunney, who is in Miami with Rickard, although the commission is desirous the champion take some definite step either to accept or reject the challenges.

Under the law, it was explained, a ring champion has six months at his disposal in which to defend his title. Failing in this, he has fifteen days in which to make disposition of a challenge when notified by the commission. This fifteen-day period will not expire until next Tuesday.

In the meantime there is reason to believe the matter will be satisfactorily adjusted. Negotiations now are nearing a climax for a bout between Heeney and Risko as the two survivors of Rickard's eliminations. Risko has consented to this match and appeared here yesterday with his manager ready to sign a contract for Matchmaker Jess McMahon at Madison Square Garden. Charles J. Harvey, directing the affairs of Heeney, however, is not agreeable to the Risko bout, insisting that Heeney is entitled to crack at Tunney and his title, since the New Zealander defeated Risko last October.

Monday night everything appeared adjusted, but Harvey suddenly changed his mind and decided on a trip to Miami for a conference with Rickard and Tunney. Harvey was to have departed yesterday, but so far as could be learned, he did not.

Board Resents Tunney's Stand.

That the Commission resents strongly the attitude of Tunney was asserted by Commissioner Muldoon, with the support of Chairman Farley.

"A Tunney-Dempsey match will not be approved by the Commission," said Commissioner Muldoon. "There is no reason for such a match, aside from the purely financial side of it. Tunney fought Dempsey twice in two years and Tunney convincingly demonstrated he is Dempsey's superior as a boxer. I favor giving some other fellow a chance at the title. The thing for Tunney to do, as a native New Yorker, is to obey the law, which says that a champion must defend his title at least once in six months. In this particular case Tunney should accept the challenge aimed at him without exception, with the condition that the best man among the lot be selected by the promoter directing the bout. Tunney ignored his challengers and boxed only once last year. Apparently he intends to let another year pass without fighting. He should be made to fight twice this year to balance his inactivity of last year.

"There can be no cry about a scarcity of opponents. The commission is agreed that we have a better lot of heavyweights than ever we have had to give the champion competition. Seven challenges are on file here now. Certainly that should be all the competition a champion wants. There can be no complaint about possible losses in a heavyweight title bout here. There is no risk permitted under the Commission regulations. A champion must box for 37½ per cent. of the receipts and a challenger for 12½ per cent. No other kind of contract is countenanced. That leaves the promoter fifty per cent. of his receipts with which to pay other boxers and expenses, and under these conditions there is no sane reason why a heavyweight champion or any other champion should not defend his honor as often as suitable challengers present themselves.

"It would be better for the sport. However, the commercial aspect of boxing seems to have overwhelmed the sport. Money rules a lot of things. When Rickard had none he would promote bouts any time. The same applies to Tunney. Now both are off with the idle rich."

Richard Answers Board.

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., March 27 (AP).—Gene Tunney could not accept the challenges now on file with the New York State Athletic Commission if he wanted to, Tex Rickard, promoter, declared here today, with the assertion that the matter was entirely in his (Rickard's) hands.

"Tunney stands ready to fight any man I name, but I do not feel that the commission has any right to force me to name an opponent at this time," the promoter said. "The affair is in my hands, not Tunney's."

The champion could not be located.

Rickard said there is a possibility, however, that an opponent for Tunney's title defense will be selected before the expiration of the period of grace. He further declared that his "present intention is to use one of the men on the commission's contendership list."

"This looks like a lot more smoke than fire to me, anyhow," he said. "If we do not accept within the time limit, all they can do is put Tunney on the ineligible list and then reinstate him whenever he accepts their challenge."

TELLS OF BOUT FOR TITLE.

Newark Newspaper Says Tunney Will Meet Dempsey in New Jersey.

An Associated Press dispatch sent out from Newark last night said:

"The Newark Ledger in a copyrighted story tomorrow will say that Gene Tunney, world's heavyweight champion, and Jack Dempsey will meet in their third clash on New Jersey soil in July or August and that a stadium modeled after Boyle's Thirty Acres will be erected exclusively for the contest. The paper will say that Tex Rickard's lieutenants have been scouting around the northern section of the State for a place large enough to fit in with Rickard's plans to seat 125,000 persons.

"The bout, according to The Ledger, will be a fifteen-round affair to a decision and the first championship bout to be fought in this State under the new law permitting decisions."

BOXING BOARD TO GIVE AL BROWN A HEARING

Also Fails to Take Action on Connecticut Body's Ruling to Ban Draw Decisions.

The State Athletic Commission yesterday refused to suspend Al Brown, Harlem bantamweight boxer, on the recommendation of the International Boxing Union, at least not until the local lad has had a chance to present his side of the situation which finds him suspended for six months abroad, effective March 1 last.

Secretary Bert Stand announced that a hearing has been arranged for Brown at the meeting to be held Friday, on which will depend the commission's action with respect to a request that the I. B. U. suspension of Brown be imposed here.

Acknowledgment was made of a request from a Connecticut newspaper for comment on the recent action of Commissioner Thomas E. Donahue, who ruled that in the future draw decisions are taboo in Connecticut boxing, but the Empire State authorities refused comment on the ruling.

In accordance with the recommendation of the commission it is expected that the signed contracts for a Paulino-Phil Scott heavyweight bout on May 11 in Madison Square Garden will be submitted at Friday's meeting. This match is sought as the feature for the annual Bronx Hospital Fund benefit.

KEARNS MOTION GRANTED.

Is Allowed to Sue Dempsey Now for $701,026.60, Judge Rules.

A motion made in behalf of Jack Kearns, boxing manager, for permission to file a second amended complaint in his damage suit against Jack Dempsey, former heavyweight champion, was granted yesterday by Judge Thomas D. Thacher in the United States District Court.

Arthur N. Sager, Kearns's attorney, said that he desired to so word the amended document that it would cover the entire situation presented by Dempsey's alleged breach of a contract entered into in 1923 for a period of three years with Kearns. It is this contract which Kearns relies upon to prove that he is entitled as manager to one-third of Dempsey's profits from the fight with Tunney, in which Dempsey lost his championship in Philadelphia, and for many other events. The original complaint called for $333,333.33. The second amended complaint will call for $701,026.60.

'Hesitation Pitch' Is Mastered By Ehmke; Won Right to Use It

FORT MYERS, Fla., March 27 (AP).—After eight years of conscientious effort, Howard Ehmke, lanky righthander of the Philadelphia Athletics, believes he has mastered the "hesitation pitch" and looks for his fifteenth season to be the best ever. It is not a new wrinkle, but Ehmke believes it will be approved by the baseball powers. His "hesitation" consists merely of a pause in his windup designed to throw the batter off his stride.

"For a time," said Ehmke, "I was asked to discard this style of pitching but I argued my case and won it. Of course the rules forbid any hesitation with men on base, when the rules call for a balk."

O'DOUL BREAKS UP GAME

Singles After Welsh Reaches Third on His Hit and Taitt's Error —Fielding Loose.

By JAMES R. HARRISON.

Special to The New York Times.

AUGUSTA, Ga., March 27.—For the third time this Spring our Giants narrowly escaped the horrible fate of being beaten by the Red Sox today. Even at a late hour tonight Mr. John Joseph McGraw still turned pale when he thought how close his boys had been to suffering this awful indignity.

It appears that the Red Sox, after trailing the Giants drowsily for seven lethargic innings, suffered a rush of blood to the head in the eighth and tied the count at three runs a piece.

With the count deadlocked or knotted, as the experts put it, the two teams flatwheeled into the tenth round. The Sox offered practically no trouble to Jim Chaplin, the former Jersey City pitcher, and in the other half of the inning the Red Sox became the Red Sox again and booted the game into the Giants' laps.

With one out Jimmy Welsh singled to right and Mr. Taitt, the Boston outfielder, gave the ball the croquet-arch stop. That is, he carefully arched his legs, keeping his feet together, and through the aperture thus formed the ball leaped gracefully, not even touching Mr. Taitt's glove, and rolled to the fence while Welsh pounded along to third.

O'Doul Drives in Winning Run.

Lefty O'Doul was the next batter and he ended the suspense in rapid fashion by rapping a single between first and second, Welsh scoring with the big run of the 4—3 skirmish.

The generosity of the combatants in giving each other runs was carried to the extreme. The Sox committed five errors, presenting the Giants with three runs, but the McGraw men, not to be outdone in philanthropic deeds, perpetrated a couple of bobbles that returned the three tallies with thanks.

The game was then just one of those things, with the Giants getting better pitching. Leo Mangum, making his first start of the year, yielded only one run in five innings. He was wild, but effective.

Jim Chaplin took up the burden in the sixth and fanned the side in the seventh. He also struck out Flagstead to open the eighth, making four victims in a row, and then the dam burst. Lindstrom fumbled Rogell's tough grounder and Myer singled to centre, sending him to third, Buddy going to second on the throw.

Chaplin Slumbers, Myer Scores.

While Taitt was being tossed out, Rogell scored. At which point Mr. Chaplin went into a cataleptic trance and stood transfixed, holding the ball while Myer made a clean steal of home, tying the score and making it necessary for the Giants to win the game all over again.

Hal Wiltse, the left-hander; Daniel MacFayden and one Cremins, a southpaw, were not so hot except in spots. The Giants' nine hits included doubles by Jahn and Terry and Lindstrom's triple, on which Freddy scored when Regan fumbled the relay throw.

The Sox had a man on second with two out in both the eighth and ninth, but couldn't topple Chaplin, who looked good.

Andy Cohen, suffering from a lame back, was replaced by Andy Reese. McGraw thinks Cohen needs a rest and may leave him behind here when the Giants depart Thursday. In that case Cohen would rejoin the team at Birmingham or Atlanta next week.

McGraw believes the vacation would be a good thing for Andy, who is feeling the strain of holding down a regular's job.

Barnes, Fitzsimmons and Cantwell, all of whom are slow in rounding into form, also may be left here to enjoy the good weather while the Giants trek to Chattanooga and Memphis.

Final game with the Red Sox tomorrow, and also farewell to Augusta.

Reds Expected to Slip Further; Runners-Up in 1926 Fading Fast

One of Two Clubs That Appear Headed Nowhere—Hitting Strength and Winning Spirit Lacking, While Once Crack Pitching Staff Has Aged—Loss of Donohue and Bressler Weakening.

By RICHARDS VIDMER.

Special to The New York Times.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 27.—As far as the practiced eye can see, there are just two teams in the National League which aren't going anywhere in particular this year. One of them is Cincinnati.

Two years ago the Reds finished second, only two games behind the Cardinals. Last season they dropped to fifth. This year the opinion prevails that they will continue their descent at just about the same rate.

Manager Jack Hendricks has a defense for his club, but it isn't a very good one. Mr. Hendricks points out that the Reds this year are just about the same team that finished second two seasons ago. He fails to mention that it also is just about the same club that finished fifth last year. And, it might be added, it isn't getting any better with time.

Few moves have been made during the months of idleness to add strength to the club. In fact, it looks as though the Reds have weakened themselves. For one thing they have allowed Rube Bressler, one of their few big guns in the batting order, to buy his release and pass on to Brooklyn. For another it still is problematical whether they will have the services of Pete Donohue, the ace of the pitching staff, this season.

Donohue Idle, Salary Was Cut.

It seems that in the general reconstruction, if such it may be called, the Board of Directors decided to reduce the salaries of several players in proportion to the reduction in the percentage column of the club. Pete Donohue was one of those whose salary was cut—$2,000, we are informed. Pete says he wants that $2,000 back or he won't play. The management says he won't get it, and that's the situation at present.

Epps Rixey, Carl Mays, Jakie May and Adolfo Luque must, therefore, bear the brunt of the pitching burden along with Red Lucas. Of these, Lucas is the only one who is young enough to improve with time and experience. The others are all going in the opposite direction.

The only difference in the infield at present from this time last year is that Hughie Critz isn't a hold-out. The Reds still have two pretty fair first basemen in George Kelly and Wally Pipp, but still haven't discovered a way of playing them both at the same time. Critz will be at second, Horace Ford at short and Charlie Dressen at third. Not an infield to go into hysterics over at best, though it might bring about that emotion at worst.

Clarke Pittinger, left over from last year, will act as an infield replacement, while Jack White, former star Fordham shortstop, also will be kept. Mr. Hendricks was very enthusiastic about the ability of the young collegian, but then Mr. Hendricks hasn't much at hand with which to compare his qualities.

With Bressler gone from the outfield, Bill Zitzmann will step in and do regular outfield duty, along with Ethan Allen and Curt Walker. Zitzmann has been serving as a reserve for several seasons and finds himself a regular for the first time at the mature age of 30.

Nice things are said about Everett Purdy, the youngster from Seattle who finished up with the Reds last year and hit for something like .360 in eighteen games, but he still has to prove himself over a longer stretch before the regulars will be asked to move out of their regular positions. Martin Callaghan, another importation, will be the other reserve outfielder.

Besides their other shortcomings, the Reds lack two things, hitting power and the will to win. The hitting power is a physical thing that shows no indications of being overcome, at least not with the present line-up. The will to win is a spiritual quality that may be developed.

Our impressions, however, are that the players have been together so long without getting anywhere that they feel they never will reach the heights. In addition, the wholesale cutting of salaries during the Winter hasn't made them any too ambitious to exert themselves.

Hendricks Likes Pitching Staff.

Hendricks points to his pitching staff with pride and makes a grand gesture to indicate that it is the best in the league. So it was two or three years ago, but not now. Rixey, Mayes and Luque have added years to their aged arms. Mays isn't a kid any longer—in fact, he is 30. Donohue hasn't signed. It looks like a long, hard year for Red Lucas. A real star in a constellation of tinsel ones.

The first division is Manager Hendricks's ambition. We have tried algebraic progression, calculus, logarithms and every other known means of mathematical science to figure a way whereby we might agree with him. It's no use.

Only by the process of elimination can the Reds finish in the select circle. Those who must be eliminated are the Pirates, Cards, Cubs, Giants, Braves and Robins. Which, according to this far-off estimation, would land the gentlemen from Cincinnati just one jump ahead of the Phillies, and every one knows where the Phillies will land.

ROBINS GET LESSON ON INSIDE BASEBALL

Novel Infield Schooling Is Conducted Under Tutorship of Dave Bancroft.

SQUAD DRILLS AT HITTING

Thumps Ball While Manager Robinson Checks Work of Hurlers—Play Braves Today.

By JOHN DREBINGER.

Special to The New York Times.

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., March 27.—The Robins occupied their time on this glorious day in diligent study and practice of defensive manoeuvres, and if any one doesn't see something decidedly significant in this he hasn't been following the fortunes of the Robins very closely the past few years.

Indeed, it is not stretching a point to say that careful thought and execution of higher tactics is something decidedly new for the Robins in modern times. A year ago it wasn't even given a tumble, for the simple reason that at that time Uncle Wilbert Robinson felt himself reasonably compensated if his four infielders stopped balls batted at them and threw them back with a fair amount of accuracy, without weighing his hopefuls down with matter that savored of "inside stuff."

This Spring, however, a great change has come over the Robins and they really are studying baseball in a serious way. For not only has Uncle Robbie an infield combination that can apparently take care of the mechanical tricks with a baseball, such as picking it up and throwing it away, but one that seems capable of grasping fully the finer points of the game when they are pointed out to them.

Bancroft Lectures Class.

In other words, Uncle Robbie seems to have at his disposal four infielders and two extras who appear to know what it is all about; to whom fundamentals are merely secondary. And if that isn't progress then the word has lost its meaning.

More than that, Uncle Robbie has stationed at one of the infield posts a man who not only can do all these inside things with the skilled hand of the master, but can invent a few himself. In fact this man, Dave Bancroft by name, still can give most of the infielders in the business all the trumps and all the aces and still show them something they never saw before.

And so it came to pass that on this day the Robins took on the color of a varsity eleven grooming itself for its final big game of the year. There was skull practice, dummy scrimmage and what not, with Banny supervising the work and Uncle Robbie looking on with an appraising eye.

It would, of course, be a rank violation of camp secrets to divulge the nature of the plays devised by the revived artful Dodgers. However, it can be said the Robins looked mighty smart as they pranced through their manoeuvres, even if what they tried today doesn't pan out as expected when worked on somebody else.

The double and delayed steal and ways and means for breaking up this ever-annoying attacking move came in for serious consideration. Schemes for trapping unwary base runners off third also were carefully plotted and rehearsed until the boys had their stunts down so fine they were able to do most of them backward.

The regular infield line-up of Bissonette, Riconda, Bancroft and Freigau took part in most of the major operations, with Flowers and Partridge looking on and then breaking in later to take an actual hand themselves.

In addition to all this, Robbie also put the entire squad through a long siege of batting practice, during which he made careful note on the condition of his pitchers, nearly all of whom had a fling at throwing them up.

To Meet Braves.

As the time draws near for the Flock to head northward, speculation continues to grow as to what Robbie's final pitching staff will be. In addition to the seven first stringers, Vance, Petty, Doak, McWeeny, Elliott, Clark and Ehrhardt, the Brooklyn chieftain also still has Lou Koupal, Ropp, Rauch and Lefty Williams. The latter, by far the handsomest man on the squad, is pretty certain to be kept, though not necessarily because of his good looks. Lefty has lots of stuff on the ball and it is confidently expected that it will get him by.

Tomorrow the Robbins will swing back into action, opening a four-game series with the Braves. The first two games, tomorrow and Thursday, will be played in Miami, and the last two will be staged here Friday and Saturday.

BAN JOHNSON ON COAST.

Will Take Rest Cure in San Diego in Hope of Regaining Health.

SAN DIEGO, Cal., March 27 (AP).—Byron Bancroft Johnson, former head of the American League, was here today to rest and to attempt a recovery from the illness which compelled his retirement from baseball. He is visiting his brother, W. R. Johnson. He is accompanied by a dietitian.

Johnson expressed a desire to remain in quiet for a time. On the way West he remained for fourteen weeks in a hospital at St. Louis.

FUGAZY COMPLETES MATCH.

Brooklyn Promoter Has Godfrey and Hansen in Line for May 2 or 9.

Promoter Humbert Fugazy announced yesterday he had practically completed negotiations for a heavyweight battle between George Godfrey and Knute Hansen, to be held in Ebbets Field, May 2 or 9. Contradicting the expectation that Fugazy will have exclusive boxing privileges at Ebbets Field this Summer, however, came the information that Dave Driscoll, boxing director in the Brooklyn ballyard, plans a Jack Sharkey-Jack Delaney clash there on May 9.

PARTY FOR HUGGINS SPOILED BY YANKS

Celebration of Mite Manager's 48th Birthday Marked by Reds' Victory, 6-4.

BIG PUNCH IS LACKING

Fall on Rixey, Then Wilt Before Luque—Coveleskie Blanks the Enemy in Four Innings.

Special to The New York Times.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 27.—Miller Huggins celebrated his forty-eighth birthday today, but that's about all. Certainly there was nothing about the way the Yankees lost to the Cincinnati Reds worth celebrating.

In fact when the Reds beat anybody in these days its time to get serious. The Yanks laughed loudly when they were bowled over by the Braves. They smiled complacently when they were stamped on by the Cards, but when the Reds kicked them around this afternoon, 6 to 4, there wasn't even a sheepish grin visible.

The punch was lacking, the pitching was spotty and the fielding wasn't fast enough to make traffic signals necessary. When one realizes that the Reds just finished dropping two games to Indianapolis and seemed jubilant over the fact that they scored in each of these contests, it couldn't have made Mr. Huggins's birthday any more pleasant.

The well-known Yanks started off like all they claim to be—champions of the world. They hammered Epps Jeptha Rixey, who is a pitcher and not a college cheer, for two runs in the first inning and two more in the fifth. Then Señor Adolfo Luque stepped in and checked them like a red flag halts the Twentieth Century Limited.

Coveleskie Shows Form.

When Combs led off with a double, when Koenig followed with a triple and Babe Ruth hit one to the screen that was caught but went for a sacrifice fly, the Yanks looked like the Yanks. When old Stanley Coveleski shut out the Reds for four innings, allowing a maximum of three hits, the Yanks looked like sure winners, but from then on they looked like an eighth place club playing the last four games of the season. Nothing more.

Henry Johnson succeeded the venerable Mr. Coveleskie, and what he did to a gaudily-pitched ball game isn't worth printing. He allowed only three hits in the three innings he toiled, but that was mostly an accident. Mr. Johnson seemed determined to keep the ball completely out of reach as much as possible.

He walked three men in the sixth inning and three men scored, singles being inserted by Purdy and Critz. He walked two more in the seventh and two men scored, Callaghan injecting a single at a timely moment. That was all for Mr. Johnson. It also was all of the ball game. Al Shealey pitched the last two innings and burlesqued Johnson's performance by passing two in the ninth, one of whom scored; but that didn't matter. The Yanks couldn't make any runs off Luque anyway.

Altogether it was a listless, lingering, long drawn out ball game at best, and it was seldom at its best. When a local Rotarian shook Mr. Huggins by the hand tonight and in his most cheery manner wished the mite manager "many happy returns of the day," it took three men and a derrick to get the fire axe out of Huggins's hands.

Collins Exercises His Arm.

Among the admirable gestures of the Yanks was a peg to second by Pat Collins in the ninth. Purdy was on third, Kelly on first. They started a double steal and Pat broke it up by heaving the ball to the banks of Tampa Bay.

After his second hit Gehrig was caught admiring the sunset off first base. Then Kelly hit him in the head with the ball and let him escape.

The ball game wasn't all the Yankees lost. A couple of second basemen also were hurled into the discard, at least temporarily. Lazzeri twisted his side swinging at a wild pitch and Robertson twisted his ankle when he descended from his ascent after Collins's heave in the ninth.

Speaking of second basemen, Hughie Critz performed such miracles that the Yanks were trying to talk Clarence Darrow into starting criminal action against the Reds' keystoner. He did everything but pull the ball out of his ear.

The Yanks have played their last game against a major league club until they reach New York, which, perhaps, is just as well. They won one and lost seven. Tomorrow they start in on the Buffalo Bisons.

Baseball Season Draws Near; Giants Set Opening Day Sale

GEORGETOWN DOWNS SPRINGFIELD BY 9-5

RALLY IN NINTH FAILS

Losers Muster Four Tallies In Closing Frame, but Can't Overtake Rivals.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 27.—Georgetown took its second game from the Springfield College nine by a 9-to-5 score here today. The game was a tight one until the last of the sixth, when Georgetown collected four tallies.

In the ninth Springfield came back with a rally headed by three pinch hitters. Wagner walked, Gustafson was out, Yost was safe on an error, Davis followed with his second home run of the series. Two singles and a pass netted one more run. Fogarty and Dunn were the big guns for the home team. Fogarty pitched a good game and made three hits. Hooper hurled a good game for Springfield.

Rangers Take 4 to 0 Lead Over Pirates as Play-Off Opens

PIRATES CONQUERED BY RANGERS, 4 TO 0

New York Sextet Takes Lead in Play-Off Opener Before 10,000 at Garden.

STARTS AT WHIRLWIND CLIP

Terrific Attack Thrice Sends Disk Into Pittsburgh Goal in Opening Period.

BOUCHER BEGINS SCORING

Bun Cook and Gray Then Tally—Johnson Makes Final Point—Worters Under Heavy Fire.

By SEABURY LAWRENCE.

That old line about the Pirates walking the plank may be used this morning advisedly—and without any fear of contradiction. In the first game of the preliminary play-offs in the Stanley Cup series at Madison Square Garden last night the New York Rangers skated rings around the bold Buccaneers from Pittsburgh, shutting them out by 4-0, before a crowd of 10,000 hockey fans.

As this opening series of two games is a total goal proposition, the neat trimming handed to the Pirates by the Rangers last night gives the local sextet a decided edge on the proceedings. The second game in the local playoff will be etad at thearGde local playoff will be contested at the Garden tomorrow night.

The Rangers were so far superior to the Pirates in last night's game that there was no comparison between the teams. The Rangers played cleverly both on attack and defense and were moving at high tension all through the game. The local experts looked like championship material last night and their efforts easily dimmed whatever brilliance the Pirates may have possessed.

The Rangers had a blazing first period when they scored three goals and thereafter simply galloped along in front, never being in the slightest danger. One of the best things they did was to break up enemy attacks at centre ice and whenever the Pirate attackers broke through the middle zone they found a sturdy and clever defense waiting for them.

Boucher Counts on Lone Dash.

Frank Boucher, Ranger centre, whose play sparkled all through the game, was the opening scorer for the Rangers, counting on an individual dash four minutes after play started. Then Bun Cook took a pass from Brother Bill to beat Worters for the second Ranger goal, while Alex Gray, substitute centre, crashed through in the third count of the opening period.

Ching Johnson, once more a power both on defense and attack, scored the fourth goal on a pass from Boucher soon after the second period opened. There was no scoring in third period.

Although the Rangers did beat him four times, Worters, in the Pittsburgh net, played a really great game and but for his fine exhibition the score would have been much higher against him. Worters had 38 stops for the game, against 36 for Chabot in the Ranger net, who also performed cleverly.

With a lead of four goals in the opening game the Rangers are a decided favorite to meet the Boston Bruins in the American Division final play-off, which is also a two-game series, following the present one.

Last night's game was very cleanly played for the most part, only nine penalties being imposed by the referees during the action.

The Rangers started at a whirlwind clip and in less than two minutes after the opening whistle Frank Boucher, their frisky centre, netted the disk, following a heavy charge by Bill and Bun Cook. The crowd let out an exultant whoop and then groaned as the referee called the play back, Bill Cook having been offside.

Rangers Attack Fiercely.

Cotton and Miliks slipped through for shots on Chabot, but the Ranger goalie flipped the disk away and then the local attack blazed fiercely again. Boucher had been doing some clever poke-checking to break up the Buccaneer attacks at centre ice and suddenly the little Ranger centre stepped right through the Pirate defense to whip the disk past Worters for the first goal of the post-season series.

This one was fair enough and a very clever play, the time being 4:13. The Ranger attack did not let down after this but the Pirate defense stiffened.

The Ranger second line, Gray, Murdock and Thompson, came on to relieve the Cooks and Boucher, and the youngsters were cheered for well-executed attacks. Gray and Murdock missed close ones.

McKinnon, Pirates' defense man, and Thompson, Ranger forward, were benched practically at the same time, but neither side could ring the bell while each team was a man short. The Ranger regulars came back to the fray and commenced to swarm through on Worters. Bill Cook, making a brilliant dash down the right wing, passed to Brother Bun, who made a circus shot from close up and the disk eluded Worters.

Bun Cook's goal was registered in 14:36. The regulars took a rest and the second-string forwards came out to have Alex Gray sweep in the third Ranger tally of the period in 18:34.

Chabot Stops Pirate Rushes.

The Pirates came down heavily after this but could not beat Chabot and the first period ended with the count—Rangers 3, Pirates 0. The stops for the goalkeepers were—Chabot 15, Worters 12.

Boucher, with his clever dodging runs, soon swept through to the defense again and whipped a pass to Johnson, thundering along behind. Ching came up close and easily beat Worters in 4:21, making the count—Rangers 4, Pirates 0.

Thompson and Bill Cook were sent off for roughing, but Thompson got back before any damage was done. There was a heavy drive around the Ranger net by White, McCurdy and McCaffery blazed in. Chabot was on his knees to make a brilliant save on McCaffery and then Callighen, subbing for Johnson, took it back to the other end.

Patsy fired a long low one at Worters which was fended off. The Ranger second-stringers again skated brilliantly, Murdock being in excellent form, but he could not add another one, and the second session ended with the tally still—Rangers 4, Pirates 0.

The stops for the goalies, Chabot and Worters, in this period, were nine each.

Bun Cook Thrills Crowd.

Bun Cook gave the crowd some thrills at the opening of the third period with sizzling solo dashes down the wings. On one of these sallies, a back-hand sweep almost beat Worters, shooting across the goal mouth.

Boucher was again brilliantly checking at centre ice and soon flashed through the defense only to have Worters make a spectacular save. Boucher crashed into the net support but was not hurt badly. He got a big hand as Gray came on to relieve him.

Chabot saved cleverly on Burke, and Worters was on his knees to clear a shot by Bun Cook. Worters repeated this performance as Cook and Boucher came crashing down together. The little goalie got a big cheer after the bombardment.

Worters was flat on the ice to stave off a plunge by Ching Johnson in the closing minutes of play and the final tally was—Rangers 4, Pirates 0. Worters had seventeen stops in the third period and Chabot eleven.

Special to The New York Times.

BOSTON, March 27.—The Quebec Beavers came from behind with little more than a minute left to play to tie in the first Canadian-American semi-final play-off game with the Boston Tigers, 2 to 2, in the Arena tonight.

The Beavers scored first, McVicar tallying in 4:45 of the opening period. The Tigers came back strongly in the second period, however, to score twice.

Maroons and Senators Battle Through Fiercely Contested Play-Off Game.

LAMB GETS THE ONLY GOAL

Drives Disk Into Net After Nine Minutes of Fighting in Third Period.

By The Associated Press.

OTTAWA, Ontario, March 27.—The Montreal Maroons took away with them a one-goal lead in the first game of the National Hockey League play-offs here tonight against the Ottawa Senators when Lamb got the only counter of the evening. The game was a typical Maroon-Senator clash, with close checking, but not unduly rough. Lamb's goal came in the second period when he eluded the Senator defense.

About 8,000 ardent fans jammed the auditorium for the contest, including Lord Willingdon and the accompanying viceregal party.

In the second period, with Munro of Ottawa in the penalty box, Lamb breezed through the Ottawa backs to accept Phillips's pass and shoot the disk into the cage with a high backhander in 9:05.

The final game between the teams will be staged in Montreal Thursday night, the sextet scoring the greatest number of goals for the two contests advancing into another play-off with the Montreal Canadiens, the leaders in the international group.

Finnigan went in close on a lone effort just at the start of the game, and Siebert relieved to split the Ottawa backs for a waist-high drive on Connell. The Senator net man came out to save, and in the ensuing melee Siebert was tagged with the game's first penalty for what appeared to be an attempt by him to kick Clancy. Munro and Phillips relieved Ward and Smith at mid-session and Dunc pierced menacingly, Clancy stopping him when he was clear through, ready to shoot.

Finnigan bounced another swift shot for the net on Kilrea's long pass. Phillips dropped a long one on the local citadel and Finnigan squirmed in again for Kilrea's pass. His short drive almost got in. Phillips was chased for bodying Nighbor viciously, and he had just returned to the ice when Stewart drew a minor penalty for jumping into Alex Smith. While short-handed, the visitors played a tight defense to hold the Senator chargers at bay.

Both Teams Check Hard.

Ward had the first shot of the middle frame, a long one that was easy to handle. The titleholders were brandishing a reckless passing combination, Kilrea and Finnigan had shots after accepting passes. Hard checking and heavy bodying by both teams produced nothing but a series of long, ineffective shots for the next five minutes of play.

When the Ottawa ranks were diminished, with Nighbor in the bastile for tripping, the Maroons set up a bombardment on the Ottawa net with shots by Phillips, Stewart and Lamb. The Montreal subs were being used plentifully.

With Munro in the penalty box, the Maroons drove a two-man effort that brought the lone goal when Lamb breezed through the Ottawa backs to accept Phillips's passout and score with a high back-hander, in 9:05.

Alex Smith was robbed of a tying counter through the wizardry of Benedict's net-tending. The lanky Ottawa back crashed right in on top of the Maroon goalie and had him prostrate on the ice, but when Smith scooped the disk into the air Benedict reached up to make a perfect catch.

Kilrea and Finnigan were engineering trip-hammer rushes into Maroon territory, only to be continually bottled by the defense. Siebert's shot from centre ice was a corker. The bell saw both teams playing the fastest and best hockey of the contest up to this time.

Connell Averts Goal.

On the rebound of Ward's long drive Stewart rifled a cross shot that Connell juggled in saving at the opening of the third stanza. Boucher went through the Maroon ranks all alone for a high one on Benny. Finnigan paraded off with a minor for tripping and the Maroons trained their heavy guns on the Ottawa citadel. Connell had stiff shots from Stewart, Smith and Ward in rapid succession. Then Ward went through on a solo that tricked all the Senators but Connell, who made a pretty save.

Finnigan returned to give Benedict a pair of close calls, and Munro relieved for a bounding shot. Kilrea had to be replaced by Alex Smith after a collision with Dutton.

Ten minutes from the end Gerard's men were playing a canny defensive game. With the start of every Senator rush the Maroons all drew back behind their blue line, set to absorb the charge. Phillips took Lamb's pass for a hard shot that barely left the ice. Grosvenor and Finnigan gave Benedict long ones to handle. Ward went right down centre ice and his high drive was a close call.

The final bell found Stewart dropping a long one on Connell from centre ice.

Filled with business, Paddock will have little or no time for track work for the next couple of days, but will get in several workouts before he leaves town. The man who has been a member of two American Olympic teams and aspires to a third took up his temporary residence at the New York Athletic Club, which now houses about the greatest collection of sprinters in the country.

Among the Winged Foot sprinters are Jackson Scholz, Olympic 200-meter champion; Roland Locke, who has run the 220 yards faster than Paddock's accepted world's record; Frank Hussey, who recently set a new indoor world's seventy-yard record, and others. Paddock's most recent performances were that of setting a new world's mark for 140 yards, breaking his own time, and then coming back a day or two later and again lowering the same record.

The arrival of Paddock in the East was simultaneous with a statement from Boston over the long-distance telephone that Jack Ryder would accept the Olympic coaching position to which he recently was appointed and that he would solidly back the program of Head Coach Lawson Robertson. By this statement Ryder of Boston wished to spike rumors that he and Robertson were in disagreement over the date on which Lloyd Hahn would sail for the Olympic games, assuming that he becomes a member of the team.

Sailing Date Not an Issue.

It is no secret that Robertson wishes all athletes to sail together on the President Roosevelt on July 11. On the other hand, Ryder has several times stated that he thought Hahn ought to go over earlier than this in order to better train himself.

Ryder said last night that the sailing date of Hahn would not become an issue and that if in the judgment of Robertson and others it was best for the general interest of the team to sail in a body he would agree. He promised his hearty support to all of Robertson's plans and gave it as his opinion that Hahn could condition himself for victorious races by intensive training in Holland even if he did sail on July 11.

The arrival of Paddock again calls attention to the sprinter who has been dubbed the "fastest human" with considerable justification. Considered a veteran in experience so far as championship competition is concerned, Paddock is evidently in good form and capable of fine performances. While one of his record-breaking performances in Texas was made with the air of a high wind, the fact that he later made faster time is a striking testimonial.

Paddock in Fine Shape.

Further proof of Paddock's condition is afforded by the fact that he recently defeated Charley Borah on the Coast. Borah went undefeated last year except for the national 100-yard championship, yet Paddock defeated him decisively. Borah's times in races last season have been within fractions of seconds of world's records and he was being groomed as the successor of Paddock. Now Paddock seems to have resumed his old sway.

A poor indoor campaigner, Paddock was unwilling to come East for the recent indoor season. He has run indoors only seldom and then with little success. There is little opportunity in the restricted indoor spaces for Paddock's great leaping finish, for which he is noted. The indoor game is rather for the fast starter and the man who can slow down quickly after the finish.

If Paddock gains a place on the 1928 Olympic team he will be the first sprinter to win a berth on three Olympic teams. Many field event men have succeeded in spanning several Olympics, but no sprinter has accomplished that feat. Paddock showed but poorly in the 1924 tryouts and even in the 1924 competition. Following his return from Europe and a round-the-world junket, he was considered to have passed his prime. The intensive training which he plans to undergo for the coming Olympics and the recent performances on the Coast and in Texas would seem to indicate that he is far from the retirement that many have predicted for him.

OUTBOARD BOAT IN TEST.

New Type Motor to Be Used in Attempt on Distance Mark.

DULUTH, Minn., March 27.—A new type of outboard motor, known as the Elto Quad and capable of attaining a speed of more than thirty-five miles per hour, will be used this Summer in an attempt to make the longest non-stop outboard motor speed run ever tried. The trial will be made on Lake Superior, on a course that runs from Duluth to Grand Marais, Minn. The distance is 108 miles, and Bruce N. Davis, who will make the test, expects to negotiate the course in less than three hours.

SPAIN TO WELCOME U. S. YACHT RACERS

TO LAVISH HOSPITALITY

Dinners, Fetes, Bull Fights and Horse Races Among Entertainments Planned for Americans.

Copyright, 1928, by The New York Times Company. Special Cables to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

SANTANDER, Spain, March 27.—A rousing welcome, with everything arranged for giving the visiting Americans a luxuriously good time while in Spain, is already in preparation at Santander for the climax of the New York-to-Santander ocean yacht race this year.

The King and all of Spain's sportsmen and yachtsmen are showing vital interest in making the event one of the greatest in Spanish sporting history and the Government is cooperating in every way with the yachtsmen toward this end.

The Government has donated a large building facing the main pier, which is now being transformed into a sumptuous clubhouse for the reception of the American yachtsmen, with comfortable suites of living quarters, lounges, clubrooms, dining rooms and bar salons. The Americans will live in this club building during their stay, with the best of accommodations. The club will also provide headquarters for the events of the big regatta scheduled after the arrival of the transatlantic racers.

Other events on the program, which was endorsed by the Reception Committee at its first meeting held yesterday in Madrid, include varied entertainments, such as bull fights, horse races and local fetes to be organized in different towns along the coast from Balbao to San Sebastian in honor of the American visitors. The King and Queen will give a dinner for the sportsmen, with the winners to be seated at their right hand.

All participants in the race to reach Santander will receive trophies and in addition a great number of gifts of products of Spanish factories, which will be presented as souvenirs of Spain. The King, yacht clubs and various sporting associations are all offering magnificent prizes.

The Presidents of all the Spanish yacht clubs are cooperating in efforts to give the Americans an agreeable impression of Spanish hospitality and the population of the Santander district is enthusiastic over the race. Besides the Minister of Marine, Admiral Cornejo, the King and Queen will come to Santander to receive the yachtsmen.

FENCERS CLUB WINS NATIONAL EPEE TITLE

With Eleven Victories Is Best in Field of Nine Despite Final Round-Robin Tie.

The Fencers Club of this city won the national épée team championship after a hard round of competition at the J. Sanford Saltus Fencing Club last night. The New York organization emerged triumphant out of a list of nine starters, which comprised the Boston A. A., the New Haven Fencers Club, the New York Athletic Club, the Fencers Club of Philadelphia, the West Point Officers, the Washington Square Fencers, the J. Sanford Saltus Fencing Club and the U. S. Army Second Corps Area team.

The Fencers Club was hard pressed in both its elimination round meetings, being forced to a score of 5—4 to beat the Saltus Club and the Boston A. A., respectively. In the final round robin, three teams, the Fencers Club, the New York A. C. and the Second Corps Area team, were listed. Each team won and lost once, so the championship was awarded on the basis of matches won.

BOYD OUT FOR 3 WEEKS.

N. Y. U. Catcher's Finger Dislocated, X-Ray Reveals.

An X-ray picture taken yesterday of Catcher Robert Boyd's finger, which was hurt in a practice game last Saturday, disclosed that there was no break of the digit but that it was dislocated. However, Boyd, the first outdoor casualty on the New York University baseball squad, will be out of the game for more than three weeks, Dr. Michael Tetelman, University physician, announced yesterday.

In the meantime, Coach Bill McCarthy is using Arthur Norton, a veteran receiver, and Frankie Focht of last year's undefeated yearling team behind the bat.

The A and B teams again played, with the A nine taking the lead in the series by winning a game in which the wind carried the ball here and there out of the reach of the fielders for extra base hits, by 6 to 5.

Blumenthal Burial Tomorrow.

The body of Max Blumenthal, noted turfman, who died last Friday at Palm Beach, is due to arrive today, accompanied by Mrs. Blumenthal and Mrs. Sam H. Harris. Funeral services will be conducted at 2 o'clock tomorrow at Campbell's Funeral Church. Dr. Nathan Krass will officiate.

Governor Smith Indicates Veto on Dog-Clipping Bill After Hearing

Governor Smith Is Interested Only in Legality of Measure Aimed Against Clipping Animals.

"BILL BEATS AROUND BUSH"

Asks Why It Does Not Prohibit Owning as Well as Showing Cropped Dogs.

CRUELTY CHARGE DENIED

Opponents Also Say Legislation Already Covers That Phase—Humane Society Head Pleads for Bill.

By HENRY R. ILSLEY.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, March 27.—Supporters of the bill which recently passed the Legislature and which would prohibit the showing of dogs with cropped ears received little consolation as a result of the public hearing on the bill before Governor Smith this afternoon in the Executive Chamber. Its opponents were correspondingly elated.

Governor Smith made it plain toward the close of the hearing that he was not interested in whether cropping is cruel, but whether the bill before him is constitutional and whether in its present form it is the best legislation that could be passed.

This hearing, so far as the evidence developed is concerned, presented little that is new. For a measure which has aroused such widespread, general interest the hearing was extremely brief—just one hour being allotted, with the time equally divided. As both sides filed briefs, the legal phases of the controversy, citing court decisions bearing on the matter, were only briefly dwelt upon in the arguments and the Governor will have an opportunity to study them at his leisure.

Proponents Read an Address.

The case for the opposition to the bill was much the better handled. There was only one argument made, one witness called and the brief filed, the whole put through convincingly and within the allotted thirty minutes. Supporters of the bill were prepared to present the testimony of fifteen witnesses. Only four were heard—three of these very briefly. Instead of shifting their plan of campaign following the opposition (according to the customary procedure in such hearings the opponents were heard first) practically all of the proponents' time was taken up by the reading of an address by Richard C. Craven of the American Humane Association.

Governor Smith made no effort to dissimulate or conceal his lack of interest in this paper. During a large part of the time it consumed, rather than listening to the speaker, he busied himself in reading apparently at random from a heap of letters on his desk. That the mass of correspondence on this subject has rather appalled him was made evident in the course of the hearing when he exclaimed that he hoped some one would use his influence to have people stop writing to him about cropping.

When the Governor was not reading these letters he was receiving suggestions from Judge Edward G. Griffin, counsel to the Governor, who occupied a chair at the latter's right elbow throughout the hearing.

After Frank F. Dole had spoken briefly in his own defense after a bitter attack by counsel for the opposition and against the practice of cropping, Dr. E. Reginald Blamey, M. R. C. V. S., spoke in behalf of the veterinarians. Then Herbert Barry started to present the legal status of the legislation for its supporters.

Calls for Direct Action.

Here the Governor literally "sat up and took notice." He said he thought the proponents were beating about the bush in attempting to change the style in dogs by legislation and asked why they didn't introduce a bill to prevent possession of dogs with cropped ears.

The clock hands pointed to the close of the hour and Mr. Barry asked for a couple of days to prepare a brief covering such points as the Governor raised. The Governor then declared the hearing closed.

The chamber was quickly emptied, the opponents departing with every evidence of satisfaction and secure in the belief that the bill was doomed at the hands of the Governor. The supporters of the bill admitted that they believed that the Governor's attitude was unfavorable to their cause and expressed themselves as extremely disappointed at the conduct of the hearing from their point of view.

It had been anticipated that there would be a great outpouring of those interested. It was surprising, therefore, that barely a hundred were in the room when the Governor appeared.

Among Those at the Hearing.

In addition to those named above there were in attendance: Dr. Norman T. Harris, Chelsea, Mass.; Dr. William H. Kelly, former chief veterinarian of New York State; P. Hamilton Goodsell, Vice President of the American Kennel Club; Theodore Crane, Samuel Koerbel, President of the New York State Convention of Societies for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children and Animals; Dr. Raymond J. Garbutt, Chief of Staff, Animal Hospital of the American S. P. C. A., New York City.

Others were: Frazer E. Carthey, Superintendent of the American S. P. C. A., New York City; Miss Mary Foubister, Secretary of the Rochester Dog Protective Association; Dr. Donald P. Taylor, Albany veterinarian; Sydney H. Coleman, President American Humane Association; Harry J. Gurley, Superintendent American Humane Association; John Britton, William Kuback, Douglas G. Hertz, Mrs. M. C. McGlone, Mrs. Dix Taylor, Charles Ludwig, John Barrett.

The company arose when the Governor entered and the latter promptly announced the business at hand. Douglas G. Hertz, Secretary of the recently formed Dog Owners' Service Bureau, which is largely representative of the eight breeds commonly cropped, conducted the case for the opponents of the bill. He stood directly in front of the Governor's desk, shot out his arguments with machine-gun rapidity and held the attention of the Executive throughout.

He devoted his attention principally to the constitutional phases of the subject, declaring the bill would not stand the test of the courts. The opposition said this legislation does not help the dog and cannot be supported on the grounds that it comes within the police power of the State as to health, morals or the public safety.

Denies Cropping Is Cruel.

He maintained that the cropping of a dog is not cruel when properly done. He admitted that some croppers practice great cruelty and he would be glad to have them driven out of business. He claimed that the bill is aimed at particular breeds and while it would prevent exhibition in a regular dog show, it does not prevent cropped dogs from being owned, nor from being shown on the stage in a circus or other public places.

Mr. Hertz charged that persons in great numbers, who make a living out of breeding and selling dogs would be driven out of business if the bill became a law. He was caustic in questioning the motives of the proponents and bitter in invective against individuals. He cited the vote of the delegates to the meet of the American Kennel Club against the proposition to ban cropping.

He opposed the bill because he believed it unconstitutional, because there already is a law which prohibits cruelty and because the delegates to the A. K. C. had refused to ban the practice.

John Britton, a breeder of bull terriers, spoke briefly, stating that the signing of the bill would ruin the breed. Mr. Hertz filed his brief and concluded his case.

Outlines the Cropping Movement.

Richard C. Craven of the American Humane Association of Albany was the first witness for the bill, reading a long prepared statement, which failed to hold the Governor's interest. He outlined the start of the movement against cropping, noting the many veterinary associations which have gone on record against the practice. He offered petitions signed by more than 25,000 persons against cropping, together with excerpts from editorials in leading newspapers condemning the practice.

Mr. Craven stated that while the opposition came largely from the clubs supporting breeds which were cropped, this opposition is not unanimous among their members. He believed that the law would not wipe out any breeds and presented figures showing cropped breeds in England increased in numbers registered after cropping was prohibited.

He cited many cases of extreme cruelty resulting from cropping and called the Governor's attention to the letters that have been written to him by men and women out of their love of justice. It was here that the Governor expressed the hope that the letter writers would give him a rest.

Then Herbert Barry took up the legal side of the argument. He was often interrupted by the Governor, who asked how the courts will look upon the proposal to prohibit the exhibition of a cropped dog when possession is not prohibition. He said that the exercise of the police power of the State is for the protection of the public, health, morals and welfare. 'Is a bill right that goes only part of the way?" he asked.

Has Had Many Dogs.

"I can come into the possession of a dog with cropped ears and am within the law," continued the Governor, "but I cannot show him under the proposed law. Let us look up the other alley. I can show my cropped dog on Fifth Avenue and on Broadway before 25,000 people; how much greater is the enormity of that than in showing him before 5,000 in Madison Square Garden?

"I've had long-eared and short-eared dogs—I have seven now and have had seventy and don't know where they came from or whether they had cropped ears. You've got to be careful when you try to change styles by law. I'm not so very much concerned about the cruelty of cropping as about the constitutionality of this law. Why didn't you introduce a bill to prevent possession? I think you are beating around a bush in trying to change a style."

Aiken Colonists Favor Bill.

Special to The New York Times.

AIKEN, S. C., March 27.—The cottage colony is much interested in having Governor Smith sign the bill against the cropping of dogs' ears. Headed by Devereux Milburn, the recently injured uoloist, nearly every member of the Winter colony signed petition requesting Governor Smith to sign the bill.

BRUSSELL WINS WITH CUE.

De Oro Jr. Also Victor in National Amateur 3-Cushion Play.

Alfred De Oro Jr. and I. Brussell were the winners in the games played last night in the national amateur three-cushion billiards championship tournament at Dwyer's Broadway Academy. De Oro defeated E. Lucksinger, 50 to 16, in 66 innings, making a high run of 5 to one of 3 for his opponent. Brussell triumphed over S. Wendrow, 50 to 35, after ninety-seven innings of play. The high runs were 4 for Brussell and 2 for Wendrow.

Harmon Defeats Nevins.

Charles Harmon, meeting all-comers at Dwyer's John Street Academy, defeated J. Nevins at pocket billiards yesterday, 75 to 20, in eleven innings. Harmon's high run was 20 and Nevins's 12.

Guy McKinney Not to Train For Record; Injuries Feared

HANOVER, Pa., March 27.—Guy McKinney, the world's fastest living trotting stallion, will not be placed in training this year to try for a new record, it was announced today by L. B. Sheppard of the Hanover Shoe Farms, his owner.

"Judging from his first foals, Guy McKinney's future as a sire is so bright that it would be foolhardy to train him and take the risk of something happening to him," said Mr. Sheppard today.

29 ZIEGLER HORSES ARRIVE AT BELMONT

Trainer Spiers Accompanies the String, Mostly Two-Year-Olds, From Aiken, S. C.

WORKOUTS AGAIN HINDERED

High Wind Prevents Any Fast Stepping—Johnson's Racers, Including Brown Bud, Due This Week.

The stable of William Ziegler Jr. moved into quarters at Belmont Park yesterday. The string consisted of twenty-nine head, mostly two-year-olds, but there are at least half a dozen other horses in the stable due to arrive at a later date. Trainer W. J. Spiers was in charge of the string, which was shipped from Aiken, S. C. According to Spiers the horses have been worked all Winter and are in good shape.

All of the horses shipped well and will get a day or two of rest before being worked very extensively. Mack Garner, contract jockey for the stable, will be on the job at once to help work the horses.

The high wind that swept over Belmont Park yesterday limited the horsemen in their conditioning work. There were no fast works, a few horses doing a half in around 0:53, but no real stepping. The training at the Westchester Association's course has been greatly curtailed in the past few days because of one condition or another. Monday it was a low-hanging fog. Yesterday it was a biting wind that stung to the marrow.

Preparing Johnson's Quarters.

Frederick Johnson's horses are expected to reach Belmont Park this week. Stable hands were busy yesterday bedding down the stalls and getting things ship-shape. Among the Johnson horses coming is Brown Bud. Brown Bud is said to have wintered in grand shape.

The Rancocas Stable also is preparing to advance upon Long Island. While no direct word has yet come from Trainer Sam Hildreth, it was obvious from the hustle and bustle around the Rancocas barn at Belmont that something was in the air. It is not expected, however, that Hildreth will move in until early next week.

Starter Mars Cassidy is busy getting his new starting plans in operation. At Belmont Park, Aqueduct and Jamaica every morning there are sessions for schooling horses to the new walk-up start.

According to the trainers, most of whom also are schooling their horses at the barriers on their own account, the walk-up start is going to be a good thing, but it is not going to be such a boon to some of the jockeys as one might think.

"No matter how you start horses," declared Trainer Jim Fitzsimmons, "the smart and alert jockey is going to have a bit the best of it. The smart fellow is always at an advantage in any sport."

To Sell E. F. Whitney Horses.

One of the interesting events scheduled to take place during the Pimlico meeting will be the dispersal sale of fifteen thoroughbreds belonging to the estate of the late Edward F. Whitney. One of these will be the seven-year-old son of Sir Martin and Sweet Briar, Joy Smoke.

Joy Smoke has put in five hard campaigns of racing and still he is sound of limb and wind and has a lot of good races left in his courageous old frame. He went to the races ninety-eight times in five years and accounted for twenty-six victories, finished second twenty-seven times and third fifteen times, which is a mighty good record. Incidentally, he brought his total winnings in that period up to $100,045.

Now it seems as if Joy Smoke is destined to be a jumper. According to as good an authority on the subject as Jervis Spencer, a member of the Maryland Racing Commission, Joy Smoke is the ideal type for a steeplechaser. Spec Crawford also has pronounced him of the right type and in private demonstrations Joy Smoke has shown that he is a good jumper.

Billy Barton Shows Form in Workout; Finds Some Supporters at 20 and 25 to 1

LONDON, March 27 (AP).—Betting fans were still nibbling today at the American-owned Billy Barton for the Grand National steeplechase on Friday. The odds were 25 to 1 in some quarters and 20 to 1 in others.

His jumping ability was lauded by Matt Holden, the horse's American trainer, who arrived at Liverpool with a party of racing enthusiasts on the steamship Baltic. Holden said he thought Billy Barton ought to have a good chance to win.

The latest training reports from Wiltshire say that the entry of Howard Bruce of Baltimore is in splendid condition. He galloped seven furlongs yesterday with other horses entered in the event.

YALE TRIO TO FACE SQUADRON A TONIGHT

HARVARD WILL SEE ACTION

Crimson, Representing Boston, Will Engage Essex Troop—Semi-Finals to Be on Saturday.

By ROBERT F. KELLEY.

Two of the teams which figured in the intercollegiate tournament, first of the national indoor championships concluded in the present series under way at Squadron A Armory, go into action again tonight. Both of the teams lost in the college tournament to the team which eventually won the title, Pennsylvania Military College, and both now have their second chance at a national crown, this time in Class B.

The teams are the Yale and Harvard varsity trios. Yale, representing the New England circuit, meets Squadron A, representing New York; and Harvard, representing Boston, plays Essex Troop, representing New Jersey. These are both first-round games that open this division of the championships. Play starts at 8:30 P. M.

This is the latest rearrangement of the Class B schedule, made necessary because of a series of defaults which upset the original list of games. Under this arrangement, the 101st Cavalry of Brooklyn goes into the final round to await the winner in the lower half, in which all of the teams playing tonight are drawn.

The semi-finals in this division will be played as one of the games on Saturday night of this week, with the final set for April 3. Saturday night also will see the first game of the open championship with the West Point Officers, built around Captain Charley Gerhardt, international army player, facing one of the Class A organizations.

Harvard, which had been regarded as favorite for the college title at the start of the tournament, will be watched with interest tonight, for the Crimson did not strike top form until the last period of its opening game with Penn Military last week. Then it scored five goals in one period against the eventual college champions, something that Yale was not able to do in its game fight for the title Saturday night, when the Blue lost by the margin of a single goal.

The line-ups tonight:

Yale (N. E.)	Squadron A (N. Y.)
1—O. M. Walley.	1—J. Fahye.
2—J. H. H. Phipps.	2—G. Young Jr.
3—F. C. Baldwin.	3—A. Koerner.
Harvard (Bos.)	Essex Troop (N. J.)
1—R. Burnett.	1—D. A. McGrath.
2—W. H. White.	2—W. Reber.
3—F. A. Clark.	3—C. M. Boycott.

COPULOS RALLIES AND PASSES HOPPE

Comes From Behind by Taking the Third Block, 72 to 40, in 59 Innings.

NOW LEADS BY 200 TO 198

Sets Pace Despite Hoppe's Victory in the Fourth Block by Score of 58 to 50.

Willie Hoppe broke even with Gus Copulos in the second day's play of their special 600-point three-cushion match at the Strand Billiard Academy yesterday, but was forced to relinquish his hold on the lead. Copulos took the lead by winning the afternoon match by a large margin, and now has 200 points, against 198 for Hoppe, in a total of 304 innings.

Copulos showed to splendid advantage in taking the afternoon block, the third of the match, requiring only 59 innings to amass 72 points, against 40 for Hoppe. The former never trailed, snaring a run of 6 on his first trip to the table, and adding convincingly with smaller clusters.

The highest run of the session was made by Copulos, who scored seven points in three separate innings. Hoppe's best run was 5, made in the forty-seventh inning. At the conclusion of the afternoon play, Copulos led in total points, 150 to 140.

In the evening block, which Hoppe won, 58 to 50, he assumed the aggressive and made eight points in the first two innings, getting 1 in the first and a high of 7 in the second. Copulos stubbornly kept pace with him, however, and in the sixteenth inning rallied and gained eight points, making the score 19 to 16 for Hoppe.

The men continued apace throughout the ensuing innings, and in the thirtieth Copulos managed to tie the score at 33 all. Hoppe drew away then and by dint of steady piling of points scored his required 50 in the 49th inning. Copulos had 49 at this stage, but was forced to see Hoppe add eight points to his total in the next three innings before he made his 50. The fifth and sixth blocks will be played today.

In the evening, Andrew St. Jean triumphed over Charles Harmon, 125 to 68, in nine innings. St. Jean had a high of 59 and another of 42. Harmon's best was 17.

Braun Victor Over Marcons.

Leo Braun defeated Isaac Marcons in a three-cushion billiard tournament game at the Fourteenth Street Academy last night, 35 to 33. The contest lasted seventy-five innings and the high runs were 5 for Marcons and 4 for Braun.

TWO GIRL SWIMMERS BREAK WORLD MARK

Miss Holm and Miss Lindstrom Clip 300-Meter Back-Stroke Record in Brooklyn Pool.

MISS HOLM WINS IN 4:49 4-5

Ray Ruddy Smashes Own Met. Record of 11:36 in 880-Yard Free Style, Beating Marquette in 11:06.

Miss Eleanor Holm and Miss Lisa Lindstrom of the Women's Swimming Association, 14 and 15 years of age, respectively, both clipped the world's record for 200 meters backstroke at a water carnival in the 75-foot pool of Union Temple, Brooklyn, last night.

Competing in a scratch invitation race, the two girl stars drew away rapidly from the field and after covering the centre course neck and neck, thrashed to the line less than one yard apart, Miss Holm gaining first place in 4:49 2-5, and Miss Lindstrom finishing second in 4:49 4-5. The international record stands at 4:53, having been established by Miss Sybil Bauer at St. Augustine, Fla., two years ago.

Raymond Ruddy, 16-year-old star of the New York A. C., won decisively an 880-yard free style handicap, incidentally breaking the metropolitan record. Starting from scratch, he gradually overtook three opponents, then went across the line in 11:06, as against his own former district mark of 11:36. His fellow-clubman, William Marquette, allowed 25 seconds, was the runner-up, ten yards behind Ruddy.

A 100-yard free style sprint, the Union Temple Special, brought to the line a quartet of aces and proved a stirring contest. James Bronson, formerly of Yale, now swimming unattached, set the pace up to the 75-yard mark, but on the home stretch George Fissler of the New York A. C. came up from behind, passed Bronson and won by an arm's length in 0:54 3-5.

William Wright of Columbia University and the New York A. C., and David Young of the latter organization, the other contenders, finished a few inches apart in order.

The summaries:

300-Meter Back Stroke Swim (Invitation)—Won by Miss Eleanor Holm, Women's S. A., New York; Miss Lisa Lindstrom, Women's S. A., New York, second; Miss Elisen O'Mara, Women's S. A., New York, third. Time—4:49 3-5. (New world's record.)

No. 3 Ranking Player Puts Out Core, 10-8, 6-3, in South Atlantic Net Tourney.

ATLANTA STAR ADVANCES

Overcomes Mooney, 7-9, 8-6, 6-2, in Upset—Doeg Extended to Beat Goldman, 8-4, 6-4.

Special to The New York Times.

AUGUSTA, Ga., March 27.—Fourteen players were left at the conclusion of today's play in the South Atlantic tennis tournament. George M. Lott Jr., No. 3 in the national ranking, and Malone Courts of Atlanta had gained the fourth round and were one bracket ahead of the remainder of the field.

Lott won his third round match from A. J. Core of Washington, D. C., 10—8, 6—3.

Courts scored an upset in the victory, his ground strokes giving him many points, when he defeated Jack Mooney of Atlanta, 7—9, 8—6, 6—2. Mooney, a former Southern champion, could not maintain the speedy pace Courts set in the final set.

Rice Advances 6—1, 6—3.

Lawrence R. Rice of the Longwood Cricket Club of Boston, won his third round bracket, eliminating Lieutenant Hedekin, 6—1, 6—3, in a second round match. Tomorrow Rice will meet Robert Baker of Augusta and the winner will meet Lott in the top brackets.

John Doeg, California star, who is seeded No. 2 here, had a struggle to defeat Manfred Goldman of New York. Doeg finally won, 6—4, 6—4, after overcoming Goldman's steady driving from deep court.

William Legwin of Augusta won over Leonard Dreyfus of New York, 6—2, 6—1, but then fell before the steady playing of Baggs of New York.

Tamio Abe, Japanese star, continued his drive toward the final by defeating Clifford Sutter of New Orleans, 6—3, 2—6, 6—1. Sutter offered stubborn resistance, but Abe proved the steadier.

Miss Francis Plays Well.

Miss Alice Francis of New York, seeded No. 1 in the women's singles, outplayed her first-round opponent, Mrs. Amee Benton of Boston, winning, 6—0, 6—1. Miss Francis played excellent tennis and kept her opponent on the defensive throughout.

Miss Elsie Jester of Augusta defeated Miss Thelma Tipson of Long Island, 6—4, 6—3, in a hard-fought match.

JACOBS BEATS GANLEY IN SQUASH TOURNEY

Pretty Exhibition of Block-Volleying Wins for Harvard Club Star, 17-14, 15-11, 18-15.

Giving a beautiful exhibition of block-volleying, John Jacobs of the Harvard Club defeated William F. Ganley, Westchester Biltmore coach, in a world's open squash tennis championship tournament match at the Fraternity Club last night. The score was 17—14, 15—11, 18—15.

Ganley played prettier squash than he has displayed in several seasons, and his racquet work at times approached the finesse of Jacobs's, but the veteran could not maintain his leads, gained at the start of the first and third games, and was forced to bow to his rival.

In the first game Ganley led 7—3, but Jacobs pulled up to 14—10. Ganley tied at 14—all, but Jacobs won the game of three. In the second game Jacobs took the lead at the start and held it all the way. In the final game Ganley rushed into a lead of 11—3, largely on Jacobs's errors, but at this stage the Harvard Club coach settled down and got 9 points in succession.

In the only other tourney match played last night Roland Dufton of the New York Athletic Club defeated William Owens of the Princeton Club, 15—4, 15—4, 15—5. Owens started well, but after he had the score at 3—all in the first game he never had a chance.

In an exhibition match, Frank Ward of the City Athletic Club, world's champion, and Walter Kinsella of the Fraternity Club, retired champion, divided two games. Ward won the first, 15—7, after a terrific battle, but Kinsella took the second, 15—9.

Al Walker of the Shelton Club won from F. Disalvo of the Park Avenue Squash Club by default.

NORTH CAROLINA VICTOR.

Beats Duke in First Track Meet of the Season, 80 to 46.

Special to The New York Times.

CHAPEL HILL, N. C., March 27.—The University of North Carolina track squad, undefeated in a dual meet since 1922, opened its season here today with an 80-to-46 victory over Duke University.

Johnny Henderson of the victors set a new Southern record for the 2-mile run in 9 minutes 39 1-5 seconds. He took the lead after the first mile and gathered speed with each succeeding lap. He sped across the finish line twenty-five yards in front, bettering the old Southern mark by ten full seconds.

Sports of the Times

Copyright, 1928, by The New York Times Company.

FOR the sum of 10 cents, expended judiciously at a news stand in the purchase of a copy of L'Auto, one discovers that the sports situation in France is thoroughly satisfactory except in one particular. The boxing fans of La République Française suffered a great shock recently.

A young chap named Moise Bouquillon had punched a number of unimportant rivals into submission and had won the title of "champion de France poids mi-lourds." This was a great distinction, because M'sieu Georges Carpentier, the famous Orchid Man, had been "champion de France poids mi-lourds" at one time, and later Gorgeous Georges became "champion du monde poids mi-lourds." It was thought that Bouquillon was following in the footsteps of the great Carpentier and that his pugilistic exploits would redound to the credit of his native land.

But Bouquillon's manager was thoughtless enough to match his man with one George Cook, a veteran and passable heavyweight who came from Australia some years ago and who has fought here, there and everywhere without causing riots of enthusiasm among the spectators. When he appeared in this country Cook moved in his proper pugilistic sphere, which was among the second-raters.

A Bas, Bouquillon!

Cook was selected as the prospective victim of young Moise Bouquillon, and the fight followers of Paris and vicinity crowded into the Cirque de Paris to witness another triumph for the "champion de France poids mi-lourds." It was recalled that Cook had been knocked out in four rounds by Carpentier back in 1925, and it was expected that Bouquillon, following in the footsteps of his famous predecessor, would likewise use Cook as a stepping stone, or perhaps as a chopping block.

It was a pleasant program, as mapped out, but no one thought to tell Cook about it. This misguided chap so far forgot his rôle as to knock Moise Bouquillon as flat as a one-sided French pancake (crêpe) and, to complete the outrage, he did it in the fourth round, too. That was adding insult to injury. Quel malheur! This Bouquillon was not fit to carry the oriflamme into battle.

The spectators left the Cirque de Paris muttering "A bas, Bouquillon!" which was rather unnecessary since Cook had put him as "bas" as possible under the circumstances. M'sieu Moise is a temporarily ruined young man. He is no longer mentioned as the proud pugilistic guardian of the lilies of France. He no longer wears the white plume of Navarre. He was like Napoleon in only one particular: He had a terrible fall.

Conservatively Speaking.

However, France has found another hero. His name is Stéphanois Hostin, and he does something with weights and measures. Or perhaps it is weights and dumbbells. He messed around with a weight of 111 kilograms and set a new world's record for the event. L'Auto doesn't say that he juggled this weight on his nose or lifted it with his teeth, but regardless of the way in which he handled it, he caused a great sensation in the land of liberty, equality and fraternity and was hailed as a "jeune prodige français."

A French expert on weights and dumbbells predicts that M'sieu Stéphanois will win the Olympic championship at Amsterdam this Summer. The same expert says of the young hero:

"Let us salute, therefore, this rising star, who will soon shine in the firmament of sport with a marvelous brilliance, for glory already encircles his brow like an aureole."

Sounds as though he had lifted the national debt, doesn't it?

Lost in the Shuffle.

France is supreme in the tennis world at the moment, yet the tennis stars are lost in the general shuffle in their own country. Some time ago the sports followers of France were invited to vote in a popularity contest for sports idols. Lacoste finished a bad second to some bicycle rider. Cochet, Borotra and Brugnon were buried beneath football players, bike riders, cross-country runners and pilots of racing autos.

Suzanne Lenglen has dropped almost out of sight, or, as L'Action Française put it, "Chez nous, Mlle. Lenglen, qui était reine quand elle jouait pour l'honneur, n'intéresse personne depuis qu'elle a reçu les millions de M. Pyle."

If Mlle. Suzanne feels badly about it and thinks that "les millions de M. Pyle" caused this fall in popularity, doubtless Mr. Pyle will be only too glad to take his "millions" back again, with or without compound interest.

The Great Sport.

Auto racing is still a live sport in France, but road races on bicycles catch the popular fancy. The "tour de France" is the big event of the year. The riders pedal from town to town with advertising matter plastered all over their backs. One of them may be advertising a breakfast food, another a nerve tonic and another a shoe polish or a shaving soap. It's something like C. C. Pyle's transcontinental race put on wheels.

Towns fight for the honor of being stopping places for the wheelmen overnight. The race is backed, of course, by the manufacturers of bicycles, tires and cycling equipment. It's a queer sport, but the riders make plenty of money at it and the inhabitants of France seem to get an immense amount of amusement out of it every year.

There are velodromes all over France, to be sure, and there are six-day races held in many different cities, but the road races are more colorful and more interesting to the populace. Perhaps John Chapman will take the hint and put on a transcontinental bike race in this country as soon as C. C. Pyle's runners have been cleared off the roads.

WRIGHT BEATS EYRE IN TITLE TOURNEY

Wins Only Match Played as National Amateur Court Tennis Begins.

Victor Has Little Trouble Taking Opponent's Measure—Wightman-Wright Meet Today.

By ALLISON DANZIG.

William C. Wright of Philadelphia defeated E. A. Eyre of New York in the only match played yesterday in the national amateur court tennis championship as the tournament got under way at the Racquet Club in Park Avenue. Eyre was up against a much better grade of tennis than he could cope with and got only two games, yielding at 6—0, 6—1, 6—1.

The entry for the championship was rather disappointing, and of the eleven men who were listed four defaulted. George Huband of Chicago, the English titleholder, is not defending, and C. Suydam Cutting, who succeeded Jay Gould as the champion in 1926 when the Philadelphia master retired from singles competition, is not in the United States.

The outstanding competitors are Hewitt Morgan of this city, John W. Appel Jr., also of the Racquet Club; Wright, and George W. Wightman of Boston. Wright and Wightman meet this morning at 11:30 in what should be one of the best matches of the tournament, and in the only other match of the day Morgan will play A. L. Devens of Boston. Morgan reached the challenge round in 1925 and made so great a fight against Gould that he was looked upon as the logical successor to the Philadelphian. It was a big disappointment to his friends when Morgan failed to enter the championship the following year, and last season he remained out again.

Appel a Real Contender.

Appel has been practicing regularly this season and recently carried Morgan to four sets in the final of the club championship at the Racquet and Tennis Club before submitting at 2—6, 6—3, 6—2, 7—5. His game is almost half 15 better this year than it has been in the past and he must be regarded as a serious contender for the crown. He advanced two rounds into the semi-finals through defaults yesterday and is scheduled to meet the winner of the match between Morgan and Devens tomorrow at 11:30.

Two other defaults were registered yesterday. Wightman gained his second-round bracket when E. F. Pearson of New York failed to put in an appearance, and R. M. Edwards of Philadelphia defaulted to William T. Adee of Tuxedo. Adee will meet the winner of this morning's match between Wightman and Wright tomorrow at 2 o'clock in the upper semi-final. The final will be held on Saturday at 2 and the winner will take the title, since there will be no challenge round.

Eyre Makes Game Stand.

Wright is the holder of the doubles championship with Gould, succeeding Joseph W. Wear, the Chairman of the Davis committee, as the partner of the former king of the amateurs. He is one of the most promising young players in the country, though his floor game stands in need of improvement. He is a first-class volleyer, a thorough getter and his service is exceptionally good. Eyre was unable to do anything with it yesterday, the ball falling so close to the side wall that he had to scrape his racquet against it almost every time he returned service.

Wright won seven games before Eyre got one, taking the first set at love and the first game of the second set. After Eyre had won the next game Wright ran five in a row for the set and four more in the third before yielding another. Eyre made a game fight to hold off the Philadelphian, but it was a hopeless struggle from the start.

The summaries:

First Round—George W. Wightman, Boston, won from E. F. Pearson, New York, by default; William C. Wright, Philadelphia, defeated E. A. Eyre, New York, 6—0, 6—1, 6—1; John W. Appel Jr., New York, won from W. F. Robinson, Philadelphia, by default.

Second Round—William T. Adee, Tuxedo, won from R. M. Edwards, Philadelphia, by default; Appel won from C. Frothingham, Boston, by default.

American Helps Oxford Team Conquer Cambridge at Golf

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, March 27.—Oxford led Cambridge by 3 to 1 at the end of the foursomes in their annual match at Sandwich today. The happiest feature for Cambridge in a gruelling test in the strong southwester was the performance of W. C. Carr and D. C. Robertson, who went around in 75, which is better than the amateur record. They won by 13 and 12. An American, R. H. Baugh of Birmingham, partnered by G. M. Adams, scored for Oxford.

SMITH, NAVY STAR, BETTER,

Athlete, Ill in Annapolis Hospital, Likely to Survive.

Special to The New York Times.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., March 27.—Midshipman Francis S. Smith, navy athletic star, who is seriously ill at the Naval Hospital, was reported as somewhat improved today, though he still has spells of loss of memory. The attending physicians believe that he will pull through.

Smith was regular end on the football eleven, centre on the basketball five and had clinched a defense position on the lacrosse team, so that he would have won his three letters in sports this year.

MISS MILLER WINS AT LONGWOOD NET

New York Star Puts Out Miss Garrison, 6-2, 6-0, in Girls' National Singles.

MISS M. PALFREY SCORES

Vanquishes Miss Deborah Gilbert, 6-2, 6-0—Two of Nine Matches Taken by Default.

Special to The New York Times.

BROOKLINE, Mass., March 27.—Miss Charlotte Miller of New York and Miss Jean Burritt of Toronto were the only invading players to enter the second round matches for the national girls' indoor singles tennis championships at the Longwood covered courts here today.

Miss Miller, the only New York entrant in the tourney, showed amazing form and ability in disposing of Miss Faith Garrison of Brookline in straight sets, 6—2, 6—0. In the first set the New Yorker took some time to acclimate herself to the court, but in the final set she raced through, allowing her opponent only two points in the entire set.

Miss Burritt, the Toronto star, eliminated Miss Elizabeth Harding of Boston in two sets, 6—0, 6—2. In winning her opening match Miss Burritt displayed a fast serve which will bother the best in the tournament.

Miss Sarah Palfrey in Practice.

Miss Sarah Palfrey of Brookline, who won the title a year ago, and who is the top seeded player, played Miss Mary Brigham in a practice game. Miss Brigham had won her way into the second round by winning from Miss Marion Wood by default. Miss Sarah Palfrey was scheduled to play Miss Alice Farnsworth of Chestnut Hill, but the latter could not appear. The two are on the schedule for tomorrow morning.

Miss Mianne Palfrey, sister of Sarah, who is the second seeded player, won from Miss Deborah Gilbert in straight sets, 6—2, 6—0. Miss Mianne, who played in the national title play last week, was at the top of her game, although Miss Gilbert's stroke puzzled her on numerous occasions.

Miss Virginia Rice of Brookline, seeded third, won from Miss Elizabeth Hovey of Boston in straight sets without losing a single game. Miss Marjorie Sachs of Brookline, the fourth seeded player, came near to defeat in her initial match with Miss Katherine Watson of Boston.

Wins First Set Easily.

After winning the first set with ease Miss Sachs could not match the efforts of her opponent, who captured the second set after a hard battle, 6—4. Miss Sachs, however, rallied in the deciding set and trounced Miss Watson without the loss of a game.

Miss Louise Packer of Winchester played excellent tennis to vanquish Miss Amy Doval of Boston in straight sets, dropping only one game.

The doubles will begin Thursday.

The summaries:

Miss Virginia Rice defeated Miss Elizabeth Hovey, 6—0, 6—0; Miss Betty Rice defeated Miss Joanna Palfrey, 6—0, 4—6, 6—3; Miss Catherine Boden defeated Miss Fanny Romans, 6—3, 6—2; Miss Louise Packer defeated Miss Amy Doval, 6—0, 6—1; Miss Mary Brigham won from Miss Marian Wood by default; Miss Mary Lee Hutchins defeated Miss Louise Harding, 6—3, 6—3; Miss Marjorie Sachs defeated Miss Katherine Watson, 6—1, 4—6, 6—0; Miss Rosamond Gardiner defeated Miss Martha Dexter, 6—0, 6—2; Miss Charlotte Miller defeated Miss Faith Garrison, 6—2, 6—0; Miss Mianne Palfrey defeated Miss Deborah Gilbert, 6—2, 6—0; Miss Katherine Sprague defeated Miss Dorothy Harding, 6—3, 7—5; Miss Dorrance Chase won from Miss Anna Walcott by default; Miss Jean Burritt defeated Miss Elizabeth Harding, 6—0, 6—2; Miss Katherine Winthrop defeated Miss Elfreda Carter, 6—2, 6—0.

PENN STATE ELECTS WOLFF.

Former Brooklyn Scholastic Star to Lead Boxing Team.

Special to The New York Times.

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., March 27.—Alfred B. Wolff of Brooklyn was elected Captain of the Penn State boxing team for 1929 at a meeting of the nine-letter men today. Wolff, who is a former Erasmus Hall athlete, in his freshman year at Penn State earned numerals in football, boxing and baseball. In his first season of varsity boxing Wolff won nine straight bouts and the 160-pound title. He repeated the same performance during the past season and ran his number of victories to seventeen. Despite an injured shoulder he retained his intercollegiate title at the championships.

Coach Kerr Drills 50 Candidates in First Spring Session.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Pa., March 27.—With fifteen of last season's regulars missing, Head Coach Andy Kerr launched Spring football practice this afternoon at Washington and Jefferson, approximately fifty candidates reporting for the initial drill.

The place of Line Coach Dave Morrow, who resigned last week, was taken temporarily by Ray Ride, last season's freshman tutor.

Captain Bill Amos, last year's captain, also assisted. A small band of recruits from the 1927 freshman squad came out to replace the missing veterans.

REVENUE AND APPROPRIATIONS.

Secretary MELLON is holding back the official figures of the tax payments on March 15, until he goes before the Senate committee next Tuesday. This is both cautious and politic. By April 3 the tabulations of revenue should be full and exact, and the Senators will be pleased to have the first official announcement made to them direct. Yet the Treasury makes no concealment of the fact that the estimated surplus for the fiscal year is not going to prove large enough to warrant tax reduction to the extent provided in the bill which passed the House. Off that measure the Senate Finance Committee will have to cut something like $100,000,000 on pain of bringing down on its head a veto by President COOLIDGE.

The chief difficulty arises less from shrinking revenue than from swollen appropriations. The latter threaten to upset the balance of the Executive Budget. Already the surplus has been eaten into by bills carrying more money than was budgeted for, and we are yet to learn what sums Congress will vote for flood control, farm relief, Muscle Shoals and other measures lining up at the door of the Treasury. The plain fact is that with every week that passes the likelihood of a large tax reduction diminishes. The public purse is plethoric enough to endure heavy drafts upon it, but there is a limit even to its capacity, and President COOLIDGE is determined to see that it is not entirely emptied. Congress cannot have it both ways. It professes to want a generous tax reduction as well as generous appropriations, but the "demnition figures" of income and expenditure show that it will have to choose between the two.

CRYSTALLIZATION.

Chairman MORRIS, a scientific politician famous for the success of his experiments, sits unperturbed in his laboratory, watching and waiting. He detects as yet "no crystallization of sentiment" in New York for any other candidate than Mr. HOOVER, who "apparently has very strong support outside of New York State." Here Professor KOENIG and Professor LIVINGSTON are scanning the political molecules. Will the hour of their definite arrangement come before June 12? Professor MORRIS hints or hopes so. Meanwhile, it continues to be desirable that the New York delegates should be a corpus; that, since there is no unit rule, there should be a hypothesis that there is one.

An unconscious disciple of Lord MELBOURNE, Professor MORRIS seems to hold that it doesn't matter much whom or what the New York Republicans agree upon so long as they agree. It is the business of the New York Republican delegates to have "great influence in the convention." This they can have only by a solid or substantially solid vote. Well, the solidification or crystallization seems to be pretty forward up-State. It may be that the crystals in these parts now being studied by Professor KOENIG and Professor LIVINGSTON will arrange themselves in forms as yet unsuspected by Professor MORRIS. In unscientific language, a "fat bunch" of uninstructed delegates may be committed to Mr. HOOVER. The "great influence," or most of it, may have to be exerted in a way upon which Dr. HILLES has long been reluctant to enter.

There is evidence of a belief in crystallization among Democrats also. Senator NEELY makes a long speech full of those delicate urbanities in which a Democratic member of the House reveled the other day. "HERBERT" is a "political dodger" and an Englishman. At High Point, "JIM" REED reached his highest point. He fired the North Carolinian heart, not that it loves him, but that it hates some one else more. What happens to him, he said with sublime self-abnegation, is of small account. All his aim is to stir the wrath of American citizens against "corruption that beggars description." He has inside information about Mr. HARDING'S Cabinet. He knows that all the members, and Mr. HOOVER in particular, knew what FALL was doing in the "oil deals."

Mr. REED'S attacks on Mr. HOOVER, like his attacks on Mr. COOLIDGE, are perhaps better calculated to "arouse indignation" against himself than against corruption; and the Secretary of Commerce has long been poison to him. But his ferocious mal-Hooverism in his last passionate whirl around the country indicates his conviction that a "crystallization" peculiarly obnoxious to him is going on. It may be said that all these blasts against Mr. HOOVER only mean that he is the favorite, but their increasing vehemence shows that he seems to his opponents to be strong and getting stronger. And it is likely enough that there are many Republicans who sympathize with that Massachusetts Republican Mayor who says coarsely that "if the political "gang 'gyps' HOOVER out of the "nomination, I'll vote for 'AL' "SMITH rather than for some one "they have picked out in the back "room."

ONE ORCHESTRA FOR TWO.

For fifty years New York has had two major orchestras of the first rank. Now the directors of the Philharmonic Society and the New York Symphony Society have decided to join their forces. It might look as if New York were losing a certain pre-eminence it has had in the matter of orchestral concerts. But a closer examination seems to show that the consolidation is likely to be, as the directors think it is, a piece of constructive work that should put New York into a better position than ever before as to orchestral music. The union of these two organizations has been forced chiefly by the ever-increasing cost of maintaining them and the burdens continually added to the public-spirited men and women who have to furnish most of the money.

It has long been true that no orchestra in this country could pay for itself by its box-office receipts, even if every seat and every available foot of standing room were occupied at every concert. There have been continually great annual deficits. They are increasing. The Musical Union demands more pay for its members every time a new contract is made; this year's increase is said to add the very considerable straw of $35,000 to the camel's back, and has, in a way, broken it. The fees demanded by distinguished conductors from abroad also mount. One orchestra, of course, costs much less than two. Some ninety men will find themselves out of a job but may be absorbed by other orchestras.

What of the audiences that have hitherto listened in large numbers to the playing of two orchestras? The number of concerts given by the consolidated orchestra, it is announced, will be increased by lengthening the season. They can hardly be increased by giving concerts oftener—there is a limit to what players can do. It has been suggested that each program be given four times instead of twice. One advantage of this would be the increased opportunity for rehearsal, a primary essential of fine orchestral playing. There has been in recent years an enormous number of first-class orchestral concerts given in this city every week, and it may well be that a reduction will be for its good. To make orchestral concerts something more of an "event" and less of an almost daily task would be to give them a greater meaning to the listeners. With the ten concerts each season from both the Boston and Philadelphia orchestras there will be plenty of competition and emulation.

An endowment is sought by the directors of the combined orchestras to obviate the uncertainty now inevitable. Other objects in view are the raising of a sufficient pension fund to take care of the superannuated faithful in the orchestra; a sick and death benefit fund; and, finally, the provision of a suitable concert hall to take the place of the insecure tenure under which Carnegie Hall is now occupied.

There will be many details to be worked out before the plans of the consolidation are perfected. But it is gratifying to note that the leading spirits of both organizations, who have done so much and suffered so much in purse for them, with Mr. FLAGLER and Mr. MACKAY at their head, will continue to lead; that Mr. TOSCANINI and Mr. MENGELBERG will remain where they are; that Mr. DAMROSCH will be recalled from his retirement as "guest conductor"; and that various subsidiary activities of the orchestras—school concerts and children's and young people's concerts—will be continued. New York will still have a full provision of orchestral music; and, it may be hoped, in a fashion satisfactory to everybody concerned.

A DAY'S RECORD.

Watchers of the political skies may be taken as scientists in their line, anxious to find the truth and not committed to a preconceived theory. Thus far nothing has developed in Democratic activities which is seriously inimical to the political aspirations of Governor SMITH. If it had, THE TIMES, chiefly concerned to publish facts, would be among the first to report it. An illustration of one day will serve:

1. Senator REED of Missouri, a vigorous and active Presidential candidate, spoke in Arizona. A few days later the Democrats of that State chose—according to the party's national committeeman and the political reporters in Arizona—a solid Smith delegation.

2. The Washington Post, not a Democratic newspaper, sent a representative to various States, and now publishes his report from Mississippi. It is to the effect that the Mississippi delegates will be "anti-Smith, "anti-Reed, anti-wet, anti-moist and "theoretically dry." But the correspondent adds that "some leaders "are anticipating SMITH'S nomination and say that Mississippi will "accept the verdict, but must not "be in the position of having actively taken the lead in bringing it about."

3. Wake Forest College, in North Carolina, one of the foremost of the Southern Baptist schools, has developed a "Smith-for-President Club." It anticipates a membership of more than 100 students and plans to work all through North Carolina. Protests from Baptists "all over the State" led the President, Dr. E. P. GAINES, to remark that most of the Smith followers were law students, naturally interested in politics, and that he could not attempt to control their political views.

4. The dispute over the affiliation of the delegates to the Houston convention from Arkansas does not change the original report of The Arkansas Gazette that from 80 to 90 per cent. prefer Governor SMITH as the nominee. The Gazette adds that, especially since these delegates are not selected by the rank and file, it must not be assumed that they represent the feeling of the State Democracy, which, it is certain, is opposed to Governor SMITH'S nomination. But the delegates have been selected; they will speak for Arkansas; and, when Senator ROBINSON'S name is withdrawn, most of them, it is agreed, will favor Governor SMITH.

5. The leaders of the movement to obtain a vote among Michigan Democrats for Senator WALSH of Montana "admit that they have no "hope of carrying the State over "SMITH, but simply want to show "their strength by way of influencing delegates to the national convention."

These are the developments of one day. Unquestionably they indicate a rising party tide in favor of the nomination of the Governor of New York. Unquestionably also they fail to disclose any formidable opposition. They are published simply and solely as matters of fact.

UNEMPLOYMENT FIGURES.

A hasty reading of Secretary DAVIS'S report on unemployment will give a more cheerful impression than his findings warrant. The Department of Labor's calculations make no attempt even to estimate the actual number of idle workers today. Only a comparison is drawn between conditions at the beginning of the present year and the same period in 1925. Between the two dates the report finds a "shrinkage" in employment of 1,874,000. But 1925 was obviously not a year of 100 per cent. employment. No year is. HORNELL HART'S study of urban unemployment for the period between 1902 and 1917 arrived at the conclusion that the number of idle workers in the country is never less than 1,000,000. The Russell Sage Foundation study of 1924 asserts that the number of persons out of work in any year ranges from 1,000,000 to 6,000,000, depending on the conditions of prosperity. It may be that the normal minimum of 1,000,000 was cut down during the three years after our entry into the World War. But by 1925 the various indices show that employment had notably declined from the war peak. Assuming, then, for January, 1925, the normal minimum of 1,000,000 idle workers, a shrinkage of 1,874,000 last January would bring the number of unemployed fairly close to 3,000,000. This is below the 4,000,000 estimate in the Wagner resolution which called forth the Labor Department report, but it certainly constitutes a serious situation, as Secretary DAVIS calls it.

What does appear from the figures given out at Washington and in other quarters is that we have seen the worst of the problem for some time to come. Secretary DAVIS notes an upward trend in employment. The American Federation of Labor's figures for February show no increase in unemployment over the preceding month. The coming of warm weather will help. The Hart study found that in the sixteen-year period the range of unemployment has been highest in January, with an average of three and one-third millions, and lowest in October, with an average of less than two millions. This means a seasonal decline in unemployment of almost 50 per cent. If we make the same showing this year, the end of the Summer should see a shrinkage to less than a million compared with 1925.

This is as near as we can get to the appraisal of an outstanding social problem, in the absence of adequate Government statistics on the subject. Private individuals and agencies have been compelled to rectify, only in part, the omission at Washington. It is not by chance that Secretary DAVIS remarks that in order to carry out the Wagner resolution's request for periodical reports an appropriation of $110,000 would be required. The Senate thirsted for information but neglected to provide the means. Under the circumstances the Department of Labor did the best it could. It turned to its regular reports on employment in industry and "assumed" similar conditions for the remainder of our wage and salary workers—more than half of the total number.

ANIMATED SUSPENSE.

Prospects for early transit relief are none too encouraging, at least on the surface. The Interborough, having taken its case to the courts, apparently shut the door to further direct negotiations. It might be thought that the Legislature, having rejected Mr. UNTERMYER'S bills, effectively blocked the partial unification project which they were designed to further. Little has been heard recently of the Transit Commission's perfected plans, save as they were tentatively embodied in the legislation growing out of Mr. UNTERMYER'S conversations with the B. M. T. Courts move deliberately, and the Legislature does not meet again for a year. Must the authorities mark time until then?

The latest reports of efforts resumed, or about to be resumed, to find some way out of the present unsatisfactory situation may wisely be taken with a reserve born of past disappointment. But there is really no reason why some progress cannot be made. Unification of the surface lines in Brooklyn, for example, would be a step in the right direction—a "regional understanding," so to speak, in the interest of transit peace. It will be recalled that the early negotiations between Mr. UNTERMYER and the B. M. T., a year ago, broke down largely because the company insisted that its surface lines be included in any deal with the city. Mr. UNTERMYER wanted to concentrate on the rapid-transit lines. Separate negotiations with forty-odd companies did not appeal to him as presently feasible, and even Mr. SMITH, the Controller's expert, finally conceded that it might be advisable to postpone dealing with the surface lines. But their consolidation as now proposed would give better service to Brooklyn and might ultimately fit into the larger scheme.

Meanwhile, endeavors to bring about wider transit unification have not been wholly abandoned. The legislation which fell by the wayside at Albany was only an enabling act. Drafting a detailed plan would take months, in any event. The B. M. T. is willing to continue the negotiations, and with good-will on both sides there is no reason why they should not go ahead. Legislation to carry forward a definite plan approved by the various authorities would obviously have a better chance at Albany than a measure which left important details to the imagination. In his present optimistic mood Mr. UNTERMYER seems hopeful even of resuming negotiations with the Interborough, or at least with its bondholders. Pending court actions should not blind the public to the continuing need for comprehensive unification.

A VIRGIN ISLANDS SURVEY.

Eleven years ago this week the flag of Denmark, which had with slight interruption flown for 250 years over the islands known as Dansk Vestindien (the Danish West Indies), was replaced by the Stars and Stripes. These hundred islands, with a total area not as great as that of the five boroughs of New York City and with a population of the size of White Plains, became the "Virgin Islands of the United States." The larger ones bear the names of saints, inherited from the centuries which followed COLUMBUS'S coming. They need again the visitation of such practical saints as the members of the commission that left New York last week to make an educational survey of them, for it is recognized that their social and economic conditions are "in a difficult state."

They lie at "the cross-roads of the Seven Seas," but are not closely in touch with the civilization on the shores of those seas. Their population has somewhat dwindled since their title was shifted from the Old World to the New, and hopes that rose with the new association have been somewhat disappointed. Senator BINGHAM looked in on them two years ago, and it is understood to be through him that the approval and cooperation of the United States Government have been secured for this survey, which is to be made under the auspices of Hampton and Tuskegee Institutes and is financed by friends of these institutions, who take this way of showing an interest in the colored inhabitants of those islands. It is to improvement of the health, well-being and productivity of the mass populations in these islands, which are "something more than 90 per cent. black," that this mission is especially directed.

Colonel LINDBERGH put these islands, especially St. Thomas, on the maps of thousands who had never quite known where they were and brought them again to the minds of other thousands who remembered their taking over in the midst of the war but had since quite forgotten them. LINDBERGH testified that he had never had a more interesting or a more beautiful flight than over the islands in his approach to St. Thomas; and after reaching Porto Rico the next day he spoke of the practicability of an air line between North and South America over these and other islands of the West Indies. The United States cannot afford to let them be put to anything but the best possible uses for those whom it has taken over willy-nilly with their little patches of earth. The help which Hampton and Tuskegee offer is that which the masses of inhabitants most need—the advice of those who have under somewhat similar conditions worked out their own salvation under great racial handicaps.

ART IN PHILADELPHIA.

Philadelphia, which has for some time been equipped with space for great industrial shows and mighty sports contests, now has a centre for culture. The new Museum of Art, planned for twenty years and building for ten, has just been opened.

It has been built and is arranged to offer the greatest ease and pleasure in use. Separate galleries for the art of various nations are provided. One wing will house the treasures of the Orient. Special care has been taken for the benefit of the student, craftsman and designer. Industry is taking an increasing interest in beauty. To arrange exhibits and provide space for artists who seek inspiration for new manufactures in the grace of old handcraft is the underlying purpose of the director of the study collections.

One admirable feature of the new museum is the exhibition of paintings in rooms of their own period. Psychologists have worked on the problem of keeping visitors from wearing themselves out in their march about a museum. By putting paintings in the surroundings of their time it is hoped to avoid the fatigue to the eye which results from long inspection of pictures hung either on a plaster or fabric background. Actual rooms have been imported and reassembled for certain groups of English eighteenth-century work. Sculpture, furniture, glass, pottery and other art objects adorn the rooms. Public taste will be cultivated at the same time that the eye is trained and the feet are saved from purposeless meandering.

Formal contact will, of course, be established with the public schools. Many children would never go near the museum if they were not taken by teachers. If boys and girls, even those not yet in high school, can be drawn, first perhaps by command and later by their own interest, to visit the galleries frequently they will form tastes and habits which will be a source of lifelong pleasure. In their own city they can see the splendid examples of foreign art gathered in the Johnson, Elkins and other collections.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

How to Put America First.

For the fifth and sixth time this year Chicago outlaws have thrown bombs, and each time the objective has been the home o person of some participant in the savage politics of America's second city. The first four projectiles were launched against members of the ascendant Crowe-Thompson faction; n 7 Senator DENEEN'S rival group is thus recognized, for the fifth bomb was planted in Mr. DENEEN'S house and the sixth was thrown at an automobile from which his candidate for State's Attorney against Crowe, Judge SWANSON, was alighting.

New York has had its outlawries, and in the '40s and '50s it was a tough city. But not for many years has lawlessness been practiced here on such a reckless scale, and in the name of politics. If there is one distinction to which Tammany is entitled, and which even its political opponents cannot deny, it is the upholding of order. Yet there is no more public sentiment in favor of order here than in Chicago, for it is inconceivable that the overwhelming portion of Chicago's citizens do not resent the public conditions which make these outrages possible with impunity to those responsible.

Mr. CROWE, the District Attorney, the objective of the Deneen attack and—more even than Mayor THOMPSON—the political boss of the city, gives his opinion that the bombs were thrown by "gorillas" of the Deneen faction in order to cast discredit upon his own organization. If so, the remedy is heroic indeed, for the machine which damaged the home of Mr. CROWE'S opponent, Judge SWANSON, was hurled directly at the Judge himself. Strategy is seldom carried quite so perilously far.

"America First" is the slogan of the Crowe-Thompson organization. Since they control the peace authorities they are responsible for the security of life and property in Chicago. The only effective way for them to translate their slogan into meaning is to hunt down the miscreants who assassinate and destroy with bombs and machine guns and reduce one of the greatest cities in the world to the level of a lawless mining camp or feud town.

They Knew It Before.

Governor SMITH has signed the bill intended to limit or suppress speculation in theatre tickets. It doubles the license fee for agencies and is thought by its added fee of $50 for a branch office to promise to make an end of selling theatre tickets in clubs and hotels. This does not seem to follow. An order could be placed by telephone without thereby constituting a regular agency.

The novel feature of the new law requires the "conspicuous posting" of the price of the ticket at the theatre and also of the price charged in resale by the agency. Why this should be expected to work a reform is hard to see. Purchasers already know the established price, which is stamped on the ticket itself. And the idea that lavish people, or rich visitors from out of town, will be deterred by knowing exactly how much they are "gouged" seems particularly absurd. They fairly glory in what they have to pay extra for tickets that they "must have," and often plant themselves and their friends in the best seats with the complacent air of Sir Gorgeous Midas.

So long as there are so many theatre-goers of this kind fairly demanding to be imposed upon, the speculative end of the business will hardly be got rid of. Perhaps there is hope of converting theatre patrons to the view bluntly announced by a producer the other day to the effect that the public ought to know that no show on Broadway is really worth $6.

John Bunyan's Third Centenary.

One anniversary should be observed more widely this year than any other not already in the calendar of saints' days. The name of no saint not in the Bible has found its way into so many languages as has that of JOHN BUNYAN, the tercentenary of whose birth occurs this year.

The first edition of the book which has given immortality to the son of the tinker who never "went to school to ARISTOTLE or PLATO" is kept in the British Museum in a glass case labeled "England's Great Books." "Pilgrim's Progress" has been translated into 122 languages and dialects—more than any other book except the Bible. And it does not cease to be one of the most copiously circulated books of all time. The American Tract Society, which is raising a fund of $50,000 to make possible its printing in thirty or more languages as a part of the tercentenary celebration, refers to a recent printing in America of an edition of several million copies by one publishing house.

The actual anniversary day is late in the year—"probably in the closing days of November"—but preparations are making which promise the cooperation not only of the churches but of the leading libraries and educational institutions and musical organizations. In the New York Public Library a room 90 by 90 is to be set apart for the Bunyan exhibit, beginning next October. It will, doubtless, include with "Pilgrim's Progress" in various editions the "Holy War," which would be "the best allegory ever written if 'Pilgrim's Progress' did not exist," and many others of BUNYAN'S writings—some in verse. And it all began in this simple, homely way:

When at the first I took my pen in hand,
Thus for to write, I did not understand
That I at all should make a little book
In such a mode; nay, I had undertook
To make another; which, when almost done,
Before I was aware, I this begun.

Coolness Under Fire.

The mere suggestion of fire breaking out in a building crowded with children brings horrid visions of a mad mob rushing toward stairways and exits. But modern youngsters seem to have grown almost panic-proof. Scientific curiosity and a habit of nonchalance seem to have combined to keep young heads cool and pulses steady when a fire alarm is sounded.

At an Albany movie palace a few days ago a fire broke out in the projection booth and the flames mounted high. The audience of children remained to see what would happen next. The ushers, worried and frightened, herded the children to the doors, trying to make them realize that this entertainment was not just a part of the show. In the lobby there was further delay. The imperturbable youngsters were besieging the box office for rain checks or their money back and had to be driven to safety by the police.

Perhaps the fact that fire drills are routine matters at school explains this absence of any spark of panic. The word "fire" had lost its terror-inspiring connotations for them. Though their coolness may have irritated the anxious staff of the theatre, it was certainly preferable to a stampede and should have earned them a free performance next day.

THE UNMASKING.

Tattooing bared, he swaggered
'round the deck,
Black forearms bulging from his sleeves uprolled,
Ogled fair passengers, his pig-eyes
bold,
The sinews knotting in his sunburned
neck;
With salty oaths unmatched on sea or land
He chivied lesser members of the crew
Who, cringing, eyed the fists whose weight they knew,
And, muttering, jumped to heed his snarled command.
Then fell a night with screaming wind, black peaks
That frothed and, hissing, shattered mast and spar;
A wallowing wreck she rolled, while every tar
Strove to launch lifeboats, stilled pale women's shrieks,
Heroes—save one, who gibbered,
wrestled, rushed,
Fear-crazed—whose giant skull the captain crushed . . .

ANALYZING A SMITH TREND.

Reasons Why Governor Should Carry Kentucky and Tennessee.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Much has been said and written lately as to whether or not Governor Smith, if nominated, would carry Kentucky and Tennessee, but few of these expressions seem to be based on a personal knowledge of the native sentiment existing there. Having been born in the former and having attended school in the latter, I am moved to an expression of opinion on the subject.

It is a fact which will be admitted by those who know that the Democrats will vote their ticket—for their allegiance is based on convictions which are firmly rooted. Also memories of the reconstruction period have not been erased and it is still counted rank heresy in most parts for a Democrat to vote the Republican ticket. Likewise, the Republicans will vote their ticket. This being the case, we find that the balance of power is in the hands of the independent voters.

Now the independent vote is an urban vote. It will be found that the rural population is distinctly partisan; and an analysis of this leads to two conclusions. First, that the majority of the wet sentiment is to be found in the cities. Second, that the majority of the Catholic population is also to be found in the cities and larger towns. It can be stated, I believe, that Smith will carry the majority of these two factions—which means that he will carry the majority of the independent vote.

I believe, therefore, that if Smith is nominated he will carry Kentucky and Tennessee by a larger majority than that of any other candidate in a generation.

Chekhov and Other Things.

The contribution by THE TIMES dramatic editor, J. Brooks Atkinson, under the caption and subtitles "Anton Chekhov—Sheer Genius in Every Aspect of His Life—Perils of Acting 'The Cherry Orchard' in English," was commendable and fascinating.

It is too bad that there are not many Americans, comparatively writing, well acquainted with the literary achievements of the late Anton Pavlovitch Chekhov—but if there were, then Mr. Atkinson's remarks for the most part would not have been news. For those who seriously would like further information about this Russian genius I heartily suggest any, preferably all, of the following publications: Plays (Scribner's); Letters of Anton Chekhov to His Family and Friends (MacMillan); Letters of Anton Pavlovitch Tchehov to Olga Leonardovna Knipper (Doran); Anton Chekhov, a critical study, by William Gerhardi (Duffield & Co.). There are, of course, other publications in English by and about Chekhov which may be perused to one's advantage.

Mr. Atkinson's concluding sentence, "Unless it is played by a perfectly mated repertory company, superbly directed, we shall probably never know the full beauty of 'The Cherry Orchard' in English," prompts me to suggest—ask and beg, if necessary—that Miss Eva Le Gallienne produce this particular play in her Civic Repertory Theatre next season. Chekhov's "Three Sisters" has been produced by Miss Le Gallienne to the mutual advantage of her box office and the theatre-going public capable of appreciating a good play well done!

A Fund for Lincoln University.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Lincoln University of Chester County, Pa., which has been serving America for the last seventy-four years through its leadership in thorough training for colored youths, is now making its first great appeal. A conditional offer of $250,000 from the General Education Board, if matched from other sources by July 1, will provide $500,000 vitally needed for increased endowment and scholarship funds.

Since its founding as Ashmun Institute, in 1854 Lincoln University has sent out almost 2,500 men, of whom 600 found useful careers in religious work, 500 in education, 400 in medicine and the allied fields of dentistry and pharmacy, and 100 in law. Among the more recent graduates 100 are still engaged in further professional study.

Included in this record are five Methodist Bishops and pastors of many of the leading Baptist churches, two of the three colored surgeons of national reputation, and leading physicians in many cities both North and South; the only colored Colonel to see active service overseas, and one of the two colored men to sit at the Peace Conference at Versailles; four Presidents of colleges and a number of Deans. Among Lincoln men in public life have been two United States Ministers to Liberia, one Congressman, four members of State Legislatures and several city Aldermen. Of less conspicuous but equally essential service are those holding executive positions in such movements as the Y. M. C. A. and the Urban League.

Checks may be made payable to the university and sent to Dr. William Hallock Johnson, Lincoln University, Chester County, Pa.

"Who's Who" Poll Misleading.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Under the heading "Says Hoover Leads 'Who's Who' Poll," THE TIMES gives the results of the postal card poll recently conducted among residents of New York State included in "Who's Who in America." THE TIMES says: "A preponderance of New York State residents listed in 'Who's Who' favors the nomination of Secretary Hoover as the Republican candidate for President, the New York State Hoover-for-President Committee announced yesterday."

The committee's claim, I submit, gives an altogether misleading idea of Mr. Hoover's strength. According to the figures given out by the committee itself, answers were received from less than 25 per cent. of those to whom letters of inquiry were sent. I, for one, did not reply because I did not feel called upon to tell the Hoover committee my preference for the Republican Presidential nomination. But now, in view of the Hoover committee's announcement, I will: My preference is Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, and my chief reason is that Dr. Butler does not regard prohibition and Volsteadism as a noble social experiment.

How about the others who paid no attention to the inquiry of the New York State Hoover-for-President Committee, and who comprise more than 75 per cent. of those questioned? Surely I do not stand alone.

Letting the Colonel Rest.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

The article about Colonel Lindbergh in THE TIMES on Sunday gave an insight into the Colonel's reaction toward the strain that he has undergone in attempting to defend himself against the misguided enthusiasm of the public.

To one who admires the young flier, it seems that the public owes him the consideration for his services of allowing him to once more be the carefree boy that he was before fame took him to hand. He has by his accomplishments, his splendid handling of himself at all times, by his good-will work, by the example that he has set for our growing boys—and I consider this last the greatest thing that he has done—a right to ask the public to allow him his freedom from the strain of being regarded as a national hero.

There is a possibility that Colonel Lindbergh, under the continued strain, might do something of a rash nature that he would not do under normal conditions that might endanger him. He is too valuable an asset to our country and its future to allow this to happen.

ROBINSON ASSAILS TARIFF COMMISSION

Arkansas Senator Tells Importers Here That Flexible Rate Provision Should Be Repealed.

HAS BILL FOR THAT PURPOSE

Would Have Congress Appoint Experts as Commissioners and Hold Them Responsible to It.

Abolition of the Tariff Commission, repeal of the flexible rate provision of the Fordney-McCumber tariff act and the creation of a commission of experts selected by and responsible to Congress, Senator Robinson, Democrat, of Arkansas, disclosed last night at the annual dinner of the National Council of American Importers and Traders at the Hotel Astor, are provided for in a bill which he is now preparing and which he hopes to introduce in the present session of Congress.

Senator Robinson made his disclosure after an address in which he told 300 members of the council that he believed that the flexible-rate provision, because of prejudice, factionalism and lack of scientific knowledge on the part of members of the Tariff Commission, had, contrary to the purpose of Congress, become an instrument for raising tariff levels.

Other speakers last night were David Lawrence, President of The United States Daily, and F. J. H. Kracke, United States Appraiser for the Port of New York. Frederic B. Shipley, honorary director of the council, was toastmaster. Among those at the speakers' table were customs officials of this city and Washington.

Tariff making, the Senator said, was properly a legislative function and the present method under which the President adjusts rates upon recommendation of a commission appointed by himself is out of keeping with both the law and spirit of the Constitution.

"The flexible tariff act has not operated in the manner contemplated by its advocates," Senator Robinson said. "This new process of changing tariff duties was not advanced primarily as necessary to permit increases. On the contrary, the chief theory on which it was urged was that in time many rates in the Fordney-McCumber law would prove too high, and the flexible provision would be promptly invoked to assure reductions as experience showed them to be necessary."

Few Decreases Made.

Senator Robinson pointed out that increases have been authorized under the flexible rates provision in nineteen cases, including wheat and butter, in the six years since the passage of the act, while only five decreases have been effected. The reductions, he said, affected such imports as live Bob White quail, paint brush handles and insignificant chemical imports.

"Considering the personnel of the Tariff Commission and the prejudice of a majority of the members against the importation of foreign goods and the prevailing policy to employ the flexible tariff law in cases where increases are asked," the Senator declared, "I believe the provision should be promptly repealed.

"It is my opinion that the commission has not functioned in accordance with the Congressional purpose. Its partial failure has resulted from the difficulties which inhere in the flexible tariff law and from factionalism among the members of the commission."

Senator Robinson criticized the tariff law because it allows the President wide latitude in selecting members of the Tariff Commission, holding him only to the requirement that no more than three of the six members shall belong to the same political party.

Need of Economists Stressed.

"It is my belief that the commission should include several economists of renown," he said. "Undoubtedly the commission should be regarded as a quasi-judicial body and no member should sit in any case involving his personal interest."

Regardless of partisan politics, Senator Robinson declared, this country should adopt the policy of reducing rather than increasing tariff levels, lest foreign producers be denied American markets and foreign nations thus be prevented from paying their war debts to the United States. He also urged expansion of our foreign trade.

At a business meeting of the council at the Hotel Astor yesterday afternoon Peter J. Fletcher of Lamb, Finlay & Co. was elected President for the current year. Other officers elected were: Vice Presidents, Philip Le Boutillier, President of Bept & Co.; C. G. Pfeiffer, Vice President of George Borgfeldt & Co.; George McGeschin, President of Witcombe, McGeschin & Co., and W. W. Lorch of Ely & Walker Dry Goods Company of St. Louis. H. O. Lloyd of Julius Kayser & Co. was re-elected Treasurer.

HITS WASHINGTON CRITICS.

Dr. A. B. Hart Tells Lafayette Students "He Did the Job."

EASTON, Pa., March 27.—Dr. Albert Bushnell Hart of Harvard University, in an address to students and Faculty at Lafayette College tonight, answered recent critics of George Washington.

"As a General, Washington stands among the great military figures of the world because he did so much with such slender resources," said Dr. Hart. "Recent biographies, particularly those of Woodward and of Rupert Hughes, try to tear down his reputation as a man of honor and a General, but they totally failed. What is the use of talking about his military mistakes in the face of the fact that against all obstacles he did the job? Had there been no George Washington there would have been no United States of America at that time.

"As a statesman Washington was the mainspring in the effort to induce the States to find something better than the Articles of Confederation for a national government. He never let go of that idea. As President of the Constitutional Convention his personal reputation and the affection the American people felt for him made it possible for him to form and ratify the Constitution in 1787.

"Nowadays we are just getting acquainted with Washington because we are ceasing to worship him as a leader sent down from Heaven in a great national crisis, free from all human failings, a kind of superman."

Student in London Rushes Here to Marry; Sails Today With Bride After Day in City

After a twenty-four hour visit in this country, in the course of which he acquired a bride, Albert Sperry M. Kerry Jr., son of a prominent lumberman of Seattle, Wash., will sail for England this evening on the North German Lloyd liner Berlin. He will be accompanied by his bride, who was Miss Helen Audrey Legg, 20 years old, daughter of Louis Henry Legg, a Seattle attorney.

The couple met while they were undergraduates at the University of Washington. Mr. Kerry has since continued his studies at Oxford, and recently began post-graduate studies in economics at the University of London. He took advantage of the Easter vacation from that institution to rush to this country while Miss Legg and her parents came to New York to meet him.

Mr. Kerry was delayed in landing and had almost despaired of arriving in time to get to the marriage license bureau before it closed, but Mr. Legg had succeeded in inducing Thomas J. Culkin, the clerk in charge of the bureau, to remain after hours, and the license was obtained late last evening.

The bridal party then proceeded to the home of Supreme Court Justice Burt Jay Humphreys in Jamaica. Justice Humphrey, who was a boyhood friend of Mr. Legg's, performed a civil ceremony last night. It will be followed by a religious ceremony to be performed by Bishop Ernest M. Stires this afternoon at 5 o'clock at the Humphreys home.

Mr. Kerry's parents did not come on for the ceremony, but it was witnessed by his sister, Olive, who is a student at the Barkley School for Girls. Mr. Kerry in obtaining the license gave his age as 24.

PROSPECT PARK SITE FOR COLLEGE FAVORED

Dr. Robinson Says Movement for Educational Centre in Brooklyn Began Decade Ago.

The recent recommendation of the Brooklyn Committee on Facilities of the Board of Higher Education to the Board of Estimate several days ago that the site of the old reservoir opposite Prospect Park, and adjoining the Botanical Gardens and the Institution of Arts and Sciences, be assigned for the joint home of the Brooklyn branches of the College of the City of New York and Hunter College, was the culmination of a movement which began more than ten years ago, Dr. Frederick B. Robinson, President of City College and Provost of the Board, said yesterday in a statement tracing its history.

In discussing the outcome of action by the Board of Estimate, Dr. Robinson said he joined Ralph Jonas, Chairman of the Facilities Committee, in his optimism.

"In my many years of experience with educational and public officials I have never before witnessed more complete cooperation between them," he said.

He explained that the hibh hopes of Mr. Jonas arose from the "hearty cooperation" of Borough President Byrne and the helpful interest of Mayor Walker and Aldermanic President McKee. He said the late Borough President Guider of Brooklyn had presented to the Legislature several plans for public higher education in the borough.

"After Mr. Guider's death Mr. Byrne had been equally interest in the work, and as a result of conferences which Mr. Byrne had had with the Commissioner of Water Supply, Gas and Electricity the site at Prospect Park had been chosen. If this site is obtained and appropriate buildings are erected," Dr. Robinson said, "the City Administration will have done a great service for Brooklyn."

The site is considered ideal, both from the standpoint of accessibility and cultural environment. Amid the Brooklyn Public Library, the Institute of Arts and Sciences and several high schools, the sponsors of this project aim to establish a model educational centre.

TO REFORM SOCIETY PAPER.

H. Gordon Duval Buys 'Club Fellow' —Will Bar Any Innuendo.

Old-time society journals of tradition, specializing in "gossip, innuendo and scandal," have been outgrown, according to H. Gordon Duval, President of the Park Avenue Association, who announced yesterday the purchase of The Club-Fellow and Washington Mirror, a weekly magazine which is to be "reformed" and published under the scrutiny of an advisory board of society people.

For the thirty years of its life, Mr. Duval said, The Club-Fellow had been run "along somewhat socially critical lines." Now, not to protect society, but because it has been found that the attractive and pleasant pay better than scandal, the policy of the periodical is to be completely changed with the new ownership. When The Club-Fellow goes on the stands today in its new dress it will carry on the cover the motto, "Not a line or a word, an innuendo or a criticism from cover to cover that can offend or displease."

The Club-Fellow will be published now by the Duvalian Publishing Company, Inc., 1 Madison Avenue, with Mr. Duval as editor and Clinton T. Brainard, Enos S. Booth and W. Livingston Larned as associate editors. The Advisory Board includes Mr. Brainard, Russell L. Engs, Mr. Booth, Charles L. Sicard, Mr. Larned, Colonel Theodore A. Baldwin and Henry C. Hull. The former owner of the paper was Percival L. Harden.

GOSHAWK FOUND IN PARK.

Sligo, Lecturer's Bird, Escapes From Hotel—Boys Pick Her Up.

Take it from Sligo, Central Park is a poor place for ancient and kingly sports. Not only is there practically no appreciation of falconry in the park, but nobody there even knew what Sligo, whose ancestors used to occupy the places of honor on yeomen's wrists, might be.

Sligo, for the information of those beneath her contempt, is not the Irish county but a goshawk, and she is here from England with Captain C. W. Knight, her master, who came here to lecture on falconry. During the night she broke away from the cord that bound her to the roof of the Hotel Sherman Square. Yesterday, eager to demonstrate her ability as a falcon, she wandered all over the park, but the only sign of a partridge, lark or pigeon she could find was in the Museum of Natural History. And they were all stuffed.

Then two boys, John Mallett of 257 West Seventy-ninth Street and John Porter of 57 Riverside Drive, found her.

"It's an owl," said Johnny the First.

"It's not, it's an eagle," said Johnny the Second.

So they took her to the museum to settle it, and there, disgusted with the whole business, Sligo permitted herself to be locked up awaiting her master's arrival.

BRITISH COMPOSER, LESLIE STUART, DIES

Man Who Wrote 'Florodora' Lies on Deathbed as His Music Is Played at Coliseum.

Copyright, 1928, by The New York Times Company. By Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, March 27.—Leslie Stuart, composer of "Florodora" and many light melodies, died today at his daughter's house in Richmond. He had been ill two or three weeks of liver trouble and contracted a chill which developed into pneumonia and pleurisy. He was 64 years old.

While Mr. Stuart lay on his deathbed a band was playing "The Lily of Lagana" at a gala performance at the London Coliseum, with the Queen of Afghanistan in the royal box. The audience applauded at the end, not knowing that the composer was dying.

At the age of 15 Leslie Stuart was appointed organist in St. John's Roman Catholic Cathedral, Salford, and after playing there for seven years he spent an equal term as organist of the Church of the Holy Name in Manchester. At his bankruptcy proceedings in 1912 he stated that his real name was Thomas Augustine Barrett, that he had realized $100,000 from "Florodora," and that his financial troubles were largely due to the pirating of his songs, which reduced his royalties and eventually put him in the power of money lenders. He said that he had averaged $17,000 in profits from each of the following operettas: "The Silver Slipper," "The School Girl," "The Belle of Mayfair," "Havana," "Peggy" and "The Slim Princess."

Among the more than a score of popular songs written by Mr. Stuart were "Louisiana Lou," one of his first compositions, sung with great success by Ellaline Terriss in "The Shop Girl"; "Soldiers of the Queen," "The Little Octoroon," "My Little Black Pearl," "On the Road to Tipperary." In 1915 Stuart accompanied his daughter's singing of his songs in vaudeville, and in 1917 while in this country he wrote the music for the "Midnight Frolic." He went back to England in 1921 and appeared in vaudeville again.

FROM THE FOUNDER'S WRITINGS

There Is More Common Sense Among the Common People

than many of us suspect. Invariably they use up less time in making their errands known and in the letters they write than lots of our best friends and best-educated business people.

The MOTHS that eat up time and patience!

They flap in for one minute only and, flattering one for ten minutes, take ten minutes more to shoot off an inquiry prefaced by excuses and apologies which take ten minutes to present.

Moths that eat up time worse than the little, flying, silent things that bite holes into our clothes and carpets.

STATE-WIDE INQUIRY IS VOTED IN JERSEY

Senate and Assembly Decide on Investigation of Entire System of Government.

CIVIL SERVICE UNDER FIRE

Also Adopt a Resolution Calling for Move to End Delay in Crossing Eliminations.

BANKERS ATTACK HOUSE

They Warn of Many Dangers in Failure to Pass Curb on Chain Banks and Holding Companies.

Special to The New York Times.

TRENTON, March 27.—The Democratic minority in the Senate joined with the Republicans today in adopting the Davis resolution calling for an investigation that is aimed at the State Civil Service Commission but is to take in also the State's financial structure and the elimination of overlapping departments by consolidation wherever possible.

The resolution calls for the appointment of a committee of eight members with power to investigate any question of public interest for any State department, board or commission. It was passed by a 20-to-0 vote.

Simpson Wants Hudson Inquiry.

With the possibility of an investigation into Hudson County affairs, which had been threatened by the Republicans for several years, Senator Simpson, the minority leader, said an investigation would be welcomed so that an end could be made of the reports frequently circulated against the county. He rebuked the Legislature for failing to adopt the recommendations of the investigating committee headed by former Senator William H. Bright, which studied the State government a few years ago.

Senator Abell, who is Chairman of the Appropriations Committee, declared that there was urgent need of a survey of the financial system of the State. He was supported by Senator Richards, who pointed out that while the annual budget calls for about $24,000,000, the State would spend about $68,000,000 next year.

Inquiry into the possibility of general elimination or alteration of railroad grade crossings is proposed in a concurrent resolution by Senator Davis which received today the approval of both houses.

The failure of the Assembly to act on Senator Davis's bill to curb bank stock holding companies and to prevent chain banking drew a sharp protest today from the New Jersey Bankers' Association. The bill is in the possession of the Miscellaneous Business Committee of the lower house, and Assemblyman Gabrielson of Essex County, the Republican whip, has declared it will not be considered at this session.

Called Most Important Bill.

"The New Jersey Bankers' Association is of the opinion that this bill is the most important piece of legislation which has come before the Legislature at this session," the protest said. "Its reasons for thinking so are the dangers which will certainly arise from the control and operation of a chain of banks and trust companies by a holding corporation, the possibility of insolvency of one or more of such banks or trust companies, the tendency to improper banking practice and probable loss of confidence by the public in all the banks and trust companies in the State if the chain bank evil is not crushed and stopped now."

The Assembly defeated the bill introduced by Assemblyman Applegate of Middlesex County making it mandatory for motorists to equip their machines with a device designed to trace hit-and-run drivers. The device, invented by William Fitzgerald, a cripple of Highland Park, consists of disks bearing the number of the license plates, attached to the bumper so that they would be released and scattered along the road after an accident.

Another threat against the leadership of United States Senator Edge developed today when it became known that Republican leaders, said to represent eighteen counties, had a secret conference last Saturday at Camden. One of the rumored results of the meeting was an agreement to support Hamilton F. Kean for United States Senator and Senator Morgan F. Larson for Governor. Some of the North Jersey representatives held out for former Judge Robert Carey for Governor, it was said, and there was also some sentiment for Senator Emerson L. Richards. No one alleged to have been at the meeting would discuss it.

LAUDS JERSEY GOVERNORS.

Stokes Eulogizes Voorhees and Griggs at Legislative Memorial.

Special to The New York Times.

TRENTON, N. J., March 27.—With former Governor Edward C. Stokes as the orator, the Legislature met in joint session today to honor the memory of the late Governors Voorhees and Griggs. Governor Moore, other State officials and members of the families of the two deceased Executives attended the ceremony.

Senate President Stevens, in presenting Mr. Stokes, called attention to the fact that Mr. Stokes's brother died on Monday in New York and that the speaker in his own hour of bereavement had not neglected what he regarded as his duty to the memory of his former friends. Bound volumes of his eulogy will be presented to members of the Voorhees and Griggs families.

Mr. Stokes said that the doctrine for fewer and simpler laws espoused by the late Governor Griggs could be traced to his youthful services as a legislator. He pointed out that nearly every Governor since has followed in the footsteps of Mr. Griggs, although the number of laws passed constantly increases.

Mr. Stokes said Governor Voorhees's term was "Coolidge-like in its simplicity, its modesty and devotion to the commonwealth."

Newark Organ-Grinder Puts Old Tunes on New Cash Basis

Tony, Newark's premier organ-grinder, is a good economist. When the Spring burgeoned, according to the press, some days ago, Tony dusted off his old street piano, adjusted the old shafts, the old shoulder strap and the old tunes. But he started work with a new idea.

No more for him the barbarous fate of jongleurs, minnesingers, minstrels, ballad mongers and other artists, proverbially dependent upon chance-flung pennies for their upkeep. Tony, progressive, put the organ-grinding business on a paying basis. Any good commodity has a fair price, Tony says.

He is charging a nickel a customer for three tunes f. o. b. Newark, these days, and doing nicely in the vicinity of Market Street.

HYLAN DENOUNCES GOMPERT'S CRITICS

Says 'Propagandists' of 'Gary School Band' Caused the Ousting of Architect.

GREETED AS NEXT MAYOR

Speaks at a Dinner in Honor of M. A. McConville—1,000 Guests Are Present.

Former Mayor Hylan, speaking last night at a testimonial dinner at the Hotel Commodore to Matthew A. McConville, business representative for more than thirty years of the New York City local of the International Union of Steam and Operating Engineers, charged "the Gary School band of propagandists" with the responsibility for the ousting of William H. Gompert as chief architect of schools.

His appearance was applauded vigorously by the 1,000 persons at the dinner, one of whom re-nominated him to be "our next Mayor." Mr. Hylan injected into his praise of the guest of honor what was interpreted as a comment on Mayor Walker's travels.

"Mr. McConville," he said, "was always patient with me in his dealings while I was in office, although the Mayor's duties are so arduous—or they were in the days when I was there—that sometimes the Mayor must lose his equilibrium."

Turning to the controversy over the school architect who was blamed for the faulty construction of many school buildings by Mayor Walker's special advisory committee, Mr. Hylan continued: "You labor men keep your eyes on the school program. A short time ago an attack was launched on the architect who laid out the school program while I was in office. In place of a man who was turning out three or four building plans in three or four months I got an architect who would produce twenty-five or thirty in the same time."

Linking the recent criticism of his appointee with "the Rockefeller interests" and proponents of Gary schools "who don't want the children of the masses educated because they are afraid there will be no one to do the laboring jobs," he went on:

"Watch out for these propagandists," he said. "The first thing they had this Administration do was to turn out the only architect I could get who would turn out the school plans fast enough. I don't know anything about his qualifications other than that he did build schools faster than any one else."

Richard E. Enright, Police Commissioner when Mr. Hylan was Mayor, and Fire Chief John Kenlon also spoke. Borough President Maurice E. Connolly of Queens sat on the dais, but did not speak.

MAY ENGLISH WINS POINT.

Wisconsin Term Eliminated in Trial as Fourth Offender.

Many clashes between the Court and defense counsel enlivened the trial yesterday of May English, 47 years old, in Judge Collins's part of General Sessions as a fourth offender. She was convicted last December of the theft of $43 from the purse of a woman shopper.

Police records showed four previous felony convictions against her, and under the Baumes law she must receive a life term. But she denied the previous convictions, so a jury must determine whether she is a habitual criminal.

Assistant District Attorney McDonnell's effort to establish the first conviction recorded against her was frustrated. Evidence had been introduced that she had been sentenced in Milwaukee to a four-year term as a pickpocket in 1911, but the prosecutor was unable to produce an official from Milwaukee to identify her as the convicted woman. This case was eliminated from the proceeding by the Court.

William H. Pelton, a former Boston detective, identified the defendant as the woman he had arrested in 1915 for the theft of a purse containing $9, for which she was sentenced to nine months in Deer Island Prison.

The proceedings will be continued this morning.

QUARTERS FOR NEW YORKERS

Secretary Reilly Arranging for Delegation's Care at Houston.

Special to The New York Times.

HOUSTON, Texas, March 27.—Hugh J. Reilly, Secretary of the New York Democratic State Committee, is in Houston making arrangements for the care of New York's ninety delegates and ninety alternates at the convention, as well as for his committee's headquarters organization. He will arrange for their hotel accommodations, committee rooms and other needs.

It is probable that the delegation will be quartered at the Rice Hotel. The bulk of the clerical and stenographic staff probably would be recruited here, he said. Mr. Reilly expects to spend several days here.

HOUSTON, Texas, March 27 (AP).—Having hurdled the preliminaries incident to erection of an auditorium for the Democratic National Convention in June, Mayor Oscar Holcombe turned his attention today to the comfort of the delegates. A contract for a cooling system at a cost of $26,000 had been let, he said, to a New York firm.

GRAND JURY TO GET LOAN TESTIMONY

Tuttle Asks Action by Banton on Hearing Truckman and Wife in "Sharks" Inquiry.

A LENDER IS ACCUSED

Witness Tells of Getting $75 on $100 Note, Paying $110 Fees and Losing $450 Car.

United States Attorney Tuttle's "loan shark" investigation before United States Commissioner Garrett W. Cotter developed testimony yesterday which caused him to instruct an assistant to take two witnesses before the Grand Jury at once. Mr. Tuttle notified District Attorney Banton that the testimony indicated the commission of grand larceny by a money lender.

These witnesses were George Clancy, a truckman of 6,086 Third Avenue, Brooklyn, and his wife, Mary, who brought with them to the hearing their two children, 6 and 8 years old. Clancy told of losing his $450 truck, giving a note for $100 and paying $110 in various charges as a result of having obtained a loan of $75 from Julius Knepper of 463 East 163d Street, the Bronx. Clancy's testimony was corroborated by that of his wife, who was co-maker on the note he said he had given to Knepper.

Their story, as drawn out by Mr. Tuttle, was that desiring to place a $100 mortgage on the truck, Clancy went to Knepper and obtained the $75 loan. When Clancy fell behind in his payments on the loan, he said, Knepper took his truck away from him and told him it would cost him $25 to get it back, and an additional $25 for "hauling."

Truck Seized Again, He Says.

Once more, according to the testimony, Clancy was unable to meet payments and the truck was seized a second time by Knepper. They were then told they would have to pay $25 for "repossession," $15 more for "hauling" and $20 more for garage charges. They were unable to get the money to cover these charges, they declared, for some little time, and when they did get it they were informed by Knepper that the vehicle had been sold at auction. Mrs. Clancy testified that, in her opinion, the auction, if any, was a "fake." She said she and Clancy had received no money as a result of the alleged sale.

It was then that Mr. Tuttle instructed Assistant United States Attorney John Blake to take the Clancys before the Grand Jury. He told Mr. Blake also to investigate the amounts of income tax paid by certain money lenders whose names and firms have figured in the John Doe inquiry.

More City Workers on Stand.

Four more city employes testified yesterday of dealings with Jacob Sarner of 154 Nassau Street. They said he was known in many city offices as a solicitor of loans. Mr. Tuttle withheld the names of these city witnesses.

One told of paying Sarner $500 for a $400 loan. Two others, co-makers on a note, said their salaries had been garnisheed when the borrower failed to pay an instalment. They said they had also been required to sign confessions of judgment setting forth that the money was owed for jewelry and other merchandise which had been purchased. This was generally put in, it was said, in order that garnisheements might be obtained by the lender.

Vincent Lopez, jazz orchestra conductor for whom a Grand Jury summons was issued Monday, did not appear yesterday, nor was it known whether he had been served. Mr. Lopez was subpoenaed after a witness had said he occupied offices with the Eldorado Finance Corporation at 1,595 Broadway. Mr. Blake said late in the afternoon that a man who said he was "Mr. Winkler, attorney for the Eldorado concern," had telephoned him that he had accepted service of a subpoena for the corporation and had said he would try to arrange for Mr. Lopez's appearance.

She Will Serve Six Months on Liquor Charge While He Works to Feed Children.

Special to The New York Times.

BEAVER, Pa., March 27.—Fearing that her six little children might suffer for the bare necessities of life if her husband, Julius Peirce, went to jail for violation of the liquor laws, Mrs. Victoria Peirce, 37, of New Brighton, took up the burden of doing the six months' sentence—and the Court approved the substitution.

Peirce pleaded guilty to making moonshine and was sentenced to jail for six months. He asked the Court for mercy because of the suffering his imprisonment would entail on his children.

"There will be no one to earn a penny to feed them, your Honor," he said.

"If your wife comes in and pleads I'll release you," said Judge Frank T. Reader. Mrs. Peirce did not delay. She took all the blame for the liquor. Judge Reader then sentenced her to six months in jail and $200 fine.

On leaving the court room to begin her sentence the woman appeared to be happy in the knowledge that her children would not want. She said: "It won't be long until I shall get out, and there is no reason why I should worry while I am in jail—I will know my babies are being cared for."

READS BLAINE OUT OF PARTY

Wisconsin State Chairman Will Challenge Senator if Delegate.

MILWAUKEE, March 27 (AP).—Senator John J. Blaine's right, if elected, to sit as a delegate from Wisconsin to the Kansas City Republican National Convention will be challenged before the Credentials Committee, A. B. Fontaine, Chairman of the regular Republican State Committee, announced today.

Mr. Fontaine asserts that the Wisconsin Senator has seceded from the Republican Party and, therefore, is not entitled to a seat in the national convention, if elected. Mr. Fontaine is directing the campaign of the ticket which is opposing the La Follette-Norris delegate slate.

During his recent tour of Wisconsin in behalf of the Norris-La Follette slate, Senator Blaine in a speech at Kenosha declared if Herbert Hoover were nominated by the Republicans, he hoped the Democrats would nominate Senator James A. Reed of Missouri, so he would have someone for whom to vote.

Senate Votes City of New York $764,143, Paid for Supporting Civil War Troops

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 27.—Efforts of the City of New York for nearly sixty-seven years to collect $764,143 owed to it by the Federal Government for raising and supporting sixty-six regiments of Union troops in the Civil War are in a fair way of being successful through the action of the Senate this afternoon in passing a bill introduced by Senator Copeland directing the Treasury to pay the claim.

The money, less interest of about $120,000 which the city paid on the bonds covering the amount, was appropriated by the Common Council and expended by the Union Defense Committee of the City of New York, of which John A. Dix, who was Governor of the State, was Chairman.

Since November, 1861, the city has been endeavoring to obtain reimbursement, principal and interest, from the Federal Government, but various bills were not acted upon chiefly for the reason that an audit of the claim was not made by the Government.

All Civil War claims of States were paid under an act of Congress authorizing such reimbursement upon presentation of properly audited accounts, but there was no general legislation in favor of municipalities which had aided in defeating the Confederacy.

In 1903 the City of New York presented a petition to Congress, but nothing appears to have been done about it. At the outbreak of the World War the Controller of the city certified transcripts of municipal records showing the amounts that had been expended by the city for equipping and supporting troops during the Civil War.

There was no forward step, however, until February, 1925, when the Senate directed the Federal Controller to audit the city's claim. In February, 1927, the Controller General submitted the audit and thus paved the way for the passage of the Copeland bill by the Senate.

The bill now goes to the House, which had failed to act on two Senate bills authorizing a Federal Government audit of the city's claim.

TWO WOMEN ROBBED OF $10,309 IN BRONX

Three Unarmed Men Attack Them in Vestibule on Way to Fordham Road Bank.

But Thugs Flee With Metropolitan Insurance Branch Cash as Crowds Pass in Street.

Three hold-up men, apparently unarmed, robbed two young women of $6,509 in cash and $3,800 in checks at 11:30 o'clock yesterday morning in the vestibule of the East Fordham Theatre Building, 215 Fordham Road, one of the busiest sections of the Bronx at that time of day.

The victims were Mrs. Gertrude Klinger, 26 years old, of 2,267 Eastern Boulevard, and Miss Carolyn Mack, 22 years old, of 4,722 Richardson Avenue, both of the Bronx. They were on their way to the Colonial Bank, Fordham Road and Morris Avenue, with collections of the Bronx branch of the Metropolitan Insurance Company, located on the second floor of the theatre building.

Thugs Speed Away in Sedan.

Mrs. Klinger, cashier of the office, who has been employed by the insurance company since 1921, was carrying the money in two paper packages, just as she had done at that time of day for several years. She and Miss Mack had reached the ground floor when three men leaped at them from a door opening on an alley off Valentine Avenue.

Two of the robbers seized the women by their throats. The money dropped to the floor. The third man pounced upon it and ran out. His two companions joined him a few seconds later, entered a large sedan parked on Valentine Avenue and disappeared, driving north.

Screams Bring Office Manager.

The women's screams attracted E. J. Adams, manager of the office, and other employes.

Deputy Chief Inspector John O'Brien, Inspector John Duane, Captain Henry Bruckman and twenty detectives started a search for the robbers. The license plates of the automobile, as noted by witnesses, were ascertained to have been stolen from another car, the police said.

The stolen money was the receipts of fifty-three collectors for yesterday and the day before.

ASKS DRIVE ON AUTO DEATHS

Stanley Resor Says Advertising Methods Should Be Applied.

Business methods that produce the major advertising successes might profitably be applied to the traffic problem, in the opinion of Stanley Resor, President of the J. Walter Thompson Company, who spoke yesterday to the New York University Men in Advertising and the Yale Men in Advertising, meeting at a joint luncheon at the Yale Club.

Discussing the deaths, injuries and economic losses resulting from highway accidents in the past four years, Mr. Resor said:

"If industry had no more vision than we, as citizens, display on a human situation like this, there would be no such thing as mass production in the United States today. The total losses during 1924, 1925, 1926 and 1927 were as follows: Deaths, 99,318; injuries, 2,990,330; economic loss, $2,515,097,000. Compare this with our World War loss figures: Killed in action, 37,566; died of wounds, 12,942; wounded, not mortally, 182,674.

"How long are we to let this condition continue? We cannot expect to diminish the traffic. No one would want to do away with motor cars, even when suffering from traffic congestion annoyances, but surely the solution of our traffic problems would be expedited by the same methods which make for major successes in advertising."

Mr. Resor recommended a thorough program of education, in order, he said, that every citizen might really understand the problem.

READY FOR CATHOLIC DRIVE.

Bishop Dunn Announces District Managers at Luncheon to 400 Priests

The Right Rev. John J. Dunn, Auxiliary Bishop of New York, placed in the hands of more than 400 active parish directors of the archdiocese yesterday preliminary plans for the projected Catholic charities appeal. The priests, representing a Catholic population of 1,250,000, were the guests of Bishop Dunn at a luncheon at the Hotel Commodore.

The Very Rev. William James Kerby, S. T. L., Professor of Sociology at the Catholic University of America, in Washington, D. C., addressed the meeting on the subject of charities and the "Eternal Debt to the Poor."

Following the luncheon a list of district managers among the priests was announced.

Taxi Driver Testifies at Trial of "Pants Gang" in Killing of Policeman.

DRUGGIST IDENTIFIES TWO

Woman Points to Third as Man She Saw at Scene of Brooklyn Crime—Court in Night Session.

A prisoner-witness for the prosecution, Samuel Krassner, a taxi driver, of 133 Suffolk Street, Manhattan, identified the three defendants on trial in the Brooklyn Supreme Court yesterday as the trio of youths who had ridden in his car to 926 Nostrand Avenue, where Policeman William E. Kelly was killed in frustrating a hold-up on Jan. 31. These defendants, Harry Dreitzer and Edward Fisher of Manhattan and Isidore Helfant of Brooklyn, are being tried on a charge of murdering the policeman while in the act of committing a hold-up.

They are alleged to have been leaders of the so-called "pants gang," which was responsible for numerous robberies, the police allege. Krassner, who admitted on the stand that he had figured as chauffeur for the gang in some of the hold-ups, said all he had received at any time out of the proceeds of any robbery was his taxi fare and an "extra tip of $1." He had reported his cab stolen after the hold-up in which Kelly was killed, but when cornered by the police he admitted his complicity and said he had decided to turn against his companions.

On the night of the murder, Krassner testified, the three defendants ordered him to take them to Nostrand Avenue and Crown Street, Brooklyn. There they alighted and told him to keep moving around the block until their return. He saw the three go toward the pharmacy of Irving Stoller.

"Five minutes later Helfant and Dreitzer appeared with guns in their hands," testified Krassner. "They jumped in the cab and Dreitzer stuck his gun at me and said: 'Drive! Hurry up; we killed a cop. We found a badge in his pocket.' Dreitzer then said, 'I must have killed the cop; I gave him the works.'

Irving Stoller, proprietor of the drug store where the hold-up took place, identified Dreitzer and Fisher as the gunmen.

Mrs. Marie Zinnell of 281 Crown Street testified that she was returning to her apartment when she heard a shot from the opposite side of the street and saw two men run to a waiting taxi, which sped away. Then, she said, a tall man came from the same direction and walked behind her into the vestibule of the apartment.

"I was frightened," Mrs. Zinnell testified, "and backed out to the street, fearing that the man might seek to enter if I opened the door. He went out also, looked in the direction the taxi had gone and remarked, 'I ought to have got the number of that taxi.' Then he disappeared." Mrs. Zinnell then identified Fisher as the "tall man."

Justice Harry E. Lewis continued the trial last night until 10 o'clock to expedite it so that he might be clear for work in another court on Monday.

EX-BOXERS FIGHT ON DARE.

Loser Says Other Used a Knife, but Magistrate Dismisses Charge.

Two former prizefighters talked shop on Monday night. Yesterday one of them appeared in West Side Court charging the other with felonious assault, but Magistrate Glatzmayer disagreed and dismissed the charge. James Burns, a former bantamweight, of 557 West 161st Street, appeared against George Curtis, a former lightweight navy boxer, of 542 West 112th Street.

The story as told in court was that Thomas Mongan, who lives with Curtis, met Burns at a union meeting and invited him to go home with him after the meeting. Burns was telling of his prowess when Curtis interrupted to ask if he had ever been knocked out and, on receiving a negative answer, avowed that he was just the man for that task.

The upshot was an arrangement to do battle for a purse of $20. Burns said Curtis used a butcher knife, which Curtis denied. At any rate Dr. Degenhart was called from Knickerbocker Hospital to remove Burns from the wreckage that once was the interior of the Curtis apartment. Burns still wore a bandage in court.

SUBPOENAS PHILLIPS FOR SEWER INQUIRY

Shearn Also Gets Orders for 4 Other Witnesses and Process Servers Begin Search.

TO SERVE CONNOLLY TODAY

Borough Head Will Be Notified of Public Hearing April 9—Fifty More Persons Examined.

Subpoenas for five of the nine missing witnesses wanted in connection with the Queens sewer investigation were signed yesterday by Supreme Court Justice Humphrey in Long Island City. The subpoenas were obtained by Commissioner Shearn, investigating the alleged excessive cost of Queens sewer construction in removal proceedings against Borough President Maurice E. Connolly.

The subpoenas were issued under the new law enacted at the closing session of the Legislature—a law which provides a $100,000 fine for a missing witness who ignores such an order for his appearance. Those subpoenaed were John M. Phillips, alleged head of the Queens sewer ring; Thomas (Doc.) Cassidy, his close friend and business associate in the sale of lock-joint sewer pipe; Albert Decker, of Muccini & Decker, sewer contractors; Frederick B. Seeley, engineer in charge of sewer design in Queens, and James Gallo, Vice President and General Manager of the Everett Construction Company.

Will Search the Resorts.

Phillips, Cassidy, Decker and Seeley are required to appear before Commissioner Shearn on April 6, and Gallo is ordered to appear March 30. Process servers have been instructed to search in Florida resorts and elsewhere for the missing witnesses.

Emory R. Buckner, counsel for Commissioner Shearn, was investigating yesterday a report that Seeley, who had been reported in Havana, had returned to New York, had consulted counsel with a view to testing the constitutionality of the missing witness law, and had left the jurisdiction again.

Four other missing witnesses for whom subpoenas will be issued today are John J. Creem of Dut, Inc.; Clifton E. Turner, President of the Highway Improvement and Repair Company; Joseph Deegan of the Everett Contracting Company, and Harry S. Hart, who controls the sale of small-size sewer pipe in Queens.

Commissioner Shearn, through counsel, will serve notice today upon Borough President Connolly of the public hearings to begin on April 9. Mr. Buckner expects to have no trouble in serving Mr. Connolly. He understands that Max D. Steuer, counsel for Mr. Connolly, is willing to accept service. Commissioner Shearn is required to give eight days' notice of the hearing to Mr. Connolly.

The public hearings will be held in the Queens County Court room on the second floor of the court house. Judge Frank F. Adel informed Mr. Buckner yesterday that the county court room was available.

Fifty Witnesses Examined.

Although Commissioner Shearn was compelled to be absent in the afternoon a record number of witnesses—fifty in all—were examined by Mr. Buckner and his assistants. The witnesses were for the most part "emergency employes" of Queens Borough. It was explained that James J. Mulany, Secretary to Borough President Connolly, had sent letters requesting a score of employes in Queens Borough Hall to appear before Commissioner Shearn.

Among those who were examined were Geoffrey Inman, structural steel draftsman; Thomas Phillips, worker in the Highways Department and brother of John M. Phillips; Fred George, chief clerk at Borough Hall; Walter J. O'Neil, H. E. Lichtman, sewer engineer; Mabel Seeley, sister of the missing sewer design engineer; Andrew Rogge, Treasurer of the Federal Concrete Pipe Company, the Bronx, and a stenographer from the offices of Muccine & Decker.

GIRL SHOT AND KILLED; POSTMASTER IS SOUGHT

Police of Walkill, N. Y., Hunt Woods for Brother of the Girl's Fiance.

NEWBURGH, N. Y., March 27 (AP).—Believed to have been attacked by a man mentally unbalanced from brooding over what he considered an unwise friendship of his brother for her, Maria Terwilliger, 19 years old, of Walkill, was shot and killed as she left her home today.

Police tonight began a search of the near-by countryside for Harry T. McHugh, village postmaster, whom they suspected of the murder. McHugh disappeared from his office a few minutes before the shooting, authorities said.

Miss Terwilliger, who lived above the postoffice, was shot as she stepped from her stairway door into the street. She was to have married Jesse McHugh, brother of the postmaster.

Margaret Goldsmith, a friend of Miss Terwilliger and operator at the village telephone exchange located in the Terwilliger home, was on duty at the switchboard when the shooting occurred. She told the police that McHugh came into the room while she was talking with Miss Terwilliger; that he addressed himself to both of the girls, charging they were the source of comment about the village; that Miss Terwilliger and McHugh quarreled and then left the room together and that a moment later she heard the sound of a blow and a call for help from Miss Terwilliger.

At this point, the police said she told them, she crawled onto a porch roof to call for help, and while doing so heard the sound of the pair running downstairs and then several shots. The location of the shooting was placed at the foot of the stairway by Miss Goldsmith.

E. C. Masten, proprietor of a store adjoining the Postoffice, said he heard two shots and ran into the street to find the Terwilliger girl dying in the doorway of her home. He saw nothing of the man who fired the shots, he said.

Will Rogers in Pennsylvania, Notes Two Outstanding Facts

To the Editor of The New York Times:

PITTSBURGH, Pa., March 27.—Am here in Pittsburgh, but am the only person that didn't come to investigate the coal situation.

Henry Ford is paying $8 a day and having no trouble in his mines. Ain't it funny when it looks like a business can't be run right, he bobs up and shows that it can. I believe that fellow could make a farm pay.

Talk about Andy Mellon's great Treasury record, you ought to see his State political one. He is the only man, since Mussolini in Italy, that controls both the Republican and Democratic delegations to both conventions. I think he will instruct both delegations for Coolidge.

WILL ROGERS.

GOV. SMITH VETOES GAME LAW CHANGES

Declares Relief Could Be Obtained by Giving Ruling Power to Commissioner.

SIGNS SCHOOL BUDGET ACTS

Governor Disapproves Measure Placing Cost of Highways Entirely on the State.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, March 27.—Declaring that the Legislature should not waste its time each year in passing minor amendments to the Conservation law when the purpose sought could be achieved through rules made by the Conservation Commissioner, if vested by law with the necessary power, Governor Smith today vetoed fifteen measures designed to amend that statute.

The bills would have regulated the taking and transportation of frogs, provided for the taking of game with a long bow, reduced the fee for ferret licenses, changed the present law relating to set lines, lengthened the seasons for the taking of raccoon and many other similar changes.

In disapproving these measures the Governor pointed out that many of the State departments now are clothed with far more important rule-making powers than those which would be lodged in the Conservation Commissioner, were he authorized by the Legislature to make changes in the Conservation law.

Under the Wales bill, signed today by the Governor, marriages may be annulled if the husband or wife has been afflicted with incurable insanity for five or more years.

The Governor approved the Hutchinson bill which provides for an appropriation of $30,000 for crossings at grade of the Conduit Boulevard and the tracks of the Long Island Railroad in the villages of Lynbrook and Valley Stream, Nassau County.

Four measures, sponsored by a special legislative committee of which Senator Seabury C. Mastick, Republican, of Westchester, was Chairman, and all designed to give city authorities more to say in connection with school budgets, were approved by the Governor.

The Mastick Committee spent several months last year investigating school finance problems throughout the State. One of the measures requires the city budget to separately indicate the amount to be levied for school purposes, if the school budget is subject to change by any city authority.

Five other measures were vetoed by the Governor, including one which would have made prison guards eligible for group life insurance. The Governor said he felt this measure should be held in abeyance until the Legislature passed a bill permitting any association of Government employes to be eligible for such insurance.

The Thompson bill, which would have permitted any town in Suffolk County to set up a mosquito extermination district, was disapproved by the Governor. He said he believed that if this was to be done it should be on a county-wide basis.

The Governor vetoed the Lord bill, which would have provided that after Jan. 1, 1929, State and county highways be maintained solely by the State.

This would have relieved the towns of paying $50 per mile tax, and the villages of paying a tax of 1½ cents per square foot which they now pay toward the maintenance of State highways.

The Governor said that to approve this bill would upset a policy which has been in existence ever since the State has had a department of highways.

RADIO FOR REICH CAMPAIGN.

Party Heads to Decide on Extent of Its Use by Candidates.

Copyright, 1928, by The New York Times Company.
Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BERLIN, March 27.—Leaders of German political factions will be allowed to decide how large a part radio shall play in the campaign for Reichstag elections on May 20, the Cabinet decided today after a long session. All plans, however, must be subject to a Censorship Board, which will pass on all speeches broadcast.

In 1924 the radio was used freely by the candidates, but during the Presidential campaign of 1926 each candidate in final hours of the campaign was permitted to make only one speech. Since then the censorship system has been introduced and there is a question whether the Cabinet is empowered to set aside this regulation during the campaign merely on the decree of the Government.

Since the owners of radio sets are obliged to pay a monthly fee of 50 cents to the Government, they may object to regular concerts being supplanted by political speeches. On the other hand, the entire broadcasting enterprise is in the hands of the Government which owns and operates all stations and which politicians feel should be put at their disposal to inform the public on important political activities.

'SPLIT' OF NEW STAR STIRS SCIENTISTS

South African Report of Nova Pictoris Separation Is Received With Caution.

VARIOUS THEORIES OFFERED

May Be Result of Collision or Explosion, British Astronomer Suggests.

WILL NOT AFFECT UNIVERSE

Dr. Luyten of Harvard Thinks Star May Have Had Companion Heretofore Invisible.

By Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, March 27.—British astronomers were startled but not at all alarmed today by the Cape Town report that the star Nova Pictoris had split in two. All awaited with keen interest any further news from South Africa.

Most surprised of all was Dr. J. H. Jeans of the Royal Society, who said he could hardly believe the news was true.

"It is so surprising that without very careful confirmation I should be inclined to think another star not hitherto noticed has sunk down to Nova Pictoris," he said.

Dr. W. H. Stevenson, Fellow of the Royal Astronomical Society, said it was a very extraordinary phenomenon, and "so far as it is possible to tell, quite unprecedented."

Doubts Star Split Suddenly.

"I do not suppose the star has split suddenly," he said. "It must have been coming about for months or years and has not split into two portions sufficiently wide apart to be seen under a large telescope. It is reasonable to suppose that in a few years' time it may be visible under smaller telescopes.

"It is common for new stars to develop a nebulous envelope or globes of gas gradually, but never to split in two. Whether this is the result of an internal explosion or due to some collision between itself and an invisible or dark star, or between itself and a nebula, we do not know. It will not have any effect on the rest of the universe. The stars are too far apart.

"The whole thing is an extraordinarily complex business and we shall all await more definite data with interest."

At Greenwich, where the Royal Observatory telescopes scan the heavens, Sir Frank Dyson, Astronomer Royal, said he could not discuss the matter till more news came from Cape Town.

Sir Napier Shaw, meteorologist, had this comment to make:

"This agreement on the part of Nova Pictoris to separate can affect only the astronomers. They will enjoy it very much."

CAPE TOWN, South Africa, March 27 (AP).—Astronomical circles are deeply interested by the discovery that the star Nova Pictoris, first discerned in South Africa in 1925, has split in two.

The La Plata Observatory in Argentina recently reported to the Union of South Africa Observatory that this star presented a very strange appearance. The South African astronomers resumed observations through their great 36-inch telescope and confirmed the opinion that the star had split. Developments are being closely studied.

Dr. Luyten Has Two Theories.

Dr. W. J. Luyten of Harvard University said last night over the telephone from the Harvard Observatory that it was possible that the star had split, but that there were also two other possibilities.

"It may be," he said, "that the star was always a double one, but that the second part has never before been observed. When Nova Pictoris was first observed in 1925, it was so brilliant that no faint companion star could have been observed. The brilliance of the star has now faded, so that it might be now possible to see the faint companion star previously invisible.

"The second possibility is that the second object now seen is not a star, but a condensation of gas near the star. The new star is surrounded by an envelope of gas or a nebula. Some violent commotion took place which caused its brightness when it was first observed three years ago. It is possible now that in some part of this nebula condensation is taking place in such a way as to resemble a second star.

"Of course, it is not impossible that a star may have split, but such an occurrence has never yet been observed, and astronomers will generally suspend judgment until they have further observations."

New Comet Reported From France.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., March 27 (AP).—Discovery of a new comet by Giacobini at Nice, France, was made known today at the Harvard observatory, where a report of the astronomer's observation was received. The comet was described as being of low visibility and traveling southward with a rapid motion. Its position at the time it was first observed was approximately eight degrees north of the constellation Orion in the southwestern sky.

HELD IN HAMPSON'S DEATH

Deerman Detained Without Bail—Pianist's Funeral Today.

When he pleaded not guilty yesterday in the Homicide Court to the charge that he had caused the death of Gordon Hampson, pianist and composer, by striking him with his fist and breaking his jaw on the night of March 17 last, Joseph F. Bathman, 21 years old, husky doorman of the apartment house at 160 West Seventy-seventh Street, was held without bail by Magistrate Macrery for a hearing next Friday.

Hampson, who was 36 years old, died last Saturday night of septic poisoning in St. Luke's Hospital.

Funeral services for the pianist are to be held at 2 o'clock this afternoon at the Universal Chapel, 897 Lexington Avenue. Mr. Hampson will be buried in Newark, but not before his sister arrives here from Paris. His funeral was erroneously reported yesterday in THE NEW YORK TIMES as taking place yesterday.

Can a Hotel Be "Home"?

PEOPLE do feel "at home" here at the St. George. Over three hundred of our guests have been at home here for over five years. At least fifty have stayed for ten years. More than a dozen have been guests for twenty.

But don't think the St. George is old. It is New York's fourth largest hotel and modern to the last degree. But not oppressively so. It isn't cold and "architectural." There's no office building atmosphere. Wander through the several lobbies and the many cozy lounges and you feel at home—restful and comfortable.

The rooms? Here is a genuine innovation, for each unit is a combination bed and living room.

By day you have a luxurious living room. Furniture in rich toned walnut or mahogany. You have a big overstuffed chair, with end-table 'longside and a bridge lamp for comfortable reading. Pictures and mirrors lend charm to the walls. Beautiful draperies set off your windows. And, of course, there's a bed, but it looks more like a couch.

After dark your maid turns magician. In four minutes she converts your sofa into a luxurious bed and effects other changes which give you a restful sleeping room. Thus you have two rooms for the price of one!

Then dining at the St. George is a pleasure. Three lovely dining rooms invite you to test your appetite—at very moderate rates.

And the St. George is handy. From Wall Street it is just 4 minutes; from Times Square only 15 minutes. Express subway station in the building. No walking.

IMPORTANT — Some time ago the St. George issued a remarkable book "Home Through the Ages"—perhaps the most unusual thing of its kind ever done. The fourth large edition is nearly exhausted. Write or phone for your gratis copy.

ORCHESTRAS PLAY IN GALA BENEFITS

OVATIONS FOR THE LEADERS

Symphony's Hundred Men Heard With Chaliapin at Metropolitan on Day Merger Is Told.

Following by few hours the announcement of amalgamation of New York's leading orchestras, the Philharmonic's veterans played a gala benefit in Carnegie Hall last night, while at the same time the Symphony's hundred men were engaged in a similar enterprise at the Metropolitan.

Five conductors cooperated in the uptown event, for which Carnegie Hall was filled by a brilliant social audiences. The boxes were encircled with flags, American for the most part, with a flourish of "international" bunting here and there for the six nations represented on the program.

The sums of $6,651 net profit was realized by the concert for the joint purposes of the National Music League of this city and the American Academy in Rome. The assisting conductors in turn were Artur Bodansky, Eugene Goossens, Walter Damrosch, E. F. Arbos and Arturo Toscanini.

Toscanini Wins Ovation.

Mr. Toscanini, who was greeted with enthusiasm in the final place of honor, capped two hours' music with his performance of Respighi's "The Pines of Rome." A great crescendo at its close, familiar to his subscription audiences, aroused the house to another excited ovation as the conductor took three recalls and then beckoned his men to bow with him.

The earlier proceedings were likewise punctuated with personal demonstrations, Mr. Bodansky drawing the first rising recall with Wagner's "Meistersinger" overture, as German music's contribution. Mr. Goossens found welcome for the racy flavor of Delius's English rhapsody, "Brigg Fair."

On Walter Damrosch's appearance, the house gave a special round of applause to the Symphony Society's leader, announced as guest conductor with the Philharmonic combination next year. Mr. Damrosch led as America's representative the fine "Pleasure Dome of Kubla Khan" of the late Charles Griffes.

He appeared also for France in conducting Debussy's "Afternoon of a Faun," and was followed by Enrique Fernandez Arbos, the present guest of the Symphony Society's closing season, who led three lyric dance numbers from Granados's "Goyescas," De Falla's "Amor Brujo" and Albeniz's "Triana," this last arranged by Arbos himself for orchestral performance.

Benefit for Cancer Society.

The New York Symphony concert was under the auspices of the New York Committee of the American Society for Control of Cancer. The orchestra, under the direction of Eugene Plotnikoff, assisted by Feodor Chaliapin, the Russian bass, and the Russian Cathedral Choir, gave a program comprising Tchaikovsky's "Manfred" symphony, arias from Borodine's "Prince Igor" and Rimsky-Korsakoff's "Sadko," the latter composer's "Night Before Christmas," and Liszt's "Mephisto" waltz.

The occasion marked the first concert appearance of Mr. Chaliapin with orchestra, in association with Mr. Plotnikoff, his colleague in pre-war days at the Imperial Opera House of Moscow. The famous basso was recalled many times after his two solos, and added two encores, "The Song of the Volga Boatmen" and a repetition of the "Sadko" aria.

Dr. John C. A. Gerster, Chairman of the New York Committee of the American Society for Control of Cancer, spoke briefly during the intermission, outlining the work of his organization in combating cancer through education.

PHILADELPHIANS ASK A CITY MUSIC BUREAU

Plan to Develop World Centre Is Laid Before Mayor by Local Organizations.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, March 27.—Plans to make Philadelphia one of the world's musical centres, through establishment of a municipal bureau of music with far-reaching influence, were laid before Mayor Mackey today by an unofficial commission of citizens headed by Dr. Herbert J. Tily. Every local organization devoted to musical activities had a hand in formulating the recommendations submitted to the Mayor.

The proposed bureau would be organized under the Department of Public Welfare and would coordinate all musical activities toward which the city has contributed, and promote these interests to the greatest extent possible.

The bureau, under the plan, would be "a clearing house to foster worthwhile musical movements." It would sponsor public lectures on music appreciation, promote the organization of a municipal orchestra of professional musicians, one or more amateur civic orchestras, municipal choruses, foster public and private support of opera and supervise musical activities in industrial plants and recreation centres.

CHILDREN IN PERSIAN PLAY.

School of Acting and Design Gives "Kai Khosru" at Hampden's.

The stage of Hampden's Theatre was turned over yesterday afternoon to the children of the School of Acting and Design, which, since its foundation four years ago by the Misses Edith King and Dorothy Colt, has brought its students forward once a year in a dramatic entertainment. This year's production is a Persian play, entitled "Kai Khosru," compounded from the works of various Persian poets. Yesterday's performance was received by a well-filled house with considerable and justifiable enthusiasm, even though not a little of it had inevitably a parental basis.

The play is to be repeated with largely new casts tomorrow and Friday afternoons, and thus most of the children of the school will receive an opportunity to act before the week is over. Those children who do not act figure as scene painters or designers.

Those participating in the various performances are David and Aldon Asherman, Jean Bellows, Caroline Bissell, Flora Blanc, Charmion Campbell, Edward Arthur Chasins, Lois Chasins, Carolyn Clement, Patricia Clement, Mary Dana, Diana Draper, Betty Elser, Ann Ely, Carolyn Ely, Patricia Emmett, Bedella Jane Falls, Teddy Foote, Betty Boucher, Dick Holden, Betty Holden, Pamela Hooker, Joan Howson, Thomas Howson, Stephany Hutchinson, Patricia Montgomery, Billy Osborn, Bayard Osborn, Mary Palmer, David Park, Pary Perrine, Sandy Saxton, Jane Sharp, Mary Schuster, Catharine Innes Smith, Abbott Spencer, Margaret Spencer, Phyllis Spencer, Ruby Ross Williams, Jean Wilson and Zenna Mae Winslow.

Schelling to Be Soloist.

Ernest Schelling, pianist and composer, will be soloist at the next concert of the American Orchestral Society, Chalmers Clifton, conductor, which will take place April 30 in Mecca Temple. This concert will be the organization's last of the season.

11 TWIN CITY THEATRES JOINED TO PUBLIX CHAIN

Northwest Paramount Takes Over Former Finkelstein and Ruben Houses.

Special to The New York Times.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., March 27.—Eleven twin city theatres owned by the Twin City Amusement Trust Estate and formerly operated by Finkelstein & Ruben, today were taken over by the new operating corporation, Northwest Paramount, headed by Sam Katz of New York, President of the Publix Circuit.

Incorporators of the new company are Sam Katz, F. L. Metzler, New York; William Hamm, St. Paul, and Mose Finkelstein, Minneapolis. I. H. Ruben, Harold D. Finkelstein and Edmund R. Ruben, members of the Finkelstein & Ruben concern, are not included as members of the new company in the articles of incorporation.

Northwest Paramount has a capitalization of $100,000. Mr. Hamm announced today that it would be merely an operating company.

At the offices of Sam Katz, President of Publix Theatres, here it was said yesterday that Publix had bought an interest four months ago not only in the eleven theatres mentioned in Minneapolis and St. Paul but also in nearly ninety others in the Finkelstein and Ruben theatre chain in Minnesota and Montana. Publix, it was said, had bought 49 per cent. of the stock in these theatres, and there had been an agreement with Paramount-Famous Lasky to furnish the bulk of the pictures for these houses. Publix is the theatre division of Paramount.

William Fox, motion picture producer, distributer and exhibitor, has been negotiating for some time with Finkelstein and Ruben for the purchase of a portion of their remaining interest in the theatre chain. This deal, it was said here yesterday, was expected to be made, and in that event Fox and Paramount will be partners in this chain of houses.

Library Association Gives Revue.

A musical revue, "Keep Stepping," was presented last night at the Heckscher Theatre, Fifth Avenue and 104th Street, by the Staff Association of the New York Public Library. The show will be played again tonight and tomorrow night, the proceeds going to promote better economic conditions among the employes.

Theatre Club Gives Luncheon.

The seventeenth anniversary Spring luncheon of the Theatre Club took place at the Hotel Astor yesterday. Mrs. Albert A. Snowden, the President, presided. Speakers were Otis Skinner, Frank Gillmore and Graham McNamee. A check for $500 was given to Mr. Skinner for the Shakespeare Memorial Fund Benefit.

PLEAS SWAMP GOLDWYN.

Flood of Applications for Film Roles Greets Producer in Berlin.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BERLIN, March 27.—Samuel Goldwyn, American film producer, who arrived from Paris today, created a stir in German moving picture circles. A small mountain of photographs and applications for Hollywood engagements awaited him when he reached his hotel suite. A large majority of the applicants, of whom most are women, will be disappointed, however, as the famous producer felt himself compelled to limit his sojourn in Berlin to two days. He will return to Paris Thursday night and sail for home Saturday.

He said the sole purpose of his flying visit was to look over the German film situation and get in touch with several well-known writers regarding scenarios and possibly find one or two good actresses who might be placed in a cast with Ronald Colman.

LONDON, March 27.—A company called the United Motion Picture Producers, Ltd., has been formed with the primary idea of acting as distributers in the United States and Canada for selected films of British producing companies. Ten films have already been selected and J. D. Williams, managing director of the new distributing company, is leaving for New York shortly in an attempt to market them.

Bernie and Baker to Produce Play.

Ben Bernie and Phil Baker, one a bandmaster and the other a revue comedian, are entering the field of play production with the Russian piece entitled "Cafe Tamara," now in rehearsal. The play, which had been previously announced as "Cafe Thomaso," will have a cast of fifty, and will open at the Jamaica Theatre on April 23. It will go to Chicago for a Spring run. Rouben Mamoulian is the director.

Two More Plays for Garrick.

The Garrick Players, it was said yesterday, will offer two more plays this season, one of which will be "When Crummles Played," a Dickens dramatization recently seen in London. This play will be put into rehearsal tomorrow and will open about April 23. Bruno Frank's "The Woman on the Animal" is under consideration as the second play. The players, under the direction of Basil Sydney and Mary Ellis, will present another series of productions at the Garrick next season.

THE PLAY

By J. BROOKS ATKINSON.

They Never Miss Their Man.

THE SCARLET FOX, a play in three acts; by Willard Mack. Settings by Cleon Throckmorton; staged by Mr. Mack; produced by James W. Elliott. At the Theatre Masque.

Henry Smithers.....Victor R. Beecroft
Jenkins.....Orville O. Harris
Eric Hammersley.....Arthur Wellesley
Michael Devlin.....Willard Mack
John Christansen.....Hans Sandquist
Novak.....Victor Baker
Ling Foo Loo.....Sam Lee
Harry Spatz.....Joseph Sweeney
Swede Cora.....Marie Chambers
Kathlyn McGuire.....Louise Carter
Martha.....Alice Mee
Trixie.....Helen Handis
Cherry.....Betty Brenska
Bessie.....Beatrice Banyard
Tommy McGuire.....Clark Marshall

Michael Devlin, the swaggering Royal Mounted Police sergeant, who expanded his chest and strutted through "Tiger Rose" a decade ago, has returned cheerily in Willard Mack's "The Scarlet Fox," acted at the Theatre Masque last evening. True to the revered tradition of the scarlet mounted he gets his man "handily" in the end. At the conclusion of the performance last evening Mr. Mack announced that he had reproduced, faithf ' even to the names, a case on record in the archives of the dashing, scarlet heroes of the Canadian plains. But at least on the stage, fiction is stranger than truth; and Mr. Mack, one would suppose, could have made his story and his characters considerably more interesting if he had conjured them entirely out of his fertile brain. By solving the mystery of a murder in the first act and devoting the play solely to the details of a none too alluring arrest, he steals his own melodramatic thunder. In the calendar of the theatre, that would come under the heading of "accidental suicide"—blameless but final nevertheless.

Two gabbling blighters find the body in the first scene. Sergeant Devlin identifies it as McGuire, an enemy of the strikers, and he cannily gives out that he suspects the strikers of foul play. Meanwhile every clue points to Harry Spatz, a dealer in men's furnishings; Ling Foo Loo, a washer of dirty linen, and "Swede" Cora, representative of a profession which has recently been firmly discouraged on our stage.

Before the first act is over Sergeant Devlin has suspected their motive and has only to bring about their arrest. Stepping through a concealed door in Ling Foo Loo's opium joint in the final act he traps the villains just as they are planning the murder of his sweetheart's brother, for that is more than he can bear. Pistols, hand cuffs, vigilant cops concealed like Falstaff in laundry hampers, $30,000 in dope and the warm Irish love of Kathlyn McGuire—"The Scarlet Fox" packs all these bits of melodramatic merchandise into the last act.

Although Mr. Mack appears to have put his materials together with workmanlike skill, he has neglected to keep his characters and his story continuously interesting. Act II defies the present custodians of civic virtue with the details of a semi-official jollification in Cora's infamous joint of easy cheer—liquor, painted women and the wicked spectacle of an impromptu dance. Brazen strumpets and handsome young policemen are a perilous combination, but you know how the Royal Mounted feel about such matters. True to his outfit, Sergeant Devlin keeps on picking up clues even while Cora pats his manly cheek with a scorching hand.

Mr. Mack plays the forebearing Devlin in the flamboyant Irish style made familiar ten years ago. But in the acting of his colleagues the dope-sellers and even the painted ladies of the leisure class represent vice shorn of its fascinatio .. In casting his play, as well as in writing it, Mr. Mack has been so scrupulous about the truth that "The Scarlet Fox" lacks magic.

EDNA LEEDOM IS WED TO FRANK G. DOELGER

Musical Comedy Star Bride of New York Brewer in Her Third Marital Venture.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, March 27.—Edna Wallace Leedom, musical comedy star, and Frank George Doelger, a New York brewer, and son of the late Peter Doelger, were married before a Magistrate in this city on March 9, it became known today. The ceremony was performed by Magistrate Daniel R. Oswald and the couple left shortly after for a wedding trip to Atlantic City. They will live at 1,082 Fifth Avenue, New York City.

Mrs. Doelger, a native of this city, was once a salesgirl here and sang in the choir of the Memorial Baptist Church, Broad and Master Streets. Her mother, Mrs. Julia Leedom, lives at 1,724 North Park Avenue. Her father is employed in New York.

Her first professional appearance on the stage was in vaudeville. Her first husband was Harry Tighe, an actor, and her second, David Stamper, a music composer, from whom she obtained a divorce in January, 1927, in the Ohio courts.

In the marriage license issued here, she gave her age as 31. Mr. Doelger is 42.

Mr. and Mrs. Doelger are at present living in her apartment at 161 West Seventy-fifth Street. Miss Leedom has not yet reached a decision on whether she will continue her stage career. She is recuperating from a serious operation and her physician has forbidden her to resume her dancing for at least six months. Her last stage appearance was in "Lovely Lady," a Shubert production.

GILBERT MILLER RETURNS.

Youmans and Rod La Rocque and Vilma Banky Also Here on Majestic.

Gilbert Miller, producer, returned on the Majestic yesterday from Vienna where he saw the premiere of "Olympia," a new play by Ferenc Molnar, of which he has obtained the American rights. While abroad, Mr. Miller also closed a contract with the Lyceum Theatre, London, for the production of two plays.

Also aboard the Majestic were Vincent Youmans, musical comedy composer, and Rod La Rocque, film star, and his bride Vilma Banky, who will stay in New York a week before returning to Hollywood.

"Rio Rita" Closes Next Week.

The Ziegfeld production of "Rio Rita," after nearly fourteen months in New York, will end its engagement at the Majestic Theatre next week. "Rio Rita," which opened the new Ziegfeld Theatre on Feb. 21, 1927, will go on tour, opening in Washington.

DEMON RUM IS DOWNED IN 'TEN NIGHTS' REVIVAL

Triangle Group Brings 70-Year-Old Play to Wallack's in Dead Earnest Production.

TEN NIGHTS IN A BARROOM, a play in four acts, adapted from T. S. Arthur's book by William W. Pratt. Revived by Kathleen Kirkwood. At Wallack's Theatre.

Demon Rum pursued his hideous course across the stage of Wallack's Theatre last night, leaving a trail of death and misery behind him. A few of his followers saw the error of their ways and joined the white-ribboners in time to find peace and happiness as well as save their immortal souls, but a majority of those who had indulged in wassail in the earlier scenes eventually fell victims to the vile curse of liquor. In sum, Wallack's is finally sheltering a play with some pretense of timeliness and reality.

It so happens that this same play is now celebrating the seventieth anniversary of its first production. It is—as the program calls it—"that sterling American drama" about drink and its evils which the Triangle Theatre has been performing for some time in its subterranean playhouse in Greenwich Village. Now it has been brought uptown, not only to furnish a diverting evening on Forty-second Street but also to provide Wallack's with the best production it has housed recently.

Throughout "Ten Nights in a Barroom" is played with a straight face and with no conscious attempts at burlesque, in the fashion it might have been given in some lesser community thirty years or so ago. Only in the sermonizing of the last act does the edge of caricature break through the earnestness of the acting. Otherwise it is meant for dead serious and, at times, moving drama.

Many familiar expressions which are not in Shakespeare or the Bible crop out in "Ten Nights." There is, for example, that tearful plea of "Father, dear father, come home with me now," and the final words of the penultimate act, "Frank Slade, you have killed your own father!", lines which you may have heard all your life without recognizing the source.

The play also abounds in enough asides and soliloquies to stock all the future writings of O'Neill and Zoe Akins, and even induct Samuel Shipman into the mysteries of their usage. It is capably presented by the Triangle actors, particularly by Joseph Battle, who is grand as the drunkard who reforms after the death of his child, and by Al McWilliams, Ralph Weidhaas and Joe Alter.

Although a hoary septuagenarian, "Ten Nights" still bears as much relation to present-day life as do "Divorce a la Carte," "Whispering Friends" or "The Silent House," among others. It is a merry novelty, and the thing to do should be to visit it after dining well.

DE PACKH ENSEMBLE HEARD

New Orchestra of Eleven Members Makes Its Debut.

The initial concert of the newly established De Packh Ensemble, composed of eleven musicians under the direction of Maurice De Packh, took place yesterday afternoon at the Chalif Concert Hall. The ensemble's aim, according to the program, is "to present the theatre orchestra from the vantage point of the concert platform, and so point out its possibilities as a perfect musical vehicle to the general public." The evolution of this type of orchestra, Mr. De Packh believes, will stimulate orchestrators and arrangers to perfect a new technique in adapting symphonic, operatic and other forms without sacrificing their inherent musical appeal.

The arrangements of classic and modern works played yesterday varied in effectiveness. The transcription of Beethoven's piano sonata, Opus 10, No. 2, was in some respects the most successful, notably in the final presto. In the accompaniments to two songs of Brahms's, "Feldeinsamkeit" and the "Wiegenlied," the wood-winds were often unduly prominent, covering the voice with a cumbersome blanket of instrumental tone.

The vocalists, who appeared both in ensemble and solo numbers, included Elsie Wieber, soprano; Nyra Dorrance, contralto; Robert Erwin, tenor, and Herbert Wellington-Smith, baritone. Muriel Pollock was at the piano.

Harris Closes Chocolate Company.

Health Commissioner Harris announced yesterday that the Board of Health had ordered the closing of the factory of the Ritz Chocolate Company at 520 Jackson Avenue, Long Island City, on account of unclean conditions found there. It will be kept closed as a public menace, he said, until conditions are corrected. He also announced that an embargo had been ordered on 110,000 pounds of sugar in the plant of the Shapiro Candy Company at 11-13 Emerson Place, Brooklyn. Inspectors, he added, had found water oozing from the sack.

THEATRICAL NOTES.

"And So to Bed," at the Bijou, will suspend its engagements during Holy Week.

Lupino Lane, who has been appearing in pictures lately, is on his way to New York to join the cast of "The Red Robe." Owing to the nature of his film contracts, he will be able to remain with the show only ten weeks.

"Jimmie's Women" will end its run at the Frolic Theatre this week. It will be sent on tour.

Earl Carroll's new "Vanities" is scheduled to go into rehearsal on April 9.

Raymond Gulon and Gelie Beverly are recent additions to the cast of "Present Arms," the new Rodgers-Hyde-Hart musical show. It will open in Wilmington on April 9, coming to the Mansfield either two or three weeks later.

"March Hares," which comes to the Little next Monday, will open in Great Neck tonight.

Ian Keith will return to the New York stage next season in "The Command Performance," which Herman Shumlin will produce.

"The Allmonies," by Daniel N. Rubin, will open in Springfield week from Monday.

The American Laboratory Theatre's final production of the season, "Martine," will open on Wednesday of next week.

Ring Lardner's baseball, "Al," is scheduled to go into rehearsal next Monday. It may open here in May.

Betty Linley has been added to the cast of "Roulette," due on Broadway April 9.

Claude Cooper has been engaged for the new Nugent play, "The Breaks."

Both Friday performances of "The Ivory Door" will be canceled at the Charles Hopkins Theatre during Holy Week. As usual there will be two performances daily every other day except Monday.

SEES CLOGGED VALVE AS FATAL TO S-4

Witness Tells Court of Inquiry Submarine But for That Might Have Come Up.

BOSTON, March 27 (AP).—The battery room of the S-4 was flooded within eighty-five seconds and the control room in any time up to thirteen minutes after the submarine was rammed and sunk by the Coast Guard destroyer Paulding off Provincetown last December, according to testimony before the naval court of inquiry at the Charlestown Navy yard today. The Court paid a surprise visit to the yard for a personal inspection of the submarine, which was still on the ocean floor when the court was in session last Winter.

Lieut. Commander Emery P. Eldredge, a member of the board which has been conducting a minute examination of the S-4 since she was raised and brought to Charlestown, reconstructed for the Court the happenings inside the S-4 after she was sunk. He said he believed chlorine gas and dense smoke drove the crew from the control room, although, if the flapper valve of the ventilation duct had been closed immediately the crew would not have been forced to vacate the compartment. Examination last week disclosed that a piece of curtain and an American flag had jammed the valve, making it impossible to close it. The witness said that if the flapper valve could have been closed there might have been "a chance of raising the boat as all controls were capable of being operated."

Lieut. Commander George B. Dowling, pathologist of the Chelsea Naval Hospital, who superintended the removal of the eight bodies left in the submarine when it was brought here from Provincetown, told the Court that drowning was the ultimate cause of death, with carbon dioxide, partial asphyxiation, cold and exposure also contributing.

Sir John Dunn Weds Here Today.

The marriage of Sir John Dunn, Bart., and Mignonne Mauger, whose engagement was announced last week, will take place today at the Little Church Around the Corner. The bridegroom, who is the son of Sir William Dunn, once Lord Mayor of London, is an actor who has appeared here in several productions, and Miss Mauger is likewise on the stage.

POWER BORROWING AS RADIO EXPEDIENT

Some New York Stations May Be Forced to That Under New Act, Commission Intimates.

BUSY ON ALLOCATION PLANS

No Complete Scheme Yet Worked Out—President Gets Bill From Senate for Signature.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 27.—Unless broadcasting stations in and about New York are able to "borrow" wave lengths and power from some district which does not come up to the quota allowed under the new Radio act, a considerable number of those stations may have to go off the air, it was intimated today at the office of the Federal Radio Commission.

Under the equal-distribution clause of the new act it is apparent that great changes will have to be made by the Radio Commission in the allocation of stations, wave lengths and power as compared with the present situation. The commission is busily working out plans, but no feasible plan has yet been completed.

It is understood that among the plans the commission has under consideration is one for leaving 500 broadcasting stations on the air. This would mean 100 stations for each of the five zones. The total power to be allowed would be 500,000 watts, which would mean 100,000 watts for each zone on a population basis.

Forty Stations for This State.

It is estimated that Zone 1, which is the East, has about 25,000,000 population, of which New York State alone has about 10,000,000. This would mean that to the State of New York, under this plan, would be allowed forty broadcasting stations, with 40,000 watts. By this it will be seen that, while there would be a considerable cut in power, the number of stations to be taken off the air would not be so great. On the other hand, it is pointed out that these stations might be able to "borrow" some power from an uncongested zone.

A suggestion has been heard here that some of the New York broadcasting stations might want to give up their studios and transmitters in that congested area and move to some point where the quota is not exhausted. This is not taken seriously in most quarters because of the practical impossibility of obtaining suitable talent in an out-of-the-way place. It is probable, then, that some of the stations which must go off the air will dispose of their apparatus to some station which might be established in an uncongested area.

There are apparently only two ways in which the commission can work out its present problem under the new act. One is to build up the uncongested districts and the other is to tear down the present congested districts. Of the two the latter seems to be the only feasible plan, it is believed. The commission, it is understood, is advising those in the congested areas not to spend more money on apparatus at this time.

The radio commission announced today that it had authorized Station WBRS, Brooklyn, N. Y., to move to Greenville, Westchester County, N. Y., with the same power it now has, 100 watts and frequency 1,420, sharing time with WCDA and to be known as the Westchester Broadcasting Corporation.

The commission today also issued the new general order extending the time of the broadcast licenses to May 1 as follows:

"All existing licenses to broadcast, subject to such modifications and extensions as may be appended thereto, are hereby further extended for thirty days, to terminate at 3 A. M., May 1, 1928, unless otherwise modified."

President Gets Radio Bill.

President Coolidge today received from the Senate the Radio bill for his signature. It is expected that it will be several days before the bill is signed by the President, because he intends to refer it to several departments interested. Secretary Hoover, who is among those to whom the bill will be referred, said he saw no objection to signing the measure. A similar expression has been made by several of the Radio Commissioners.

The matter of the confirmation of the Radio Commissioners will be taken up in executive session by the Senate on F. day, according to the present agreement.

PLAYS SILENT KEYBOARD THAT BROADCASTS AIRS

French Inventor Demonstrates His Discovery at Engineers' Club in Paris.

Copyright, 1928, by The New York Times Company.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, March 27.—A demonstration of what its inventor calls "synthetic music" was given tonight in the French Engineers' Club by a French inventor, M. Givelet, who has developed a process something along the principles of the sound wave music of Professor Theremin and others.

M. Givelet played upon a silent keyboard. Through electrical broadcasting his apparatus sounded a musical vibration in the air corresponding to the given note. Then by means of a receiving set attached to a loud speaker he recaptured the silent notes he had produced and with amplifiers conveyed them to his audience.

In order to prove that his performance was not a mystification contrived with the assistance of a secret broadcasting station, M. Givelet in the presence of the audience recorded by silent renditions on his instrument a number of musical refrains, suggested by different spectators, upon a phonograph record, which when placed on a phonograph gave the music that had been indicated.

Following this experiment M. Givelet played a selection which was inaudible in the hall but which was received by the Government broadcasting station at the Ministry of Posts, retransmitted and picked up by a radio receiving set in the Engineers' Club for the edification of the listeners.

Radio fans, engineers and the public attending the demonstration were greatly impressed with the quality of the tone of the music produced, and applauded M. Givelet's demonstration.

GEM SMUGGLERS ARE SENT TO PRISON

Three Who Pleaded Guilty Get Light Terms and Another 22 Months.

RECALCITRANT ONE WEEPS

He Feared Deportation to Poland, but Judge Recommends He Be Allowed to Stay.

Three men who confessed their part in a conspiracy to smuggle diamonds into this port, and one who denied his guilt but was convicted, were sentenced to prison yesterday by Federal Judge Winslow. The four and their sentences are Florent Lamiot, five months, the term beginning when he was committed to the Tombs under heavier bail than he could get (this will set his free on April 9); Abraham Frank, five months, and two years' probation when his prison sentence is ended; Charles P. Goldberg, eight months, and a probationary period of two years, and Julius Adler, twenty-two months' imprisonment.

Adler, who has a wife and children in Poland, wept when talk of his deportation after he had completed his sentence came up. However, Judge Winslow endorsed upon the commitment papers a recommendation that Adler be permitted to remain in this country.

Adler was running a small haberdashery on the lower west side when he was arrested and accused, like Goldberg and Frank, of being a receiver and distributor of the smuggled diamonds. He alone elected to plead not guilty.

The smuggling plot was exposed last November when Lamiot, assistant electrician on the Red Star liner Lapland, was seen to leave the ship wearing unusually large shoes. He was arrested and searched. More than $3,000 worth of diamonds were found in the soles and heels of his shoes, and other diamonds, valued at about $100,000, were found in his stateroom. Questioned by Federal Prosecutor John M. Blake, he confessed and implicated his three associates.

IVY LEE WRITES ON RUSSIA.

In Book He Repeats Proposal to Set "Her on Path to Prosperity."

Ivy Lee, "public relations counsel" to the Standard Oil Company, the Pennsylvania Railroad and other large corporations, whose proposal to enlarge trade relations with Russia to "set her on the path to prosperity and friendship where government has failed" was rejected last year, has suggested the idea again in a book, "Present-Day Russia," placed on sale yesterday by Macmillan.

"Present-Day Russia" is a revision of the work published and circulated privately last year by Mr. Lee. In its preface he states that he was in Russia only ten days in May, 1927, and then only in Moscow, but that he was able to see many persons, observe many forces at work and to get the "feel" of the situation in that country.

Mr. Lee's written opinion is that "the present Soviet regime in Russia is there to stay. No signs of political instability are visible and I gathered from any of the information I was able to obtain, no apprehension or suggestion of instability."

His thesis in the book is that "trade with Russia on sound business principles" may save Russia.

TRADER HORN BROADCASTS.

"Blood Brother of Cannibals" Describes African Experiences.

Trader Horn, or Alfred Aloysius Smith, told last night over WEAF and nineteen other stations of his youth spent among West Coast African cannibals. The program, which filled the entire Eveready hour, was in the nature of a sketch, with appropriate musical setting, based on the principal episode in Trader Horn's narrative.

Although the National Broadcasting Company's studio was filled with onlookers, the one-time peddler showed no signs of the nervousness which usually accompanies a radio début. When he talked it was as if he was reliving the past for some unseen friend. With his wide-brimmed hat on the back of his head, his cape over his chair, he leaned forward over the microphone, punctuating his remarks by waving his hand or stroking his white beard.

At the end of the program he spoke informally to his listeners, announcing that he was sailing for England on the Carmania on Saturday.

"The beautiful reception from you people," he said, "will always be indelibly written on this old man's heart. Wherever I go my heart will remain in the U. S. A., and I hope, if the Lord spares me, to come back and lay my bones quietly in some good nook in God's country."

URGE TOLERANCE BY RADIO.

Catholics, Jews and Protestants Unite in Plea for Understanding.

Catholics, Jews and Protestants united last night in broadcasting pleas for mutual understanding and tolerance in a program sponsored by the Permanent Commission on Better Understanding, and broadcast from Station WRNY.

William H. P. Faunce, President of Brown University, and Chairman of the commission, spoke for the Protestants; Henry Morgenthau, former Ambassador to Turkey, spoke for the Jews, and the Rev. Francis P. Duffy spoke for the Catholics.

"This country is a loom in which are woven together peoples from every nation under heaven," Dr. Faunce said: "woven into one enduring fabric of liberty under law. We have in America many forms of religious faith, but most of our population may be assigned to the three great faiths and may be described as Protestants, or Catholics, or Jews. Five hundred years from now those three groups will exist in the United States, and unless they learn to understand each other disaster faces all three."

FINANCIAL MARKETS

Stocks Break Violently, Then Recover, on Second 4,000,000-Share Day—Money 4½.

The sudden and sweeping declines which occurred on the Stock Exchange yesterday, carrying down the most active shares 10 to 18 points before the market had got on its feet again, might have been described as a symptom which would prove to any experienced diagnostician the state of the speculative organism. From one point of view, such excessively violent reactions were a perfectly natural incident in the movement of prices that has prevailed in the past fortnight. It is not many weeks ago that a day of 3 and 4 point declines, after a rise of 10 or 15 in a brief burst of activity, was considered automatic readjustment. Yesterday's much larger break, following little-interrupted advances of 30 or 40 points, was adapted to the later character of the market. Precisely such a reaction will be found on the record as a landmark at precisely this stage in every former episode of the kind.

There will always be special explanations for it and the explanations will be based, not at all on disturbing news from the outside situation—there was no such overnight news for yesterday's market to consider—but on the mechanism of an immensely expanded speculation. Let the speculator be never so convinced that nothing can arrest the continuous rise, instinct if not reasoning will induce him to place protective realising orders a certain distance below current prices. At the very moment when he is increasing his commitments with a view to higher and still higher values, the possibility of such crumbling-away of prices as would sweep him down with them is always more or less dimly present. But the very fact of a market lined with such conditional selling orders, to be executed instantly after prices have fallen 5 per cent. or thereabouts, insures a demoralized further break when the line of resistance has been passed.

It is immaterial what motive provoked the sales under which such a market as yesterday morning's will first have given way. Sometimes the shares then pressed for sale represent holdings of speculative capitalists, the load on whose own shoulders has grown heavy enough to suggest that it be immediately lightened. Sometimes the "bear seller" discovers the psychological moment and takes advantage of it. In either case, the early sellers will usually return as buyers afterward—the promoter of the rising market because he cannot afford to let reaction go far enough to cause alarm, the speculator for the fall because the extent and suddenness of the break give him the chance to secure his profits, retreat from his position and await the next development.

On yesterday's later recovery the stock market's movement was confused. Stocks which had fallen with the greatest violence regained as a rule only one-half or thereabouts of their early losses; but the action of Radio stock, which was bid up 22½ points after falling 10¾, indicated rather plainly a concerted effort by the group of powerful speculators behind the recent market to throw out encouragement to their following. In the end, the day's net changes in prices were of wide diversity. Neither the scope of individual declines nor the extent of the subsequent recovery had relation to anything but the position of the mass of speculative accounts.

There was naturally some discussion of the effect which yesterday's incidents would produce on the mind of the speculating public. Experience testifies that more than one such shock is required to dispel illusion when a stock market has reached a stage of so great excitement. All such considerations have by that time become matters purely of human psychology, and mass psychology can be interpreted and predicted only on the basis of past experiment. Transactions on the Stock Exchange yesterday set a new high mark for magnitude; they reached 4,790,000 shares, as against Monday's 4,200,000, a previous maximum of 3,947,000 for the present year and a record of 3,786,000 prior to 1922. There was no fresh movement in the money market, but the additional engagement of $9,000,000 gold for export carried the total outgo for the present month to date to a figure never reached by any previous month in the country's history. This unprecedented draft on the gold supply, at the moment of the equally unprecedented outburst of speculation on the Stock Exchange, is a coincidence witnessed only once before, and then under the wholly abnormal economic circumstance of 1919.

TO EXTEND AIR SERVICE.

American Railway Express Will Take Goods to Minneapolis.

The American Railway Express Company announced yesterday that on March 31 it would extend its air service to the Northwest Airways between Chicago, St. Paul and Minneapolis and to the Embry-Riddle routes between Chicago and Cincinnati. The company began air service in September.

Under the new schedules, shipments will leave New York at 7 P. M. and reach St. Paul at 11:30 A. M. and Minneapolis at 11:40 A. M. the next day. Shipments from New York for Indianapolis and Cincinnati will be transmitted by the National Air Transport route to Chicago and from that city by air for forenoon delivery.

The rate for shipments from New York to Cincinnati or Indianapolis will be $1.60 a pound and to Minneapolis and St. Paul it will be $2. The minimum charge will be for one pound.

TOPICS IN WALL STREET.

News, Comment and Incident, On the Stock Exchange and In the Financial Markets.

The Stock Exchange turnover yesterday approached the 5,000,000-share maximum which had been fixed in stock market calculations as the limit that the present machinery in Wall Street will stand. It was calculated, however, that six stocks made up one-third of the total sales. Leading stocks swung with extraordinary violence in both directions, under alternating selling and buying waves. At the close the general list was holding comparatively steady, after a vigorous attack by a well-organized bear party. Many shares, however, fared badly for the day and the final quotations showed that the faction committed to the fall in prices still had the advantage. That part of the list which was affected most acutely by the heavy realising early in the day rallied sharply in the afternoon, cancelling a good portion of its losses.

A Signal of Caution.

The speculative fraternity took notice yesterday of the action of the leading banks in marking down the loan value of various stocks that are figuring in the present movement. It was reported that the banks were willing to advance only $130 a share on one prominent stock, against $160 a few days ago. Similar readjustments have been made in the loan valuations placed on other stocks that have had the widest advances. There is always such a precautionary move when stocks have had violent advances, but the fact that the banks are willing to lend less on stock collateral, however, caused apprehension in some quarters, where it was taken to mean that less confidence is being shown in high places in the market's ability to continue the rise without a drastic readjustment.

Outstripping the Ticker.

It was plainly evident yesterday that the ticker system of the Stock Exchange cannot adequately handle such a market as developed yesterday morning. At times it was as much as thirty-three minutes behind actual trading, and in such circumstances customers of Stock Exchange houses had no idea where they stood on their trading. It is not likely that the present ticker can be speeded up much more, and strenuous efforts are being made by the Stock Exchange to develop a new ticker which will meet present day requirements in point of volume of trading.

"Fifteen Times Earnings."

There probably has not been a phrase coined in the financial district in the last two or three years that has so caught the public as Mr. Raskob's statement that General Motors "should sell at fifteen times its earnings." There were reports in Wall Street yesterday that some of the directors of the corporation were at outs because of this statement and banking houses protested against any such rule-of-thumb calculation of intrinsic values. But the phrase, of course, set many persons at work with pad and pencil, calculating what their own shares should sell for on the same basis. In practically every case it was found that the ratio was far below the ideal "fifteen times."

Corporations and the Market.

One of the peculiar incidental features of the present phenomenal stock market is that it does not seem to have called into play any appreciably larger amount of bank credit. This week's loan statistics are yet to be issued, but last week's trading also was of record-breaking proportions, with rapid upswings in price, and nevertheless the report of the Federal Reserve member banks as a whole showed a smaller volume of loans on stocks and bonds and continued increases in commercial loans. A close watch will be kept on the report of brokers' loans to be issued tomorrow afternoon for a reflection of this week's activities. The brokers' loans last week increased $52,000,000 net, but the New York banks' loans actually decreased. The expansion was in the loans made by "others," indicating that many lines of stock are being carried with loans advanced out of the liquid surpluses of the large corporations.

A Record in Gold Exports.

The $9,000,000 gold engaged yesterday for Germany raised the total gold shipments during March to date to about $84,000,000, whereas the largest previous monthly outgo on record was the $82,900,000 of June, 1919, when the embargo on gold exports was removed and our own supply was drawn upon to settle the liabilities incurred on neutral markets by our wartime support of sterling exchange. When the first engagement by Germany was made, there were reports that the metal was in transit for another country, possibly Poland, but it is now believed that the Reichsbank has purchased the gold here to build up its own gold reserve. German exchange, while about one-tenth of a cent above parity, is still not high enough to cause gold shipments as a straight commercial transaction. The Reichsbank's weekly statement, published yesterday, reported nearly $5,000,000 increase in its gold reserve.

"Fish or Cut Bait."

The filing of Mr. Loree's new plan for a Southwestern railroad merger comes as an answer to an intimation from the Interstate Commerce Commission that the proponents of the merger should "fish or cut bait," it was said in railroad circles yesterday. This colloquial comment was used to convey the thought that the commission believed nearly a year of inaction in the merger was long enough and that it was time for a definite move. This belief the commission indicated by issuing a citation under the Clayton Anti-Trust act.

Firmness continued to feature the money market, Stock Exchange call loans holding at 4½ per cent. unchanged, while there was no concession from that figure for street trades. Time money was traded in at 4⅝ and 4¾ per cent., but few loans were reported at the inside rate, bulk of turnover being made at maximum. The notes, which are to be offered by a syndicate headed by A. B. Leach & Co. and Halsey, Stuart & Co., will fall due serially on April 1, 1929 to 1938. They are priced to yield from 4.50 to 5.40 per cent. to maturity.

Offering will be made today of $5,000,000 Vicksburg Bridge and Terminal Company first mortgage 6 per cent. sinking fund gold bonds at 99½ and interest, to yield more than 6 per cent., through a syndicate headed by the Federal Securities Corporation and H. BOND SALES FEWER AND PRICES EASIER

Milwaukee Railroad and Andes Copper Securities Leaders in Market Activity.

Interest in the bond market lagged again yesterday owing to the concentration of interest in the stock market. Bond transactions were small in volume, and the narrow range of the fluctuations was reflected in the averages, which showed a decline of .04 in the composite price of forty domestic issues and an advance of .02 in foreign bonds. Most of the activity was confined to a few trading favorites.

More than $2,000,000 face value of Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul & Pacific 5s of 1975 and adjustment 5s of 2000 changed hands, accounting for one-sixth of the day's total sales. The heaviest buying was in the adjustment issue, which closed ⅝ point net higher, while the 5s of 1975 lost ⅛ point for the day. Denver & Rio Grande Western 5s advanced ⅜ point, but several other railroad issues sold off fractionally.

Andes Copper 7s continued to be one of the most active industrial issues, with a turnover in excess of $340,000 and a slight decline in prices. Brooklyn-Manhattan Transit 5s were slightly higher, with Interborough issues active and about steady. Hudson & Manhattan adjustment 5s sold ¼ point lower.

The foreign bond list developed little of interest and prices ruled about steady. United States Government securities were fairly active, without much change in price.

SPAIN MAKES OIL OFFER.

Franco-American Interests Said to Agree to $3,400,000 for Holdings.

Copyright, 1928, by The New York Times Company.
Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

MADRID, March 27.—At a Council of Ministers today to consider claims of various oil companies for property taken over by the Spanish oil monopoly, the session was devoted to consideration of Franco-American interests, which include the Standard Oil and affiliated companies.

It is understood that the Government estimate placed the value of the properties under consideration at 20,000,000 pesetas, about $3,400,000, which, although not as much as the companies had demanded, is said to have proved acceptable to the group which represents approximately one-fourth of all petroleum installations in Spain.

The Council will continue its examination shortly and is expected to reject claims made by different interests for indemnities due to the cessation of business when the Government took over the market.

ASKS ACCOUNTING OF TRANSIT BONDS

ILLEGAL DIVIDENDS ALLEGED

Holders of $67,625,000 in Bonds Say They Lost 70% in Value Because of Defendants' Acts.

A new action against former directors of the Interborough-Metropolitan Company, holding company for blocks of stock in the Interborough and the defunct Metropolitan Street Railway Company, to compel them to account to bondholders of the corporation for the alleged payment to themselves and others of illegal dividends, has been brought by Louis Boehm, as owner of $2,093,000 in Interborough-Metropolitan bonds, in behalf of himself and other bondholders.

The action, in which papers were served last month, was disclosed yesterday when De Lancey Nicoll, as counsel for Edward J. Berwind, applied in the Supreme Court to compel the plaintiff to submit his bonds to inspection in behalf of the defendants and to permit the bonds to be photographed, if desired. The lawyer said this was necessary in order that Mr. Berwind's answer could be prepared. Similar applications were made by three other defendants, on which Justice Ford will hear argument tomorrow.

The other defendants are General Cornelius Vanderbilt, Guy E. Tripp, Solomon R. Guggenheim and the estates of August Belmont, Daniel G. Reid, A. D. Juilliard and E. R. Bacon. A total of $67,625,000 in bonds is alleged to be involved in the suit, on which the holders are declared to have lost 70 per cent. of the value because of unlawful acts charged against the defendants.

The action, similar to other suits by Interborough-Metropolitan bondholders pending in the courts, asserts that the company had sustained large losses prior to April 23, 1915, and that no dividends could lawfully be paid on the stock, but that the company received dividends of 16, 12, 15 and 20 per cent. in the years between 1912 and 1915 on the Interborough and Metropolitan stock holdings and that since only 9 per cent. was necessary to meet the interest on the bonds, the remainder of the dividend payments should have been held to meet future bond requirements.

Mr. Boehm alleges that the defendant directors, in order to get the accumulations for themselves and others, consolidated this company, having assets of $52,559,397, with the Finance and Holding Corporation, with only $550 cash as an asset, under the name of the Interborough Consolidated Corporation. It is alleged that dividends of 18 per cent. were paid on the stock of this company until 1918, and that in 1919 it was adjudged bankrupt. The plaintiff charges that subsequent to the consolidation Mr. Belmont, the late Morton F. Plant, General Vanderbilt, the late Andrew Freedman, Mr. Berwind, the late Theodore P. Shonts and others formed a "buying pool" and acquired large quantities of the Interborough Consolidated stock.

The complaint alleges finally that after the bankruptcy the property given as security for the Interborough-Metropolitan bonds was sold for only $...750,000 and that through dividends in the bankruptcy proceedings or otherwise the bondholders have received less than 30 per cent. of their claims. The consolidation and the alleged unlawful dividends are declared by the plaintiff to have been responsible for the loss.

The following information is summarized from a letter furnished by D. L. Tilly, Executive Vice-President of New York Dock Company, to A. B. Leach & Co., Inc. and Halsey, Stuart & Co., Inc.:

BUSINESS: New York Dock Company was organized in 1901 under the laws of the State of New York. The Company embraces the largest warehouse and pier system in the Western Hemisphere. It owns over 180 acres of land and waterfront property, extending 2½ miles directly opposite the lower end of Manhattan Island. The properties include 34 steamship piers, 106 storage warehouses, 67 industrial buildings and 3 freight terminals. More than 20 steamship lines, serving ports of practically all foreign countries, regularly use a number of the Company's piers under lease. Extensive facilities for the storage of general merchandise are provided in bonded and free warehouses having a floor area of more than 88 acres. Cold storage facilities are also available. The 67 industrial or manufacturing buildings contain approximately 47 acres of floor space. An additional 10 story industrial building is now in course of construction.

Throughout the greater part of the property, New York Dock Railway provides railroad transportation from the three freight terminals thereon where, by adequate car-float systems, direct interchange of cars is provided with ten trunk line railroads, thereby giving rail transportation connection with the entire railroad system of United States, Canada and Mexico.

EARNINGS: The earnings of the Company for the calendar years 1919-1926, as reported by Messrs. Barrow, Wade, Guthrie & Co., and for the twelve months ended November 30, 1927, as reported by the Company, are summarized as follows:

Total Revenues including Other Income	$3,950,262	$3,683,012	$3,608,517
Operating Expenses, Maintenance and Local Taxes	2,184,083	2,071,396	2,154,867
Balance before Interest, Depreciation and Federal Taxes	$1,766,179	$1,611,616	$1,453,650

These earnings reflect no benefit from the use of the proceeds of this $10,000,000 issue, which should considerably augment present earning power.

For the eight years 1919 through 1926 such balance has averaged $1,784,954 per annum. The annual interest requirement on total outstanding funded debt including this issue will be $1,002,000, and after deduction from such average of the annual interest requirement on the outstanding first mortgage bonds, there remains a balance of $1,282,954 against maximum annual interest requirement of $500,000 on these Notes.

BALANCE SHEET: The Balance Sheet of the Company as of November 30, 1927, after giving effect to this financing, as prepared by Messrs. Barrow, Wade, Guthrie & Co., shows tangible assets of $42,691,182, after deducting all liabilities other than funded debt. Total funded debt of the Company in the hands of the public, including this issue, will be $22,550,000. Real property, including land and improvements, is assessed for taxes by the City of New York at over $27,000,000.

INDENTURE PROVISIONS: The Trust Indenture under which the Notes are to be issued will provide, among other things, that while any of these Notes are outstanding (a) the Company will not create any mortgage lien on its real property, buildings or structures other than the lien of the existing First Mortgage; (b) no mortgage lien will be created on the real property, buildings or structures of subsidiaries, except subject to conservative restrictions and limitations to be contained in the Trust Agreement; (c) neither the Company nor any of its subsidiaries will create any debt maturing one year or later from the date thereof, except mortgages of subsidiaries above referred to; (d) no dividends (except stock dividends) will be paid on the capital stock of the Company except from earnings subsequent to December 31, 1927.

GENERAL: The first mortgage bonds and both classes of capital stock of the Company are listed on the New York Stock Exchange. At the present market, these first mortgage bonds are selling at a price to yield about 4.75%.

The business of the New York Dock Company is handled by a corps of executives and employees who have had years of experience in the conduct of this business.

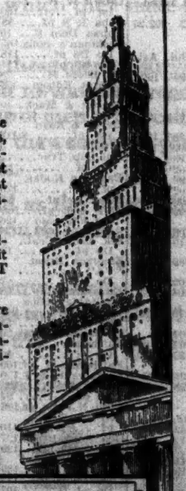
Should a stock which has advanced 100 points be sold?



NOT if it has advanced through a great increase in earnings, assets, accumulation of surplus, increased consumption of product, new and extensive markets and kindred factors. Its market advance may be only a forerunner of important stock dividends, followed by increased cash dividend disbursements.

If a stock owned by this Trust had such an advance WITHOUT these warranting factors, it would thereupon be sold, ALL of the PROFIT going to the Investors.

This Trust has incorporated in its Trust Indenture every recommendation for the protection of Investors made by the Office of the Attorney General of the State of New York after his investigation of the Investment Trust Field.

IN 1911 when the first Richfield Company commenced operations, its activities were limited to one small topping plant for the reduction of crude oil to fuel and in 1915 it commenced the manufacture and distribution of gasoline for the first time. The old refinery, since destroyed by fire, proved a valuable laboratory during many years of experimental work. As a result, today's model refineries incorporate equipment of distinctive design never before used in the industry, resulting in marked economies of operation and improved quality of production. In 1923 after its most important merger, Richfield vastly augmented its oil holdings and became the active producing and marketing organization whose phenomenal growth has been an outstanding chapter in the annals of the petroleum industry.

Big Syndicate to Sell $5,000,000 Issue and Clear Way for $12,500,000.

SAN FRANCISCO GETS LOAN

Securities for $2,600,000 Also on Market Today—Other Municipal Awards Made.

The banking group headed by the First National Bank of New York, which last April purchased from the State of North Carolina an issue of $10,000,000 highway 4 per cent. bonds and obtained an option on $10,000,000 more, $3,5000,000 of which was taken up in November and $1,'000,000 last month, will offer the remaining $5,000,000 today. The public offering of this lot will presage a call for bids by the State for a new issue of $12,500,000 highway 4s, which will be sold for the second week in April, according to word received here yesterday.

Of the $10,000,000 offered by the bankers in April, 1927, $1,500,000 was sold back to the State through its sinking fund. Subsequently these bonds were repurchased by the bankers and reoffered, together with $3,500,000 of new bonds, in last November. An additional block was taken last month by the bankers under the terms of the original option without public advertisement of the offering.

Today's offering consists of $5,000,000 4s, due serially from 1940 to 1944, priced to yield 3.90 per cent., which was the price on the other $15,000,000 of the issue. The offering syndicate is headed by the First National Bank of New York, the National City Company and the Bankers Trust Company, and includes Eldredge & Co., the William R. Compton Company, B. J. Van Ingen & Co., the Detroit Company, Inc.; Kissel, Kinnicutt & Co., Hornblower & Weeks, Redmond & Co., Stone & Webster and Blodget, Inc.; E. H. Rollins Sons, Phelps, Fenn & Co., Taylor, Ewart & Co., Inc., Curtis & Sanger, Geo. B. San Francisco Awards Issue.

Award of the issue of $2,600,000 City and County of San Francisco (Cal.) 5 per cent. Hetch-Hetchy water bonds, due on Jan. 1, 1930 to 1969, has been made at a price of 111.25 by a syndicate headed by the First National Bank of New York and including Eldredge & Co., Kissel, Kinnicutt & Co., Redmond & Co., the Detroit Company, Inc., the Anglo London Paris Company, and the Bancitaly Corporation. The second highest bid was 111.09, made by Hallgarten & Co., Blair & Co., Inc., Phelps, Fenn & Co. and the Anglo California Trust Company, with the third bid, 110.88, made by a group headed by Lehman Brothers. The National City Company and associates bid 110.82 and a group headed by the Harris Trust & Savings Bank of Chicago, 110.79. There were three other bids. The winning syndicate is offering the bonds today at prices to yield 4 to 4.05 per cent.

The City of Dallas is scheduled to announce tomorrow its decision on the award of the $5,225,000 4½ per cent. bonds, bids on which were opened on Monday with Guaranty Company of New York as high bidder under the terms of the sale specifying 4½s, although several bidders named split-rates which would lower the interest cost to the city. The city will not have to make delivery of the bonds for sixty days, in which time it must dispose of one suit brought by a taxpayer questioning the legality of issue and another started by a bond house in Dallas claiming prior contract to purchase.

Highway Bonds Sold.

A new issue of $1,500,000 Coastal Highway Commission (S. C.) bonds, due from 1931 to 1939, was awarded yesterday to Eldredge & Co. and Stranahan, Harris & Oatis at their joint bid of 100.794 for the bonds as 4½s. The second highest tender was 100.619 for 4½s, made by a group composed of Harris, Forbes & Co., the Bankers Trust Company and the National City Company. The issue is the joint obligation of six coastal counties of South Carolina which have marketed several similar issues.

The City of Toledo (Ohio) awarded yesterday an issue of $823,328 5 per cent. bonds, due serially from 1929 to 1932, to the Detroit Trust Company at a price of 102.159. The First National Company of Detroit was second highest bidder with a tender of 102.139, and the National City Company and Harris, Forbes & Co. were third with a joint bid of 102.119. Lorain County, Ohio, will sell tomorrow an issue of $2,199,000 two-year tax notes at auction. The issue will be in anticipation of the sale of Memorial Bridge and Viaduct bonds, which were authorized at the election in November.

Offering will be made today of a new issue of $150,000 City of Columbus (Ohio) 4 per cent. bonds, due serially, Jan. 1, 1930 to 1939, by the First National Company of Detroit, Inc., at prices to yield 3.80 to 3.85 per cent. $84,995,384 VALUE FOR WESTERN UNION

I. C. C. Puts Tentative Figure on Its Property in United States in June, 1919.

Company Cites $80,000,000 Added to Land Lines Since—Criticizes Commission's Estimates.

WASHINGTON, March 27 (AP).—Property of the Western Union Telegraph Company located within the United States was tentatively valued today by the Interstate Commerce Commission as of June, 1919, at $84,995,384.

The company's capitalization on the same date was $129,792,726, and its book investment was $155,459,119.

The commission's total valuation excluded any reference to the submarine cable system of the Western Union Company, which is located outside of continental United States and consequently is without the commission's jurisdiction. The valuation figure applied to the 182,536 miles of main telegraph line on land which the company operated in 1919.

Opportunity to protest the figures will be given to the Western Union Company and any other public interest affected before the figures are made final.

Cites Increase Since June, 1919.

The publication at Washington yesterday of the tentative valuation of $84,995,384 placed by the Interstate Commerce Commission on the property of the Western Union Telegraph Company located within the United States, as of June, 1919, brought from company officials a statement pointing out that the commission's estimates include nothing as to additions to the plant since June 30, 1919.

Such additions, according to the company, have increased the value of the Western Union land-line system by about $80,000,000 in the nearly nine years that have elapsed. The company's statement follows:

"To an inventory as of June 30, 1910, the commission has applied costs said to be as of 1910-14 (prewar), and after deducting the full measure of depreciation said to exist in the physical plant, the value as of June 30, 1919, is reported.

"The company does not agree as to the adequacy of the prices used, nor does it subscribe to the theory that a proper valuation can be arrived at by the methods followed.

"The commission's estimates, of course, include nothing for additions to the plant since June 30, 1919. These additions increase the United States land-line total by approximately $80,000,000.

Calls Allowances Inadequate.

"The commission has not undertaken to value property outside the United States, and therefore much property included in the company's balance sheet is not included in the commission's valuation.

"The commission has allowed an entirely inadequate amount for extensive rights of way, has allowed an insufficient amount for working capital, and the report contains no discernible allowances for 'going concern' or intangibles."

In its annual report, published yesterday, the Western Union Telegraph Company showed plant, equipment and real estate, including properties controlled by stock ownership or held under perpetual leases and merged in the Western Union system, totaling $272,162,358, the book value being based "upon a conservative appraisal made in 1910 by outside engineers in collaboration with independent accountants, augmented by the cost of subsequent additions and betterments and adjusted in relation to plant displacements, in conformity with the accounts prescribed and supervised by the Interstate Commerce Commission since 1914."

CITY FIRE RATES EQUALIZED.

Revisions Filed for East Bronx, Queens and Richmond.

To eliminate differences in fire insurance rates which exist as between certain sections of New York City, the suburban division of the New York Fire Insurance Rating Organization yesterday filed a number of rate revisions with the New York State Insurance Department, which will be effective as of Jan. 1, 1928.

The revised minimums and schedules involve the rating of apartment house risks in East Bronx, Queens and Richmond. As a result of this action apartment house dwellings in what were formerly the suburban sections will receive the same rates which similar properties in Manhattan and West Bronx are receiving.

A. T. & T. Directors Re-elected.

The retiring directors of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company were re-elected by the stockholders at the annual meeting yesterday. There were represented at the meeting 7,170,419 shares, of a total of 11,034,150 outstanding at the end of 1927. The officers were re-elected at the subsequent organization meeting of the directors.

ASK LACKAWANNA TO ELECTRIFY LINES

Twenty-three North Jersey Civic Bodies Offer Aid for Higher Fares in Return.

COST AT LEAST $13,000,000

Railroad Petitions Jersey City to Vacate Streets for New Freight Terminal and Warehouses.

Representatives of twenty-three North Jersey civic organizations yesterday told J. M. Davis, President of the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western Railroad, that they would use their influence to increase commutation fares if his company would electrify its lines to commuting communities. The project of electrifying these lines has been mooted for twenty years, but this was the first time that spokesmen for the public involved have come forward to aid the project. Mr. Davis said he would give their proposals serious consideration.

It is proposed to operate trains electrically on seventy-five miles of road. These would include the lines from Hoboken to Montclair, Dover and Bernardsville. The cost would be about $13,000,000 if the railroad bought power from outside interests or $17,000,000 if it constructed its own generating plant. The use of electricity would add to the comfort of passengers traveling through the tunnel under Jersey City.

Municipalities represented at the meeting in Mr. Davis's offices included Newark, Maplewood, the Oranges, Summit, Dover, Chatham, Morristown and Morris Plains. The Lackawanna carries 70,000 commuters daily and electrical operation would expedite the movement of trains in the rush hours. The increases in commutation rates which the communities would be willing to pay ranged from "reasonable" to 15 per cent. Edwin Wollmuth, Executive Secretary of the Newark Chamber of Commerce, headed the delegation.

Almost simultaneously with the conference in Mr. Davis's office, counsel for the Lackawanna petitioned the Jersey City Commission to vacate parts of certain streets for the construction of a railroad freight terminal and chain of warehouses. Estimates of the cost of the building program ranged from $7,000,000 to $20,000,000.

John Milton, prosecutor of Hudson County, appeared for the railroad. The commission agreed to set a date upon which experts for both sides could go into the matter fully and then put the question over for further consideration.

Both the Pennsylvania Railroad and Erie are planning similar constructions, it was learned, though their projects are not yet fully developed. The plans are an outgrowth of the Holland Vehicular Tunnel, and are designed to create a clearing house for transportation and relieve traffic congestion.

First Mortgage 6% Sinking Fund Gold Loan

(Closed Mortgage)

Dated March 1, 1928 — Due March 1, 1948

Principal and semi-annual interest, March 1 and September 1, payable at the principal office of the Trustee. Coupon form in interchangeable denominations of $1,000 and $500; registerable as to principal. Redeemable, at the option of the Corporation, in whole or in part, on any interest payment date, upon thirty days' published notice, to and including March 1, 1935, at 103; thereafter, to and including March 1, 1943, at 102; and thereafter, to and including September 1, 1947, at 101; in each case with accrued interest. Interest payable without deduction for Federal income tax not to exceed of two per cent per annum. Refund of certain state taxes to resident holders upon written application within sixty days after payment, all as will be provided in the Mortgage. The Equitable Trust Company of New York, New York City, Trustee.

Location: The Onondaga Building will be situated at the corner of South Salina and West Onondaga Streets, two of the principal business thoroughfares in the City of Syracuse, New York. This location is at the corner of the bend of South Salina Street, the most important retail street in the City, and in consequence the Onondaga Building will occupy one of the most prominent and accessible positions in the business district. South Salina and West Onondaga Streets are the principal arteries of traffic, leading from the mercantile and financial district to the two most important residential districts of the city. The corner to be occupied by the Onondaga Building is reported to have the heaviest traffic count of any corner in the City of Syracuse.

Building: The Onondaga Building, consisting of twelve stories and basement, will be a high grade office building of modern fireproof construction. The building will have a frontage of approximately 126 feet on West Onondaga Street and over 155 feet on South Salina Street, being a total street frontage of over 281 feet. The completed building will have a total net rentable area of 135,357 square feet.

Security: This issue will be secured, in the opinion of counsel, by a closed direct first mortgage on the land and building to be erected thereon, owned in fee. The property has been independently appraised by Edward G. Eagan and C. H. Dawley, both of Syracuse, as having a value upon completion of the building of $2,150,000, making this issue less than a fifty-six per cent loan. The above mentioned appraisers have appraised the land as having a present value of $700,000. A surety bond, guaranteeing completion of the building and in favor of the Trustee, will be furnished. Title insurance for the full amount of this loan, together with adequate fire and liability insurance, will be carried, payable to the Trustee. This loan will be followed by and will be senior to a second mortgage of $600,000, which will be held by a Syracuse financial institution.

Earnings: Edward G. Eagan and C. H. Dawley, both of Syracuse, have estimated the income of the building for the year following completion, as follows:

Gross Rental	$375,475
Operating Expenses, Maintenance, Insurance, Allowance for Vacancies ($37,548), and Taxes other than Federal Income Tax	173,275
Balance	$202,200
Maximum Annual Interest Charges on this Loan	$ 72,000

The foregoing earnings are based upon rentals substantially under the current market for similar space.

Sinking Fund: The operation of a quarterly sinking fund, beginning September 1, 1929, through purchase and/or redemption of certificates, is calculated to reduce this loan by maturity to $407,000, which amount is less than fifty-nine per cent of the present appraised value of the land alone.

The above is summarized from the letter of the President of the Corporation to the Bankers. This loan is offered when, as and if issued and received by us and subject to the approval of counsel, Messrs. White and Case, of New York City, for the Bankers, and Messrs. Costello, Cooney & Fearon, of Syracuse, New York, for the Corporation.

Republic Fire Insurance Company, Pittsburgh, Pa.

(Incorporated 1871)

Capital Stock

History: The Republic Fire Insurance Company, Pittsburgh, Pa., which has been continuously in business since 1871, has been conservatively managed and has always enjoyed an excellent reputation.

Management: This Company recently came under the management of Corroon & Reynolds, Inc., and the proposed increase in its capital and surplus is the first step towards enlarging its scope of operations. The Company has, for many years, commanded a much larger volume of business than its financial position permitted it to retain. Under the proposed enlarged capitalization, it will not only be able to assimilate a larger proportion of the desirable business which is controlled by its own production organization, but will also be placed in a position to participate in the widely diversified and well seasoned business that will come to it through its affiliations with the Corroon & Reynolds group, including the American Equitable Assurance Company of New York; the Knickerbocker Insurance Company of New York; the New York Fire Insurance Company; the Brooklyn Fire Insurance Company and the Merchants & Manufacturers Fire Insurance Company of Newark.

Dividends: The stockholders have received over $1,000,000 in dividends since the organization of the Company in 1871. The total capital paid in to the Company since its organization has amounted to only $235,000. Dividends were paid in the first quarter of this year at a rate equivalent to $2.00 per share per annum on the $10.00 par value stock and it is the present intention of the Directors to continue the same dividend on the increased capitalization.

Capitalization: At a meeting of the stockholders to be held on March 30th, the stockholders will vote upon a recommendation of the Directors that the paid up capital be increased from $300,000 to $500,000 and that the authorized capital stock of the Company be changed from 20,000 shares of $50.00 par value to 100,000 shares of $10.00 par value. When the new plan becomes effective, there will be outstanding 50,000 shares of $10.00 par value stock, of which the present offering is a part. Holders of a large majority of the Common stock are in favor of the recommendation. Assuming that the plans are carried out as contemplated, the financial condition on March 31st, will be approximately as follows: Cash Capital $500,000; Reserve for all liabilities, $750,000; Surplus to policyholders $1,250,000; Assets $2,000,000.

The Men Behind Your Bonds

REAL estate bonds, like other commodities, are as sound as the men behind them. Figures count when you know who is figuring. If the men who sponsor an issue of bonds are watchful, able and honest, there is no better assurance of safety than their ability and character.

Empire Bonds are good bonds because Empire Directors know how to make good loans. We invite you to study the names on the right. Bankers, builders, leaders, in real estate, business and law. Each an authority in his field. Together, they constitute the notable Empire Bond Jury.

This Empire Bond Jury personally examines and passes upon each issue of Empire Bonds. They satisfy themselves on every detail of valuation, management, earnings before they commit themselves. Then they invite you to profit from investments on which they stake their business standing.

It is just as if you employed these men to survey the real estate bond field and submit to you their recommendations. The findings of a group of men of this calibre would be prohibitive in cost. Yet they come to you gratis in every issue of Empire Bonds.

Empire Bonds are as sound as the men behind them; and, in addition, they offer you this unusual combination of investment qualities:

1. Legal for trust fund investment
2. A strong guarantee as to principal and interest
3. A yield of 5½% and 6%

GENERAL ELECTRIC EARNED $48,799,489

Net Profit Last Year Equal to $6.41 a Common Share—Increase of 27 Cents.

Trend of Selling Prices Downward —Problems of Employment Still Unsolved, Says Report.

The net profit of the General Electric Company for 1927 amounted to $48,799,489, after interest, depreciation and taxes. This was equal after dividends on the special stock to $6.41 a share earned on 7,211,481 no par common shares. It compared with $46,672,499, or $6.14 a share, earned in 1926.

Orders received during the year amounted to $309,784,623, against $327,400,207 in 1926, a decrease of 5 per cent. Unfilled orders at the close of 1927 were $68,916,000, against $72,297,000 at the close of 1926, also a decrease of 5 per cent. Net sales billed during the year were $312,-603,772, against $326,974,104 in 1926.

Owen D. Young, Chairman of the board, and Gerard Swope, President of the company, indicate in their report that the officers of the company have been studying unemployment and its attendant conditions for some time, but still have problems to solve.

The average number of employes during 1927, not including those of associated companies, was 72,981, compared with 75,711 in 1926. Earnings of these employes amounted to $130,798,000 in 1927 and $134,008,000 in 1926. The average annual earnings of an employe were thus $1,792 and $1,770 respectively, an increase of 1.2 per cent. in 1927, while the cost of living decreased 2.4 per cent. as compared with 1926.

Price Trend Downward.

The trend of selling prices of the company's products continued downward in 1927, the report says, as a result of improved manufacturing methods and keen competition in the industry.

The manufacturing plant investment at the end of the year had a cost value of $200,896,984, but deducting $141,538,281 for depreciation reserves and $9,020,331 added during 1927, the book value was $50,338,371, or $219,018 less than at the end of 1926. Investments in associated companies were carried at $90,330,622, compared with $71,472,186 at the end of 1926. The larger part of the increase of $18,858,435 resulted from advances to enable associated companies to call outstanding bonds.

Inventories, after reserves, were $87,213,705 at the end of 1927, against $85,295,154 the year before. At the close of 1920 inventories amounted to $118,109,173 and shipments were $275,-758,487, the ratio of inventories to shipments being 42.8 per cent. At the close of 1927 the ratio was 21.5 per cent., or a turnover nearly double that of 1920. An increase of 13 per cent. in shipments billed was accomplished, while the capital locked up in inventories was reduced to $50,895,000.

Current assets totaled $252,668,341 and current liabilities $33,147,449 at the end of 1927, comparing with $264,065,168 and $35,537,453 respectively at the end of 1926. The general reserve was $30,156,263 against $27,696,551, and the profit and loss surplus was $115,096,616 against $108,123,348. Cash and United States Government securities totaled $153,-764,066, against $147,536,549. The company has no notes payable, or any obligations bearing its endorsement, outstanding.

Income From Subsidiaries.

The income from associated companies in 1927 was slightly more than 6 per cent. of the book value of investments in these companies. The International General Electric Company, which handles all export business, yielded a profit available for dividends of $1,556,335, comparing with $1,538,306 in 1926.

The number of common and special stockholders at Dec. 21, 1927, was 49,841, an increase of 3,536 over December, 1926.

VOTE INSURANCE STOCK RISE

Firemen's Co. Directors Authorize Increase to $15,000,000.

Directors of the Firemen's Insurance Company of Newark have voted to increase the authorized capital stock from $10,000,000 to $15,000,000 in connection with the proposed acquisition of the Metropolitan Casualty Insurance Company of New York. A meeting of stockholders will be called soon to ratify the increase, according to Neal Bassett, President of the Firemen's Insurance Company.

The proposed acquisition of the Metropolitan precipitated a sharp controversy between James A. Beha, Superintendent of Insurance in New York State, and Christopher A. Gough, Acting Commissioner of the New Jersey Department of Banking and Insurance. Mr. Beha had charged the New Jersey company with "pyramiding assets," and Mr. Gough retorted that Mr. Beha "had made incorrect and harmful statements with apparent and unexplainable animus against an honorable and financially splendid New Jersey company."

Mr. Beha was in Albany yesterday, and at his offices it was said he was expected to issue a public statement in reply to Mr. Gough's charges of "animus."

Moto Meter's Income.

Net income of the Moto Meter Company, Inc., and subsidiaries, including the National Gauge and Equipment Company, for the year ended on Dec. 31, 1927, was $720,259 after depreciation, Federal taxes and other charges. This was equivalent to $2.60 a share on the 200,000 shares of no-par Class A common stock, comparing with net income in 1926, excluding National Gauge and Equipment, of $1,561,973, equivalent under participating provisions to $4.66 a share on 200,000 shares of Class A and $3.12 a share on 200,000 shares of Class B stock.

TERMS FOR MERGER OF BANKS ANNOUNCED

Funds for New Bank of America National Association Will Amount to $60,000,000.

The consolidation of the Bank of America, the Bowery and East River National Bank and the Commercial Exchange National Bank, which was approved yesterday by the Board of Directors of the Bank of America, provides capital funds for that bank of more than $60,000,000. Capital stock of $25,000,000, surplus of $35,-000,000 and undivided profits of about $2,000,000 will make up the capital funds for the Bank of America National Association, subject to ratification by the stockholders, who will meet on April 26.

The capital stock of the combined institutions will consist of 1,000,000 shares of $25 par value each. The present shareholders of the Bank of America will receive four shares of the new stock for each share that they now hold. Present holders of the stock of the Bowery and East River National Bank will receive a cash dividend of $8.23 a share, and will then exchange it for new shares of the Bank of America stock at the rate of seven and two-tenths shares of the new for each one of the Bowery and East River National Bank stock. Present shareholders of the Commercial Exchange National Bank stock will receive $2.58 a share and will then exchange their old stock at the rate of one share for four and eight-tenths shares of the new Bank of America stock.

The shareholders of the combined institutions will receive rights to subscribe for 972,000 shares of the new $25 par value stock at $110 a share. Each shareholder of the combined stock will have the right to subscribe for six-tenths of a share.

Provision is made for employe ownership of a block of the new bank stock by stipulation that 8,000 shares are to be offered to the employes of the consolidated institution at $110 a share. An employes' stock purchasing plan is being worked out by the officers and directors.

It has been arranged that a securities company will be formed with the same number of shares as the bank, namely, 1,000,000. As is customary in such cases, the stock of the security company will be included with that of the bank, so that the shareholders will be identical. This company will transact the securities business of the combined institution.

The combination will take place immediately after the meeting of the shareholders on April 26, and the bank and the new securities company will begin to do business at that time.

Tariff on Barium Carbonate Raised.

WASHINGTON, March 27 (AP).—An increase in the duty on precipitated barium carbonate from 1 to 1½ cents per pound was proclaimed today by President Coolidge. The increase was based on the difference in cost of production in the United States and in Germany, chief competitor country. Barium carbonate is principally used in the manufacture of face bricks, roofing tiles, sewer pipes and as a fusing agent in making enamel. West Virginia and Illinois are the principal American producing States.

GOLD EXPORTS SET RECORD FOR MONTH

Shipments of $9,000,000 to Germany Raise Total for March to $90,000,000.

AMOUNT MAY BE INCREASED

Wall Street Watching Effect on Credit—Awaits Action by Federal Reserve Banks.

The largest amount of gold on record, $90,000,000, has been shipped out of New York for foreign countries this month, with the likelihood that further transfers this week will push the amount still higher. Shipment of $9,000,000 of the metal to Germany was announced yesterday, following the exportation of $81,000,-000 to various countries in the three preceding weeks. Heretofore, the largest exports of gold made in any one month were in July, 1919, when $83,000,000 was sent abroad. Since then the largest month was last December, when exports were $75,000,000.

The shipments announced yesterday consisted of $5,000,000 forwarded on the steamship Deutschland for Hamburg by the Guaranty Trust Company and $4,000,000 sent by the International Acceptance Bank, Inc.

The outward movement of gold is figuring largely in Wall Street's discussions because of the possible effect it may have on credit conditions here, particularly in view of the wild fluctuations and enormous trading in the stock market. Last year gold exports were heavy, though never on such a scale as that now in progress. Throughout last year, however, the exports were offset, so far as the money market was concerned, by the Federal Reserve banks, which purchased large quantities of United States Government securities and thus kept the market liberally supplied with funds at easy rates. At the start of this year this policy was reversed and gold exports dwindled, only to be resumed on a larger scale than ever in March. The financial community is keenly interested in the question whether the gold export movement is to continue at its present proportions and whether the Reserve banks will again counteract its effect in the money market. It is believed that a prolonged movement of the present sort must result in a higher range of money rates if it is not offset by some other factor.

So far this month $21,000,000 of gold has been sent to Germany. The shipments have not been explained, but it is believed they were made on special orders from the Reichsbank.

The German reichsmark yesterday was strong at 23.91 cents, which compares with a parity of 23.80 cents, but this level is not high enough to make the shipment of gold profitable as a straight exchange transaction.

LINOLEUM CARTEL FORMED IN EUROPE

PARIS, March 27.—Another European cartel is now actively operating with the successful combination of the leading linoleum companies of Switzerland, Germany, Sweden, Norway and Latvia into a Swiss holding corporation with a capital of 26,000,-000 Swiss francs, about $5,454,000.

The new industrial combine follows the consolidation of German producers into the Deutschen Linoleum Werke two years ago. It is probable that the new holding company, which revives the old pre-war linoleum trust, will soon be extended to include other principal Continental powers and Great Britain. Spanish, Dutch, Italian and French makers are expected to join the holding company, thus giving it control over the European and a large part of the world markets. The companies already in the holding company have agreed upon pooling their profits with the provision that the same dividend will be paid by each of the members.

Negotiations for a European cement cartel are in progress. The aim of the cartel would be to regulate the entire cement market as well as the European export trade. Conversations have been held at Luxemburg but the German terms have caused difficulties.

FINANCIAL MARKETS IN LONDON AND PARIS

British Trading Checked, Oils Off, Credits Fairly Plentiful—Paris Bourse Is Dull.

LONDON, March 27.—News of breaks in speculative shares in New York tended to subdue the tone on the Stock Exchange here late today, the chief developments occurring in oils and speculative industrials. Oil stocks were disturbed by the Anglo-Persian Company passing its interim dividend, and after midday prices experienced a general fall.

Anglo-Persian fell ¼ to 3⅛, closing without recovery, while Burmah declined to 4⅛. Shell closed at 4⅞, a loss of ⅛, and Voc at 3⅝, down ⅛. Mexican Eagle, at 27s 1½d, lost 1 shilling 6d.

The largest downward movement among industrials was in Vocalion, which opened at 7s and fell to 7d. Victor Talking Machine dropped from 8s to 8d, later rallying to 8½. Gramophone fell to 107s 8d, Columbia Graphophone to 9, Edison Bell to 3 and Duophone to 2 9-16.

Marconi was steady and there was little change in the cable group. Eastern Telegraph was quoted at 200.

Among gilt-edged securities the funding 4 per cents. were steady at 88½ ex-dividend. Gains of ⅛ of a point occurred in the 3½ per cent. conversion loan at 76 11-32 and in the 2½ per cent. consols at 55½. The Victory bonds were quoted at 93¼.

Mining issues were quiet. De Beers was depressed ⅛ to 14⅛. Rand Mines closed at 3⅛.

Credits were fairly plentiful in Lombard Street. New money was at 3½ per cent. and old day-to-day loans renewed at 2¾. Discounts rates were virtually unchanged. American exchange is lower, at $4.86⅛.

Paris Trend Turns Dull.

PARIS, March 27.—The activity which had been pushing Bourse quotations upward for two weeks subsided today and the volume of transactions was diminished in almost all categories of trading with the exception of French rentes.

International securities marked time, partly because of the quiet condition reported in the Brussels and London markets. End-month settlements and the approach of the Easter holiday indicate a dull market for the next few days.

Rentes, which seem to be treated wholly independently of the remainder of the market, were more actively traded in, both cash and account purchases increasing. In most cases yesterday's advances were maintained. The 3s closed at 58.40; 4s of 1917, 74.70; 4s of 1918, 74.90; 5s of 1920, amortizable, 108.00; 5s of 1915, 88.90; 6s, 99.55.

THOMAS W. McCOY, Co-Trustee

The Yazoo and Mississippi Valley Railroad Company, one of the principal subsidiaries of Illinois Central Railroad Company and an integral part of Illinois Central System, has leased the railroad section of the proposed bridge for a period of fifty years, renewable at the option of the lessee.

Mr. Harry E. Bovay, President of Vicksburg Bridge and Terminal Company, summarizes his letter dated March 27, 1928, as follows:

Capitalization

First Mortgage 6% Sinking Fund Gold Bonds (this issue)	$5,500,000	$5,000,000
20-Year 7% Sinking Fund Gold Debentures	2,000,000	2,000,000

Business: Vicksburg Bridge and Terminal Company, a Delaware corporation, will construct, own and operate a combined railroad and highway bridge across the Mississippi River at Vicksburg, Mississippi. This bridge will form a very important link in one of the principal east and west connections between southern trunk-line railway systems. Railway traffic has been ferried across the Mississippi River for many years at Vicksburg, and this crossing point has therefore been definitely established. Upon completion of this bridge, two car-ferries and other necessary appurtenances, having a value in excess of $500,000, will be abandoned by Illinois Central System, which further agrees to use this bridge exclusively for handling trans-Mississippi traffic in the vicinity of Vicksburg.

The lease provides that the lessee shall pay toll monthly for each car crossing the bridge according to the following per annum schedule: $2.75 each for the first 125,000 cars; $2.50 each for the next 25,000 cars; $2.00 each for all cars in excess of 150,000.

Based on the actual number of railroad cars ferried across the Mississippi River at Vicksburg during 1926, and anticipated normal increases of traffic, it is estimated that during the first year of operation the revenue derived from The Yazoo and Mississippi Valley Railroad Company lease alone will be sufficient to pay all operating expenses of this bridge and interest charges on this issue of First Mortgage Bonds. For the first ten years of operation, the average annual gross earnings from railway traffic are estimated to be $509,150.

Vicksburg is also a well established crossing for vehicular traffic, two ferry boats being maintained in constant service for this purpose. The highway portion of this bridge will accommodate two lanes of vehicular traffic, and will enable an average saving in crossing time of over half an hour. For the first ten years of operation, the average annual gross earnings from highway traffic are estimated to be $412,500.

Territory: Vicksburg, Mississippi, is situated on the east bank of the Mississippi River about halfway between Memphis and New Orleans. It is surrounded by a rich agricultural country, and enjoys excellent railroad facilities except for the necessity of crossing the Mississippi River by ferry. Vicksburg is one of the natural east and west gateways in the Mississippi valley and the territory tributary to the bridge includes the States of Mississippi, Louisiana, Alabama, Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, North and South Carolina, Oklahoma, Texas and Virginia, having a combined estimated population of 26,500,000.

Property: The bridge will be of steel, cantilever type, with massive reinforced concrete piers approximately 7,500 feet between approaches. Together with approaches the entire length of the bridge will be about 15,300 feet, or about 2.89 miles. Messrs. Harrington, Howard & Ash have prepared all designs of the bridge and United Engineers & Constructors Inc., American Bridge Company and The Virginia Bridge & Iron Company will erect the substructure and superstructure.

Security: These bonds will be secured, in the opinion of counsel, by a first mortgage on all the physical property and other assets of the Company, now owned or hereafter acquired, including all rights and franchises. The valuation of the bridge, approaches and rights of way, as determined by Messrs. Harrington, Howard & Ash, is substantially in excess of the total funded debt presently to be outstanding.

Earnings: Coverdale and Colpitts, Consulting Engineers, have completed a detailed study of anticipated income from railway traffic and Messrs. Ford, Bacon & Davis, Inc., Engineers, from highway traffic, based upon which it is conservatively estimated that average annual net earnings during the first five years of bridge operation will exceed 2.4 times the average annual interest requirements of the First Mortgage Bonds for such period and that average net earnings during the entire life of these bonds will exceed 5.3 times average annual interest requirements to maturity.

Sinking Fund: The Trust Indenture under which these First Mortgage 6% Bonds will be issued, will provide for an annual sinking fund commencing March 1, 1932, payable out of net earnings, calculated to retire this issue at or before maturity.

These bonds are offered when, as and if issued and received by us and subject to the opinion of counsel. All legal proceedings pertaining to this issue will be passed upon by Messrs. Winston, Strawn & Shaw, Chicago. It is expected that the bonds in temporary or definitive form or interim receipts therefor of Continental National Bank and Trust Company of Chicago will be ready for delivery on or about April 10, 1928.

These Bonds are listed on the Chicago Stock Exchange

OTHER UTILITIES REPORTING

Third Avenue Railway Has Deficit of $42,255 in Month—Power Companies Show Gains.

Increased revenues and profits are reported for February by the Interborough Rapid Transit Company, as compared with the same month last year, in its statement released today. Revenues from all sources amounted to $5,576,071, an increase of $422,564, as compared with February, 1927, and net income after interest, sinking fund requirements, all taxes and rentals was $588,346, a gain of $140,008.

The company's statement is computed according to its regular methods and is subject to such readjustment as may be necessitated by the final adjudication of objections made by the Transit Commission on Jan. 4, last, to certain items in the accounting under the contract with New York City.

"Such adjudication," the report says, "may show that a portion of the 'balance after actual maintenance' on the subway is payable to the city, with a corresponding change in that balance on the system."

MITTEN AND UNION END TRACTION DISPUTE

Agreement for Cooperation on Future Operations Announced at Philadelphia.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, March 27.—Fifteen years of differences between Mitten Management and the Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railway Employes of America have been settled by officials of the two organizations, it was announced here today.

Under the agreement a fifty-fifty form of cooperation is to be applied between the company and the union. Provision is made, however, for negotiations to obtain union-management agreements on the Philadelphia and Buffalo properties at a later date. The plan provides that the working agreements, including standards of work and compensation, are to be matters of local ratification and arrangement. Non-performance of contract by either party will be determined by arbitration, and the contract may be terminated by vote of two-thirds of the employes represented by the union.

Because of the clause in the agreement saying it applied to "properties that are to be acquired or operated by Mitten Management in the future," there continued locally rumors that Thomas E. Mitten was hoping to get control of the Interborough Rapid Transit Company in New York.

THE LIFE INSURANCE TRUST PLAN is particularly attractive and advantageous for that large group of men of moderate circumstances who are anxious to provide for the future of their families. We refer to those men who are now saving a percentage of their earnings annually but realize that they are gambling on the future and wish to provide an adequate estate at once.

The Life Insurance Trust Plan guarantees the financial freedom of your family by creating at once a large estate in insurance.

It places the estate in trust with us as executor-trustee, enabling us to bring to its management and to the service of your heirs absolute fidelity, continuous existence and the knowledge and experience of years of similar service.

It enables you to use either a part of your annual earnings or the income from your investments to pay the life insurance premiums which maintain your estate.

Under our guidance you may carry out an investment program which can be arranged to place your estate ultimately upon a self-supporting basis and provide a convenient emergency reserve.

If you are possessed of abundant means or even great wealth, the Insurance Trust has advantages for you. It provides a large cash sum for the immediate use of your executors in meeting inheritance taxes, debts, commissions and administration expenses.

A Life Insurance Trust may be created from your present insurance policies and may be increased to the desired size by taking out additional insurance at your convenience.

A Life Insurance Trust may be made as elastic and flexible in its provisions as you desire. It can be made revocable at any time. The powers of the trustee can be clearly defined, emergency payments specified, etc.

I am interested in your Insurance Trust Plan for providing an estate now for the future protection of my family.

Please send me further particulars.

A BANK LOOKS AT BUSINESS TRENDS

the other power to produce

National income has reached nearly 90 billion dollars. Twenty years ago it was less than a third that sum.

$89,682,000,000 is over 245-million a day—per year $754.57 per capita, $3,244.69 per family, $2,068.01 for each person gainfully employed in the country.

Translated into pre-war dollars, the purchasing power of the country has amazingly increased.

Figures showing the distribution of this purchasing power explain and account for the huge increase in production totals.

Some express concern because production is expanding so much faster than income is growing.

Others point out there is still a margin of nearly 20% between the production and income totals.

Others urge the growing necessity for exports to absorb expanding production, still far below plant capacity.

Measuring markets before production is the natural course of banking procedure; adjusting production to consuming needs is a natural business precaution.

We keep close watch on the fundamental trends of business and discuss them with our customers as they affect their individual interests. We find this mutually helpful.

PRICE DROPS $15,000 FOR EXCHANGE SEAT

Sale Arranged at $360,000, but an Offer of $380,000 Is Again Reported.

$5,000 ADVANCE ON CURB

Rubber and Cocoa Memberships Bring $9,000 and $4,650 Respectively, Now Highs.

At the same time that trading on the New York Stock Exchange was establishing another high record for volume, the price of memberships in that institution dropped sharply yesterday. Arrangements were made for the sale of a membership at $360,000, or $15,000 below the figure at which a transaction was arranged the day before. The names of the buyer and seller were not announced.

In explanation of the decline in price it was suggested in stock market circles that tentative arrangements may have been made for this latest sale before the new valuation of $375,000 was set on Monday. It was again reported yesterday that $350,000 was being offered for a seat on the Exchange.

There was an advance of $5,000 in the price of memberships in the New York Curb Exchange. John Durant purchased the seat of E. G. Kretschmar for $65,000, which is the highest price paid this year, but $2,000 below the high record established in 1927. The last seat sale was at $60,000, arranged Monday. Mr. Durant is not a relative of William C. Durant. He is the brother of Kenneth W. Durant of E. F. Hutton & Co., who recently paid $350,000 for a seat on the New York Stock Exchange. He is a 1926 Yale graduate, is 26 years old and is associated with Otis & Co. He has been in Wall Street two years.

George J. Schwarb of Paris has sold his membership in the Rubber Exchange of New York to William Stiles, who was acting for another. The price is $9,000, a new high record and $1,000 above the figure involved in the previous transaction.

A membership in the Cocoa Exchange was sold yesterday for $4,650, a new peak and $550 above the price in the previous sale. Two other Cocoa Exchange memberships were sold yesterday, one at $4,250 and the other at $4,400. A standing bid of $4,650 was reported.

The price of Produce Exchange seats reached $21,000 yesterday.

Lone Star Gas to Issue Rights.

The Lone Star Gas Corporation announced yesterday that stockholders of record of April 10 will have the right on and after May 15 to subscribe to one new share of stock for each three shares held at $25 a share. This will add 360,000 shares to the present outstanding stock.

BANK STOCKS ADVANCE IN COUNTER TRADING

Heavy Trading Follows Further Reports of Bank of America's Expansion Plans.

Based upon further reports of the expansion plans of the Bank of America heavy trading came into the bank and trust company stocks in the over-the-counter market yesterday, and prices of these shares swept forward strongly and steadily throughout most of the session.

Interest in the other divisions of the market waned, however, and there were numerous losses shown at the close, especially in the insurance group, where the net declines ranged from 5 to 15 points. Industrials did not receive much attention, but a number of issues showed a slight gaining tendency toward the last. Chain stores held firm and the sugar stocks had only a slight bit of activity.

Bank of America shares jumped 10 points in the first hour or so of trading and closed with a net gain of 20 points. Greater gains were scored, however, by companion issues, Bowery and East River being up 75 points on the day, and First National of New York and Harriman each advancing 25 points net. Fifteen-point gains occurred in each of Farmers Loan and Trust and Central Union. Several bank shares were somewhat easier toward the close, among them being New York Trust, Seaboard, United States Mortgage and Trust, Chatham-Phenix and Banca di Sicilia.

Losses of from 5 to 15 points came to Hartford Fire, Providence-Washington, Aetna Life, Travelers, Aetna Casualty and Surety, National Fire, Aetna Fire, Phoenix and others. Boston Insurance was the feature of the group scoring a net gain of 40 points.

Of the industrials Phelps-Dodge, Scovill Manufacturing, Woodward Iron common, Crocker-Wheeler, Hercules Powder common and Ruberoid were slightly stronger. F. & W. Grand led the chain store issues with a gain of 2 point. Federal Sugar headed that section, being up 3 points at the close.

SHOWS NET OF $582,744.

Calumet & Hecla Reveals Decrease in Profit for 1927.

Calumet & Hecla Consolidated Copper Company, in a pamphlet report for the year ended Dec. 31, shows net profit of $582,744 after taxes, depreciation, depletion and other charges, equivalent to 29 cents earned on 2,006,502 shares of stock. This compares with $1,800,219, or 74 cents a share, in 1926.

At the end of the year the company had $4,011,463 cash on hand, compared with $4,243,379 a year ago. Accounts receivable decreased from $3,090,581 in 1926 to $1,527,807 last year. Surplus was shown at $3,541,211, as against $12,960,470 a year ago, after providing for Federal adjustments.

SINCLAIR'S CONTROL OF OIL CO. IN DOUBT

Wall Street Believes He Has Been Eliminated as Dominant Factor by Stock Purchase.

Wall Street heard yesterday that arrangements virtually had been completed for the transfer of control of the Sinclair Consolidated Oil Corporation from Harry F. Sinclair and associates to other oil interests. The report was accompanied by a sharp advance in the Sinclair stock on the New York Stock Exchange. Closing at 30½, the stock showed a net gain of 2¾ points. More than 300,000 shares changed hands.

The report has been persistent for some time that "buying for control" was going on in Sinclair. Yesterday it was said in well-informed circles that, as a result of the heavy accumulation of stock in the open market by other interests, Mr. Sinclair had been eliminated as the dominant factor in the company. This report could not be confirmed and there was no intimation that a change in executive personnel was imminent. Mr. Sinclair is still Chairman of the board and his brother, E. W. Sinclair, is President.

There is some doubt in Wall Street as to exactly what group has been buying Sinclair stock. Some time ago it was reported that banking interests here were increasing their holdings with the view to using the Sinclair company as the nucleus for a large merger. The Standard Oil Company of Indiana also has been mentioned as a buyer of the stock.

The best information seems to be, however, that the Prairie Oil & Gas Company, a member of the old Standard Oil group, is to take over Sinclair, possibly with the idea of affecting a merger, and that the Standard of Indiana is to acquire the 50 per cent. stock interest which the Sinclair company holds in the Sinclair Crude Oil Purchasing Company, The Standard of Indiana already has the remaining 50 per cent. interest in that company.

American Ice February Income Up.

CURB STOCKS RECOVER AFTER EARLY DECLINE

Close of the Market, Although Irregular, Shows but a Few Important Losses.

A sharp attack on values began with the opening of the New York Curb market yesterday, but prices recovered, and the close, although irregular, showed only a few important losses. Several important gains appeared at the end, especially in the chain store group. Utilities were very active but mixed in trend. Some motors continued their advance, but the group was not buoyant, and several leaders declined.

American Gas and Electric, Electric Investors, Associated Gas and Electric, United Light and Power A and Puget Sound declined, generally by fractions, while activity and strength were shown by Northern Ohio Power, United Gas Improvement, Mohawk and Hudson Rivers, American Superpower and Electric Bond and Share.

In the oil section Gulf Oil and Northern Pipe Line were firm, while small losses were shown in Vacuum Oil, Standard of Indiana, Imperial Oil and International Petroleum. In the chain store group Safeway Stores set a new high, but closed somewhat under the peak, while Kinney, Melville Shoe and Metropolitan Stores were strong, and highs were made by David Pender B and Neisner.

Bancitaly gained a fraction on balance, and in the other high-priced issues New Jersey Zinc, at a new high; Pittsburgh and Lake Erie and Auburn Auto were firm. Lehigh Portland Cement, Carnegie Metals, Newmont Mining, Caterpillar Tractor and Acme Gas were other strong shares, while Lehigh Coal and Navigation, Calumet shares, Grand Stores and Consolidated Dairy Products were easier.

New American Salamandra Stock.

The stockholders of the American Salamandra Corporation, which owns the North Star Insurance Company, have authorized an increase in the general shares to 50,000 and a change in the terms relating to the two classes of stock whereby general shares will receive $3.13-9 per cent. of the dividends paid instead of 50 per cent. It is planned to offer 20,000 new general shares to the present stockholders at $95 a share in the ratio of two new shares for each three now held.

SINCLAIR'S CONTROL OF OIL CO. IN DOUBT

Wall Street Believes He Has Been Eliminated as Dominant Factor by Stock Purchase.

Wall Street heard yesterday that arrangements virtually had been completed for the transfer of control of the Sinclair Consolidated Oil Corporation from Harry F. Sinclair and associates to other oil interests. The report was accompanied by a sharp advance in the Sinclair stock on the New York Stock Exchange. Closing at 30¾, the stock showed a net gain of 2¾ points. More than 300,000 shares changed hands.

The report has been persistent for some time that "buying for control" was going on in Sinclair. Yesterday it was said in well-informed circles that, as a result of the heavy accumulation of stock in the open market by other interests, Mr. Sinclair had been eliminated as the dominant factor in the company. This report could not be confirmed and there was no intimation that a change in executive personnel was imminent. Mr. Sinclair is still Chairman of the board and his brother, E. W. Sinclair, is President.

There is some doubt in Wall Street as to exactly what groups has been buying Sinclair stock. Some time ago it was reported that banking interests here were increasing their holdings with the view to using the Sinclair company as the nucleus for a large merger. The Standard Oil Company of Indiana also has been mentioned as a buyer of the stock.

The best information seems to be, however, that the Prairie Oil & Gas Company, a member of the old Standard Oil group, is to take over Sinclair, possibly with the idea of effecting a merger, and that the Standard of Indiana is to acquire the 50 per cent. stock interest which the Sinclair company holds in the Sinclair Crude Oil Purchasing Company. The Standard of Indiana already has the remaining 50 per cent. interest in that company.

American Ice February Income Up.

CURB STOCKS RECOVER AFTER EARLY DECLINE

Close of the Market, Although Irregular, Shows but a Few Important Losses.

A sharp attack on values began with the opening of the New York Curb market yesterday, but prices recovered, and the close, although irregular, showed only a few important losses. Several important gains appeared at the end, especially in the chain store group. Utilities were very active but mixed in trend. Some motors continued their advance, but the group was not buoyant, and several leaders declined.

American Gas and Electric, Electric Investors, Associated Gas and Electric, United Light and Power A and Puget Sound declined, generally by fractions, while activity and strength were shown by Northern Ohio Power, United Gas Improvement, Mohawk and Hudson Power, American Superpower and Electric Bond and Share.

In the oil section Gulf Oil and Northern Pipe Line were firm, while small losses were shown by Vacuum Oil, Standard of Indiana, Imperial Oil and International Pete. In the chain store group Safeway Stores set a new high, but closed somewhat under the peak, with a gain. Melville Shoe and Metropolitan Stores were strong, and highs were set by David Pender B and Neisner.

Bancitaly gained a fraction on balance, and in the other high-priced issues New Jersey Zinc, at a new high; Pittsburgh and Lake Erie and Auburn Auto were firm. Lehigh Portland Cement, Carnegie Metals, Newmont Mining, Caterpillar Tractor and Adolf Gobel were other strong shares, while Lehigh Coal and Navigation, Calumet shares, Grand Stores and Consolidated Dairy Products were easier.

New American Salamandra Stock.

The stockholders of the American Salamandra Corporation, which owns the North Star Insurance Company, have authorized an increase in the general shares to 50,000 and a change in the terms relating to the two classes of stock, whereby general shares will receive 83 1-3 per cent. of the dividends paid instead of 50 per cent. It is planned to offer 20,000 new general shares to the present stockholders at $95 a share in the ratio of two new shares for each three now held.

SEES CUBAN TRADE HURT.

T. C. Ulbricht Comments on Failure of Parcel Post Bill.

T. C. Ulbricht, Vice President of the American Chamber of Commerce in Cuba, said on his arrival here yesterday that the failure of Congress to pass the Cuban parcel post bill was seriously affecting the business of the United States in the island republic. Mr. Ulbricht is manager of the Cuban branch of the Honolulu Iron Works Company.

"The introduction of Cuban cigars into this country in lots of less than 3,000 would not injure the American tobacco industry, as only one-tenth of 1 per cent. of our products compete with the Cuban imports," said Mr. Ulbricht. "To Cubans, the issue is simple. The United States had not fulfilled her obligation, pledged to Cuba in the General Mails Convention in 1903, so Cuba, having faithfully lived up to her part of the contract, and having waited in vain for years, was finally forced to terminate the convention."

Cuba recently terminated parcel-post arrangements with the United States because our laws prohibit the importation of Cuban cigars in less than lots of 3,000.

HUPP MOTOR TO PAY A STOCK DIVIDEND

American Bond & Share Also Announces Extra and Regular in Stock.

ONE INITIAL IS DECLARED

Three Companies Report Omissions and Another Announces a Reduction in Rate.

Two stock dividends, three extra payments, one initial, three omissions and one reduction in rate featured dividend actions by directors of various companies yesterday.

The Hupp Motor Car Corporation authorized a quarterly stock dividend of 2½ per cent., together with the regular quarterly cash disbursement of 35 cents a share. The authorization of the stock dividend on a quarterly basis means that the corporation's stock is now on a regular annual stock dividend basis of 10 per cent., in addition to $1.40 cash.

Directors of the American Bond & Share Corporation announced an extra dividend of 1 per cent., together with the regular quarterly payment of the same amount, both payable in stock.

The Packard Electric Company declared an extra of 30 cents a share on its no par common stock. Another extra disbursement of 50 cents a share was announced on common stock of the Troy Sunshade Company, while a third of 25 cents a share was declared by the Union Metal Manufacturing Company on its no par common stock.

Directors of the National Association Investors, Inc., authorized an initial quarterly distribution of 50 cents a share on the Class A stock, together with the regular quarterly of 1¼ per cent. on the 6½ per cent. preferred stock.

A dividend of $1 a share on the $7 no par preferred stock of the Frink Corporation was declared, marking a reduction from the last previous payment, which was an initial of $1.05, paid on Jan. 3, 1928, covering the period from Nov. 7, 1927, to Dec. 31, 1927, at the rate of $7 a year.

The Erupcion Mining Company omitted the quarterly 7½-cent dividend on its $1 par stock, which is due at this time. The Tri-City Railway & Light Company passed the dividend of 1 per cent. on common stock and the Anglo-Persian Oil Company, Ltd., of London, omitted its interim distribution, which is due.

Four regular monthly dividends of 25 cents each were declared by the William Wrigley Jr. Company, payable on the first day each of May, June, July and August to stockholders of record on the twentieth of each preceding month.

STEEL FIRM BUYS BRIDGE.

Foundation Company Reported in $30,000,000 Ohio Merger.

IRONTON, Ohio, March 27 (AP).—Purchase of the Ironton-Ashland Bridge Company from the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad by the Foundation Company of New York as part of a $30,000,000 steel merger was announced here today by C. J. Crawford, representative of the New York firm.

Crawford has been conducting negotiations here for a merger of the Belfont Steeel and Wire Company and the Marting Iron and Steel Company of Ironton, and the Ashland Steel Company and Morton Steel Works of Ashland, Ky. The two cities are on either side of the Ohio River and the bridge connecting them would be used to switch hot iron between the Ironton and Ashland plants.

CALLS MOORE PLAN OLD.

Witness Says Ford Made Time Sales Before Those Alleged.

During the trial yesterday of the action instituted by Edward G. Moore, a financial expert of Washington, D. C., for an accounting to ascertain the amount of money the Ford Motor Company gained by the adoption of a time-payment plan for automobiles, which the plaintiff alleges was first suggested by him, George E. Madders of Topeka, Kan., was called to the witness chair. He testified that he had formerly been a sales agent for Ford cars and that the selling plan was old and had been used before the time the plaintiff claims to have suggested it.

Counsel for Mr. Moore brought out the fact that the witness had been sentenced in 1919 to a five-year term in prison for mail fraud but had been pardoned at the end of eighteen months. De Lancey Nicoll, counsel for the defendant, said that Mr. Madders had undoubtedly been wrongfully charged with a crime that he was a leading citizen of Topeka and an active member of the church. The trial will be continued today.

FLOOD LOSS FIGURED BY BOSTON & MAINE

Annual Report Places Direct and Consequential Damages at $3,314,000.

NET NCOME OF $3,373,293

Total Little More Than Half of Earnings in Previous Year—Efficiency Increased.

The report made yesterday to the stockholders of the Boston & Maine Railroad by the President of the company, George Hannauer, shows the extraordinary operating expenses incurred by the railroad during 1927 as a result, for the most part, of the floods in New England in last November. The report announces a direct loss of $2,314,000 and a consequential loss estimated at $1,000,000, due to the floods.

The financial results for 1927 show a decrease in surplus amounting to $2,154,020, but two items alone more than account for this, one being $1,576,961.22 for repairing property damaged by the floods and the other, $715,000, which represents the ledger value of the demolished North Station in Boston. In addition to these expenses, a sum $1,131,827 greater than in 1926 is reported in connection with improvement work. The net income for the year was $3,373,293, which was $3,200,111 less than in 1926.

According to the report, operating efficiency tables reveal average gains of nearly 15 per cent. in all items over those of 1924, and substantial gains over 1926 in all items except average net tons a train, which reflects a falling off in anthracite coal tonnage.

The new North Station in Boston, according to the report, should be ready for occupancy by July 1. Among other improvements are new classification yards, enlargement of the Hoosac Tunnel, reduction of grades and filling in of trestle areas.

Unusually heavy maintenance of way expenses, the report states, were largely offset by decreases in other departments and items. Transportation expenses were cut $2,242,883.96 and locomotive fuel costs $779,756.47.

ARBITRATORS GET FUR CASE

Will Act on Shulhof's Claim for $2,000,000 From Dealers.

The claim for $2,000,000 damages and commissions made by Otto B. Shulhof, former Port Authority Commissioner, against the Eitingon-Schild Company, Inc., fur dealers, of 226 West Thirtieth Street, will be decided by arbitration. A jury before Supreme Court Justice Erlanger failed to agree after a three weeks' trial last November.

The arbitration will be conducted under the rules of the American Arbitration Association, with A. E. Lefcourt acting for Mr. Shulhof and Michael Hollander chosen by Motty Eitingon, President of the defendant corporation. Three other arbitrators will be selected. Mr. Lefcourt is a realty operator. Mr. Hollander is head of A. Hollander & Son, Inc., fur dyeing and dressing concern.

Mr. Shulhof alleges that after he was sent to Russia for the defendant to negotiate for the Soviet supply of skins, the Eitingon-Schild company made an independent arrangement with a subsidiary of the Soviet Government, and he was deprived of his commissions.

SUGAR, COFFEE, COCOA.

Sugar.

Although the London market closed lower, raw sugar futures on the New York Coffee and Sugar Exchange were firm yesterday. Initial quotations were unchanged to 1 point higher; but the list advanced as trading became active. Some of the buying was attributed to European account. The refined market was unchanged. Spots were offered at 2 13-16 cents. News from Havana regarding the disposition of the "reserve sugars" was lacking and had little effect on the market. Six more Cuban centrals completed grinding, making a total of 21 to date. The market closed 2 points higher.

Spots are nominal, with Rio 7s quoted at 16¼ cents, and Santos 4s ranging from 22¼ to 22½ cents. Sales totaled 33,000 bags. The A contracts closed from 5 points lower to 5 points higher, while the D contracts were 5 to 15 points higher.

ADVANCE IN COTTON MEETS LIQUIDATION

Mill Price Fixing Discloses Comparatively Few Old-Crop Contracts for Sale.

The advance in new crop deliveries above 19 cents brought out more cotton yesterday and after an early improvement prices eased off nearly a dollar a bale, ending with a loss of 9 to a gain of 2 points on the day. Mill price-fixing disclosed comparatively few old crop contracts for sale, though the selling of distant months permitted the undoing of swaps between May and October at increasing differences between old and new crop deliveries. The May premium widened out to 58 points over October at the close, the most extensive difference in several months.

Though another violent advance occurred in Alexandria, where some months rose 140 points, neither American nor Indian staples were influenced materially in Liverpool. The recent selling from Bombay increased offerings of Indian cotton and spot quotations declined 5 English points, while prices for American spots and contracts continued relatively unchanged from the previous session.

The Garside Service issued the first tentative estimate on the season's consumption of American cotton, placing the figures from 15,250,000 to 15,500,000, lint. Including linters, this would point to a possible total of 16,000,000 to 16,250,000, and indicate a carry-over ranging between 5,000,000 and 5,500,000 bales at the close of the current season.

LONDON, March 27.—A scheme for the formation of a Lancashire textile corporation, of which the primary aim would be to combine spinning mills engaged in the American section of the cotton trade, was presented today by J. L. Tattersall at a meeting of members of the Cotton Yarn Association representing 200 spinning companies controlling 21,000,000 spindles.

According to Mr. Tattersall the corporation would not only amalgamate the companies but would purchase working businesses and manage them. Amalgamation was suggested by exchanging shares in the corporation for existing shares, or by acquiring debts and issuing debenture stock and shares in payment of them.

Individual companies, according to the plan, would be kept in existence but would not engage in trade except through the corporation. Mr. Tattersall maintained that the "combination" can produce more cheaply than an individual mill owing to low fixed charges and also to a reduction in executive costs, bulk buying of cotton and central control of selling.

Banks, Mr. Tattersall said, endorsed amalgamation. He added that he had discussed it with the British Board of Trade. The only alternative to it he could see was putting up mills to auction and leaving Lancashire in bankruptcy.

WHEAT PRICES RISE IN NERVOUS MARKET

Upturn Follows Opening Period of Lower Figures—March Is Up and May Down.

CORN AND OATS DECLINE

Liquidation Starts Early With a Sharp Drop, but a Strong Rally Follows.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, March 27.—Reports that the coming private crop information, which will be given to the trade next Tuesday, would make a sensationally bullish showing, with the condition probably under 68 and about the lowest known, was largely responsible for heavy and persistent commission house buying of deferred deliveries of wheat. While prices were lower early, there was an upturn of 1⅜ to 1½ cents from the inside figures with the close at net gains of ¼ to ⅝ cent. March was up ¼ cent and May was off a like amount, the latter being under pressure a good part of the day.

Primary arrivals today, 890,000 bushels; week ago, 653,000 bushels; last year, 517,000 bushels. Shipments, 457,000 bushels; week ago, 433,000 bushels; last year, 362,000 bushels.

Liquidation was on in corn and oats early, with a sharp decline in prices. Some stop loss orders were uncovered on the way down. Buying against bids and short covering caused a strong rally with corn closing ⅝ to ½ cent lower, while oats were off ¼ to ½ cent.

Primary arrivals today, 1,147,000 bushels; week ago, 957,000 bushels; last year, 469,000 bushels. Shipments, 889,000 bushels; week ago, 775,000 bushels; last year, 321,000 bushels.

Furs to Be Shown June 1.

Representatives of approximately forty leading style houses in the fur industry met here yesterday at the Hotel Pennsylvania and decided to show their 1928-1929 lines about June 1. This will be the latest date at which Fall lines have ever been offered to the retailers by the manufacturers, and another meeting will be held at the Pennsylvania on April 17 to determine how best to present the matter to them. The late opening will do away with the usual Spring trip, thus benefitting the manufacturers. The retailers will benefit from the elimination of early season style uncertainties, with resultant losses.

Showroom Activity Has Spurt.

Local garment showrooms were busier places yesterday than they have been for some time. Milder weather, coupled with the nearness of Easter, has produced a gain in activity that promises to continue well into next week. Cost manufacturers, it was indicated, were benefited to a somewhat greater extent than the dress producers, although the latter also were busy. One of the developments arising from the spurt has been a greater difficulty for woolen salesmen in the showing of their Fall lines. Manufacturers are concentrating their attention on Spring merchandising.

Carpet Institute Plans Outlined.

Preliminary laying out of committees and outlining the scope of their work featured the meeting of the Carpet Institute held yesterday at the Hotel Biltmore. The committees, which will be six in number, will guide the course of cooperative trade promotion and research work for the woolen and worsted floor coverings industry, President Irving S. Paull said. The plans discussed are still in a formative stage, but the committees will deal with "facts, not enthusiasms," he added. Further details, Mr. Paull said, will be worked out at another meeting to be held shortly, the exact date not having been selected as yet.

Cheney Shows Sport Silks.

At a luncheon given yesterday to fashion writers, Cheney Brothers displayed their new line of sports silks in costumes worn by live models. These are made on jacquard looms of pure dye yarn silk, except one number, which has a pure wool filling. Both solid and fancy color combinations are shown in a wide variety of designs. The new silks are offered in place of lightweight woolens and have all the appearance of cloth but with only the weight of silk. They come in smooth and rough surfaces and range from tightly woven to loose materials resembling basket cloth.

First Worsted Group Meeting.

Discussion at the first group meeting of the Wool Institute, Inc., held yesterday, centred on the need of a definite trade policy and the activities of the institute for the next three months. The gathering was attended by forty-three executives and thirty-three selling agents of mills making men's wear medium and fine worsteds. These mills are equipped with 13,236 looms, or 77.8 per cent. of the industry's loomage in this fabric division, President A. D. Whiteside announced. Many of the manufacturers, he added, had never met in a group meeting before. The next meeting of the group will be held on April 17. The first annual meeting of the institute will take place on May 15.

Fair Outlook for Summer Clothing.

Beginning next week, shipments of men's Summer clothing will begin to go forward in volume to retailers. Despite the fairly substantial carryover from last year of the merchandise by retailers, the advance business has been fairly good. Part of this is due to the novelty Summer weaves, since introduced, for which a good reception is anticipated. Garments of these cloths and tropical worsteds, linens and flannels are figured to have the bulk of the demand. Prices of some of these fabrics are firmer, so that it would not be surprising, according to clothiers here, if duplicate orders for Summer clothing carried a higher price.

Will Handle Radio Credits.

To remedy poor conditions surrounding the handling of insolvencies in the radio industry arising through lack of unified action of creditors, the Radio Manufacturers of America has decided to refer all insolvency cases of its members to the Credit Clearing House. The plan, as announced yesterday, will enable unit action in the election of proper trustees and is expected to result in large savings in administrative expenses, as well as larger dividends for the parties concerned. Similar action has lately been taken by the National Boot and Shoe Manufacturers' Association and the Motor Accessory Manufacturers' Association.

Story of Style Would Help.

Mrs. Marguerite R. Male, stylist with the Associated Dry Goods Corporation, said yesterday before a meeting of the United Underwear and Negligee League of America that manufacturers would do more business if they would present with their merchandise some interesting story about the derivation of its style. This story, she said, could be passed on to the retail saleswoman and by her to the consumer, thus reducing sales resistance. Other speakers were Mrs. Alice M. Johnson, head of the league's new style bureau; Samuel Epstein, Chairman of the league, and E. H. Loewenwarter, an accountant of this city. Executive Chairman M. Mosessohn presided.

Cloth Brokers for Organization.

Fundamental organization details of the proposed association of cotton cloth brokers were worked out yesterday at a committee meeting held at the Merchants' Club. They will be presented to the prospective membership of the association at a meeting to be held at the Arkwright Club soon. Sentiment among brokers is strongly in favor of the proposed body. Temporary Chairman Louis Lowinson said after the meeting that there was every indication of the success of the movement, despite the failure of previous attempts during the past seven years. E. P. Willmerding is Chairman of the committee on details.

Gray Goods Do Quite Well.

Gray goods were quite active here yesterday. Spot business was done in 39-inch 80-squares at 11 cents, and these cloths are now getting scarce here. For 38½-inch 64-60s buyers paid 7⅝ cents, and the best that could be done on 39-inch 68-72s was 9¾. Good makes of 37-inch 48-square, four-yard sheetings sold at 7⅞ cents, and trading in 40-inch 4.25s took place at 7½ cents. Orders for 37-inch three-yard drills were placed at 11 cents, with 8¼ asked for 2.95s in that width. For 37½-inch 4.70-yard sateens 9⅞ cents was paid. Combed broadcloths were traded in on the basis of 15% cents for nearby 128-68s, and carded 100-60s brought 11 cents for May-June deliveries.

INGOT PRODUCTION RISES.

Steel Corporation and Independents Show a Slight Gain.

The ingot production of the United States Steel Corporation is slightly above 90 per cent., compared with 88½ and 89 per cent. a week ago and a little under 88½ per cent. two weeks ago.

Independent steel companies have shown a moderate increase and are at nearly 79 per cent. of capacity. For the entire industry the rate of ingot production is averaging nearly 85 per cent. of capacity against 84 per cent. the preceding week and 83 per cent. two weeks ago.

Comparisons with this period last year show decreases of from 8 to 20 per cent. in operation.

LATEST DEALINGS IN REAL ESTATE

PHILADELPHIA MEN BUY 3D AV. CORNER

Syndicate Headed by E. A. Schmidt Purchases Eight Old Houses at 79th Street.

MAY ERECT A NEW FLAT

Nine Dwellings on East 89th St. In a Reported Deal—More Yorkville Tenements Change Hands.

Real estate trading on the east side in the Sixties and Seventies attracted Philadelphia capital yesterday, when Edward A. Schmidt, President of the Schmidt Brewing Company of Philadelphia, purchased a group of eight old houses at the southwest corner of Seventy-ninth Street and Third Avenue.

The property was held at $550,000 and was sold by Franklin Pettit. Mr. Schmidt heads a syndicate of Philadelphians.

The transaction is one of several similar deals in this section to be completed recently. The property comprises an area of 12,500 square feet with a frontage of 125 feet on Seventy-ninth Street and 100 feet on Third Avenue. Although he has no definite plans for the future, Mr. Schmidt intends to restrict the Third Avenue frontage to a low building which will provide permanent Eastern light for the Seventy-ninth Street plot, which may be improved with a large apartment house. Brown, Wheelock, Harris, Vought & Co., Inc., were the brokers in the sale of the property.

Reports of deals pending and others just closed on the east side were current in real estate circles yesterday. Contracts were reported on the plot on the north side of East Sixty-ninth Street, between Second and First Avenues. The plot is improved with nine three-story and basement dwellings, just east of Second Avenue.

In the Yorkville section James W. Fitzpatrick resold the tenement house at 308 East Eightieth Street, which he recently purchased. The buyer is negotiating for the purchase of the adjoining building. Frank Schwartz was the broker in the deal.

Schindler & Liebler have sold for John McNulty to Delia Riordan and Bridget McHale, clients of Thomas J. Keating, the three-story private dwelling at 203 East Eighty-second Street, together with the contents of a furnished room house. The same brokers sold for Mrs. A. Lindner the four-story brownstone dwelling at 322 East Seventy-ninth Street, completely furnished, to Charles Hutzenlaub.

Warren L. Marks has sold for the Flood estate, 249 East Sixty-second Street, with a seventeen-foot frontage. The buyer is Mrs. C. A. Ferguson of Mount Kisco, to whom the same broker sold the adjoining house at 251 last week.

The present sale gives Mrs. Ferguson a total frontage of thirty-five feet, controlling the northwest corner of Second Avenue and Sixty-second Street. She plans extensive alterations to the property.

Leon S. Altmayer sold for Matthew Pilnacek 1,360 Avenue A, located on the east side of Avenue A between Seventy-second and Seventy-third Streets. This is a two-story garage.

DWELLINGS LAW DISCUSSED.

Counsel and Architect to Commission Ask for Cooperation.

A general invitation to discuss the provisions of the proposed Dwellings law, which was defeated in the State legislative session which ended recently, was issued yesterday by Harold Riegelman, counsel to the Commission to Examine and Revise the Tenement House law, which was extended for another year to provide for a redrafting of the proposed measure. Mr. Riegelman spoke at a luncheon meeting of the Real Estate Club of the Federation for the Support of Jewish Philanthropic Societies. Leonard Cox, consulting architect to the commission, and Senator Benjamin Antin of the Bronx, a member of the commission, also expressed a desire for cooperation in the work which an augmented commission will undertake during the coming year.

Most of the opposition to the proposed law, Mr. Riegelman said, centred about the sections relating to the two classifications of lots in the city, the requirements for more yard space and the extension of supervision to one and two family dwellings. No one organization, he stated, objected to more than six sections of the 153 in the law as drawn, though in the aggregate some objection was registered against about 100 of the sections. Welfare organizations gave the measure only qualified support, he stated, as they believed its provisions should include the demolition of all tenements erected prior to 1901.

Richard F. Davis, President of the club for the past seven years, was nominated to serve another term. Frederick Brown was nominated for a new office, that of Honorary President in perpetuity, for his efforts in "advancing the cause of federation."

House Is Leased With Option.

The Houghton Company leased for George H. Masten of Middletown, N. Y., the four-story dwelling at 34 East Ninth Street for eight years. The lease carries an option to purchase any year at a stipulated and graduated figure. The tenant is to remodel the building into stores and studios. The fee is held by the Sailors' Snug Harbor.

Corner in Brooklyn Sold.

Tessie Marcus and Mabel Dohrman have sold to an investor the three-story brick store property at the northwest corner of Eighteenth Avenue and Sixty-first Street, Brooklyn. The property was held at $55,000, according to Tutino & Co., the brokers.

REAL ESTATE NOTES.

The purchaser of 329-331 West Eighty-third Street, recently reported sold, is Joseph H. Schwartz, who owns the entire block front on Riverside Drive from Eighty-third to Eighty-fourth Streets, and with this purchase now controls a building plot of over 31,000 square feet, on which he plans to erect a large hotel. Joseph Milner Company, Inc., were associated with William Cruikshank's Sons in the transaction.

Adams & Co., Inc., were the brokers in the leasing space in the Flatiron Building to Bourges Service, Inc., the Club Service Publishing Company and Meyer Parmet.

Wise & Sellgsberg, attorneys, have formed the 720 Park Avenue Corporation to take title to the northwest corner of Park Avenue and Seventieth Street, which is to be improved with a cooperative apartment house to cost about $5,000,000.

Avenue A and Sutton Place Are to Have Traffic Lights

Another step in the development of the high-class individual section east of Third Avenue is being taken in the installation of conduits for eleven automatic traffic signal lights along Avenue A from Fifty-fourth to Ninety-third Street and in Sutton Place.

The sectional committee of the First Avenue Association, of which Alexander S. Bing is Chairman, has made a careful investigation of traffic conditions and its recommendation for traffic signals has been acted upon favorably by the Police Department.

The structures, which occupy a plot 64 by 93 feet, adjoin the property recently improved by James J. Rearden with a modern garage building.

Just what disposition is to be made of the property could not be learned yesterday. The Duross Company negotiated the transaction.

This sale follows several made in the vicinity during the past couple of weeks, the most important of which was the disposal of the block front on the west side of Bleecker Street between Christopher and West Tenth Streets to Joseph F. A. O'Donnell, operator.

ACREAGE DEAL AT PARAMUS

Two Yonkers Plots Are Included in Westchester Transfers—Building Projects.

Improved residential properties in Jersey City and acreage on an elevation in Bergen County were among the New Jersey realty parcels reported sold yesterday.

One of the J rsey City deals was a resale of the mfort apartment at 713-15 Bergen Avenue to Patrick J. Kennedy, a local investor, who is a member of the city zoning commission. The property was purchased early this month by Lorenzo De Maio and others from the builders, Metzger & Siegelman. The structure, which was completed late in 1924, has three stores on the ground floor and seventeen apartments on the three floors above.

In the same community J. I. Kislak, Inc., the broker, also sold for Patrick Halloran a two-family house at 21 Beach Street to Frederick Reisdorf for occupancy, and for Edward Lynch the three-story brick business building at the southwest corner of Jackson Avenue and Stegman Street to Aurilio Vincitore, who will transfer his market to the structure.

Conrad Roos bought fourteen acres on the west side of Farview Avenue, Paramus, in Bergen County. The property is said to have the second highest elevation in the county and overlooks the Manhattan skyline. The Arthur J. Rooney Company, Inc., and Edward McDermott were the brokers.

In the Westchester area a plot 100 feet square on Yonkers Terrace, in the former Clark estate at Yonkers, was sold by Anna Dietz to Mario De Pirro. William J. Sherry, the broker, also sold for James F. Arbuckle a plot 50 by 100 feet on Lee Avenue to Patrick Gaffney.

Dorothy Pynchon of Manhattan sold a plot in the Westover section of Scarsdale to P. Pagliocca, a local builder, who will erect a residence. The plot was held at $3,500, according to the Zangerle Realty Corporation, the broker.

A business parcel fronting 168 feet on Mamaroneck Avenue, Mamaroneck, at the junction of Mount Pleasant Avenue, was transferred by William J. Kuder, Robert Acampora and Frank Rigano, who bought the parcel from the Board of Education last Summer. Fallon & Meffert, the brokers, also sold a vacant plot on Roosevelt Avenue and Depot Way, Larchmont, to the Devonia Realty Company, which will erect a two-story garage and store building. The seller was Orduna, Inc., Richard H. Moeller.

Colonel Frank E. Smith leased an estate on Highland Road, Rye, near the westchester Biltmore Club, from Major A. W. Putnam. E. V. Siedle was the broker.

Julia Beverley Higgens leased for Arthur I. Hoe the estate of Mrs. Robert Hoe at Bedford Hills to Mrs. George Crocker for the season, and for V. H. Hurlstone Piper his property at Mount Kisco to Fred W. Schults for one year, with an option to buy.

PRINTER BUYS CORNER.

Benjamin H. Tyrrel, Inc., to Occupy Greenwich Street Building.

Benjamin H. Tyrrel, Inc., printer, has purchased from the Gilboa Realty Corporation, Benjamin Benenson President, the buildings at the southwest corner of Greenwich and Carlisle Streets, comprising a plot of 6,000 square feet, known as 110-112 Greenwich Street. The purchaser will erect a new building with stores and loft space from plans prepared by William Higginson. He will occupy the two top floors for his printing business, which has been established for many years at 206-8 Fulton Street.

Hanford & Henderson, Inc., negotiated this sale, and also sold the corner of Greenwich and Cedar Streets, two blocks north, for the Hopping estate last month.

Wins LeBrun Scholarship.

The LeBrun Traveling Scholarship, which is donated each year from a fund set aside by Pierre LeBrun, architect of the Metropolitan Tower, has been awarded this year to Will Rice Amon of this city for the best design submitted in a competition having for its subject a public utilities building in a moderate-sized city. Second place was awarded to Ulysses Floyd Rible of Hollywood, Cal; third place to Henry Louis Sandlass of New York, and fourth to J. Radotinsky, also of New York. The scholarship is for $1,500, with which the winner is expected to travel abroad.

FACTORIES BUSIER, SAYS RESERVE BOARD

February Output Rose 3 Per Cent. Over January, 2 Per Cent Over 1927 Month.

EMPLOYMENT LEVEL LOWER

Building Contracts Increased Over Last Year—Wholesale Sales Rise—Merchandise Stocks Larger.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 27.—Production of manufactures in February, as shown by the Federal Reserve Board's index, issued today, increased 3 per cent. over the previous month and was 2 per cent. larger than in February, 1927. The production of minerals declined slightly. Factory employment and payrolls were stated to be at a lower level than a year ago.

The summary of business showed that the output of iron and steel, automobiles and agricultural machinery has increased since Jan. 1. Building contracts awarded in February were larger than in February last year, chiefly because of large awards for residential construction in New York and Chicago districts. Contracts in the first two weeks of March were about the same as in the same period last year.

"Sales of wholesale firms in leading lines," the board said, "increased in February and were slightly larger than a year ago, while the sales of department stores, after allowance for the customary seasonal changes, were in about the same volume as in January and somewhat smaller than a year ago. Stocks of merchandise carried both by wholesale firms and by department stores showed a seasonal increase in February.

"Freight car loadings have shown somewhat more than the seasonal increase since the beginning of the year, but have continued to be in smaller volume than in the corresponding period of last year, owing chiefly to much smaller shipments of coal. Loadings of merchandise in less than carload lots and of miscellaneous commodities have been less than in the corresponding period of the last two years, while loadings of livestock and grain products have been larger.

"From the middle of February to the middle of March the loans and investments of member banks in leading cities increased by $200,000,000, reflecting a growth in the banks' commercial loans. The banks' loans on investments and securities showed little change for the period.

"The volume of Reserve Bank credit outstanding increased somewhat from February to March, chiefly in consequence of increased borrowings by member banks, which, in part, reflected further withdrawals of gold for export.

"During the four weeks ended March 21 condition in the money market were firmer. The rate on prime commercial paper increased from 4 to 4¼ per cent. and there were advances in time rates on security loans."

NEW LINE STARTS MONDAY.

The Luckenbach Steamship Line will start a new shipping service between Newark and the Pacific Coast next Monday. The first freighter to sail will be the Lewis Luckenbach, of 14,200 tons, the largest ship ever to enter the port of Newark.

Thirteen ships will be operated, with a sailing from Newark each Monday. They will carry Class A cargo.

The line will use the docks of the Transmarine Corporation. Heretofore sailings have been from piers in Brooklyn.

MAIL FRAUD TRIAL BEGINS.

Man Is Accused in Conspiracy to Get $15,000 Goods on Credit.

The trial of Louis Goodovitch, 40 years old, formerly of 1,927 Ocean Parkway, Brooklyn, but now a resident of Philadelphia, Pa., who is charged with using the mails to defraud, began yesterday in Federal Court, Brooklyn, before Judge Campbell and a jury. Assistant Federal Attorney James E. Wilkinson is conducting the prosecution.

Joseph Freedman of 1,528 East Eighth Street, Brooklyn, and Harry Klein of 886 Nostrand Avenue, were indicted jointly with Goodovitch and pleaded guilty. The Government hopes to use their testimony against the man on trial.

In his opening address Mr. Wilkinson said he would prove that Goodovitch took part in a conspiracy by which the three accused men obtained more than $15,000 worth of general merchandise from manufacturing concerns in various parts of the country and later sold the property to retailers below its wholesale cost. Mr. Wilkinson said the three leased a building at 172-11 Jamaica Avenue, adopted the firm name of "J. Lieb," ordered goods by mail from out-of-town dealers and in giving credit references, used the name of a reputable business man who has a high commercial rating.

The first witness called by the prosecution was Miss Daisy Bourse, who was a stenographer in the "Lieb" office. Miss Bourse testified that she knew the defendant, Goodovitch, as "Mr. Lieb" and Freedman as "Mr. Brown." She identified both men in court. Under cross-examination she said she was engaged by "Brown" and received all orders from him. The trial will continue today.

MILFORD, N. H., March 27 (AP).—Announcement was made today that granite manufacturers and granite cutters in this section had signed a three-year agreement, effective April 1, giving the cutters an eight-hour day at $8 a day. Work on holidays and Saturdays will be by special price agreement between the employers and the employes.

NEWTON ASKS INQUIRY ON LAKES COMPACT

Representative Tells Sargent Agreement Delaying Navigation Opening Might Violate Law.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 27.—A reported agreement between Great Lakes shippers of Canada and the United States to postpone the beginning of navigation each year from April 1 to May 1 has been brought to the attention of Attorney General Sargent, with the suggestion that if the plan is carried out as proposed it might be found in violation of the Anti-Trust laws of the United States.

Representative Newton, Republican, of Minnesota, has informed the Attorney General that if navigation is begun by private agreement, thirty days later every season, the shippers might go a step further and provide for closing thirty days earlier.

The effect of such an arrangement, Mr. Newton contended, would be to advance rates, and this, he urged, would be a serious hardship, especially in the case of shippers of grain in this country. Mr. Newton recommended that the Department of Justice make an investigation to determine whether the reported agreement, which was said to have been reached in Chicago some weeks ago, amounted to a combination such as the Anti-Trust statutes provided to be unlawful.

Attorney General Sargent has referred the case to Mr. Donovan, his principal assistant, who has begun an inquiry. The agreement under scrutiny was made by the Lake Carriers' Association in conference with independent shippers of the United States. It was later accepted by the shippers on the other side of the border.

APPROVES SHIPPING RATES.

Federal Board Acts on Pacific and Intercoastal Rate Agreements

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 27.—An agreement between the American-Hawaiian Steamship Company and the Kingsley Navigation Company, Ltd., was approved by the Shipping Board today. The agreement covers shipments on through bills of lading from Vancouver and her British Columbian points of origin to Atlantic Coast ports of call of the American-Hawaiian Steamship Company, with trans-shipment at San Francisco. The through rates are to be the combination of local rates of the participating carriers, each to assume 50 per cent. of the cost of transfer at San Francisco.

Another conference agreement approved was between the Panama Mail Steamship Company and the Sacramento Navigation Company, covering through traffic between Sacramento and Atlantic Coast ports of call of the Panama Mail Steamship Company with transhipment at San Francisco. The through rates are to be the local rates of the Panama Mail between San Francisco and Atlantic Coast ports, plus special rates between San Francisco and Sacramento.

Extension of the service of the Gulf, Brazil and River Plate Line to include the port of Galveston for outward cargoes on the basis of one sailing from that port each month, was also approved.

NEW STANLEY THEATRE.

Syndicate Buys Atlantic City Site for $1,500,000 Movie House.

Special to The New York Times.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., March 27.—Atlantic City is to have a new Stanley Theatre, the largest and most elaborate in the resort. Construction will start in about sixty days on the site of the Lansdowne apartments, which occupy a Boardwalk frontage of 200 feet from Arkansas Avenue to the Shelburn Hotel. The theatre will cost about $1,500,000 and have a seating capacity of 5,000.

Plans for the new project were announced today by Harry Cassman of Cassman & Gottlieb, representing the Boardwalk Properties Company, a syndicate of New York and Philadelphia, which bought the theatre site from the Lansdowne Corporation, of which Frank P. Gravatt is President. While the amount of money involved in this transaction was not revealed, it is known the apartment house was held at $2,000,000.

According to Mr. Cassman, the deal was consummated today.

Big Phosphate Bed in Transjordan.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, March 27.—Quickly following publication terms of the Anglo-Transjordan Treaty, which leaves the granting of concessions to the advice of King George, it is announced tonight that investigators on behalf of a British company have discovered a bed of phosphate deposits estimated at 18,000,000 tons near Es Salt. The company is already negotiating for exploiting the discovery.

MORE RUSH TO JOIN MARITIME EXCHANGE

About 450 Applications Filed in 2 Days—14 Memberships Bring Record Prices at Auction.

PRODUCE MEN ARE SHIFTING

Brokers Who Sold Their Seats for $23,000 Attracted by $55 Fee of Marine Group.

A sudden interest on the part of shippers and brokers in obtaining membership in the Maritime Exchange resulted yesterday in the filing of about fifty applications and the sale of fourteen memberships at auction at new high prices. The developments yesterday followed the filing of about 400 applications on Monday, most of them by brokers who had sold memberships in the Produce Exchange for $23,000 each, or associate memberships for $14,000 each, when prices swung upward.

Swamped by the flood of applications the executive staff of the Maritime Exchange was unable yesterday to fix exactly the membership total. It is generally agreed that the advance in the value of Produce Exchange seats last week caused members to take their profits and transfer their activities to the floor of the Maritime Exchange, where membership and a year's dues totaled only $65.

The memberships of fourteen men who had failed to pay their dues were sold at auction yesterday afternoon on the floor of the Exchange, 78 Broad Street, and brought prices ranging from $145 to $225. Richard Cohn of 8 Broadway bought the first for $145. John F. Dengel of 80 Wall Street bought five, paying $145 for two, $205 for two and $225 for one. Other buyers were Herman H. Lee of 44 Whitehall Street, Alexander Hamilton of 78 Broad Street, Hoffman Holman of 61 Broadway, Halbord Hillestad of 44 Whitehall Street, C. Pellegrino of 78 Broad Street and H. Pancorvo of 78 Broad Street.

Gairville is located between the Manhattan and Brooklyn Bridges. 15 minutes from heart of New York. 20 minutes from Holland Tunnel.

Do You Want to Cut Manufacturing Costs to Compete with Ohio or North Carolina?

Do you want to cut your rent to a pre-war basis? Do you want to get out of the traffic congestion area that so runs up costs by delays? Do you want to cut down both shipping and receiving costs, by having sidings with covered platforms right inside your building?

Do you want to ease up your labor supply, by having an unlimited number to call on, that are practically just around the corner? Do you want live steam?

Are you now manufacturing on several floors when costs could be cut down if done all on one? Do you want to cut down your light bills?

In short, are you open to a proposition that wouldn't be possible at all, were it not for certain sudden vacancies at Gairville. Vacancies caused by the consolidations of a big Company's plants.

These ten buildings of Gairville are a stone's throw from Brooklyn Bridge.

Do you want to make us prove to you that Gairville can do for you the money-saving things we have mentioned?

All right then—our phone is Lackawanna 1280.

More than "a Duplex"

A TWO-STORY TOWN HOUSE

THE multi-room mansions that grace the Avenue afford no more delightful conveniences, no greater comforts than a Duplex at No. 941 Park Avenue.

All the appointments you'd expect to find—and more! For over a quarter century experience building better homes for New York's better families has taught the Tishman organization many subtleties of construction beyond the expectation of even the apartment-connoisseur.

An impressive staircase leads from the deftly arranged and spacious rooms of the lower floor to the quiet seclusion of the sleeping quarters containing five master chambers, each connected with a bath.

Typical of an endeavor to include the finest of modern structural developments, are sunlit bedrooms equipped with "Vita-glass" windows.

FORCE IN YOUR SALES FORCE

Yes, that's what Direct-Mail Advertising does—it puts force in the sales force. Breaks down the sales resistance, paves the way for salesmen and touches the spots the salesmen don't reach (you've heard that line before.)

But—

How are YOU talking to YOUR prospects—Direct-by-Mail?

It isn't what you say in business publicity nearly as how you say that "what."

We have for the past thirty-five years been planning campaigns for some of New York's largest concerns—writing the copy on down (or up) to the mailing.

We'd like to show you what we can do for you—which is more important to you than what we've DONE. Though what we've done shows what we can do!

By showing us your interest in the form of a letter, we'll show YOU. May we?
